For these problems, former Charlevoix wastewater plant superintendent Samuel Louis Creswell and former lead worker James Stanley Mazur were arrested in December and plead guilty in Charlevoix Circuit Court Friday morning to one count each of making false statements — a felony.

This arrest is considered separate from the consent order between the city and MDEQ.

As part of the corrective action plan, in May 2004, the city hired Tim Truax, a Traverse City based consultant, to identify what the problems were at the plant and to suggest ways to solve them.

Wiesner said in a previous interview with the Charlevoix Courier, that he didn't want to just look at the concerns of MDEQ and solve them. Rather, he wanted to look at the entire operation of the Wastewater Treatment Plant and try to decide where it should go in the future.

Last fall, council members were given a tour of the Wastewater Treatment Plant to view the updates that have been made in order to fix the problems that led to the possibility of fines from the MDEQ.

Jim Caldwell, current superintendent, said in a previous interview that a lot of the ways the records are kept and handled have been changed. He also said the Quality Assurance, Quality Control (QA/QC) manual is currently being updated.

Caldwell led the tour and informed council on what changes had occurred. One issue concerned a critical spare parts list. Caldwell said this list will include only those parts that are vital to the operation of the plant.

The list won't need to be incredibly long because the plant is able to run in two halves.

When something breaks down on one side, Caldwell said the other half can handle the flow until the problem is corrected.

Hospital hosts estate planning seminar

With longer life expectancy and typically lower lifetime earnings, money management can present a greater challenge to women.

A free Estate Planning and Money Management Seminar, specifically designed for women and discussing money management, emergency funding, employer-sponsored benefits and other financial topics, will be given starting at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 23. This free program will be held in the large conference room on the lower level of Charlevoix Area Hospital and is open to women of all ages.

Some of the topics in the seminar will include planning for a child's or grandchild's education, savings, insurance, a review of monthly spending, savings accounts, CDs, taxes, planning for retirement, money management and steps to an effective estate plan.

Katrina Martin, attorney with Joseph, Coreoran, Telgenhof & Snyder; John Doskoeh, certified financial planner practitioner; and Craig Leppien, financial advisor with Waddell & Reed will present the program.

This estate planning seminar is provided free of charge to the community by the Charlevoix Area Hospital Foundation Planned Gifts Committee and is the first in a series of estate and financial planning seminars that will be held this year.

For reservations or for additional information on the program, call the foundation office at (231) 547-8502.

Charlevoix vessels topic of talk

The Charlevoix Historical Society is presenting "Vessels in Charlevoix," an illustrated program on the huge variety of boats that have graced Charlevoix waters, at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 5 at the Depot.

It will be hosted by Harsha House Museum co-director David L. Miles.

Ever since the first Native Americans arrived in their canoes around 1500 B.C., Charlevoix's safe haven has been a magnet for thousands of vessels of all types.

The program will focus on smaller passenger steamers and luxurious liners, lumber carriers, magnificent schooners, government side-wheelers and Coast Guard vessels, gigantic palatial yachts, the Beaver Island boats, lake freighters, tugs, an Australian prison ship, a galcon wrecked on the Boulder Park shore, lightships, a presidential yacht and more. Included will be stories of fires, wrecks, accidents and beachings. All the photos to be used are from the society's huge Bob Miles Collection photo archives.

The program is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Call (231) 547-0373 for further information.

Watercraft renewals can be done online

With the start of boating season just weeks away, Secretary of State Terri Lynn Land is encouraging residents to take advantage of the convenience and timesavings provided by online watercraft registration renewal.

Owners of boats, including personal watercraft, may renew online at www.michigan.gov/sos beginning March 1. Registration decals are mailed within 10 days.

The web-based program allows residents to renew from their homes or offices anytime of the day or night. Watercraft registrations may also be renewed by touch-tone telephone, mail or at a branch office. Internet and touch-tone renewal options are available through Aug. 31.

"It's easy to save time by renewing online," said Land, who oversees the registration and titling of more than a million watercraft. "That way you can spend time on your boat, not in line. Watercraft renewal is just one of many convenient online customer services provided by the Department of State."

All watercraft on Michigan waters, including privately owned lakes and waterways, must be registered except: Watercraft 18 feet or less, propelled by oars or paddles and not used for rental or commercial purposes. Nonmotorized canoes and kayaks not used for rental or commercial purposes. Rafts, surfboards, sailboards and swim floats, regardless of length. Watercraft registered in another state and used only temporarily in Michigan.

The notices include instructions for renewing online, along with a personal identification number needed to use the system. Payment can be made by VISA, MasterCard or Discover credit cards. Nearly 300,000 renewal notices will be mailed this year.

Residents will also find information about ordering a Great Lakes Protection Fund decal with their renewal notice. The decal costs $35. It is decorative only and not required for watercraft registration or identification purposes.

Proceeds from sales will help fund research and education to control invasive species, such as zebra mussels, in the Great Lakes and other Michigan waters. This special decal may also be purchased online at www.michigan.gov/michigan using a Visa or MasterCard credit card.

East Park controversy

The current and sometimes controversial planning of the reconfiguration of East Park and the dock slips had a precedent. After 1935, the road that once led along that portion of the waterfront developed for pleasure boaters was eliminated for the creation of the park as it exists today. Before then one could motor down to the Antrim Street dock, drive behind the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce to the Mason Street dock or even beyond, and exit up Mason Street to Bridge Street. The longest building on the left is the Hotel Charlevoix, which burned in June of 1935. The other buildings were soon purchased and demolished by the city for the expanded park. Boaters complained vehemently that this would inconvenience both them and their guests. But soon only a walkway by the docks and grass replaced the short block of road way that once saw sporty roadsters and the latest model limousines parked along it.

Gohs hired as new staff writer, Pace enlists

Witthoef is a 2000 graduate of the University of Michigan with a bachelor's degree in communications and French. She was hired by the Charlevoix Courier as a staff writer in June 2000.

While at the Courier, Witthoef won, individually and as a member of a team, nine awards from the Michigan Press Association for news writing, feature writing and enterprise stories.

Witthoef had left the Courier in June 2004 to take a position as marketing coordinator with Lex- alite International. While there, she planned for trade shows and designed print material for the company.

"There is a certain passion that goes along with being a journalist that can't be found in any other profession," Witthoef said of coming back to the Courier.

Witthoef said she will not be making any large changes in the Courier, but would like to add some new sections focusing on such things as parenting. She said she will be spending some time getting a feel for the position.

In addition to being the editor, Witthoef will cover the city of Charlevoix, new businesses, sports and Beaver Island.

She has a husband, Charlie, and a daughter, Mailie.

McBain said, "I will miss being the editor of the Charlevoix Courier and miss the people I covered and worked with, but I look forward to this new challenge in Petoskey."

He added, "It makes me very happy to see Witthoef is the one that will replace me. She is a fantastic journalist and a respected member of the community."

McBain, 29, of Charlevoix, joined the Charlevoix Courier in December 1999 as the editor. He was previously a staff writer for the Novi News covering the city, police, courts and the planning commission.

He is a graduate of Central Michigan University, with a bachelor's degree in journalism. He has won 22 journalism awards in his career, including 19, individually and as a member of a team, with the Charlevoix Courier — including one first place general excellence award in 2002 from the Michigan Press Association.

In his time at the Courier, the newspaper was honored for its design, local news, editorial pages, coverage of breaking news and investigative stories.

Witthoef is not the only new addition to the Courier. Gohs, 30, of Charlevoix, has been a freelance writer with the Courier for about a year-and-a-half. He has also written for the readers will be seeing in the next month.

Former freelance writer B. Jon Gohs was also hired to begin working as a regular staff writer for the Courier starting April 27. He will be replacing Courtney Pace.

Pace, 23, of Charlevoix, will be leaving the Charlevoix Courier on April 26 to join the Army as a journalist in the public affairs branch.

She will take basic training at Fort Jackson in South Carolina and then will be in advanced training at Fort Meade in Maryland. She is hoping to go to Germany after that.

"I want to travel and see the world before I am old, and I want to build up my portfolio in writing so I can work for larger publications," she said.

She joined the Charlevoix Courier in June 2004 as a staff writer. She is a December 2003 graduate of Western Michigan University.

Gohs, 30, of Charlevoix, has been a freelance writer with the Courier for about a year-and-a-half. He has also written for the Petoskey News-Review, Northern Express and the Graphic. Additionally, he has been a copywriter for various web sites and corporate projects.

"Becoming a full time staff writer has been one of my career goals from the beginning," Gohs said.

Gohs wants to learn as much as he can about the business, improve his skills and become a well rounded journalist.

"I look forward to serving the community with an impartial pen and an eye for detail," he added.

Gohs moved to Charlevoix in the summer of 1999 from Auburn for a better quality of life.

He has a wife, Phoebe, and two kids, Nicolas, 11, and Bethany, 9.

Charlevoix Courier Publisher Ken Winter said, "We are pleased to have both Julie and Ben join our staff. We had a lot of people express interest in the Courier and feel these were our top candidates."

He added, "We want to wish Jeremy our best with his new role at the Petoskey News-Review and Courtney in the Army. We've appreciated their help."

DDA agrees to chamber funding Plan has stipulation

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Downtown Development Authority voted in favor of continuing support for the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce at its budgetary meeting Monday night.

This support, however, isn't coming for free and isn't necessarily a guarantee.

The chamber had asked the DDA to continue providing it with $13,000 to cover costs associated with promoting downtown Charlevoix and $10,000 to help with the summer concert series. The DDA agreed to the $13,000 cost and only $5,000 for the Spring is in the air

Spring is officially here, as warm temperatures and sunshine are starting to melt the snow and cold from Charlevoix. Here, a couple of purple crocuses were seen peeking from the ground in front of a home on Park Avenue Monday.

Residents describe tidal wave impact

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

Two Charlevoix residents left their home and set out to help with the tsunami relief effort.

Diane Kilkenny and her son, John, recently returned from a trip to Sri Lanka for 18 days with Medina Mission of Mercy where they helped purify water, worked with children and gave of themselves wherever they were needed.

"You see things like this on the news and in the paper and you always wish you could do something," Diane said of the tsunami that hit Southeast Asia.

The timing was right between Medina Mission of Mercy's trip and the ability for both Diane and John to get off work.

"I felt like it was the right thing to do," she said.

They became involved with Medina Mission of Mercy through Diane's mother-in-law, Edna Kilkenny. The group is comprised primarily of doctors and nurses, such as both Diane and Edna who are registered nurses.

John provided help through his extensive knowledge of machinery by helping with mechanical, electrical and carpentry construction.

"I just wanted to help people that needed the help," John said.

The trip to Sri Lanka was the first international aid relief adventure both Diane and John had ever been on. They stayed in Ampara, but traveled to the various sites where help was needed.

Diane said viewing the destruction in person was very overwhelming and it even brought her

Fund-raiser helps Charlevoix firefighter

The Charlevoix Volunteer Firefighters Association is asking the community to help one of our Volunteer Firefighters and his family.

Brian McDonald and his wife Ellen found out on March 10 that their 8-year-old son, Parker Ebert, has Rhabdomyosarcoma. Parker is a student at Charlevoix Elementary School.

Rhabdomyosarcoma is a soft tissue cancer that arises in the muscles. It accounts for about 4 percent of all childhood cancer. It is believed to originate in the embryonic state of the development of children. The outlook is that if treated with chemotherapy he should have a full recovery.

Parker has been at DeVos Children's Hospital in Grand Rapids to receive his treatments. He has been able to come home for a couple of days here and there but has to continue to travel to Grand Rapids on a weekly basis to receive his treatments over the next 40-50 weeks.

Since Brian and Ellen have not been able to work while being with their son they have not been able to receive paychecks. When they arrive back in Charlevoix between treatments Brian will be able to work as much as possible, but they will still have the weekly travel expenses to take Parker to Grand Rapids.

If you would like to make a donation to help support the McDonald family the association is asking that you send your donation in care of the Charlevoix Volunteer Firefighters Association, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Also, please keep an eye on the paper for upcoming fund raisers the association will be having for the McDonald family. If you have any questions please feel free contact them at 547-3279 or check on Parker at www.carepages.com/devos, register and sign in for "park-erebert."

Library unveils construction package

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix Public Library is rapidly coming together as a construction package is being put together and interior elements are laid out.

Valerie Meyerson, director of Charlevoix Public Library, said the construction documentation was approved by the Charlevoix Public Library Board of Trustees during the March 22 meeting.

The construction documentation will be going out for bid in the next few weeks and Meyerson said it's possible that during the May meeting of the Board of Trustees the bids will be approved.

This meeting will be open to the public.

Clark Construction Group LLC is in charge of the demolition and Meyerson said the demolition has come along well. However, there were a few surprises that were discovered along the way.

She said the library knew there would be a few problems since they were dealing with renovation and not building a completely new building.

Plus, with the surprises along the way having the demolition and the construction packages bid out separately proved to be more cost effective.

"I'm glad we did the demolition before," she said. "It would have cost more to do it together because of structural issues."

Meyerson said one problem discovered during demolition was that on the second floor, or the level with the gym, every support beam holding the roof up came together at a point.

"Removing that was quite a challenge," she said.

The structure was similar to a two-story shaft. The situation was taken care of by adding two more columns for support.

The other problem was another structural issue with a column that appeared to be supporting a bathroom.

Meyerson said the demolition will be finishing up soon and things will be quiet for about a month at the site until construction begins.

The structural layout of the facility is in place, but the interior design isn't finalized yet.

Each area of the library will have its own theme, but the individual themes will tie together to create the overall pattern of the building.

Alyce Riemenschneider of Riemenschneider Design Associates, came up-with the color scheme and creative flare for the interior of the building.

Meyerson said the library's interior committee also helped pick colors and patterns.

"The public seemed to like everything Alyce presented," Meyerson said.

The carpets, tiles and sample drawings of furniture are currently on display at the library.

to concentrate in class. By making school start later this action will probably raise grades. It would raise grades by giving the students more time to study in the morning for tests, assignments or for class. If someone is always tired and never eats breakfast this keeps them from concentrating.

In conclusion, I believe Charlevoix should make school start later. If this opinion is made into an action a lot of people and children would support it.

Allow cell phones

Editor:
Are your kids wasting money because they're always calling you on a pay phone from school? I highly believe that cell phones should be able to be used in school. Some of the reasons are because of convenience, another is saving money and one more is for emergencies.

First of all, sometimes the office doesn't always let you use their phone. Usually when you want to call to stay after, they won't let you call. Also if you wanted a friend to come over after school they say no. You may not have money to call on the pay phone. That leads me toward another topic on why cell phones should be able to be used in school.

Another reason is you could save money. If you need a phone, you wouldn't need to have to pay to use the pay phone. Another example is the school could save money. If the school only used the phone for work and let the kids use cell phones then they would save money.

Finally, and the most important reason why I think cell phones should be able to be used in school is because of emergencies. For example, if one of my friends got hurt I could call someone right away. Another example is if one of my friends or I had a personal problem we wouldn't be embarrassed because we could call on the cell phone.

In conclusion, you can see many reasons why we should be able to use cell phones in school. Please consider using cell phones in school, and then more people would be happier.

Build a mini-mall

Editor:
Would you like an improved variety of stores to shop at? I think Charlevoix needs to build a mini-mall at the north or south end of town so we can have more variety of stores, save time driving and save money.

First, if Charlevoix got a mini-mall, residents would not have to travel to larger cities like Petoskey or Traverse City to shop. By having this, we would also save money in gas by not having to travel.

In addition, I think Charlevoix needs a better variety of stores to shop at. Some clothing stores for students would be nice since downtown just has adult stores and T-shirt shops. I would also like to have a Game Stop and a sporting goods store like Dick's or Dunham's.

One thing that I think is really important is that a mini-mall would make the city of Charlevoix more money. It would do this because more tourists would be attracted to Charlevoix if we had a mini-mall. Also, businesses could stay open all year-round unlike many of the stores downtown.

In conclusion, I certainly think Charlevoix should have a mini-mall because of all the great things it could do for Charlevoix. In my opinion, the mini-mall would satisfy our residents and also help our economy!

Make lights safer

Editor:
My name is Ty Wilhelm, and I have an idea on how to make traffic lights safer. It would also help people get to places on time. People are getting tired of waiting for traffic lights. Kids can hardly get across roads. We need to be able to control traffic lights.

In addition, people get annoyed because traffic lights always seem to be red when they come up to them, but green on the side where there are no cars coming. For example, you sometimes often see this at the intersection by E.Z. Mart. We may not know it, but some people are in that situation and in a hurry to go somewhere.

Another important reason for controlling traffic lights is kids getting across roads. When a kid gets a quarter of the way across the road, the light turns green. They don't know whether to stop and turn back or keep going. It often happens downtown near Murdick's Fudge. A pedestrian button would help this problem.

My last reason for controlling traffic lights has to do with driver's education. Lots of kids have to wait to take their test because the person before them is waiting so long for traffic lights. I'm sure kids get tired of waiting so long for traffic lights. These kids could finish quicker if the lights would be controlled for them.

In conclusion, I think people should be able to control traffic lights. It would be safer for people.

Fix up McSaubia

Editor:
Do you enjoy skiing? Do you love to go to Nub's Nob and ride all of their glorious runs? It's too far of a drive to Nub's Nob from Charlevoix. I think we should fix up our Charlevoix ski hill, Mt. Mc-

Saubia.

First, if Mt. McSaubia used more of their time on grooming there would be fewer injuries. For instance, bumps at the bottom of the back hill cause people to lose control and fall. The landings of the jumps are icy. That hurts your ankle when you land.

Also, if Mt. McSaubia made more runs there would be more room to ski. Skiing is very boring with only a few runs. Just think, if we took out the sledding hill and that side of the hill there would be more runs. Mt. McSaubia could even move their small terrain park and make it larger.

Finally, Mt. McSaubia could make more money if they made a better ski hill. Mt. McSaubia is owned by the city of Charlevoix. That means the city would make more money. Even if you don't ski, this could make money for the library and other activities in the city.

In conclusion, if we help make Charlevoix's ski hill better it will make a huge difference in the community of Charlevoix.

Food can help people talk to one another

By CHIP SAUER
Pastor
Community Reformed Church

I'm always amazed by the power of food. Food brings people together.

Every day our bodies require constant nourishment. Many of us fulfill this requirement by having three meals a day and a snack or two. Eating takes time. But we've made eating a time to accomplish something. We read while we eat. We drive while we eat. We have meetings over lunch. We watch TV while we eat. I can remember instances in my life where I was bothered by the fact that I needed to stop and eat. As a result of our choices to be productive, we are missing out on the opportunity eating gives us to connect with others. Many of us have lost the art of sharing a meal.

We need to eat, but the opportunity eating gives us goes far beyond nourishing our bodies. It is a chance to know and be known, to love and be loved, to step into another person's life for a while and allow them into yours. Where else in your life are you placed face to face with others with nothing to do but eat the food in front of you?

But what do we say? You've probably seen couples in restaurants who sit together, but never talk. They just sit there. Have they run out of things to say? Probably not. But they've forgotten how to talk to each other. And maybe some of us have too.

Let's make it the norm in our lives to talk while we eat. Let's have family meals where conversation is the most important accomplishment of our time together. If you're looking for a few questions to use, here's a few:

- 1) What was the highlight of your day?
- 2) What made you laugh today?
- 3) What was the hardest part of the day for you?

- 4) Who did you interact with today? Did it go well?
- 5) Did you have any "God moments" today? If so, what were they?

But for conversation to happen, a few items are vital.

First, you must make time to be together. Family meals should be a priority. Lunches should be an opportunity to connect with a co-worker, a friend, anyone. I can't picture Jesus going through the drive through and eating his lunch in his car on his way to his next task.

Second, ask questions. Initiate conversation. Make the goal of the time to hear how each person at the table is doing.

Third, stop and consider the significance of caring for people versus checking off something on your list to get done. In the big picture of life, what would you rather "accomplish"?

Day by day, as they spent much time together in the temple, they broke bread at home, and ate their food with glad and generous hearts — Acts 2:46.

DeGrow retires from Charlevoix hospital

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

One Charlevoix resident said goodbye to her tireless efforts with aquatic therapy for the community.

Linda DeGrow, aquatic therapist for Charlevoix Area Hospital, retired on March 31. The draw toward water was natural for DeGrow as she has loved the water her whole life and also knew from a very young age that she wanted to help others.

For the past 12 years, DeGrow has worked for Charlevoix Area Hospital and brought to the hospital an aquatic therapy program she developed one year prior to starting at the hospital.

The program was utilized at the Charlevoix Area Community Pool and the community pool in East Jordan and has benefited both communities and the people who attend the classes.

"I feel very strongly about staying in the community."

Staying in the community is something DeGrow wants to expand upon with her aquatic program. Not only will the program

Technology in a Northern Michigan Workplace Making a Difference for Staff and Patients

New computer technology continues to emerge at a rapid pace. Its impact has touched and affected almost every aspect of our daily life in some manner. On occasion, we each have experienced adjustments in a new car, telephone, or even bank technology as it has been inserted without our "consent." On the other hand, we have all marveled at what technology is doing in the field of medical diagnosis. It is certainly the hope of those who develop new technology to enhance and improve the lifestyle of our culture. Maple Ridge Dental Group in East Jordan has recently invested in a technology platform that aids in the diagnostic process for the practicing dentists, facilitates patients to gain an immediate and visual understanding of treatment possibilities, and make some dental procedures much easier.

A digital x-ray system is now available in the practice of Doctors Sladics, Swartz and Kempton. The computer generated images will reduce radiation exposure for each required x-ray. An additional benefit is the greatly multiplied size of the x-ray image on a monitor. Patients are able to see and discuss components of dental disease by sharing the image with the dentist and staff almost immediately. The staff doctors can efficiently communicate with insurance companies and specialists by e-mail transmission of these digital images.

Digital photography is also a daily part of the Maple Ridge practice. Dr. Sladics says, "This technology has empowered our staff to communicate to patients in a manner that was previously unimaginable." Patients can visualize cracked fillings, fractured teeth, replacement restorations, cosmetic concerns and soft tissue diseases and have a clear understanding that a problem exists. Photography allows the patient to become engaged and interactive as a treatment plan is discussed. In addition, photos are generated and sent as valuable laboratory information or in support of insurance claims. An office wide network allows each room, including the waiting room to allow patients complete access to a wealth of educational information specific to hundreds of dental procedures. A pictorial and verbal summary of many dental techniques can be viewed to help answer questions relating to difficult treatment scenarios. Dr. Danielle Swartz loves to engage her patients in the program and says in short, "A picture is worth a thousand words."

A Biolase dental laser unit is a part of the office technology platform. A dental laser is relatively new to routine use as a treatment instrument in the dental office. The laser will not replace the dental hand piece in the short term, but it does offer patients and staff some wonderful treatment options. Certain tooth preparation procedures may be done without traditional anesthesia (the shot). These include small or perhaps medium-sized cavities where pre-existing metal does not exist. Dr. Kempton reports that patients may experience "a sense of coldness, much like that of eating a popsicle." In addition to fillings, the laser is very effective in supporting the treatment of periodontal disease, removal of soft tissue pathology, cosmetic tissue sculpting and painlessly stopping the progress and discomfort of the classic "cold sores." The laser can also effectively desensitize chronically "cold" sensitive areas for most patients.

Technology has made patients feel a part of the diagnostic process. It is certainly not essential for dentists to provide excellent care, but has been a valuable tool for the staff at Maple Ridge Dental to engage and communicate more effectively and efficiently with our patients.

We look forward to meeting you. Our staff team takes great pride in their commitment to your care. We offer a full complement of general dental services including child care, family care, emergency services, cosmetics, implant and restorative dentistry. Appointments can be made with Dr. Kempton, Dr. Sladics and Dr. Swartz, by calling 231-536-2601. The office is located in East Jordan. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Walter W. Jarvis: Nov. 7, 1912 - March 26, 2005

Walter W. "Turk" Jarvis, 92, of Charlevoix, died Saturday, March 26, 2005, at Boulder Park Terrace Nursing Home in Charlevoix.

Turk was born Nov. 7, 1912, in Detroit, the son of Anthony W. and Julia (Kwiatkowski) Jarvis.

He married the former Virginia M. White in Detroit on Oct. 27, 1934. They made their home in Charlevoix in 1947.

Turk was a Great Lakes Captain and was the Ironton Ferry Operator for 32 years.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia M. of Charlevoix; daughter, Barbara McInnis of Westminster, Calif.; son, Jeffrey W. (Janice L.) of Petoskey; grandchildren, Michelle, Heather and Jeff; Janna, Jessica and Jacqueline; great-grandchildren, Brittany, Joshua and Seth; sister, Virginia Tsvetkoff of Duck Lake.

Memorial contributions may be made to the charity of choice.

No services are planned at this time.

There will be a graveside service at Brookside Cemetery announced this summer.

Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is assisting the family.

stay, but she would like to see clinic based pools built in the hospitals for use by patients who can then branch out after their initial therapy.

"I always wanted to add a hospital based pool as well as a community pool," she said.

Having both would help those seeking therapy more easily, De-

Grow said, because the atmosphere is that of teamwork and support and it becomes a community effort.

"It's always been important to me that it's available to them because it's not always available with a clinic based pool," she said of aquatic therapy upon leaving a hospital setting.

However, with the community pools involved in turn serve as a referral to the hospital as well.

Since the program is well established, DeGrow hopes the current level of aquatic therapy is maintained through the efforts of several therapists who had helped her over the years.

For 36 years DeGrow has been a practicing licensed physical therapist and has spent time doing full rehabilitation, some home care and her aquatic therapy. She also worked for 15 years at a school system down state.

No matter what angle of serving the public she took, DeGrow has helped people regain confidence by watching them get better or becoming able to adjust to their situation more easily.

"If you can't completely improve a person's situation, at least with therapy you can give them tools to improve or maintain what they're doing," she said.

DeGrow said the water is a great workout medium because no matter how old someone is they will always be able to work with water. A person can only run and jog for so many years, DeGrow said, but they can use the resistance of water throughout their lifetime.

DeGrow is also the outgoing president of the Charlevoix Area Zonta Club. Zonta International is a world-wide service organization composed of executive business and professional women who strive to advance the status of women.

DeGrow said she will stay active in the Charlevoix Area Zonta Club wherever her service is needed.

As of now, DeGrow said she is looking forward to traveling.

Commission wants input from public on city plan

The Charlevoix City Planning Commission wants the opinions of residents on development.

According to John Hess, chair of the commission, the planning commission is working on creating a new Master Plan for the community. In doing this, the commission has come up with a list of questions whose answers will be used to help guide the creation of the new master plan.

"We need input," Hess said. "We as a planning commission want input from everybody in the city of Charlevoix. This will set the stage for development in the next few years."

Originally, the commissioners were just asked to fill out the questionnaires, but they decided to include the public's opinions on this matter as well.

The questions cover what kinds of growth the people want, what kinds of buildings, how to preserve neighborhoods and many other planning-type issues.

Hess said residents can stop by the planning office in the Charlevoix City Hall on State Street. He asks people interested in a questionnaire to call (231) 547-3265 first to make sure there are some available.

Those questionnaires can be turned back into the planning office.

The commission hopes to be finished with the master plan by November.

THERE ARE GOOD REASONS WHY

PUBLIC NOTICE

APPEARS IN YOUR NEWSPAPER.

Currently, and historically, it is the responsibility of state and local government to publish public and legal notices here in Michigan's newspapers. This paper you're holding right now is a historical document, printed and published with a date on every page. And its pages hold your right to know what the government is doing in your community. In fact, it's law.

In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. After all, it shouldn't be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look or when to look, let alone to know what you're looking for to be informed. That is why you have, and read, your newspaper, where public notices are published with accountable circulation and presented to you on these pages in clear black and white.

How to get your event news into the Courier

If you have a news item you think would be perfect for the Charlevoix Courier, feel free to call 547-6558, e-mail news@charlevoixcourier.com or visit the Courier office located at 112 Mason Street in downtown Charlevoix.

News items include events sponsored by non-profit organizations. Please inform us of your event at least two weeks in advance. Our coverage area is the city of Charlevoix and its immediately surrounding areas, including Beaver Island.

Because of space limitations in the newspaper, we generally try to avoid publishing "check-handing" pictures or "ribbon-cutting" pictures. However, we will work with your organization to get a picture that reflects the event and is visually interesting to our readers.

Due to time constraints on the staff, we cannot attend every event of which we are notified. If you have a picture of your event, we will gladly consider it for publication. But, please, contact us before your event.

It should be noted, each story and picture is dealt with on its individual merits. Any policies outlined above may be suspended by the editor or general manager of the Charlevoix Courier if necessary.

Recycling program taking office paper

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix County Recycling Committee is now offering a program to recycle office paper and other such items.

The program will take office paper, junk mail, envelopes and file folders. At this time the only places where drop off of these items can occur is at the Melrose Township Transfer Station and at the East Jordan Recycling and Transfer Station.

Shirley Roloff, chairman of the Charlevoix County Recycling Committee, said the goal is to eventually have other sites available that will take in office paper by this summer.

Roloff stated in a statement that there are some regulations in regard to recycling office paper. All CDs, credit cards and other non-paper items must be removed from junk mail.

Stickers, rubberbands, sticky notes, mailing labels, staples, paper clips, tape or envelopes with plastic windows don't have to be removed as the technology used in recycling junk mail will remove them.

Roloff also wrote that no Kraft envelopes that are sometimes mistakenly called "manilla" envelopes will be taken. They are a golden brown color.

Also, construction paper and boldly colored office paper is not taken. However, the pale and pastel colored paper is accepted for recycling.

Padded envelopes and bound documents are also not accepted.

The office paper program includes businesses and schools for Charlevoix County only.

The Melrose Township Transfer Station is located west of Clarion Village and is open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturdays.

The East Jordan Recycling and Transfer Station is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing will be held by the Charlevoix Township Planning Commission on April 20, 2005 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall, located at 12491 Waller Road, to take public comments on proposed Amendments to the Township Zoning Ordinance. The following language in bold face font represents the proposed amendments:

1. Amend Article V, Section 5.2 E. 1., Change one-family dwelling minimum lot area from 15,000 to 12,000 Square Feet.
2. Amend Article V, Section 5.6 B. Permitted Principal Uses. Land and buildings in the C Commercial District shall be used only for the following purposes, provided no single-tenant occupancy exceeds a footprint area of 20,000 square feet and the
3. Amend Article V, Section 5.6 C. Uses Permitted with Special Conditions. Land and buildings permitted with special conditions shall be used for the following purposes, provided no single tenant occupancy exceeds a footprint area of 20,000 square feet, the
4. Amend Article V, 5.6 D. Uses Permitted by Special Use Permit. Add the following: 5. Single tenant occupancies exceeding a footprint of 20,000 square feet. No single tenant occupancy shall exceed a footprint area of 90,000 square feet.
5. Amend Article VIII Special Land Uses, Section 8.3 F. 4. b. 4). Change the size of large buildings from 2,000 to 20,000 square feet.
6. Amend Article VIII Special Land Uses, Section 8.3 to add Subsection H as follows:

H. Single Tenant Occupancies Exceeding a Footprint Area of 20,000 Square Feet in the C Commercial District. In addition to the General Standards listed in Section 8.2 A of this Ordinance, the following conditions shall apply:

 1. Purpose. The purposes of this Section are to satisfy the purposes and intents of the Township Master Plan which are to insure that large buildings and occupancies: fit the small town character and appearance of the community, do not become a blighting influence, are more readily able to be reused if abandoned, and do not adversely impact existing businesses, the community, or the neighborhood.
 2. Design Standards.
 - a. Building Placement.
 - 1) Buildings shall have a well-defined front facade with entrances facing the street. They shall be aligned so that the dominant lines of their facades parallel the line of the street.
 - 2) The relationships between buildings and the street shall be parallel or perpendicular rather than oblique or diagonal. Front facades shall be parallel to the street with major roof ridges either parallel or perpendicular to the street.
 - 3) New buildings and additions to existing buildings shall maintain and continue the "street wall" created by adjacent buildings.
 - b. Architecture.
 - 1) Buildings or parts of buildings facing onto public spaces and streets, including canopies for accessory facilities, shall have peaked roofs with a slope of at least 8:12, except that hip roofs with a slope of at least 4:12 and flat roofs that are hidden by a raised cornice shall also be permitted.
 - 2) Windows shall be vertically proportioned and balanced on facades, with width to height ratios ranging from 1:2 to 3:5. Horizontal windows may be used just below roof eaves ("eyebrow" windows) and as first-floor display windows.
 - 3) Trademark architecture, which identifies a specific company by building design features, shall be prohibited, unless the applicant can demonstrate that the design is compatible with the historic architecture of Charlevoix.
 - 4) Large buildings shall be broken up to provide the appearance of smaller volumes consistent with the use and building proportions found in the region's traditional architecture. Generally, facades facing a street shall have the appearance of several vertical buildings attached side by side.
 - 5) Buildings shall have windows and doors at street level, on the street sides of the building, to encourage pedestrian traffic and commercial activity.
 - 6) No buildings shall have more than 15 horizontal feet of wall facing the street without a window or door opening.
 - 7) Building materials for the exterior walls of all new buildings that are visible from a street shall be wood, brick, stone or similar materials traditionally used in the Charlevoix area. Building walls and structures that are not visible from a street shall be constructed of wood, stone, brick, concrete block, metal, and similar materials.
 - c. Lighting. Lighting within parking lots shall be on low poles of 12 feet to 15 feet maximum height, with color-corrected lamps and cut-off luminaires designed to minimize glare and light pollution. Design of poles and luminaires shall be compatible with the style of the architecture and adjoining streetscape treatment. Sidewalks leading from parking lots shall be lit with bollard lighting and indirect illumination of buildings and vegetation.
 - d. Landscaping. Minimum three-inch caliper shade trees, measured at breast height, shall be provided along all streets and pedestrian ways at intervals averaging twenty feet on each side. Existing trees, lawns and shrubs shall be preserved to the extent practical. Landscaping shall not be required as buffers between uses unless the uses are determined by the Planning Commission to be incompatible.
 - e. Access and Connections. Access shall be provided in accordance with the Access Management requirements of Section 3.18 of this Ordinance.
 - f. Sidewalks. Sidewalks or defined walkways shall be provided leading from parking lots and along streets.
 - g. Parking and Loading.
 - 1) The Planning Commission may reduce the off-street parking and loading requirements of Article VI if the applicant can demonstrate that full compliance is unnecessary because of the characteristics of the proposed use, the availability of shared or public parking, or other circumstances. The Planning Commission may also consider "proof of parking" in lieu of finished parking improvements provided the applicant agrees in writing to provide parking when it is deemed to be needed by the Commission.
 - 2) On-street parking and shared parking shall be encouraged where feasible.
 - 3) Parking lots shall be located to the rear and side of buildings, and shall be laid out to minimize visibility from existing streets, wherever possible. Parking in front of a building shall consist of no more than one bay width or sixty (60) feet.
 - 4) Rear parking lots shall be connected to adjoining parking lots and side streets, if any, and shall have clearly delineated pedestrian paths leading to the sidewalks along the street.
 3. Additional Requirements For Buildings Exceeding a Footprint Area of 50,000 Square Feet. The following shall be required:
 - a. Market Feasibility Study. A retail market study shall accompany the application that indicates the potential of the market to accommodate the project and the impact of the proposed project on existing retail businesses in the Charlevoix market area.
 - b. Traffic Study. A traffic impact study shall accompany the application indicating the effects of the proposed development on the level of service of all existing and proposed intersections within one mile of the project and how traffic impacts will be mitigated.
 - c. Adaptability For Reuse Plan. The building design for a retail use shall demonstrate how the building is designed for adaptation to a multi-tenant building in the event of the abandonment of the single tenant occupancy. The design may include, but is not limited to, compartmentalized construction, including plumbing, electrical, service, heating, ventilation, air conditioning and wall placement. The plans shall also demonstrate how the exterior of the building can be divided into separate tenancies, facades can be adapted to separate entrances, parking can be shared, and the exterior can be maintained as a multi-tenant occupancy.
 7. Amend Article XIV, Definitions, to include the following new definitions:

Single Tenant Occupancy - The area of a lot that is used by a single tenant, exclusive of parking.

Footprint Area - The area of the ground floor of a building computed by measuring the exterior faces of the exterior walls of said building.

Proof of Parking - Demonstration on the site plan that parking equal to Ordinance requirements is satisfied on the lot, some of which is not improved, but may be required by the Township to be improved if parking demand warrants at a later date.
 8. Amend Article XII, Administration and Enforcement, Section 12.1 F. 2., replacing Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals with Township Board.

You may appear and testify at the hearing, either in person or by duly authorized agent, or you may provide written comments to the Township Clerks Office prior to the hearing and they will become part of the hearing record. Copies of the Zoning Ordinance and Amendments are available for inspection in the Township Clerks Office on Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 p.m. or by appointment.

Council looking into new conflict rule

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

According to Charlevoix City Council Member Shirley Gibson, city residents are concerned with possible conflicts of interest taking place with council members and city projects and it is time for the city to have a solid policy on it.

Gibson has asked Charlevoix City Attorney Jim Young for a conflict of interest policy to deal with council members who get work from the city. However, a policy he created in early March was not to Gibson's liking.

"I think it is pretty simple. I think it should just be no elected official can do any work for the city unless it is approved by council," Gibson said at the March 14 City Council meeting.

ing. "I've gotten complaints from citizens that there could be conflicts of interest."

Under current city rules, council members can compete for sealed bid projects along with other businesses. Those bids must be approved by city council before they are granted.

However, Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner has the ability to hire anyone he feels is necessary for any job under $10,000. In the past this has benefited Charlevoix Council Member's Sherman Chamberlain who co-owns a surveying business and Charlevoix Council Member Bill Haggard who owns a plumbing and heating company and others.

Under the proposed new policy created by Young, a city official, city employee or member of that official or employee's family can not enter into a contract with the city without prior approval of the city council.

This means Wiesner could no longer just use one of the businesses owned by a city council member to take care of city projects under $10,000. He would instead have to get permission from city council.

However, this proposed policy does not apply to situations where the city officials or employee is a subcontractor to a third-party that has a bona fide contract with the city.

For example, this means if an outside company gets a contract to construct a new park, that company could hire Chamberlain's surveying company to work under it on the project without the approval of council.

The proposed policy also has an exemption for emergency work.

Young said he created this draft policy based on concepts from the Michigan Municipal League.

The section on emergencies was added on the request of Wiesner, Young added.

But, Gibson was not happy with this proposed policy at the March 14 meeting.

"I bet there will be a lot of emergencies," she said. "To me it is very vague."

Gibson stressed she does not want to drop council members out of the bidding process. She said she only wants the council to be aware of other council members who are doing work for the city.

She pointed out East Jordan has a policy where no elected official can do any work for the city during their time serving the community and for one year after.

Young disagreed that the proposed policy is vague. However, he said he would take the policy he created and a policy based on East Jordan's and submit them to the Michigan Municipal League for its opinion on which covers the state conflict of interest law.

Young was not sure when that answer would be back before council.

Seelye to perform at center

Crooked Tree Arts Center presents another Sunday Series performance at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 3, in the Edith Gilbert Gallery at the downtown Petoskey arts center.

Singer/Songwriter Kristine Seelye will perform on the Yamaha piano and feature her own music and lyrics. A reception will follow the performance, allowing audience members to chat with Seelye.

Seelye has been singing for as long as she can remember. Seelye's songwriting talents for the song, "Speak the Words" earned her national recognition. An earlier endeavor, "Open the Door" was produced as a local award-winning music video.

She is influenced by everything from Classical to Rock, Jazz to WNCM's "Good Moanin' Blues," and she plays an eclectic blend of musical styles.

There is no charge, but seating is limited due to room size. For more information, please contact Crooked Tree Arts Center at (231) 347-4337 or visit www.crookedtree.org.

Boyne City Police, Sheriff team up for DARE

The Boyne City Police Department and Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department will be hosting the annual DARE Golf Benefit and Dinner fund raising event on May 12 at Boyne Mountain.

Tee time is noon on the Alpine Course and dinner is at 5 p.m. at the Civic Center at Boyne Mountain.

There are prizes awarded on the par three holes, longest drives, most putts and closes to the pin. A hole in one on 17 is worth up to $5,000 cash, and is being sponsored by Korth Insurance in Boyne City.

The golf tournament is a four person, shotgun start scramble. Dinner follows at 5 p.m. and is part of your entry fee, and will include prime rib being served. The cost of golf and dinner together is $80 per person.

Camera catches break-in suspect

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office is investigating a break-in around 3 a.m., Saturday, March 26 at the Argonne Supper Club on Boyne City/Charlevoix Road that was caught on a surveillance camera.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater said a video camera at the restaurant caught a man kicking in a side door to the business and stealing several bottles of wine.

Lasater said the office is hoping to identify the man from the video tape in the near future. In the meantime, he is asking anyone with knowledge of the event to contact the sheriff's office at (231) 547-4461.

The suspect who was caught on video tape is encouraged to do the same.

Check the Classifieds

and will also include a group photo for each member of your team.

If you don't care to golf, dinner can be purchased for $14.50. Tickets can be purchased in advance at the Boyne City Police Department.

The departments are also seeking hole sponsors. For $100 you or your business can sponsor a hole and have a professionally produced sign by Mitchell Graphics posted on that hole. For a $300 hole sponsorship you will receive an engraved plaque and two dinner tickets in addition to the advertising sign.

If you cannot participate, but still wish to support the DARE program you can send a cash donation.

The DARE association is also seeking items to be given away at the dinner as door prizes. If you have items you wish to donate, you can drop them off at the Boyne City Police Department or call 582-6611 and let them know you have items that need to be picked up and someone will stop by.

There are a limited number of spaces for golfers, so if you are interested in golfing please get your entry fees in soon.

Anyone who is interested, and needs more information or an information flyer, should call the Boyne City Police Department at (231) 582-6611 and ask for Bardel Belford or Assistant Chief Jeff Gettel.

The proceeds from the fund-raiser are used to purchase educational materials, train DARE officers, purchase graduation supplies and instructional equipment used for the DARE program.

Northwest learns about crime labs

On Tuesday, March 24, Northwest Academy had an all day crime lab.

Students were to figure out who and what "killed" their administrator/principal. The crime lab included: cheek fraud, blood stain tests, clothing fiber tests, evidence check, bone matching, lip and fingerprint tests, powder tests and chromatography.

"It was interesting, fun and educational," some students have said.

Michelle Utley, staff member, put together this experiment to show students different career options. The teachers helped present the labs and encouraged students to explore the options. This experiment was also used to have the students use their math, science, and reasoning skills and it was for a hands on experiment.

Utley joked, "The suspect that was incriminated is Mr. Eric Richardson, the science teacher. We will find out Monday if it really was him. The school will be going to the Charlevoix County court house for the trial. It looks as if we may need a new math/science teacher."

Play to have staged reading April 2

The public is invited to be a part of the production of a new play to be premiered by Crooked Tree Arts Center, by attending a staged reading of "No Problem" 8 p.m. Saturday, April 2, at the Arts Center in downtown Petoskey.

The staged reading is free and open to the public for the purpose of holding a discussion about the play between the audience and the cast in the presence of the playwright, immediately following the reading.

A staged reading is the final step in the process of work-shopping the script before the final version of the play debuts at Crooked Tree Arts Center in June. Dale Hull, Executive Director of Crooked Tree Arts Center, will be directing the production.

For more information about the upcoming public reading on April 2 and the subsequent premier performance of the original play, contact Hull at 347-4337 or dale@crookedtree.org. Writer Bill Wheadon can be reached at (231) 228-5920, or at bwheadon@earthlink.net.

On Sunday, Feb. 13, we left Charlevoix for Sri Lanka with the Medina Mission of Mercy, out of Medina, Ohio. We arrived back home on Sunday, March 6. It was a wonderful experience. We worked hard while we were there, but had a great time. The Sri Lankan people were very welcoming and loved Americans. They were grateful for any kindness. There was much devastation and incredible sense of loss for many of the people. Many lost everything. Their homes, family members, absolutely everything. Amazingly enough, there was a great sense of hope. Perseverance. One could see this hope in the faces of the children. Their lives were turned upside down, many of them, yet they continue to go to school, work and try to make their lives better. These people were terrific.

Because the financial burden fell upon each member of the mission, our trip would not have been possible without the prayers and assistance of many local donors. We would especially like to thank: St. Mary's School children, St. Mary's parish, Father Tom Neffs, Rita Orlovski, The Charlevoix Lions Club, Northern Michigan Hospital Lab and Laundry (for the scrubs), John's coworkers at Tallberg's Service and Sales departments, James Jeakle MD, Marc Lane MD, Dave Strawbridge DDS, Super-bowl partygoers, Dennis and Flo Wojan, Joelle Beaudoin, Dennis and Joy Halverson, Ron and Cathy Agnello, Paul and Mary Ann Stepien, The McCormick family, Bill Supernaw, Diane's coworkers at North Country Community Mental Health, Michael lene Wright, Kristy Ferguson, Andrew Sahara, Donna Wheeler, Mary MacNaughton, Natalie Weber and Larry Warner. Last but not least, we would like to thank our family, Michael, Patrick and Matthew, for their love and support.

This was a chance of a lifetime, and we are truly grateful we had the opportunity to help some of the victims of the disaster in Sri Lanka. Thank you all for your support.

As there is still a lot of work to be done, please continue to pray for the people of Sri Lanka, and consider a donation to the Medina Mission of Mercy Foundation, 738 E. Smith Road, Medina, OH 44256, as their mission will continue as long as there is a need.

Site Planning - John Campbell, Performance Engineering - Jim Malowitz, D&M Construction - Dan Murray, Swanson K&D, Swanson Construction, Emmet Brick & Block - donated block for foundation, Manthei's Cement - donated concrete for foundation, Wolohan Lumber, Home Depot, builder James Fiedler - framing and siding, Wojan Window and Door - windows and patio doors, Anthony Lucas - inside construction and finish work (wages paid by James Fiedler and the Senior Center), Superior Mechanical - Bob Muneio and Zach Kehrner, Whitley Flooring - wood floor and carpeting, Wolohan's - cabinets (donated by Tim Parker and Harbor Industries of Charlevoix), Charlevoix County Commission on Aging - kitchen equipment, Charlevoix County Community Foundation - kitchen equipment, Charlevoix Senior Center Craft Class - kitchen equipment, Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians - kitchen equipment, Northern Michigan Electric - Lee Clark and Gary Arnold Plumbing.

I also wish to thank those many members of our great senior center, who took from their savings, to see a great addition to the center completed. This is a great and much needed addition to the Charlevoix area for many lifetimes to come and is well on its way to being the "Diamond of the North" senior center of Michigan. Also, a big thanks goes to Sheriff George Lasater and the two officers, along with some very talented workers, who helped finish the drywall and painting.

Chamber to get $18,000 for concerts, promotion

summer concert series.

DDA Chairman Hugh Mason said the DDA has supported the chamber with an annual $13,000 since 1992.

DDA Member John Taylor said he supported providing the Chamber with $13,000, but not all in one lump sum. He also said they should be held accountable for the use of that money through economic impact reports on the events they host.

Discussion surrounded the job description of the chamber and the Downtown Coordinator.

Mayor Norman L. Carlson Jr. said he doesn't mind the Downtown Coordinator helping with chamber events, but that the chamber is responsible for events such as the Easter Egg Hunt. Whereas, the Downtown Coordinator is responsible for bringing business downtown.

Charlevoix resident John Campbell suggested that the Convention and Visitor's Bureau and the chamber sit down to talk things through.

These meetings would be closed to the public.

DDA Member John Yaroch handed out a write up of what he felt are the Downtown Coordinator's responsibilities.

The responsibilities proposed by Yaroch included the coordination of activities that impact the downtown with local businesses and organizations and providing for communication between all parties involved.

The second responsibility is to explore the resources available at the county, regional, state and federal levels to find programs that may exist that could in turn help in marketing and funding of various downtown projects and initiatives.

The third responsibility is to pool resources in the community to adequately fund the position of the Downtown Coordinator on a sustainable basis.

Downtown Coordinator Cindy Martin said she had already been doing many items on the list.

After much deliberation, Carlson made a motion that the DDA form a contract with the chamber for $13,000 to help fund their downtown promotions. This money will be contracted for the 2005 to 2006 budget year for the DDA.

The chamber also has to be willing to participate in media and to supply the DDA with a written report every two to three months to show what the funds are supporting.

All members voted in favor of giving the chamber $13,000.

The next decision made toward the chamber dealt with whether or not the DDA would grant the chamber $10,000 to fund the summer concert series.

Many DDA members said the summer concert series in the park is wonderful to have, but aren't sure about the price attached.

"I think we should help the chamber get through this crucial period but for one year only,"

DDA member Fred DiMartino said.

DiMartino made the motion for the DDA to give the chamber $5,000 this year and this year only in order to fund the summer concert series.

The motion was seconded by Yaroch and supported by all members, but Jeff Porter.

Porter said he doesn't see how the summer concert series is something the DDA should support.

He said it's a wonderful attribute to the community during the summer, but shouldn't be paid for by the DDA.

Instead, Porter said the summer concert series should be paid for by the Conventions and Visitor's Bureau, the chamber or individual sponsors.

Middle, elementary wrestlers end season

The Charlevoix Rayder Middle and Elementary School wrestling teams finished out their season on Saturday at the Petoskey Tournament.

While competing against over 30 schools, both Rayder Teams were awarded the Best Sportsmanship Trophy, (Ages 8-12 and 13-14).

Another trophy was received for Most Participation in the 8-12 age group.

Individual highlights include:
• First place — gold medal winners: Eli Daman, Brad Rizzo, Jacob Sharow and Lucas VonLau.
• Second place — silver medal winners: Zeke Daman, Austin DeVries, Tanner Geer, Clay Heise, Sam Hovie, Joey Left, Jake Novotny, Justin Perkins, Hunter Turner and Vinny VonLau.

• Third place — bronze medal winners: Aaron DeVries, Jamie Eakes, John Kagabitang, Curtis Russell, Avery Penfold, Ryan Penfold, Tabitha Penfold and Casey Swadling.

Being awarded the Best Sportsmanship Trophy (in both age groups) is a great honor, and shows the commitment of the coaches to the program.

The wrestlers and parents would like to thank Coaches Craig Golovich, Nick Gould, Casey and Samantha Penfold and Kirk Daman for all of their hard work and volunteer efforts. Special mention to Greg, Jason and Pat Whitley, as well as Greg Bryan for all of the additional support.

North Country Community Mental Health to have classes

North Country Community Mental Health (NCCMH) in partnership with the Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Northern Lower Michigan (AMI) is continuing the series of "Families in Action" classes that began last fall.

The new series will start in April. The classes consist of PowerPoint presentations and discussion over various aspects of coping with mental illness. The material is designed for families and consumers. The training was developed by the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Michigan and involves members of our NAMI chapter and North Country Community Mental Health staff members providing the instruction. The classes will be given on April 13 and 27, May 11 and 25 and June 15.

The meetings will begin at 6:30 p.m. and are at the Petoskey Club, 555 W. Mitchell Street, Petoskey. Individuals or families can register by calling North Country Community Mental Health, Community Support Services at (231) 347-0740.

Kilkennys try to help in Sri Lanka

"The devastation was incredible," she said.

Strewn along the shore and hung up in trees were pieces of women's saris. Diane said she also saw the remains of a doll half buried in the sand. Sari's and dolls only scratched the surface of what people lost, as some neighborhoods were completely destroyed and everyone was gone.

"It was so much bigger when you're right there than anything you can see on the news," Diane said. "It was heart breaking."

Despite losing everything, Diane said the people were very resilient.

One man Diane came upon, in his best English, showed her where his house used to stand and that he had lost his entire family.

"I don't know if I would be strong enough to say, 'Oh, well, it happened, move on,'" Diane said.

John said people were rebuilding what remained of their homes if the foundation was not structurally damaged.

However, some people's houses were completely destroyed, and they could rebuild 200 meters in from the beach. This proved to be a problem, John said, as 200 meters in put them on their neighbor's property or in a freshwater lake.

These people took up residence in refugee camps.

"A lot of people in refugee camps will be there for a year while people find where they can build a home," John said.

One refugee camp called Kudinethayal Sagamam Camp, located near the capital Colombo, is where Diane and John spent a lot of time helping out.

Diane said all the water had to be filtered even if it came in a sealed bottle. John helped with the filtering process and said that after about four days into the process the filter became clogged from cleaning the area's bottled water.

John also gave his time to teaching the children at the camp how to play Frisbee. The game wasn't the easiest for them, but John said they enjoyed themselves.

Diane said the children were very bright and hard working. She said after they came home from being in school all day, many of the children would attend evening classes where English was taught.

"It's really a beautiful country," Diane said. "The people were just awesome. I really like them a lot."

The entire culture was an experience in and of itself starting with the local cuisine.

"It was curly," John said. "Unless you're a fan of it, you don't like it."

Diane said the presentation wasn't the most attractive as food came in a howl lined with plastic wrap and the food was just dumped in. She said you're supposed to eat it with your hands, which are dirty, and you don't really know what you're eating.

"You can only be so brave," she said.

The culture is also completely different, Diane said, as men come first, then women and children, but police and everyone they know come first and foremost.

The group Diane and John were traveling with had a taste of the military presence there. One night while on their way back to their sleeping quarters several armed military people came aboard their bus. The group didn't have an interpreter that night and Diane said she could reach out and touch the AK-47 slung over one soldier's shoulder.

Diane said the entire bus was quiet until the soldier's got off the bus. She said they waved and walked away and had only used the bus to hitch a ride.

"You can't help but be scared because you don't know," she said. "That was the quietest our bus had ever been."

The highlight of the trip, Diane said, occurred at a hospital the group was passing through. There were two pregnant women waiting in the hall and Diane said one of the doctors asked her to show her stomach. Through sign language and kind smiles, Diane said the one woman finally did so.

The doctor rubbed jelly on her stomach and then used an instrument that allowed the woman to hear the heart beat of her unborn child.

"No one had ever heard that, including the nurses," Diane said.

The other pregnant woman asked for the same to be done to her and Diane said the entire area was filled with excited voices and happy smiles.

However, there were the darker things that made the trip unpleasant. Diane and John went to an orphanage where most of the residents are either physically or mentally handicapped.

John said out of 25 children, six were actual orphans, most from the tsunami. The other children were abandoned by their parents due to their disabilities.

John said there were only 14 to 16 beds and the rest of the children had to sleep on the floor.

"You wouldn't have your dog sleep on this floor," Diane said.

John said the group built a merry-go-round and painted it bright red. Diane said it was the happiest thing in that dirty, dark and depressing place.

"The tsunami sites were devastating, but that was haunting," she said of the nightmare the children lived in. "I won't forget it."

After all they did and saw, Diane and John came back home ready to help out again if financially able.

"I went in with the intentions for anything for myself," John said. "I went in with the intentions for helping people."

John said he doesn't feel like the experience has changed him, but he is glad to have made a difference even if it was a just a small dent on a larger scale.

Diane said she truly values the things she has more and the little things in life that people in the United States let build up don't seem so important.

"I guess I felt like I knew that I had things pretty good," she said. "But coming back I am so much more incredibly grateful for what we have here, what I personally have here."

Diane said the people touched her heart and she will always remember the hope they carry with them even when they have nothing.

"As ready as I was to come home, I felt there was so much more that could be done if I had more time," she said.

Council votes for check probe

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

An independent investigation has been approved by the Charlevoix City Council on the CCMS check mistake that cost the city over $220,000.

Council member Boh Timms made a motion for the investigation at Monday night's city council meeting saying, "I kind of hate to see this thing swept under the rug. Even if the insurance company pays us 100 percent, it still looks like someone was asleep at the switch."

Timms said he wanted someone to look into the check matter that was from outside the city.

He was joined in support for this motion by Council Member Shirley Gibson and Karen Campbell. Council member Sherman Chamberlain voted against the investigation.

Council member Bill Bellows abstained from voting because he was sitting in for Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson, who was absent from the meeting. The mayor normally does not vote, unless it is to break a tie.

Council member Bill Haggard was also absent from the meeting.

Timms said the work done so far on finding out what went wrong with the check mistake did not seem to be going anywhere.

Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner said the city was planning on presenting a report on the matter from the insurance standpoint of the check at the next city council meeting April 18.

Because of that, Chamberlain suggested the council wait to vote on the matter until after the presentation. But, Timms said whether or not insurance pays for the mistake he would still like an investigation on why it happened.

"Don't you think it should be followed up to see whose desk this landed on?" he said.

Charlevoix City Attorney Jim Young said he could present a list of names of retired police detectives who live outside of Charlevoix County that could do the investigation for the city.

This issue started when a check for over $220,000 was mistakenly written to contractor

Cement plant now owned by St. Mary

Twelve loose their jobs in transfer

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The former Cemex Cement plant in Charlevoix Township officially has new owners — Votorantim Participações S. A. out of Brazil.

As of Friday, April 1, the plant is part of the company's St. Mary's Cement Plants, which it owns throughout the Great Lakes region.

While this sale brings another new name to the cement plant located near Fisherman's Island State Park, it also cost 12 workers at the plant their jobs.

According to Dave Lumsden, president of the cement division of St. Mary's (Votorantim), the company was able to keep 94 percent of the unionized workforce at the former Cemex plant — a total of 102 unionized workers — however 12 positions were eliminated.

"It certainly saddens us that everybody did not come with us," he said. "Our vision is not to find certain people to get rid of."

Lumsden said the company based the current employment figure on standards the company needed in order to make the plant a long-term facility for St. Mary. The decisions on employment came from "extensive" interviews the company had with the workers, their managers and reviews of files.

Under the terms of the sale, Cemex had to release its workers at its Charlevoix plant. It was then up to St. Mary whether to hire those workers back.

According to Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater, he was given a list of the 12 Cemex employees who were not hired by St. Mary by the new security firm overseeing the Charlevoix plant — Huffmaster out of Detroit. He said this list was sent on March 29 in anticipation of any problems at the plant due to the new owners not bringing everyone back.

Lasater said there were no problems that he was aware of. He added he could not think of any comparable instances but a company has never sent him a list like this in the past.

Lumsden said the list was sent based on the advice of the security company.

"We were only doing what we were instructed to do by the security group. We did not anticipate any trouble," he said.

A union official with the company could not be reached for comment before press time.

Lumsden stressed, the company intends on owning the former Cemex plant for quite a long time and this purchase enhances St. Mary's operations on the Great Lakes.

"We are determined this is the last change they (workers) will have to make," he said. "We are probably the largest cement supplier and manufacturer on the Great Lakes now."

In addition to a change in the number of workers at the plant, Lumsden said the company is also making a few other changes, such as technological upgrades to increase the reliability of the facility, starting with an $8 to $10 million bag house.

"The previous owners did not have the technology we would choose to use," he said.

A bag house, according to Lumsden, will help reduce admissions out of the facility.

The plant will also have a new plant manager. Dirk Cox, a Michigan native from Manistiquette, has been selected to replace outgoing manager Bud McCormick. McCormick decided to stay with the Cemex company and was transferred to another Cemex plant.

According to Lumsden, Cox has been in the cement business since 1979 and has run various plants in the United States. He has a bachelor of science in civil engineering. Monday was his first day at the Charlevoix plant.

Lumsden said this deal has been 14 months in the making. He said Cemex actually came to St. Mary's to inquire whether it would be interested in buying the Charlevoix plant.

He said Cemex is interested in consolidating its plants on the southern side of the United States and was looking to get rid of its northern plant.

Kilkennys donate their time to tsunami victims

EDITORIAL

Sometimes it seems the world is too big to make a difference.

Sometimes it seems the things you see or read in the news across the world are not real. It is hard to separate the Hollywood from the reality.

Take for example the tidal wave that struck Sri Lanka, India, Thailand and other Indonesian countries in December. While the rest of the world was relaxing after another wonderful holiday, a monstrous wave swept the shores of these countries, killing and injuring thousands.

Children were left orphaned, parents had to suffer the loss of their children and people were left without shelter, food and clean water.

Television reports of the disaster seemed like a horror movie being played over and over on the television news. Stories of the loss in newspapers seemed like the latest disaster tale from a big-time author.

But it was all real.

Soon Americans and the world jumped to action. Donations of food, clothing, medical supplies, money and other necessities started to be collected. Volunteers converged on the disaster site to help give aid through providing food, helping rebuild or just supplying a shoulder for those affected.

Joining in on this was Charlevoix's own Diane Kilkenny and her son John Kilkenny, along with her mother-in-law Edna Kilkenny. Instead of just sending money or clothing to these poor people, the Kilkennys sent themselves.

Through the Medina Mission of Mercy, the Kilkennys visited Sri Lanka, one of the countries struck by the tidal wave, and they provided all the help they could.

Diane and Edna helped with medical issues — both are registered nurses — and John — a mechanic — helped with mechanical, electrical and carpentry construction.

And the Kilkennys did this just to help out. No one paid for their trip — they raised the money to go themselves — and they did not go to sell anything. It was all to provide aid to people living across the world from our little town of Charlevoix.

We salute the Kilkennys for their efforts in Sri Lanka. They make Charlevoix proud with the kindness they have shown for others.

The world seems like such a smaller place with good people like them in it.

The magical, mysterious plant habits of spring

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

On the occasion of the spring equinox, what we call the first day of spring or the last day of winter, I like to look around me for evidences that living plants have survived the winter and are ready to make another year's leaves, roots and oxygen.

On this spring equinox, there was very little green to be seen. I rushed around the south side of our house, which is not by the driveway or the sidewalk and is available only in high boots or on snowshoes for most of the winter. And there they were, the first two inches of our daffodils up and apparently thriving.

Nights in late March were still well below freezing (about 20 degrees) and I was forced to think again about how it is possible for those tender green shoots to look so fine when they should have frozen to death like the tomatoes did last fall. After a little investigating, I found mostly that no one really knows how green, tender plants can not only survive, but grow at temperatures well below freezing. More than that, my (and your) daffodils manage to adjust to night temperatures in the teens and daytime temperatures up to 50 degrees while marching steadily toward the blooms that already show as buds.

If we knew exactly how those daffodils resisted freezing, we might be able to produce frost resistant tomatoes, or corn or cucumbers or even bananas. Those garden inhabitants and most plants with tropical ancestry don't even need to be frozen to be harmed. All of them and many more besides are damaged by any persistent temperature below 50 degrees.

The genetic engineers have certainly tried. As I recall there have been attempts to introduce cold-resistant genes from flounders and other cold-water fish into tomatoes. And genetically altered, harmless bacteria of the proper kind can be sprayed on strawberry plants, where they keep frost from forming on the leaves. I expect great and interesting things in the future.

The real champions of cold and frost resistance are to be found in places like Siberia or the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, where there are Tamarack trees who's exposed buds can survive down to minus 90 degrees.

In all cases, it is not the freezing that harms plants or animals, it is the thawing out. You need only watch what happens to that beautiful frozen raspberry as it nears room temperature to appreciate the truth. Tiny live-things like sperm gametes, human or otherwise, can be frozen at hundreds of degrees below zero, stored for years and thawed out with no harm at all, but anything much larger cannot survive thawing. I don't expect long-term survival and resuscitation of us humans until Star Trek becomes real.

By the time we all get to April, it is safe to talk about things like freezing and thawing. Happy spring.

Take over millage payment

Editor:
Let's see I now learn that as a "seasonal customer" (May 15 to Oct. 15) I am responsible for Charlevoix's higher year-round electricity rates. This is regrettable. I feel guilty. Here's how I suggest setting things right. I'll be glad to pay your electricity premium if you will take over the excessive millage I pay for your schools (24 mills versus 6 mills).

Northwest lower Michigan area residents can now learn the facts on April 7 on National Alcohol Screening Day.

Some things you may not know:
• Heavy drinking raises the risk for high blood pressure, heart disease, certain cancers, car crashes, unintentional injuries, violence, suicides, birth defects and overall mortality.

• More than 150 medications can interact harmfully with alcohol. These interactions may result in increased risk of illness, injury and even death.

• Alcohol can alter blood sugar levels and exacerbate diabetes; impair reproducing functions; and interfere with calcium metabolism and bone structure, increasing the risk of osteoporosis.

• Researchers have identified no safe threshold for drinking during pregnancy.

Be aware of sexual assaults

Editor:

"Standing for right when it is unpopular is a true test of moral character." — Margaret Chase Smith

The Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan would like to remind area citizens that April is National Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Sexual assault affects children, women and men of all ages, races and income levels.

Statistics show that:

• Someone is being sexually assaulted every 2 minutes somewhere in America.

• 75 percent of rapes are committed by someone the survivor knows.

Sexual assault affects a large number of individuals, but researchers argue that only one in every ten cases is ever reported.

Of those reported, only two percent of rapists are ever convicted in the United States. As a community, we need to respond to this alarming issue. To help prevent sexual assault we need to increase community awareness by dispelling myths that place blame on the survivor, abolish gender role stereotypes in our society, make a point to say something when sexist things are said and encourage parents to communicate with their children.

To learn more about sexual assault, our educational program can be brought to schools for students and parent groups, as well as area churches and community organizations. For more information, call (231) 347-0082; our 24 hour crisis and information line is (800) 275-1995.

Use wind energy

Editor:

Are you concerned about our earth? Windmills save money and conserve fossil fuels, and, unlike electric plants, do not pollute the air.

First of all, the windmills conserve our much-needed fossil fuels. They use the wind for power and don't burn up oil or wood. Also they don't create hazardous nuclear waste either.

Second, using wind for power and not having to buy fuel, they are very inexpensive to run. With the wind being free, they save money. Also, you don't have to pay workers. There are no workers to operate the windmills.

Above all, windmills don't pollute the air. Oil or wood powered plants create smoke that is dangerous to our air and chemicals that are dangerous to our waterways. Windmills make it so we don't store the dangerous nuclear waste, also.

Windmills would save us money and fossil fuels, also they wouldn't pollute. This is why I believe we should use wind energy.

Need an Arby's

Editor:

Do you think we have enough fast food restaurants? I don't. I think we should get an Arby's in town. It would be a good family restaurant. Arby's would have more variety of food, and we would have more restaurants so they won't be so full.

First of all, if we got an Arby's we wouldn't have so many people at just one restaurant. It would bring more people from different places like Ellsworth and East Jordan. It would provide more jobs like a cook, a manager or a cashier. It would be a good family place. It would bring friendly and good citizens to eat there.

They will have a better variety of food. One kind of food they have is the famous Arby's Roast Beef Melt. It is a lot healthier and it has less calories and less fat than a Big Mac from McDonalds. They also have superior deserts and the best part is you get to make it yourself.

In conclusion, if we get an Arby's it will help Charlevoix get money and help people get more jobs. I hope this letter changed you mind about getting an Arby's in Charlevoix.

Allow dogs at Ferry Beach

Editor:

I think dogs should be allowed on the left side of Ferry Beach. Right now, dogs can only swim on one side of Michigan Beach. It would be nice if the left side of Ferry Beach was open to dogs because many dogs love to swim, and there is only a small place open to them. Also, Ferry Beach is where everyone goes, and finally, small dogs get hot in the summer and they can't swim at Michigan Beach.

First off, most dogs love to swim and there's only a small place available to them. The far side of Michigan Beach is not big enough. There are many dog breeds that swim, such as the Portuguese water dog and most of the hunting breeds. There are many dogs living in Charlevoix, and there isn't enough room for them all.

You might be wondering, why it should be Ferry Beach that has to change? Well, Ferry Beach is the most popular, and everyone likes to go there. On one side of the beach, the left side, hardly anyone ever swims there. It would be the perfect place for the dogs. All dogs would have to be on a leash so they could be controlled quickly.

Last, small dogs get hot in the summer and they can't swim at Michigan beach. The water there is too cold, and the waves are too large. The little dogs cannot swim in those conditions. However, Ferry Beach is much calmer, and not as chilly.

In conclusion, the dogs need a different area to swim, and Ferry Beach would be the ideal place for it.

The small dogs would have a place to swim and Michigan wouldn't be the only beach you could take your dog. So, shouldn't dogs be allowed to swim at the main Charlevoix Beach?

Engagement

Beck — Berlage

Penny Lee Leitner Beck of Harrison, Tenn. and James S. Berlage of Charlevoix announce their engagement to be married on Saturday, Aug. 6, 2005.

Penny is the daughter of Ms. Patricia A. Leitner of Charlevoix and Mr. And Mrs. Carol B. Leitner of Muskegon.

Jim is the son of Mrs. William Feldkircher of Las Vegas, NV and the late Mr. Donald J. Berlage of Charlevoix.

Tilley honored for distinguished service

Capt. Tim C. Rod, Seventh District Commander of the Michigan State Police, announced recently the Department of State Police has given the "Distinguished Service Award" to Lt. Michael J. Tilley, emergency management coordinator for the Seventh District.

This award is given to members of the Michigan State Police who demonstrate extraordinary efforts through diligence and perseverance in performance of activities beyond what are normally expected outside of crime prevention, life and property protection, or criminal apprehension.

This citation was awarded to Lt. Tilley for his efforts and dedication in establishing new language for homeland security training and exercise grants regarding the reimbursement policy of overtime and backfill payment of part-time and volunteer first responders on a national basis. Lt. Tilley showed compassion, initiative and persistence in working with Representative Bart Stupak and his office to get the legislation rewritten.

This has helped to ensure the money and personnel resources are effectively and efficiently used to help ensure our homeland security.

John Bawol, president of the Seventh District Emergency management Association, said, "We always felt that we had the best district coordinator in the State and this award solidifies those feelings".

Lt. Tilley, is a recent graduate of the FBI Academy and a 26 year veteran with the Department of State Police. He is currently the Seventh District Coordinator for 17 northern Michigan counties for the State Police Emergency Management Division.

Lt. Tilley and his family reside in Charlevoix County.

Lt. Tilley will be receiving his award at the April 7 meeting of the Seventh District Emergency Management Association. The meeting will be at 10 a.m. at the Grayling City Council Chambers, located in the Grayling City Hall, 1020 Boulevard, in Grayling.

Anniversary

Lawrence and Jeannette Boss

Lawrence and Jeannette Boss will be celebrating their sixtieth anniversary on April 14.

They were married April 14, 1945 at the Atwood Reformed church by the Rev. Gradus Alberts and the Rev. Ellsworth Dykstra.

Lawrence was born in Marion Township and Jeanette (DeYoung) was born in Atwood. They met at a youth group event between their two churches, Atwood Reformed and Barnard Reformed (Community Reformed Church). They have made their home on the Boss homestead where Lawrence was born.

Jeanette worked as a nurse's aid at Charlevoix hospital and later worked as a cook for a couple in the Belvedere Club. Lawrence has been a farmer all his life, raising turkeys, registered "Shorthorn" cattle and crops. He also worked for 25 years, at the "American Mold and Engineering" DME where he retired from in 1983.

They have three children: Beth Ann Broadwater of Minnesota, Wilson "Bud" Boss and Jan Boss of Charlevoix, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

They have been and still are very active in all their grandchildren's sports and other activities. They continue to be very active in their church. They will be celebrating with their family and friends at 10:15 a.m. on April 10 at the Community Reformed Church between the two services.

Area catholics remember Pope John Paul II's legacy

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

With Pope John Paul II's death at 84 years of age, the Catholic church is mourning someone they loved and awaiting who will be next to take his place.

Father Tom Neis of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix, said the pope wanted everyone to deepen their own faith whether it be Christianity, Judaism or Muslim to name a few.

"We're praying his was a lasting legacy of faith for all people," Neis said.

That legacy entails garnering the interest of the world's youth through World Youth Days and also by traveling.

Pope John Paul II made more than 170 visits to over 115 countries in the span of 20 years, which is something Neis said set him apart from other popes.

The pope could speak several languages and understand even more. The pope's linguistic skills enabled him to travel and preach in the native language of the people he found himself surrounded by.

is in charge of overseeing all 81 diocese in northern Michigan, said in a statement that Pope John Paul II lived an interesting life that touched the lives of others.

"For me, and this is a personal insight, Pope John Paul's most outstanding attribute was that he really cared about all of God's people," he said. "That was his most important quality as a man, as a Christian, as a priest, as a

Susan Ann Mackin: March 28, 1953 - April 3, 2005

Susan Ann Mackin, 52, of Charlevoix and formerly of Manistee, went to be at the Lord's side on Sunday April 3, 2005 at the Munson Hospice House in Traverse City after a long and courageous battle with cancer.

Sue was born on March 28, 1953 in Manistee, the daughter of Donald and Betty (Walkowski) Superczynski. She attended Manistee High School. On June 20, 1980 she married Philip Mackin. They would have celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary this year.

Susan has volunteered for the Manistee Recreation Association, Gift of Love, Love for Children, Crop Walk, Bowl-A-Rama, Northwest Pageant, St. Joseph Youth Group, Charlevoix Housing Commission, Charlevoix Commission on Aging and past member of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Manistee.

Sue was a past board member for the MRA, Manistee County Humane Society and Manistee PEG Commission. In the past few years Sue found joy in volunteering, gardening and working at Curves in East Jordan.

Susan is survived by her husband Philip Mackin of Charlevoix; Daughter, Lisa Revolt and friend Brian Moore; two sons, Michael and Andrew Mackin of Charlevoix; three grandsons, Cody Revolt of Charlevoix, Nathan and Devin Garland of Manistee; mother, Betty Superczynski of Manistee; two brothers, Donald and Bryan Superczynski of Manistee; two sisters and brother-in-laws, Karen (Donald) Alfred of Onekama, Judy (Richard) Superczynski Lonsbury of Manistee; and numerous nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.

Susan will be missed by her many special friends in Manistee and around the Charlevoix area.

She touched so many lives, and because of her we all are better people.

She is preceded in death by her father Donald Superczynski in 1992.

A Memorial Mass from the Order of Christian Funerals for Susan will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 9, 2005 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Manistee with father William Zwiefka Celebrant.

The family will receive friends for visitation at the church from 10 a.m. until time of service. Cremation has taken place at Oak Grove Cemetery in Manistee. Final interment will be at Mount Carmel Cemetery in Manistee.

Memorial contributions in memory of Susan may be directed to Munson Hospice House in Traverse City.

The family has entrusted funeral arrangements to Oak Grove Cremation Center.

Pope remembered for his work around world

bishop, as the Holy Father. I believe that the world is a little better because he lived what he believed and did it well."

Pope John Paul II related to everyone, Neis said, but was more traditional in his view of women in society. However, Neis said it's up in the air as to whether the new pope will be progressive, conservative or a combination of the two.

"It's a mixed bag. Choosing the president is similar," Neis said. "We would like someone to be effective whether they are conservative or progressive."

Effectiveness comes with being able to preach to others where they understand and can then apply it to their lives.

Neis said each generation has undergone a change due to a war, such as the conservative 50s giving way to the liberal 60s and so forth. However, a war isn't necessary to make change.

"We'd like to have whatever change comes about without having to have a war," he said.

Neis said Pope John Paul II was a man of peace who even shook a finger at President George W. Bush for the war in Iraq.

Peace has to exist in the church as well as out in the world, Neis said, because a revolution in the church is just as undesirable as a revolution outside in the streets.

Neis said the pope's effectiveness helped bring down communism in Poland and helped break the wall down in Germany.

Born Karol Jozef Wojtyla in 1920, the pope grew up in Poland and eventually entered the priesthood in 1949 and worked in Krakow. He was inaugurated as pope in 1978 and visited Poland again in 1979. Pope John Paul II was the first non-Italian pope in 455 years with his predecessor being Adrian VI

When he became pope at 58 years old, Pope John Paul II was the youngest pope in 132 years.

He reigned as pope for 26 years.

Sue Goodwin, of Charlevoix, said she misses the pope already and thought he was a good pope. "I'm so honored to have lived in his lifetime and to have had him as my pope and leader," she said.

Goodwin said she hopes the next person to take the place of Pope John Paul II will address the issue of the shortage of priests in the United States.

"We cannot continue with Catholicism as we know it without the priests to do the sacrament," Goodwin said.

She said there are many services and functions in the Catholic church that no one but a priest can do such as daily mass and other sacraments.

Bev Zabawa, of Charlevoix, said she is sad by the loss of the pope, but glad that he is no longer suffering.

"For me, it was really looking at it as, what it means to him to be with Christ now and not what it means to me directly," she said.

Zabawa said it's been really heartwarming for her that non-Catholics have realized what a wonderful man the pope is and are mourning him.

The next pope has big shoes to fill, according to Zabawa, who would like the next pope to continue promoting peace.

"I think that there doesn't need to be such a division of people of different faiths," she said. "A Christian is a Christian."

In regard to the new pope, Zabawa said she isn't worried as the right person will be chosen.

"I believe that the person who is supposed to be in that position will be in that position," she said.

Neis said the process for choosing the next pope takes 10 to 15 days and involves colored smoke and secret ballots. He said the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church will be gathering in order to pray and decide who will be the next pope.

If two-thirds of the majority votes isn't met, then the ballots are gathered up and burned in a special stove that shoots out black smoke to signify they are still without a leader.

However, if the two-thirds vote is met then the ballots are gathered, burned and white smoke is seen above the Sistine Chapel in Italy announcing a new pope was chosen.

Neis said St. Mary's Catholic Church is one of 81 diocese in Northern Michigan and will celebrating the life and mourning the death of John Paul II at 7 p.m. on April 6 during a special mass.

Neis said he isn't sure what other Catholic churches are doing, but he said they will all be offering something to commemorate the life of Pope John Paul II.

Golf tournament to benefit county DARE

The Boyne City Police Department and Charlevoix County Sheriff Department will be hosting the annual DARE Golf benefit and Dinner fund-raising event on May 12 at Boyne Mountain.

Tee time is noon on the Alpine Course and dinner is at 5 p.m. at the Civic Center at Boyne Mountain.

There are prizes awarded on the par three holes, longest drives, most putts and closest to the pin. A hole in one on the 17 is worth up to $5,000 cash, and is being sponsored by Korthase Insurance in Boyne City.

The golf tournament is a four person, shotgun start scramble. Dinner follows at 5 p.m. and is part of your entry fee, and will include prime rib being served. The cost of golf and dinner together is $80 per person, and will also include a group photo for each member of your team.

If you don't care to golf, dinner can be purchased for $14.50. Tickets can be purchased in advance at the Boyne City Police Department.

The departments are also seeking hole sponsors. For $100 you or your business can sponsor a hole and have a professionally produced sign by Mitchell Graphics posted on that hole. For a $300 hole sponsorship you will receive an engraved plaque and two dinner tickets in addition to the advertising sign.

If you cannot participate, but still wish to support the DARE program you can send a cash donation.

The DARE association is also seeking items to be given away at the dinner as door prizes. If you have items you wish to donate, you can drop them off at the Boyne City Police Department or call 582-6611 and let them know you have items that need to be picked up and someone will stop by.

There are a limited number of spaces for golfers, so if you are interested in golfing please get your entry fees in soon.

Anyone who is interested, and needs more information or an information flyer, should call the Boyne City Police Department at (231) 582-6611 and ask for Bardel Belford or Assistant Chief Jeff Gettel.

The proceeds from the fund-raiser are used to purchase educational materials, train DARE officers, purchase graduations supplies and instructional equipment used for the DARE program.

Library looking for born to read baby

Several area libraries are looking for a baby that was born to read.

Alanson Area, Boyne District, Crooked Tree District, Jordan Valley District, and the Charlevoix and Petoskey Public Libraries, in cooperation with Northern Michigan Hospital and Charlevoix Area Hospital will be on the "lookout" for the first babies born after 12 a.m., Sunday, April 10, which is the first "official" day of national Library Week.

These children will be declared the 2005 "Born-to-Read Baby" for their respective hospital.

The family of each baby will receive a bag of reading related items and the child and his/her family will be announced as soon as it is practical for the family to do so.

"This is the ninth year area libraries have collaborated with the hospitals in declaring a "Born-to-Read Baby" during National Library Week," said Valerie Meyerson, library director at the Charlevoix Public Library.

"National Library week is the perfect time for highlighting our libraries and the importance of pre-reading activities for our youngest patrons."

Photos of last year's winners can be found by visiting the web at www.petoskeylibrary.org/tranescity.plhtml?parent=6.

Council member resigns, replaced by husband

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix City Council member Karen Campbell has resigned from her seat effective Monday night due to health reasons.

Karen made the announcement at the end of Monday's city council meeting by passing out a letter announcing her decision to resign.

Karen said she is hoping her health problems are "just a part of the golden years" and she is "working on it."

But, Karen will not leave the council without a Campbell on board. Immediately after her resignation, council voted to appoint former mayor and former council member Gabe Campbell — who is also Karen's husband — to the open seat.

After Karen's resignation, resident June Cross spoke to council in support of Gabe as Karen's replacement. She said she spoke with a few people in the ward after hearing that Karen was going to resign and they all supported having Gabe in her seat.

"I don't see a reason you can't make a motion tonight," Cross said. "We need a full council. I think the city is going to need all the help it can get."

Charlevoix City Council member Shirley Gibson made the motion to appoint Gabe to Karen's seat. Council Members Bob Timms and Sherman Chamberlain voted in support. Karen abstained from the vote.

Council member Bill Bel-lows abstained from the vote because he was sitting in for Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson, who was absent from the meeting. The mayor normally does not have a vote, unless it is a tie-breaker.

Council member Bill Haggard was also absent.

Council only needs a majority of present council members to fill an open seat.

Karen said she will miss the "goings on" at council. She said she will not miss some of the long meetings.

As for Gabe being appointed to her seat, she said, "That is right up Gabe's alley. He likes council."

Karen had been a member of council for a little over two years.

Gabe, who lost in his reelection bid as mayor to Carlson in November 2004 said it was good to be back on council.

Gabe has attended every city council meeting as an audience member since his loss to Carlson. "I feel bad that Karen had to resign, but it was on the advice of her doctor," he said. "I thought Karen was doing a good job."

PUBLIC NOTICE OF STATE-OWNED OIL AND GAS MINERALS TO BE OFFERED FOR LEASE AUCTION

Lands under consideration for oil and gas leasing include acreage in the following counties:

ALPENA, ANTRIM, ARENAC, BARRY, BENZIE, CHARLEVOIX, CHEBOYGAN, CRAWFORD, GRAND TRAVERSE, KALKASKA, KENT, LAKE, LEECLANAU, MANISTEE, MECOSTA, MISSAUKEE, MONTMORENCY, NEWAYGO, OCEANA, OSCOLA, OSCODA, OTSEGO, PRESQUE ISLE, SAINT CLAIR and WEXFORD

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will offer at an oral-bid public auction, oil and gas lease rights of approximately 95,000 acres of State-owned minerals in those Michigan counties indicated herein.

Registration of bidders will be held from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday, June 15, 2005, at the Michigan State Police Training Academy at 7426 North Canal Road (Conference Room C2 and C4), Lansing, Michigan.

Offering of lease rights will begin at 9:00 a.m. at a minimum bid of $13.00 per acre, and will continue until all descriptions have been offered. Additionally at the auction's end and at the option of the DNR, parcels not bid in at $13.00 per acre may be re-offered at a minimum bid of $5.00 per acre.

Bids may be submitted by individuals of legal age, a partnership, corporation, or other legal entity qualified to do business in Michigan. Prospective bidders should be prepared to submit such proof at the time of registration.

The total bonus bid must be paid on the same day the lease rights are bid in. Prospective bidders who do not have an established credit rating with the DNR through prior leasing of State-owned minerals, must pay at least one-half of the TOTAL bonus bid by cash, certified check, cashier's check, or money order. A credit rating may be established by filing with Department of Natural Resources, Forest, Mineral and Fire Management (FMFM), Mineral and Land Management Section (MLMS), three letters of reference, one of which must be from a bank. In no instance will the DNR accept "site drafts" even if noted as a "zero day site draft."

An auction catalog showing further auction particulars including a) the legal description of the lands proposed to be offered, and b) parcel classifications, is available after May 5, 2005, on the web at <http://www.michigan.gov/dnr> or by contacting DNR-FMFM-MLMS, P.O. Box 30452, Lansing, Michigan 48909-7952, telephone 517-373-7663.

Written comments by interested parties relative to the classification of any description must be received by FMFM at the address specified above NO LATER THAN May 5, 2005. Any request for change in classification will be considered by the Department prior to offering the lease rights at public auction, with final classification to be set at the sole discretion of the Director of the Department of Natural Resources.

Charlevoix lighthouse officially available

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The city of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Historical Society have teamed up in order to hopefully take ownership of the lighthouse that sits along the South Pier in Charlevoix.

Steve Belko, of the Michigan Lighthouse Project State Historic Preservation Office, said the process to change ownership of the lighthouse on the South Pier in Charlevoix has begun.

On March 7 the property became available as the United States Coast Guard no longer needs the property and it is available at no cost to federal agencies, state and local agencies, non-profit corporations, educational agencies or community development organizations for use for education, park, recreation, cultural or historic preservation purposes.

All interested parties must submit a letter of intent by May 6.

Belko said right now the City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Historical Society are the only one's he has received interest from.

"It's rare to have more than one applicant," he said.

This is true as Belko said they try to not have anyone compete for such properties and instead have people come together on such projects.

Once the letters of intent are submitted, an application will be sent by the U.S. Department of the Interior for the applicant to fill out.

Belko said the process is lengthy and so there is a 90 day application period. Also, the applicants are allowed by law to view the locations and an open house is planned for 10 a.m. on May 17 at the lighthouse.

Belko said the applications are reviewed on a point system and some questions may be issued and an extension given for the answers.

Once all is in place, the eligible applicant will be awarded the property.

Mary Adams, of the Charlevoix Historical Society, said the city is prepared to write the letter and will soon have it drafted, once city issues are taken care of.

The preservation of lighthouses, such as the one in Charlevoix, is possible through several grants such as one through the Michigan Lighthouse Assistance Program.

Belko said this grant is funded through the sale of license plates and renewals that feature a lighthouse symbol.

He said things are in the works to try and remove a sunset clause in order to allow the funds to be permanent. It also helps as the lighthouse grants can't be funded directly from the state due to budget cuts.

"I think we will be successful at it," he said.

The grants go toward roofs, foundations and any other maintenance work needed on lighthouses.

To date, Belko said the license plates have raised just under half a million dollars.

The Michigan Lighthouse Assistance Program is the main grant, but there is also another available through the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Coastal Management Program and also one through the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Winter business average

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

Business over the winter is always a gamble in Charlevoix, but things don't seem to be as bad as they could have been.

Jacqueline Merta, president of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, said a lot of downtown merchants said business was the same compared to the winter season last year or a little better.

Jeff Sprecksell, general manager for Stafford's Weathervane, said for the restaurant's fiscal year, which starts Oct. 1, each month they've been up, but January slowed things down.

However, the restaurant is even when compared to where they were at this time last year.

"We're happy with that because last year was a good year," he said.

Sprecksell said right now the restaurant is up $90,000 for the year from Oct. 1 to now. For the month of March, Sprecksell said things were up about $11,000 from last year.

From here the concentration will be on building the new deck. Sprecksell said bids are in and construction should begin June 20.

Harvey Coates, general manager of the Edgewater Inn, said business has continued to be slow.

"We've continued to experience a lower than usual revenue and occupancy," he said.

The weather played a part in that as Coates said he and other people have noticed that the seasons are taking longer to get underway.

He said they are delaying about two to three weeks from where they have been in the past, which is one factor that led to poor revenue.

September was a very busy month, but the hotel was charging its off-season pricing.

Coates said he had two guests who came up to shop in Charlevoix that wanted to leave because the only store open late was Mometum.

Dawn Gray, manager of Mometum in Charlevoix, said business was pretty average for the winter season.

"We were probably a little slower than last year, but last year was an exceptional year," she said.

"The weather will always bring business or detract from it.

But, Gray said the snow helped business because it brought a lot of skiers in to the city.

Kid's Corner to have cooperative preschool

A new program is being introduced by the First Congregational United Church of Christ "Kid's Corner Cooperative Preschool."

Beginning this fall an "Introduction to Preschool" class will be available. The program is being implemented by Katherine Reed, the current program director/teacher, who will be returning next year.

The class is designed for 2-and-a-half-year-olds, in order to acquaint them with the preschool setting. This is not a "play-group," it is set up the same as the 3-and 4-year-old sessions. It will be a balanced program that will focus on age appropriate developmental activities, improve both large and small motor skills and stress learning while providing a friendly and sociable atmosphere.

The class will be offered from 9:30 to 11 a.m., Fridays, throughout the year. A maximum of six students will be enrolled, with one parent helper per session.

Registration will be from 6:15 to 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 14, in conjunction with registration for the 3-and 4-year-old session, in the Kids Corner Classroom located in the First Congregational United Church of Christ. If you have any questions please call Allison Filizetti at 547-0111 or Diana Baten at 547-5109.

Prom kits available through Planned Parenthood

With high school proms coming up soon, Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan is promoting responsible decision-making with free Prom Kits.

These kits can be used as a tool for parents to encourage their teens to have fun after prom without using alcohol or engaging in risky behaviors.

"We encourage parents to come in and pick up a Kit," said Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan Director of Education Lori O'Neill.

"The information and materials included will help them have discussions with their teens about responsible decision-making. We first offered the Prom Kits in 1994, and they have been very popular every year since."

The Prom Kits include brochures on Communicating with Teens about sexuality, drinking and driving, date rape drugs, abstinence and other important topics.

"While prom is a fun night for high school students, it is important for teens to understand how drug or alcohol use can reduce inhibitions, increasing the risk of irresponsible sexual activity. Teens also need information on communicating with their dates about sexual limit setting," said O'Neill. "Parents can help by reinforcing this before prom, and Planned Parenthood's Prom Kits can help parents begin conversations with their teen to help ensure a safe, fun evening."

Planned Parenthood encourages teens to make healthy, responsible choices. The Prom Kits are intended to give parents the information they need to have those important talks and to remind them that peer pressure is an integral part of teens' social life. The more skills and information our young people have, the better prepared they will be to stand up for their own values.

The kits include brochures on birth control and prevention of sexually transmitted infections. The kits do not contain condoms. Prom Kits are available at Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan health center at 1003 Spring St. in Petoskey. They are free, while supplies last. For more information call (231) 347-0692.

Keep the shorts and sandals ready but it's not quite the weather to wear them just yet.

Jeff Zoltowski, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service in Gaylord, said spring took a while to get here and the nice weather should last about another week or so.

The highs have been in the 60s, but today and Thursday are supposed to cool down with highs in the upper 40s and highs in the mid to upper 50s over the weekend.

Zoltowski said there's still a long way to go before shorts will be the standard outer wear, but there can be warm spells up into the 70s during April. However, the normal highs are in the 50s.

May is when the warmer weather may shine through more often, but it won't be until later that the warm weather is here to stay.

Zoltowski said this winter was a little colder than normal for most of the area.

It actually was too cold for substantial lake effects for a majority of the winter season, which caused less snowfall overall.

"Normally you have a few stretches when it gets really cold," Zoltowski said.

"It just happened more often this winter than is normally the case."

For the Charlevoix area, the highest recorded snowfalls were between 8 and 10 inches. Zoltowski said the two storms that brought on that snow in the Charlevoix area happened between Jan. 18 and Jan. 19 and then again between Feb. 27 and March 1.

All in all it was a fairly normal winter with the rarest things being the lack of snowfall and the warm, dry weather that has been anticipated in the area.

For more information on weather call the National Weather Service in Gaylord at (989) 732-6242.

Here is this year's Annual Quality Water Report.

It is designed to inform you about the quality drinking water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Our water comes from Lake Michigan, considered surface water. The State has performed an assessment of our source water in 2004. A determination of sensitivity and susceptibility to contamination was by made by reviewing our source water geology, water chemistry, and potential contamination sources nearby the lake. The State has determined that our source water has a moderate sensitivity rating along with a moderate susceptibility to contamination. You may obtain a copy of the State report by contacting the City of Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant.

We are pleased to report that your drinking water is safe and meets all State and Federal requirements.

This report is a snapshot of the quality of the water we provided to you in the year 2004. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and State of Michigan standards.

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Jim Caldwell at the Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant, (231) 547-3256, or Don Swern at the Charlevoix Water Department, (231) 547-3278. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. The City of Charlevoix Water Supply routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State Laws.

This report shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1 thru December 31, 2004. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.

ANNUAL DRINKING WATER QUALITY REPORT

OF THE
City of Charlevoix Water Supply
April 2005

Radioactive contaminants, which are naturally occurring.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems. The State of Michigan and Environmental Protection Agency require us to test our water on a regular basis to ensure its safety.

We met all monitoring requirements for the year 2004.

Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant and Distribution System personnel sampled and tested for over 100 contaminants that were NOT detected in our water supply. The following constituents were detected at low but safe levels, well below the MCL (Maximum Contaminant Level).

In the following tables you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/L) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - A pico equals one part per trillion; the measurement of radiation in water.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable contaminants in drinking water and whether future regulation is warranted.

We're pleased that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected. The EPA has determined that your water is SAFE at these levels.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Call us if you have any questions.

About our system...

The City of Charlevoix operates a Direct Filtration Water Treatment Facility which uses water from Lake Michigan. With a capacity of 3 million gallons per day, water enters the plant through a submerged intake structure. Storage includes a one million gallon above ground reservoir at the plant, and a 300,000 gallon elevated tank (water tower) on Charlevoix's north side. The City has approximately 32 miles of distribution lines serving approximately 5,000 customers in the City of Charlevoix and areas of adjoining Charlevoix Township, as well as, the influx of summer visitors to the area. Present flow rates vary from around 400,000 gallons per day in the winter to as much as 2.5 million gallons per day in the summer. In service since 1987, it is a modern, efficient facility staffed by licensed, well trained operators. Charlevoix is continually improving its distribution system assuring fresh water and adequate pressure throughout our entire service area. An electrical generator at the Water Plant assures normal operation at full capacity in the event of an electrical power loss to the City. We at the Charlevoix Water Treatment Plant and Distribution System work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap.

Please help us protect our water resources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life, and our children's future.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

ND: not applicable.

ND: not detectable at testing limit.

Lead and Copper - Lead and copper testing is on a three (3) year schedule, test results reported here are from the 2003 year; next round of testing is year 2006.

NOTES:

Turbidity - turbidity is a measure of the cloudiness of the water. We monitor it because it is an indicator of our filtration system.

Unregulated contaminants are those for which the EPA has not established drinking water standards. The purpose of unregulated contaminant monitoring is to assist EPA in determining the occurrence of unregulated

Girl starts school-wide fund-raiser with idea

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

One third grade student at Charlevoix Elementary School inspired a school-wide event that raised almost $800 for the tsunami victims.

Lexie Barnes came up with the idea to make bracelets out of embroidery string to sell in order to raise money to help with the tsunami effort.

Her mother, Pam Barnes, helped Lexie and came up with the idea to have cans placed around the school in order to collect any loose change people had.

Pam said after the tsunami hit and pictures of the aftermath were shown, she started talking with her daughter about how nice it would be if the elementary school did something to help.

After talking with the third grade teachers, the idea became a third grade operation, but a school-wide event.

Lexie decided to make bracelets, which is something she learned while at Camp McSaub. Pam said she didn't think it would be too hard for third graders to make.

Third grade teachers Pat Carland, Cathy Silberhorn, Julie Bernhardt and Erik Lundteigen liked the idea and offered one station to become the tsunami station.

Stations are an area that students go to for an hour a day for extra work on reading and math, but one station became the area where bracelets were made and was supervised by a parent.

Silberhorn said the tsunami fundraiser allowed the teachers to tie humanities, geography and math into it such as tracking the fund-raising on a large thermometer, counting change and writing to children abroad.

"It was so rewarding," she said. "It is an awesome thing that they feel like they're doing something to help."

Silberhorn said the third grade students were actively involved from the beginning and wrote letters to

Lexie Barnes and her mother, Pam Barnes, spearheaded a fundraising effort at the Charlevoix Elementary School that raised almost $800. The money was given to the American Red Cross Northern Lower Michigan Chapter on March 30 by the third grade and will go toward tsunami relief. $800 raised at school BARNES children affected by the tsunami and enclosed a bracelet with each letter.

The bracelets were all hand made in different sizes and colors and sold for $1 each during Friday's school store.

The majority of the almost $800 came from the bracelets, but money was also contributed from Lundteigen's bake sale, a student's sale of .25 cent wishing stars and money raised by collecting loose change.

"It was definitely the entire school that made it possible to come up with that amount," Pam said.

The event lasted for about eight weeks during which 500 bracelets were sold. The $800 was a welcomed surprise as Pam said they originally thought they would raise about $400.

"It's wonderful that we're such a small town, but raised that much money," Pam said.

The money was donated to the American Red Cross Northern Lower Michigan Chapter located in Petoskey and will be dispersed how the Red Cross sees fit.

Pam said one will never know where the money went in terms of housing, clothing or medicine. However, it's the knowledge that some sort of relief will come that makes everything worthwhile.

"Just knowing that we made a difference (made if worthwhile)," Pam said.

William Blackburn, service delivery coordinator for the American Red Cross Northern Lower Michigan Chapter, said the total tsunami contributions that have been forwarded on by the chapter is more than $45,000 to date. Lexie said she is glad to have helped others across the world.

"It's good that I thought of that idea and the rest of my class joined in," she said.

Questions surround ship plan

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

City officials are continuing to work on a plan to replace the Coast Guard buoy tender Acacia with the ship Morro Bay, but questions on the city's current docks and if the new ship would meet the area's needs are being asked.

Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner said he is still working on the politics of the matter. A letter has been sent to the United States Coast Guard detailing why types of facilities Charlevoix has to offer a new ship. He said he is not sure what types of changes would be needed at the docks for a new ship.

"We are looking at a technical solution first," Wiesner said.

Wiesner said the Acacia commander Keith Bills has suggested possibly a decking system where the ship could leave how forward. The Acacia typically hacks out of its current city mooring space, but the Morro Bay does not have the same type of bow thrusters and would need a new design. He added any new upgrades to the current docks where the Acacia currently moors could be paid for by grants.

"We don't anticipate it being a lot of money," Wiesner said. To get the Morro Bay in Charlevoix will not only take the proper dock facilities, but it will also take some political maneuvering.

Wiesner said he has not gotten a direction from the mayor or council on that yet and he said calls to United States Representative Bart Stupak has not been returned.

However, Stupak did speak with the Courier on the matter. He said he found out about Charlevoix's wishes for the Morro Bay from a newspaper story on the matter in the Courier and has not received any contact from the city on it.

He added he and his staff have been traveling and have not gotten all of their messages.

Regardless, Stupak said the whole idea of getting the Morro Bay for Charlevoix is not a matter of "whether you can get it done, but does it meet the Coast Guard mission."

He said the Coast Guard's mission in Charlevoix will change after the Acacia leaves, perhaps to one of just search and rescue. If the Morro Bay fulfills that mission, then the city's plan would make sense.

"If it is just to get a boat, that won't fly," Stupak said.

He added, "The Coast Guard is not looking to create new missions around the Great Lakes."

Stupak said he does not know if the Morro Bay would support the Coast Guard mission in Charlevoix yet.

He said the Coast Guard plan that gets rid of the Acacia in the Great Lakes was based on the construction and deployment of the new cutter Mackinaw in Cheboygan. This new cutter allows the Coast Guard to scale back its buoy tenders in the Great Lakes region.

The Acacia is slated to be decommissioned in May 2006. Officially there is no ship that is planned to replace the Acacia.

At a Charlevoix City Council meeting Bills suggested the city try to get the 140-foot Morro Bay to replace the Acacia. The Morro Bay is currently located in New York harbor, where it has been stationed since around Sept. 11, 2001, and is suited for ice breaking.

Bills said a request has been made for the ship to be stationed in Charlevoix.

Mother, daughter team up to fight cancer

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

One mother and daughter team is gearing up to raise money for cancer research and spend time together while completing a marathon.

Katie Chanda and her mother, Jackie Rozema, will participate in the Rock 'N' Roll Marathon on June 5 in San Diego through the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society's Team in Training Program.

"I've always wanted to do a marathon," Chanda said. "But when my father-in-law was diagnosed that was the breaking point."

Chanda, a 1995 Charlevoix High School graduate, ran cross country but never participated in a marathon. However, a friend was participating in the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society's Team in Training Program a few years back and Chanda gave money toward the cause.

A little while later Chanda was researching how she could participate in a marathon and found the Team in Training site. Once her father-in-law, Richard Chanda, became diagnosed with lymphoma, she decided to commit to the cause and run the marathon in his honor.

Rozema said her daughter asked her to join her in the effort.

"I felt really honored that she'd ask me to do it," she said. Rozema said she isn't a runner, but instead is participating in the marathon by walking the 26 miles.

"It's a really good experience to do it together," she said. "And it's a good cause."

The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society's Team in Training Program allows athletes a supportive environment to train in and compete in while raising money to help fund cancer research.

About 80 percent of all the proceeds from the Rock 'n' Roll Marathon go toward research while the rest is used to offset the cost of training, transporting and lodging those participating in the event.

Chanda and Rozema have lost five loved ones between both families and three of those losses were from cancer.

Jerome Chanda, Larry Chanda and Edmond McGee lost their fight with cancer. Chanda's husband's grandmother, Ruth Wynsma, also lost her fight with cancer.

However, Chanda and Rozema said in a written statement that all three men were able to live longer due to new medicines and technology that have been funded by charitable groups such as the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

Since the money from charitable groups such as the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society help fund research for medicines and technologies for cancer, Chanda and Rozema are trying to raise $3,000 each for the marathon they will run. Currently, Chanda and Rozema have raised $5,000 and only need $1,000 more to meet their combined commitment goal.

Team in Training raises money for cancer research

Chanda said some people don't realize the importance of funding cancer research, but one in two men and one in three women will get cancer. The funds from the Rock 'n' Roll Marathon and other such functions help work toward a cure.

"They're not just contributing to our cause," Chanda said. "But the whole battle against cancer in and of itself."

Chanda said she would run another marathon again, but not right away.

However, whether she's actively participating or not, Chanda said she will always support it.

Rozema said she would not do it again only because the time it takes to train removes her from spending quality time with her grandchildren and family in the area.

However, like Chanda, Rozema said she will absolutely support the program.

The best part of all the training and fund-raising, Rozema said, is that it benefits someone other than yourself.

"To think you can be a part of something that can help someone out," she said.

Chanda and Rozema are still taking donations and appreciate any help they receive.

For more information on the race or the Leukemia and Lym-phoma Society call Chanda at 544-8770.

Donations are accepted and checks can be made out to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society and mailed to Katie Chanda and Jackie Rozema, 3275 Vance Road, East Jordan, Mich., 49727.

Donations can also be made online at www.teamintraining.org under Kathryn Chanda and Jacquelyn Rozema.

Grief support series to be given

Losing a spouse, parent or child due to death is sometimes more than we can bear. Also emotionally taxing is getting divorced, losing your job, moving, dealing with a chronic illness, or even losing a pet.

Loss of any kind is the focus of a series designed to help people cope.

A series of five weekly sessions for those coping with a loss will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on consecutive Tuesday from April 19 through May 17 at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 207 Nichols Street, in East Jordan. The Grief Support program is sponsored by Hospice of Northwest Michigan (formerly the Charlevoix County Hospice), Northwest Michigan community health Agency, Charlevoix Area Hospital and Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Agency.

The program is designed to help those grow through grief, and learn the five tasks of grief work.

The facilitators for this program are Pastor Carl Litchfield, Hospice spiritual advisor and Margaret Lasater, bereavement coordinator.

Anyone is invited who has suffered a loss or who is helping a loved one deal with a loss and who would benefit from the support of others.

We would appreciate anyone interested in attending these classes to pre-register by calling the hospice office at 536-2842. There is no charge for this program.

CCMS who the city hired to work on some roads.

However, the city was supposed to write the check to the contractor's insurance company United Fire and Casualty — who was going to pay the people hired by CCMS for those road projects.

According to a report breaking down what happened that was given to city council in February, the mistake all comes down to communication problems within city hall.

Charlevoix City Treasurer Rick Brandi, who was on vacation at the time the check was sent out, was not aware that United Fire was to be paid for the road work instead of CCMS.

A letter from United Fire was supposedly sent to the city before Brandi left on vacation, but he said he never got it.

Brandi said when he realized the check was in error, he called the city's bank to try and stop payment, but it was too late.

CCMS has cashed the check.

Therefore, United Fire and Casualty sued the city of Charlevoix. In December 2004 the city agreed to end the lawsuit by paying United Fire the money it paid to CCMS.

In the meantime the city was seeking coverage of the mistake from its insurance provider.

But the insurance provider is balking at paying this bill. The city is also looking into criminal charges against CCMS for cashing the check that was mistakenly written to it.

Brandi said the city has added a new procedure to try and keep this from ever happening again. He said both he and the city manager must sign all of the checks that are written by the city.

In the past, only he had to sign the checks.

Brandi said he is not sure if this new policy would have stopped the CCMS incident from happening, but it is a step in the right direction.

He said by having both he and Wiesner sign the checks, there is a greater likely-hood that mistakes will be caught.

Dinner, auction to help the Bergmann Center

Bergmann Center, Inc. will be having its third annual "Starlight Dinner and Live Auction of 2005" on May 1 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Charlevoix.

This year's fund-raising event will begin with browsing the auction items at 12:30 p.m. along with entertainment by Chris Dominic. Dinner will begin at 1:30 p.m. which is being catered by Giuseppe's Italian Grille and the auction will begin immediately following dinner.

Bergmann Center is excited to have Dominic donate his time and talents to entertain the audience. This is his third year singing at the auction, which provides an environment filled with music and dancing.

Some of the many auction items donated range from a woman's day out, golf packages, tools, handcrafted items and overnight trips to Mackinaw island. The auction is a wonderful evening by getting more than your money's worth from the purchases that you take home.

If you are interested in making a donation or purchasing tickets at $30 per person or $50 a couple, call Kim Brock or Aimee Vander-Ark at (231) 547-2979.

bers of the community. It serves 50 people from Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim counties by providing them with community integration and work skills to help them get competitive employment and reach their highest level of independence.

All donations are tax deductible to the extent of the IRS Code.

Council agrees to state fine

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix City Council unanimously approved a consent order with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality costing the city over $20,000 at its April 4 meeting.

The consent order was in connection to problems at the city's wastewater treatment plant over a three year period. A DEQ investigation found several discharge exceedances into Lake Michigan, falsified report sheets and a breakdown in protocol at the plant.

Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wienser told council before it accepted the consent order with the DEQ, that if council agrees with it, the matter between the city and DEQ would be over.

"I think this is probably as fair a deal as we can get. It could have been a lot worse," Council Member Bob Timms said.

According to Wienser, the MDEQ gave the city a consent order — basically an agreement between the city and the MDEQ on fines and actions over the wastewater issue — that says the city must pay a $20,000

Cancer survivor starts own triathlon

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

Michelle Rick-Biddick will run a triathlon of her own creation, TRI 4 FUN, on May 20 as she attempts to garner involvement and awareness for cancer research and education.

Rick-Biddick has always been a healthy person and has always taken good care of herself, which is why she couldn't believe it when she was diagnosed with breast cancer on Jan. 29, 2004.

"I had no symptoms, no lumps, no family history," Rick-Biddick said in a statement.

Instead of sitting down and feeling sorry for herself, Rick-Biddick started taking the reins of her own health and not solely relying on a doctor or nurse to tell her information.

Rick-Biddick researched the Internet extensively and also contacted anyone, whether she knew them or not, about breast cancer and asked many questions.

She had three more doctors look into her situation and also took note-pads and tape recorders into her consultations.

"I realized how important it is to become better informed and how desperately we need to find a cure," she said in a statement.

Rick-Biddick said an early mammogram detected her cancer and saved her life. Her hope is to get more people aware of the importance of having mammograms and yearly physicals, which just might save one more life.

Rick-Biddick chose to run her personal triathlon on May 20 in order to have it coincide with two groups she avidly supports: Charlevoix See BIDDICK, page 21

The adventures of using new technology

Jeremy McBain

'Just a thought'

With this paper, some of you may see a slight change — hopefully only slight if I did it right — in this newspaper.

You see, last week the Charlevoix Courier changed to a new computer program to lay out your beloved weekly newspaper.

Let me just say it was not my idea to change programs. Somewhere in the higher rungs of my sister publication, the Petoskey News-Review, a decision was made to change the program used to design and layout the Petoskey News-Review and the Charlevoix Courier to a nasty little program called InDesign.

I will spare you most of the computer mumbo-jumbo, but, you see, we have been using a system called Quark for many years to design and lay out this newspaper each week. Many papers across the nation use that wonderful little system.

Quark was beautiful. It did what you wanted — most of the time. Made the product look like what you wanted it to look like — most of the time. Was easy to use — after several college courses and a couple of years of solid use. And I liked it — since I knew how to use it. But, now, Quark is on the way out. In its place is this little bugger called InDesign. Basically it is like changing which language you use in your daily life from English to French.

Now, to be fair, the Courier was not slated to get this new system for a little while. But, because I knew that I would be leaving the Courier in May and that the Petoskey News-Review has made the switch to this new program, I thought it would be wise to start the Courier on this new program ahead of schedule so I could get some practice with it. We made the switch with the idea of using the new program for this week's edition of the Courier.

I hate it when I have bright ideas. So, after a few days of practice with this new program and a couple of training sessions, I began my challenge of designing and laying out the Charlevoix Courier with it yesterday afternoon.

Please permit me to share this experience with you step-by-step:

Step 1) After having edited the stories that were turned in by deadline, I opened up the InDesign program ready to start my journey into this new world of design. However, my need for a cup of tea was great, thus after turning on the program, I take a break. No problem.

Step 2) With a cup of tea at my side, I go back to the program. I open a template copy of this week's paper that I had designed earlier in the day and it presents itself on my computer's screen, ready for me. It's time to make a text box for a story.

Step 3) About a half hour later, I am still trying to make that first text box. I note how funny it is to try and learn a new program.

Step 4) An hour into the journey the first stupid box is finally made and filled with copy. Of course, the copy is in the wrong font and the tabs are not working. I must fix that before moving on. "Stupid computer," I think. I get a new cup of tea.

Step 5) The first page is complete after an hour and 45 minutes. It is a beauty. I put in a couple of stories and even a picture with a outline under it. Let's move on to the next page. "Finally," I think.

Step 6) Two hours and three pages — out of 28 total — into the journey, I realize that the program is not recognizing the font style I picked and it has put borders around every dang box I created. Therefore, I must go back and redo the pages. I am getting upset.

Step 7) I can't figure out how to fix the problem. I get up to get another cup of tea. "This would be better with a shot of whiskey," I think.

Step 8) Upon returning to the computer, I figure out the problem, but now the program has changed the number of columns in the text box. I grasp the computer monitor with both hands and shake it violently screaming several obscenities. My tea spills.

Step 9) I have figured out a way around the column problem. I move on with the design process. I am quiet...kind of like a lion before he rips out his prey's throat. Then I realize the type size is wrong on every page I designed so far.

Step 10) I cry in the fetal position for a half-hour on my office floor.

Step 11) After returning to the computer, I wipe my eyes and proceed to fix every $#!% & page I have designed so far.

Step 12) After 15 pages of sheer anger, frustration and sadness, I give up for the night. I slowly scoot away from my computer as if it is a bomb that can be easily set off.

Step 13) I arrive home. I grab a glass of whiskey on the rocks, turn on the television and speak to no one. "I could be a farmer or a cowboy," I think. "I wonder if they have a good health plan?"

Letters to the editor

Start school later

Editor:
Parents, are you tired of having to drag your kids out of bed? Kids, are you sick of having to rush out at 6 a.m. so you don't miss the bus? I have come up with the perfect solution.

I highly believe the Charlevoix Middle School should start later in the morning.

First of all, lots of students are tired during morning classes due to lack of sleep and breakfast. During first and second hour, very frequently, I see students yawning tiresomely.

If students had more time before school in the morning, they would have enough time to eat breakfast. Breakfast is the most important meal of the day and is considered brain food.

It is very important for all children to have breakfast.

Second, students would have more time to do their homework in the morning.

Third, students would have more time to do their home work in the morning before school. This would lead to better grades.

In fact, at my school, according to a survey taken by a student, afternoon classes are proven to have better grades than the morning classes. This may be due to children being tired, hungry and unable to concentrate.

That is certainly something to consider.

Finally, many students are not getting the sleep they require. At our age we need about nine to 10 hours of sleep each night. A survey of 20 students I took proved that over most children go to bed around 10 to 11 p.m. and get up around 5 to 6 a.m. They are definitely not getting enough rest. "Just go to bed earlier!"

You might say, but children's bodies don't allow themselves to be asleep early.

Children start getting sleepy around 10 p.m. This causes them to not get enough sleep.

In conclusion, I think it would great if the people of Charlevoix would consider having the Charlevoix Middle School start in the mid morning.

Later start needed

Editor:
So many kids think we should at least be able to have one more hour to sleep since we all need to get to school at 7:45 a.m. I have the perfect solution. I think we should have the Charlevoix Middle School start later for many health facts and also to improve students' learning.

To start my strong opinion, I will tell you why most are getting bad grades. First, I know teachers want us to get at least eight hours of sleep every night, and all kids I know try to get that much, but when we lie down, it's hard for us to fall asleep. Then, when we go to school, we are so tired we concentrate on how much sleep we got and not on our school work. That is what causes us to get bad grades. It's like our brains are not working, but that leads me into my next discussion.

Also breakfast is the number one meal for you. For example, I know a girl who fights obesity and she needs to eat her daily meals in the morning because it helps her. Also a person not eating breakfast is not good at all. Eating breakfast gets our metabolisms working so we can fight obesity. Breakfast is also good because that is what gets your brain working for school.

Another health reason is personal hygiene. Some kids after school have lots of homework to do. Then after that they might have an activity to do, like me. Then after they get done with that activity, they get home and it's 9 p.m. so they have to go to bed hoping to get nine hours of sleep. The kids think they will take a shower the next morning. After the kids wake up, do all the things they need to do to get ready for school, they end up not having enough time to take a shower. Lastly, I know kids fall asleep during school. If we had at least one more hour of time to sleep that would be a good solution because kids would have enough time to catch up on their sleep. All including, I think we should at least be able to have one more hour to sleep for our cause of health and for its effect on education.

Morgan McCarthy

shouldn't go to school as early as we do now? The kids that go to Charlevoix Middle School would get more sleep, and then they would be able to concentrate better in their morning classes. Our school starts at 7:39 a.m. now; I think school should begin at 8:30 a.m. instead. I think the schedule should be changed because kids have trouble concentrating, they don't get to bed that early, and they don't have enough time to eat breakfast.

First, one reason is that students are too tired. They struggle to concentrate in their morning classes because they are always tired. For example, some kids lay their heads down on the tables and then they don't know all the directions to the assignments.

Another reason is that some of the kids don't get to bed that early. Some kids that go to bed at 10 p.m. or later would be too tired to get up. They don't want to miss their bus because it might be their only ride to get to school. For instance, some kids can't fall asleep until they have been in their bed for about an hour. Also, they wouldn't get the amount of sleep that they need at their age. Most kids have to get up at 6 a.m. or earlier just so that they don't miss their bus.

The last reason is that some kids might wake up later than what they're supposed to and not have enough time to eat breakfast. Sometimes kids don't eat breakfast, so they don't have that much energy for the day until lunchtime. Some kids only have breakfast three or four times a week, (school days) so they aren't getting enough energy to start them out for each day.

In conclusion, I think our school's starting time should be changed because it would give kids enough time to eat breakfast and still have enough time to get on the bus. With this new schedule kids would be able to concentrate better, maybe try to get to bed earlier, and will have more time to eat breakfast. I think this change will be more challenging for the students because then the teachers would be able to teach the students harder lessons.

They would also be able to do the harder work because, then they would be able to think much better.

Kids need sleep

Editor:
Are your kids not very cheerful in the morning? Well, if we started school later we couldn't have that problem. It would be more convenient for parents too, because they wouldn't have to wake us up early in the morning.

First of all, kids need nine to 10 hours of sleep a night. I surveyed the sixth grade and about half don't have breakfast in the morning because their bus comes early in the morning.

In addition, not getting enough sleep could be dangerous. If students do not get enough sleep, they probably are not as aware

Great job

Editor:

Congratulations to the Crooked Tree Arts Center and the sponsors who made it possible for the Opera Verdi Europa of Bulgaria to perform the opera "Carmen" in the fine new performing arts theater at Charlevoix High School on March 25. It was a very enjoyable performance with excellent artists and orchestra who should all be complimented.

We made a special trip to Charlevoix from Ann Arbor to be sure we did not miss this northern Michigan performance, and it was a success!

Wedding

Dulaney — Tacktor

Caitlin Dulaney, of Charlevoix, and Matthew Tacktor, of Ludington, were married June 26, 2004 at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix in front of 100 guests.

The Rev. Larry Grooters performed the double ring ceremony. Caitlin is the daughter of Sharron Dulaney and Pat Dulaney of Charlevoix.

Matthew is the son of Dennis and Diane Tacktor of Ludington. The bride wore a floor-length gown of ivory chiffon, with a beaded bodice and sweetheart neckline. She wore her hair up and adorned with baby's breath and a red carnation. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and a single yellow sunflower accented with wisps of treetrunk and baby's breath. She also wore a pearl necklace and earrings.

The maid of honor was Leah Dulaney, sister of the bride. She wore a cocktail length, red silk halter top dress with a sweetheart neckline and a flowing high-low handkerchief style hemline. She carried a bouquet of white daisies accented with a single red Gerber daisy, fern and baby's breath.

The best man was Jon Schneider, a friend of the groom. Ushers were Kelsey Dulaney, Adam Tacktor and Joshua Tacktor. A reception was given at the Antrim Dells Golf Clubhouse in Atwood. The wedding cake was made by the bride's mother.

A rehearsal dinner was given at the home of Allen Dhaseler. The couple went to Chicago, Ill. on a wedding trip. They are making Essexville their home.

Matthew is a service writer at Labadie Toyota-Jeep in Bay City. Caitlin is a student at Saginaw Valley State University.

Obituary

Eugene Conklin Tower: Died March 13, 2005

Eugene Conklin Tower, 89, passed away peacefully on Sunday, March 13, 2005 at the Hospice of Palm Beach County (Bethesda Hospital).

He is survived by his beloved wife of 61 years, Nancy Connett Tower, his loving daughter Tory Folliard (Tom Folliard) of Milwaukee, Wis., and two terrific grandchildren, Elizabeth and George Folliard. He was preceded in death by his devoted sister Dorothy D'Esposito of Evanston, Illinois.

Gene grew up in Hastings-on-the Hudson, N.Y. and attended St. John's College in Annapolis, Md.

He served during World War II as a Major in the U.S. Army and was awarded the bronze star and purple heart for his service.

Following the war he rejoined Uniroyal Tire where he had various marketing positions during his 35 year career with the company. Upon his retirement from Uniroyal in 1975 he founded the Banner Tire Company in Boca Raton, Fla.

During the last 23 years he spent his winters at the Country Club of Florida, Village of Golf, where he, over the years, served the golf program in various capacities. Over the last 60 years Gene spent his summers at the Belvedere Club in Charlevoix, where he was a past president of the Belvedere Golf Club and a golf club champion.

Gene was a devoted and loyal friend to many.

He had a wonderful sense of humor, a very positive outlook on life, and great compassion for people. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Hospice to sponsor grief support meetings

Losing a spouse, parent or child due to death is sometimes more than we can bear. Also emotionally taxing is getting divorced, losing your job, moving, dealing with a chronic illness or even losing a pet.

Loss of any kind is the focus of a series designed to help people cope.

A series of five weekly sessions for those coping with a loss will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. on consecutive Tuesday from April 19 through May 17 at St. Joseph Catholic Church, 207 Nichols Street, in East Jordan. The Grief Support program is sponsored by Hospice of Northwest Michigan (formerly the Charlevoix County Hospice), Northwest Michigan community health Agency, Charlevoix Area Hospital and Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Agency.

The program is designed to help those grow through grief, and learn the five tasks of grief work.

The facilitators for this program are Pastor Carl Litchfield, Hospice spiritual advisor and Margaret Lasater, bereavement coordinator.

Anyone is invited who has suffered a loss or who is helping a loved one deal with a loss and who would benefit from the support of others.

The group would appreciate anyone interested in attending these classes to pre-register by calling the hospice office at 536-2842. There is no charge for this program.

Emerald Ash Borer found in county

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Emerald Ash Borer has been detected in Charlevoix County.

An infestation was found at Young State Park. Survey crews are currently working to determine the extent of the problem.

Jennifer Quimby, spokesperson for the Emerald Ash Borer program, said once the survey is complete and the information is sent back to the Lansing office a work plan will be formed in order to determine how best to handle the infestation.

"It is probably due to the movement of infested firewood," she said.

The Emerald Ash Borer program is a cooperative venture between the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the Michigan State University extension, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Quimby said the survey crews can be expected to stay in the area for about two more weeks so landowners shouldn't be alarmed if they see anyone in bright vests

Chorale group sponsors scholarship

The Northern Michigan Chorale is sponsoring a vocal music scholarship. It is available to any Northern Michigan resident high school age or older.

Letters of application are due by Friday, May 6. Please include your name, address and phone number. Specify the planned use for the grant, such as vocal lessons or music camp assistance. High School applicants should provide a letter of recommendation from your music instructor.

Auditions will take place on Monday, May 16. Applicants will be notified of the time and place. Successful applicants will be invited to perform in the Northern Michigan Chorale's fall or spring concerts.

Send letters of application to: Northern Michigan Chorale, P.O. Box 51, Petoskey, MI, 49770.

walking about. The crews will also have state identifications on them.

The survey work takes as long as needed and depends on the density of the ash trees and the weather.

Once all the information is gathered, Quimby said a series of public advisories will be given before anything final is decided as to the treatment of the infestation.

The treatment will depend on the size of the problem and also available funding.

"We didn't get full funding as we'd hoped for, which also is a factor in our work plan," Quimby said.

The Emerald Ash Borer is naturally found in eastern Russia, northern China, Japan and Korea. However, in the summer of 2002 the exotic beetle was discovered in the Detroit area.

Until June 2002, the beetle had never been found in North America, according to information provided by www.emeraldashborer.info.

The Emerald Ash Borer isn't only affecting Michigan as it was also found in northern Indiana in 2004 and in Ohio in 2003. It has also been discovered in Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

Since 2002, the beetle has killed between eight and 10 million ash trees in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, but most of the devastation occurred in southeastern Michigan.

The main infestation occurred in six counties in southeastern Michigan including Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Since December 2004, the quarantined area now includes 14 counties: Branch, Calhoun, Clinton, Eaton, Genesee, Gratiot, Hillsdale, Ingham, Jackson, Lapeer, Lenawee, Saginaw, Shiawassee and St. Clair. The adult Emerald Ash Borer is about half an inch long and a dark, green metallic color.

The adults don't do much damage as they eat some leaves, but the larvae get in between the bark and the inner wood of ash trees and eat all the nutrients.

Currently, all species of ash trees are susceptible.

Adult Emerald Ash Borers emerge in the spring and have a one, two or three year life cycle. Two weeks after emerging, the female beetles lay eggs, which hatch in one to two weeks.

When the larvae eat the nutrients, they harm the tree by interrupting the water and nutrient conducting tissues under the bark.

The ash tree then begins to thin in the canopy and eventually will start to die.

A large tree can be killed in three to four years while a smaller tree can be killed in one to two years, according to information provided by www.emeraldashborer.info.

For more information go to www.emeraldashborer.info or go to michigan.gov/cab.

Calls can be made to the Michigan Department of Agriculture's regional office in Traverse City at (231) 922-5210 or a local Michigan State University extension.

Calls can also be made to the Emerald Ash Borer Hotline at (866) 325-0023. The United States Department of Agriculture Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service can be reached at (866) 322-4512.

St. Mary announces 2005-2006 registration

Registration is underway at St. Mary School for the upcoming 2005-06 school year.

St. Marys offers classes from pre-kindergarten through sixth grade. Open House and registration for the pre-kindergarten and kindergarten will be from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 21. Parents are invited to bring their children to meet the teachers and learn more about the pre-kindergarten and kindergarten programs.

Registration is open to the public and a $30 registration fee is required for new school families. If a parent is unable to attend the open house, they may call the school office at 547-9441 for registration information.

The pre-kindergarten class is from 9 to 11:30 a.m., and parents may choose a three-day or five-day program. It is designed to meet the needs of the developing 4- and 5-year-olds and is open to children who will be 4 years old by Dec. 1,

St. Marys offers a full-day kindergarten program which is five days a week and incorporates academics with other activities, such as music, art, physical education, library and computers. If parents prefer to send their child only in the mornings, a half-day option is available for them. The kindergarten program is open to students who will be five years old by Dec. 1, 2005.

New at St. Marys this fall will be a day care program which will allow parents to drop off their children, ages 4 and up, as early as 7 a.m., Monday through Friday. The day care program is also available on those days from 11:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. This service is not only offered to parents of St. Marys students but is available to any parents in the community.

For further information on programs offered at St. Marys or to arrange a visit to the school, please call the school office at 547-9441.

Health department offers end-of-life document

In the wake of the controversy surrounding Terri Schiavo's treatment, many people are thinking about how they would want to be treated if seriously ill and unable to speak for themselves.

The "Five Wishes" document does just that, in easy-to-understand language, not in "doctor speak" or "lawyer talk."

Copies of "Five Wishes" are available at health department offices in Bellaire, Charlevoix, Petoskey and Gaylord, and the office of Hospice of Northwest Michigan in East Jordan. Staff from the Health Department Home Health and Hospice program can help people to complete the "Five Wishes" form.

"We recommend that everyone, regardless of their age, discuss their wishes for end-of-life care with their doctors and their family member and put those wishes in writing. Five Wishes is the easiest way to do that," said Lynda Bockstahler, supervisor for Hospice Services for the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, the health department that serves Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties.

Bockstahler says hospice does not make decisions for patients or families or sit in judgment of their choices, agreeing with a National Hospice & Palliative Care Organization (NHPCO) statement that, "hospice provides information on care options and compassionately carries out those decisions with respect for their wishes and the laws of the land. This land, this enduring focus on the patient's wishes and the provision of interdisciplinary care are the cornerstone of hospice."

Five Wishes is unique among all other living wills and advance medical directive documents because it looks to all of a person's end-of-life needs: medical, personal, emotional, and spiritual.

It lets your family members and doctors know which person you want to make health care decisions for you when you can't make them. The kind of medical treatment you want or don't want. How comfortable you want to be. How you want people to treat you. What you want your loved ones to know.

The Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency is the local health department and certified home health and hospice serving Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. Its staff is dedicated to preventing disease and injury and promoting healthy communities.

For additional information about end-of-life decisions and the "Five Wishes" document, telephone the Health Department at (231) 547-6092, Hospice of Northwest Michigan at (231) 536-2842, or visit www.nwhealth.org www.nwhealth.org.

Zonta offers 'Women in Business Scholarship'

Charlevoix Area Zonta Club is currently accepting applications for its Jane M. Klausman Women in Business Scholarship, which awards $400 to an outstanding young woman living in Charlevoix County currently studying business at the undergraduate level.

Applicants must have completed 2-3 years in an accredited undergraduate program, demonstrate outstanding academic credentials, identify the relevance of the applicant's academic program to the business field and outline the applicant's professional and career goals as they relate to advancing women in the field of business.

Applications are available at the Petoskey and Traverse City college campuses or may be obtained by calling Maura A. Snabes at (231) 547-9969.

The deadline for receiving applications is May 20 to the Charlevoix Area Zonta Club c/o Maura A. Snabes, P.O. Box 633, Charlevoix, MI 49720. The winner will be announced at the Zonta meeting in early June.

The recipient of the local award will also have her application forwarded to the district, which awards an additional $400 to the district winner.

The Jane M. Klausman Women in Business Scholarship was established to encourage undergraduate women to enter careers and seek leadership positions in business-related fields.

Zonta is a worldwide service organization of executives in business and the professions working together to advance the status of women.

County reminds citizens of recycling rules

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix County Recycling Committee has been working hard to bring new programs to the area and to continue helping to save the environment.

Shirley Roloff, chairperson for the Charlevoix County Recycling Committee, said efforts have been underway for 25 years to bring recycling to the area and was successful in 2000 when the committee formed.

The committee is funded through a millage that allows six different recycling sites to exist. The Charlevoix, Boyne City, East Jordan, Beaver Island, Boyne Valley and Melrose Township sites all take in the same items, but some are able to offer more.

Currently, only the Melrose Township and East Jordan sites are operating a new program to recycle office paper and junk mail.

Roloff said in a statement that it's the hope of the committee to have the program expand to other sites this summer. Since many people recycle, the bins can become full quickly and Roloff said people should take care to not leave anything sitting on the ground.

People should flatten all items before putting them in the bins, especially cardboard, which allows more to fit in the bins and keeps the area tidy.

Roloff said the committee is going to issue tickets if recycling is left on the ground next to a bin in order to help combat the problem.

Aside from the new program that recycles office paper, the six recycling sites take in newspaper, magazines and catalogues that are dry and not yellowed.

Plastic items labeled numbers one and two are accepted, but not trays, clamshells, brown bottles or bags or tubs labeled numbers one or two.

Aluminum cans are also accepted along with clear glass bottles and jars. Light bulbs, window glass and glass dishes are not accepted.

Blue, green and brown colored glass is currently only accepted at the Beaver Island and East Jordan recycling locations.

Cardboard such as boxboard that is used for cereal boxes and paper towel rolls are accepted. Cardboard items such as boxes meant for use in freezers or coolers, pop can cases and butter boxes are not accepted.

Styrofoam is not accepted at any location.

All items should be rinsed and flattened if applicable. Also, labels and stickers should be picked off aluminum cans.

The next Household Hazardous Waste Drop Off Day is on June 18 and Charlevoix County residents will be able to drop off any old appliances at no charge.

Starting June 1, calls will be taken to schedule drop off times for old appliances and voucher requests will also be taken by calling Kelly Martin of the Charlevoix Conservation District at 582-6193 or 582-7341.

Appliances will be dropped off at East Jordan Auto Parts located at 210 Elm Street in East Jordan.

In 2004, the 1,147.25 tons of newspaper, other paper products and cardboard that was recycled saved about 13,800 trees, according to information provided by the Charlevoix County Recycling Committee.

Also, recycling by the county saved over 12.3 billion BTU's of energy, which is enough to power 122 households for a year, based on average energy use figures from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

For more information on recycling or the committee, go to www.charlevoixcounty.org/recycling.asp or call Roloff at 547-6169.

Police capture break-in suspect in two minutes

Within two minutes of the crime, Charlevoix City Police had a 17-year-old Charlevoix man in custody for a break-in around 3 a.m., Friday, April 8 at Don's Market on Bridge Street.

According to Charlevoix City Police Chief Dennis Halverson, an alert neighbor to Don's Market's heard a front window being broken out of the store. The resident quickly called 9-1-1 and a city police officer was on the scene within two minutes.

"I am not sure if two minutes is a record, but it sure doesn't hurt our average," Halverson said.

According to police, the man, Raymond Thomas McManus, had entered the store and removed cigarettes. But, in the process of breaking out the window of the store, McManus received some minor injuries from the broken glass.

McManus refused treatment and was lodged in Charlevoix County Jail, where he awaits arraignment.

Prom kits available

With high school proms coming up soon, Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan is promoting responsible decision-making with free Prom Kits.

These kits can be used as a tool for parents to encourage their teens to have fun after prom without using alcohol or engaging in risky behaviors.

"We encourage parents to come in and pick up a Kit," said Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan Director of Education Lori O'Neill. "The information and materials included will help them have discussions with their teens about responsible decision-making. We first offered the Prom Kits in 1994, and they have been very popular every year since."

The Prom Kits include brochures on Communicating with Teens about sexuality, drinking and driving, date rape drugs, abstinence and other important topics.

"While prom is a fun night for high school students, it is important for teens to understand how drug or alcohol use can reduce inhibitions, increasing the risk of irresponsible sexual activity. Teens also need information on communicating with their dates about sexual limit setting," said O'Neill. "Parents can help by reinforcing this before prom, and Planned Parenthood's Prom Kits can help parents begin conversations with their teen to help ensure a safe, fun evening."

Planned Parenthood encourages

teens to make healthy, responsible choices. The Prom Kits are intended to give parents the information they need to have those important talks and to remind them that peer pressure is an integral part of teens' social life. The more skills and information our young people have, the better prepared they will be to stand up for their own values.

The kits include brochures on birth control and prevention of sexually transmitted infections. The kits do not contain condoms.

Prom Kits are available at Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan health center at 1003 Spring St. in Petoskey. They are free, while supplies last. For more information call (231) 347-9692.

Area hospital to offer CPR classes April 23

Would you know what to do in a cardiac emergency?

During the month of April, Charlevoix Area Hospital is teaching community members to know how to respond by offering a free cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class.

The class is being offered through a partnership with the American Heart Association.

The class takes place from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, April 23, at Charlevoix Area Hospital, 14700 Lakeshore Drive in Charlevoix. Residents interested in participating can call Connie Roland at 547-8570 to register.

Instructors will train participants using the American Heart Association's Family and Friends course.

This is a community CPR course and does not meet CPR certification requirements of employment or required professional credentials. However, the state Good Samaritan law protects all laypersons trained in CPR.

The course lasts about 3-4 hours and is based on the American Heart Association's longstanding guidelines for cardiopulmonary resuscitation and emergency cardiovascular care.

In addition to training local residents, the American Heart Association's life support courses are used to train more than six million people each year.

Public comment wanted over big box ordinance

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Residents can voice their opinions on a proposed city ordinance that would limit some retail buildings in the city to 45,000 square feet during a public hearing on May 2.

The ordinance was written in response to now-defunct plans to build a 150,000 square foot Wal-Mart supercenter in Charlevoix Township. Charlevoix Township is considering a similar ordinance.

The proposed ordinance states, "Any Single retail business shall not occupy a gross leasable area of greater than 45,000 square feet within a free standing or multi-tenant building, such as a shopping center."

The ordinance further states, "The intent of this section is to insure that large retail development is of a quality that enhances the character of Charlevoix, and does not overwhelm its surroundings, and protects and contributes to the health safety and welfare of the community. Large retail development can result in substantial impacts to the community, such as, but not limited to, noise, traffic, community character, environment and the local economy."

This ordinance impacts retailers with a gross leasable area of greater than 15,000 square feet.

The ordinance will face a public hearing at 7 p.m., May 2 in city council chambers at Charlevoix City Hall on State Street. If it is enacted, it will become effective 30 days later.

Area libraries looking for a baby that was born to read

Several area libraries are looking for a baby that was born to read.

Alanson Area, Boyne District, Crooked Tree District, Jordan Valley District, and the Charlevoix and Petoskey Public Libraries, in cooperation with Northern Michigan Hospital and Charlevoix Area Hospital will be on the "lookout" for the first babies born after 12 a.m., Sunday, April 10, which is the first "official" day of national Library Week.

These children will be declared the 2005 "Born-to-Read Baby" for their respective hospital.

The family of each baby will receive a bag of reading related items and the child and his/her family will be announced as soon as it is practical for the family to do so.

"This is the ninth year area libraries have collaborated with the hospitals in declaring a "Born-to-Read Baby" during National Library Week, said Valerie Meyerson, library director at the Charlevoix Public Library.

"National Library week is the perfect time for highlighting our libraries and the importance of pre-reading activities for our youngest patrons."

Photos of last year's winners can be found by scrolling down at: www.petoskeylibrary.org/frameset1.html?parent=6.

Zonta to offer Mary Feindt Scholarship

Charlevoix Area Zonta Club is currently accepting applications for its annual Mary Feindt Memorial Scholarship, which awards a $500 scholarship to one female high school senior who will be attending college following graduation, and who plans to pursue a math or science-related major in college.

The scholarship recipient will be chosen based on financial need and her involvement and interest in the math and/or science fields, not on her GPA or academic record. This is excluding the fields of medical science and computer science.

In order to be considered for the scholarship, the student must complete the Mary Feindt Scholarship application, submit a written essay and provide two letters of recommendation from a math or science instructor which confirms the student involvement and interest in the math and/or science fields. Also excluding medical and computer science.

Applications are available at the counselor's office at all Charlevoix County high schools or may be obtained by calling Maura A. Snabes at (231) 547-9969.

The deadline for receiving applications is May 13, 2005 to the Charlevoix Area Zonta Club c/o Joan Buday, Scholarship Committee Chairwoman, 104 St. Mary's Drive, Charlevoix, MI 49720. The winner will be announced at the Zonta meeting in May.

Zonta is a worldwide service organization of executives in business and the professions working together to advance the status of women.

Bergmann Center to have dinner, auction

Bergmann Center, Inc. will be having its third annual "Starlight Dinner and Live Auction of 2005" on May 1 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Charlevoix.

This year's fund-raising event will begin with browsing the auction items at 12:30 p.m. along with entertainment by Chris Dominic. Dinner will begin at 1:30 p.m. which is being catered by Giuseppe's Italian Grille and the auction will begin immediately following dinner.

Bergmann Center is excited to have Dominic donate his time and talents to entertain the audience.

This is his third year singing at the auction, which provides an environment filled with music and dancing.

Some of the many auction items donated range from a woman's day out, golf packages, tools, handcrafted items and overnight trips to Mackinac Island.

The auction is a wonderful evening by getting more than your money's worth from the purchases that you take home.

If you are interested in making a donation or purchasing tickets at $30 per person or $50 a couple call Kim Brock or Aimee VanderArk at (231) 547-2979.

Bergmann Center Inc. is a 501(c)3 private non-profit organization founded in 1965 which provides services that enable the mentally and physically challenged adults to become active, involved members of the community.

It serves 50 people from Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim counties by providing them with community integration and work skills to help them get competitive employment and reach their highest level of independence.

All donations are tax deductible to the extent of the IRS Code.

Charlevoix family talks about meeting pope

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

Pope John Paul II touched many lives during his lifetime, but one family connected to Charlevoix experienced a personal touch.

Tom Kohler and his wife, Judy Runnels Kohler, and their children, John and David, were all in Rome together when they had a first hand encounter with the pope.

"It was something I will remember until the day I die," Judy said.

The extreme emotion felt by Judy and Tom came not only from their own encounter, but that of their children.

"It was quite a moment for all of us," Tom said. "The fact that the boys had a chance to meet him I'm especially grateful."

Tom, Judy, John and David were in Rome in March 1996 because Tom was giving a speech to the Pontifical Academy of the Social Sciences.

The audience was comprised of distinguished scholars from around the world. Tom said the pope listens to the members of the academy in order to obtain concrete advice about social problems afflicting the world.

The event spanned over a week and took place at the Vatican. The focus was on human work problems. The pope ended the session by talking to the scholars.

Tom said only expert scholars and members of the academy were allowed in, but their families were invited as well.

Despite being invited, Judy said she and the boys almost missed meeting the pope.

Judy said she met up with another woman who was with her daughter who spoke fluent Italian. They went with their children to St. Peter's Basilica and asked to be let into the private grounds.

The guards wouldn't let them and Judy said the woman's daughter tried explaining to them that they were invited and should be allowed in.

After what seemed like forever, Judy said they finally made a call and found out that the group was waiting for them.

A car came and took them to where Tom and the academy was gathered. Judy said she remembers Tom telling her the night before that the family might meet the pope, but she didn't really think it would happen.

When the family was united they, along with others, were escorted into a room to have their picture taken with the pope.

Tom and Judy said despite the pope being in a room with world famous scholars and other experts, he went straight to the children.

He called them by name despite having met several other people that day.

"He spent more time talking to them," Tom said.

"He genuinely loved children."

Judy said David, who is now 12 years old but was 3 years old at the time, said he remembers being carried on his father's shoulders into a room. She said he remembers the anticipation that everyone seemed to feel.

Judy's mother is Polish and spoke the language while Judy was growing up.

Judy said she isn't fluent, but understands the language.

David kept asking her how to say "hello" in Polish so he could greet the pope in his native language.

However, Judy said when David got up to the pope he was so excited he forgot to say the Polish phrase he had been practicing.

John, who is 15 years old now, but was 6 years old at the time, remembers the cross that hung around the pope's neck.

Judy said he was just the right height to see it clearly and was mesmerized by it.

Tom said it meant a great deal to him personally as a Catholic, but it meant a lot more that his children got to meet the pope.

"One could have fewer graces of teaching them faith than coming in contact with him," he said.

"(They had) direct contact with a saint."

Judy said the family wasn't allowed to take pictures as no one can when they are around the pope.

However, the Vatican had photographers there who took pictures and people could buy them.

When the photographs were being taken, Judy remembers one perfectly. She said her youngest, David, was being held by the pope and looking at the cameraman.

His little clip on tie had become loose and was hanging sideways. John, her oldest, was on the ground looking up at the pope.

That photograph ended up on the front page of the Vatican's official newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, the next day.

"I think it's a little hard for kids to appreciate that," Judy said of them meeting someone like the pope. "The more they're out in the world and meet other people they'll realize it was an experience they were lucky to have."

Rick-Biddick wants to help others with cancer

BIDDICK

Area Hospital's "Circle of Strength" support group and the Charlevoix/Emmet County Relay for Life.

The "Circle of Strength" program provides support to people diagnosed with cancer, but also to family members and loved ones of someone facing cancer.

"Personally, I don't know where I would have been without the initial support from local people like Gay Pung, Kim Stevens, Nancy Ferguson, my family, close friends and several nurses from Ann Arbor," she said in a statement. "Those first few weeks were critical for me and they have been great supporters since."

Relay for Life is also important to Rick-Biddick. The group is in its eighth year and the 24 hour relay in May raises awareness and money for cancer research through the American Cancer Society. Rick-Biddick said they have raised over $400,000.

Rick-Biddick's TRI4FUN consists of her starting in Charlevoix County and ending in Emmet County. She will run 5 kilometers from Harbor Health and Fitness to the Charlevoix Area Community Pool. At the pool she will swim a half mile and then bicycle 20 kilometers along the Traverse Wheelway, ending up in East Park in Petoskey.

Michelle Rick-Biddick will be running in a triathlon of her own creation in order to promote awareness and generate an interest in cancer research and education.

Through all of her hard work, Rick-Biddick said her hope is to raise education, awareness and involvement.

"Whether it is getting people to support the Relay for Life and the Circle of Strength with financial gifts or as simple as taking action to create a healthier lifestyle, educating oneself about the threats of cancer or writing a letter in support of cancer research," she said in a statement. "I just hope to get people thinking."

Rick-Biddick advises people to take their health into their own hands and get as many second opinions as they feel necessary.

"It's your body and it's your decision," she said.

Rick-Biddick said the procedures she pushed for and received while at University of Michigan's hospital helped encourage Charlevoix Area Hospital to adopt them.

Next year Rick-Biddick hopes to have survivors and other supporters run her TRI 4 FUN, which is a non-competitive event designed solely to raise awareness, educate, involve others and have fun.

"My long term goal will be to help find a cure for cancer one step, one stroke and one pedal at a time," she said.

For more information on the TRI 4 FUN call 547-4369.

Financial support for the TRI 4 FUN can be sent to 7510 Dalton Road, Charlevoix, MI, 49720, attention M. Rick-Biddick. Checks can be made out to the American Cancer Society or the Circle of Strength-CAH Foundation.

Area events

Band rehearsals

Charlevoix City Band rehearsals will begin at 7 p.m., on April 13, at the Charlevoix Middle School bandroom. If you are new to the area or possibly would like to dust off that musical instrument and join like minded musicians, come play.

Stop smoking

Freedom from Smoking classes begin at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, April 14. If you are ready to kick the cigarette habit Charlevoix Area Hospital's Freedom from Smoking Program can give you the tools, techniques, and motivation to quit for good.

Offered in cooperation with the American Lung Association, Freedom from Smoking is a lively, interactive, step-by-step program with a proven track record. There is no charge for this new, eight-week series of classes.

Each week participants will learn how to break the nicotine habit; get practical tips for handling stress, maintaining weight and making changes in daily routines; and receive plenty of encouragement and support as they adjust to their post-smoking life.

Space in the classes is limited. To register, please call Charlevoix Area Hospital's Freedom from Smoking coordinator, Michelle Potter, at (231) 547-8672.

Salute military families

Join the Char-Em Vets and others in saluting military family members at 6 p.m., Saturday, April 16, at the VFW Hall on West Conway Road in Petoskey for an evening of food, entertainment, kids' games, door prizes and encouragement from a grateful community. The evening is planned to give military families from northern Michigan a chance to connect. For complimentary tickets call Charlie Conn at (231) 487-0556 or e-mail crconn@charter.net

How to get a plane down US-31 in 1975

Marilyn Boss
'Days gone by'

Every morning, Dale and I meet with other Charlevoixians at Kmart for breakfast.

The stories of by-gone days which we share are very interesting, and we enjoy telling old time tales which are usually funny things that happened in the past.

Glenn Crain is there every morning. He lives on Marion Center Road. He told a story which happened one morning on a winter day when a plane landed in the field across from his house. He believes this occurred in the winter of 1975, during the morning.

The plane was piloted by an instructor from Traverse City, who was teaching a student to fly. As they headed toward Charlevoix, the gas line froze and they were forced to land the plane in Joe Martinech's field, near the place where our new high school is located today.

Glenn watched as the plane just missed the high power line that went cross country to the Medusa Cement plant. The pilot lowered the plane to get under the power line to keep from crashing into it. Garrett Potter, who lived across the road, and Glenn and his son, Roger, brought toboggans over to the plane and jacked up the wheels, placed the toboggans under them, and attached them.

They called the sheriff, Philo Sumner, and he was very skeptical about the snowmobile having enough power to tow the plane. However, with old fashioned ingenuity and common sense, they went ahead.

They tried various ways to hook the rope to the plane, deciding that hooking on the center front was best. After attaching the snowmobile to the plane with a rope, they pulled the plane out of the snowy field to the road. At that point, the Sheriff provided the escort as they pulled the plane down the road to town, a distance of two-and-a-half miles.

As they towed the plane, they had to turn it sideways to have the wings perpendicular with the road, so the traffic that had backed up could pass. This was at 11 in the morning. They proceeded to the corner of M-66 and Stover Road, and then down US-31, turning into the airport by Freedman Aircraft.

It was quite a feat, and they did it without a mishap. Many things were accomplished by using common sense in the old days, when permits were not required. Everyone relied on doing the job the most sensible way, and getting it done without wasting time and effort.

Those were the days when men solved problems out of necessity, without all the government intervention we have today.

Writer leaves Charlevoix for military stint

Courtney Pace
Staff writer

Well, here I am, writing my last column for the Charlevoix Courier. I am leaving soon, not just the newspaper, but the city as well. I will be taking in my last few days of Charlevoix sunshine and weather before heading off to the adventure of my life.

As many of you know, I recently joined the United States Army as a journalist. I will not be going in as a private, but instead as a specialist because of my college degree and prior experience.

One might say that joining the Army or any military branch would take months or years of contemplation, but for me it took about two weeks.

During that time I interviewed several local veterans about what I should expect and about the truthfulness of most recruiters. They gave valuable advice, but I also contacted Operation Truth at oprtruth.org.

Once I had talked to everyone, gathered information and checked it against what my recruiter had told me, I decided to join. No lies were told, only the truth.

Deciding to sign five years of your life away is a big deal, but the adventure it offers is something one can't turn their back on. I will be doing the job I do now, getting paid more and will ultimately end up in Europe. At least I hope.

I want to be stationed in Germany so I can use all the free time I'll have to travel around Europe and engross myself in the culture. America is my home, but there's so much world out there that I want to explore before I settle down, if I ever do.

One does not know what the future holds, but by not getting up and taking a chance one will never experience all that life has to offer.

By no means does this experience have to come through military service, but for me it will enable my chosen career to flourish while I explore the world.

My time at the Charlevoix Courier has spanned 10 months and in that time I have grown as a journalist and as a person.

Being in the "real world" has been an experience and dealing with all sorts of stories ranging from city and school issues to features has prepared me for a long career in journalism.

I'm not sure if this is what I'll be doing in 10 years as there are so many dimensions to my personality, but at least it can support me while I try other ventures.

Writing will always be something I can rely on, but to lock myself into one thing seems like a waste of life and time to me. Not knowing exactly what will happen in life is half the excitement of living it.

I know that I will take all the lessons I've learned with me into the Army and will continue to do my best to report the truth and root out complicated issues that need to be brought to light.

I have written about several interesting people in my time as the reporter for the newspaper and I have enjoyed getting to know people in the community.

Even though I complain about my job sometimes, I have enjoyed my time at the Charlevoix Courier. I want to thank everyone that has helped me along the way and to extend a thank you to those who haven't. Together, all of you have enabled me to become a better journalist.

As I prepare to leave Charlevoix, I will miss the scenic little city even though I complain about how there's nothing to do in this town.

Charlevoix really is beautiful.

Home is where the heart is and my heart will stay connected to loved ones back home no matter where my adventure takes me. Whether I'm riding in a gondola along the waters in Venice or gazing up at the Eiffel Tower, I will always carry them in my heart and know that they are awaiting my return with open arms.

Well, here it is, the last time my voice will be heard in the Charlevoix Courier. Hope others won't be afraid to lift their voice, even if it means taking flak from someone else.

We all have one life to live and I hope everyone lives it to the fullest because everyone dies, but not everyone truly lives.

Love each other more and listen when others speak, for you never know what you might learn.

Whether an adventure takes you to foreign places like mine, or just to another city nearby, the real adventure begins within.

"Above all else, to thy own self be true." William Shakespeare.

Non-residents needed

Editor:

There seems to be a certain amount of anxiety between Charlevoix residents and non-residents. It appears that at least one of your local Charlevoix Courier readers feels that non-residents are costing them money. However, another reader recently stated that non-residents feel they are paying more than their fair share for city services that they rarely use.

Wake up Charlevoix! The fading local industry base, lagging local tourism industry and non-resident property owners are the city's financial lifeblood. Charlevoix should do whatever it can to appease the local industrial base and non-residents while trying to attract a steady flow of tourism.

That's why I recommend a snowboarding team for Charlevoix.

Thank you volunteers

Editor:

"Volunteerism is the voice of people put into action. These actions shape and mold the present into a future of which we can all be proud." Helen Dyer

The Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan (WRC) is extremely proud of our many volunteers who make a difference for the northern Michigan community.

In the past year, our multi-talented group of volunteers provided over 1,800 hours of service to the WRC. The volunteer staff serve on the Board of Directors, support families at the Safe Home, ring up sales at the Gold Mine Resale Shop, assist with agency mailings, answer the 24-hour crisis phone line, do facility upkeep and maintenance, style hair and provide makeovers at the Safe Home and other important tasks.

National Volunteer Week, April 17-23, is the ideal occasion for the WRC and the community to let each volunteer know how much her or his acts of compassion and dedication are appreciated.

The WRC was founded by a group of visionary volunteers 28 years ago and volunteers have continued to play an important role in providing services within the agency.

The support given by volunteers directly benefits the hundreds of individuals and families served by the WRC in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties.

Sincere appreciation goes out to all WRC volunteers, past and present, who have taken positive action to improve the lives of others in our community.

chooses another financial path it will surely become just another "Up North Town" rather than its current reputation of "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

In closing, although we are currently considered non-residents we are in fact preparing to plan our retirement years in wonderful Charlevoix. We are certain that we not only provide more than our fair share of contributions to the city via our various local investments and shopping habits but we also financially assist several local charities.

Perhaps some of your readers should consider avoiding stereotyping before offending anyone else!

Hire school nurse

Editor:
Do you think it is startling to find out someone handling your medication is not licensed? Well that is the way at Charlevoix Middle School and I think we need a nurse.

I think we need a nurse because kids will not get their school check-ups, it will be better to have a trained person to treat injuries, and kids who have to have medicine daily would be better to have a skilled person giving them medicine.

First of all, kids will not get their school check ups like they used to. The nurse would schedule programs for our health, like the dental. Now the nurse can't schedule programs and the office has to. They are already busy with the labor they are paid to do. As you know, lice are a big problem, and now the school does not have a lice program anymore. What do you think we should do?

Second, I think it would be better to have a trained person to treat injuries.

The nurse knew what to do, but now the office treats the injuries. For an example, an incident happened this year when Curtis Russell went through the window. Where was the nurse then? Winter was here and everyone loves the ice, but when you fall you get bumps and bruises, where is the nurse then? Bumps and bruises are not horrible but it, you sprain or fracture something, I think it would be better to know.

Also, kids who have medicine daily have a person from the office do it.

The people from the office are not licensed to give the medicine, so if something goes wrong, the office is in trouble.

It was safer when the nurse gave the medicine because she was more experienced.

In conclusion, you can see why we, Charlevoix Middle School, need a nurse.

Please assist and support me about having a nurse. Thank you for your time.

Thank you

Editor:

On behalf of the Hospice of Northwest Michigan Board of Directors I want to personally thank each and every volunteer of our program for making it possible for those with a life limiting illness, and their caregivers, the opportunity to spend the rest of their days in the comfort of their homes.

National Volunteer Week begins April 17 and your service to the community is appreciated by this organization, and especially the families you serve.

Thank you for caring enough to share your lives with others!

Zonta Club offers Feindt Scholarship

Charlevoix Area Zonta Club is currently accepting applications for its annual Mary Feindt Memorial Scholarship, which awards a $500 scholarship to one female high school senior who will be attending college following graduation, and who plans to pursue a path or science-related major in college.

The scholarship recipient will be chosen based on financial need and her involvement and interest in the math and/or science fields, not on her GPA or academic record. This is excluding the fields of medical science and computer science.

In order to be considered for the scholarship, the student must complete the Mary Feindt Scholarship application, submit a written essay and provide two letters of recommendation from a math or science instructor which confirms the students involvement and interest in the math and/or science fields. Also excluding medical and computer science.

Applications are available at the counselor's office at all Charlevoix County high schools or may be obtained by calling Maura A. Snahes at (231) 547-9969.

Planned Parenthood to have wills workshop

Planned Parenthood is offering a workshop on wills and advance medical directives.

Two-thirds of Americans die without a will and many with wills, have not updated them recently.

Even fewer people have advance medical directives instructing their families and loved ones how to make medical decisions on their behalf if they should become incapacitated.

To help its supporters plan ahead, Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan will offer a free workshop "Don't Let the State Decide your Fate!" from 5-8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 27 at the Petoskey Public Library's downstairs conference room.

The workshop will provide information and do-it-yourself forms for completing a simple Michigan statutory will and for preparing advance medical directives which meets the requirements of state law.

Local attorney Michael Atchison, who practices in the areas of family law, probate and estate planning, will help explain the forms and how to complete them.

"Properly recording your end-of-life wishes is truly an 'ounce of prevention' situation, as the Terry Schiavo tragedy has clearly demonstrated," Atchison said.

Martha Lancaster, Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan's director of Major Gifts, will also be on hand to encourage people to include a bequest to Planned Parenthood and other charities in their wills.

Refreshments will be provided. The workshop is free but space is limited.

Advance reservations are required by Friday, April 22.

To reserve a space, call (231) 347-3710 ext. 15 or e-mail martha.lancaster@ppfa.org.

Zonta offering women-in-business scholarship

Charlevoix Area Zonta Club is currently accepting applications for its Jane M. Klausman Women in Business Scholarship, which awards $400 to an outstanding young woman living in Charlevoix County currently studying business at the undergraduate level.

Applicants must have completed 2-3 years in an accredited undergraduate program, demonstrate outstanding academic credentials, identify the relevance of the applicant's academic program to the business field and outline the applicant's professional and career goals as they relate to advancing women in the field of business.

Applications are available at the Petoskey and Traverse City college campuses or may be obtained by calling Maura A. Snabes at (231) 547-9969. The deadline for receiving applications is May 20 to the Charlevoix Area Zonta Club c/o Maura A. Snabes, P.O. Box 633, Charlevoix, MI 49720. The winner will be announced at the Zonta meeting in early June.

The recipient of the local award will also have her application forwarded to the district, which awards an additional $400 to the district winner.

The Jane M. Klausman Women in Business Scholarship was established to encourage undergraduate women to enter careers and seek leadership positions in business-related fields.

Zonta is a worldwide service organization of executives in business and the professions working together to advance the status of women.

Crooked Tree to host Artrain in Petoskey

Crooked Tree Arts Center is listening for the train, the Artrain that is!

Artrain USA is chugging into Petoskey in May, and on board is its national touring art exhibition: Native Views: Influences of Modern Culture.

This contemporary Native American exhibition will be open to the general public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 14 and 15 in Pennsylvania Park between Lake and Bay Streets in downtown Petoskey. Admission is free.

Crooked Tree Arts Center has hosted Artrain in Petoskey each time the train has toured the United States since 1971.

Tom Moran, chair of the Artrain Steering committee, said, "It's an honor to take part in this historic, proven community-building instrument, that educates, inspires and unites all who visit Artrain. The Native American theme of the artwork aboard the train seems made to order, given the importance of the history of our area."

The exhibition explores the ways Native American artists are influenced by popular culture and will offer mainstream America the opportunity to look at and consider different insights into contemporary society. In addition, the exhibition seeks to redefine Native American art by broadening the limits and stereotypes that currently define it.

Visitors will discover the richness, complexity and breadth of contemporary Native American art while examining varying perspectives on society.

Artrain USA is America's Hometown Art Museum. A not-for-profit organization, its mission is to enrich lives and build communities through the arts. An art museum housed in vintage rail cars that travels via the nation's railways, Artrain USA brings world class art exhibitions and art education programs to communities and their residents.

For more information regarding Artrain USA's visit to Petoskey contact the Crooked Tree Arts Center at (231) 347-4337 or visit their web site www.crookeditree.org.

Since its inception in 1971, Artrain USA has presented its exhibitions and related art education programs in 44 states and welcomed more than 2.9 million visitors during 730 stops. Communities as small as 300 and as large as 3 million residents have hosted Artrain USA.

Artrain USA's national headquarters are in Ann Arbor. For more information on Artrain USA and to see images from Native Views visit its web site at www.ArtrainUSA.org or its download page at www.artrainusa.org/downloads/downloads.html or call (800) ART-1971.

School board candidates to face public at forum

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The Charlevoix Public Library will offer people the chance to come and hear what the Charlevoix Public School Board candidates have to say during a forum on April 25.

Toni Felter, president of the Friends of the Charlevoix Public Library, said the public forums have been successful in the past and they will keep hosting them as long as there is public interest.

Each school board candidate has already been mailed two questions that they can have time to prepare the answer for. However, the night of the forum the audience can ask them questions and hear the feedback themselves.

Felter said school board candidate incumbents Barney Way and Scott Boss will be unable to attend the forum, but candidates Dean Speneley and Christine Michaud will be there.

Since Way and Boss won't be able to personally attend, the answers to their questions will be read for them.

The forum will start at 7 p.m. and will occur in the basement of the library in the large meeting room. Light refreshments will be served.

For more information on the forum call the library at 547-2651.

Lions Club of Charlevoix to give local scholarship

Through the generosity and interest of the Charlevoix Lion's Club, a college bound Charlevoix High School senior will be awarded a scholarship that will cover costs of books and materials for the recipient's freshman year.

Criteria include: citizenship, positive role model, and the applicant must have been a participant in the Charlevoix Junior Golf program.

King Lion, Vance Wood, in announcing the award, praised the local junior golf program and said, "This is the tenth year anniversary of the program and we as a club are impressed with the quality individuals that have emerged and gone on to set high standards for all the younger program participants. We want to publicly recognize their accomplishments and emphases placed on honesty, responsibility, obedience to rules, competitiveness and development of social skills. These traits are closely associated with principles Lions Clubs of American stand for and emphasize."

Dean Davenport, director of the Junior program, expressed gratitude to the Lion's Club for their recognition and interest in the development of Charlevoix youth.

"We have had a total of nearly 2000 juniors enroll during the past 9 years and many have done well in performing in both the classroom and in athletics," he said.

A joint committee with representatives from both the Lion's Club and the Board of Directors of the Junior Golf Program will review applications and determine the winner.

Graduating seniors may apply or gain information by contacting the high school counseling office.

How to get your event news into the Courier

If you have a news item you think would be perfect for the Charlevoix Courier, feel free to call 547-6558, e-mail news@charlevoixcourier.com or visit the Courier office located at 112 Mason Street in downtown Charlevoix.

News items include events sponsored by non-profit organizations. Please inform us of your event at least two weeks in advance.

Our coverage area is the city of Charlevoix and its immediately surrounding areas, including Beaver Island. Because of space limitations in the newspaper, we generally try to avoid publishing "check-handing" pictures or "ribbon-cutting" pictures. However, we will work with your organization to get a picture that reflects the event and is visually interesting to our readers.

Due to time constraints on the staff, we cannot attend every event of which we are notified. If you have a picture of your event, we will gladly consider it for publication. But, please, contact us before your event.

It should be noted, each story and picture is dealt with on its individual merits. Any policies outlined above may be suspended by the editor or general manager of the Charlevoix Courier if necessary.

Charlevoix smoking ban in effect

A workplace smoking ban will go into effect mid-July in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties.

The fourth county needed to approve a workplace smoking ban in the four-county health district of the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency voted to adopt the Public Health Clean Indoor Air Regulation on Thursday, April 14. The workplace smoking ban was adopted by the Antrim County board of Commissioners in a 7-1 vote.

County boards in Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego had already adopted it.

The restriction goes into effect in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties 90 days following the final vote, or on July 13.

The Public Health Clean Indoor Air Regulation requires businesses in these four counties, except for Planned Parenthood to have Roe presentation

Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan will be offering an advocacy briefing entitled "The State of the Supreme Court - Will Roe be Overturned?" at three of its health centers at 6 p.m. on April 20.

During this advocacy briefing, participants will discuss the current state of the Supreme Court, the impact of lower federal courts, the filibuster and "nuclear options" and threats to the Roe v. Wade decision.

The advocacy briefing is free and open to the public, but registration is required at least 48 hours prior to the workshop. The briefing will take place at the Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan Health Centers in Petoskey. To register, or for more information, contact Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan at 1003 Spring Street, or call (231) 347-9692. You may also visit the web site at www.plannedparenthood.org/ppnm.

restaurants, bars, hotels, motels and Indian-owned casinos, to provide an environment free of cancer-causing second-hand smoke for their employees and patrons.

"We have a lot of work to do now," said Gerry Chase, health officer for the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, the health department that serves Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. "We'll be contacting every business in our four-county health district to inform them about the new smoking ban. We'll be providing them with information about how to comply and 'no smoking' signs for their place of business. We'll also have resources to help their smoking employees quit, if they're ready."

Chase said that some people have had questions about enforcing the workplace smoking ban. But he said other counties who had enacted similar regulations had few problems.

"It's an educational process," he said. "We're expecting our experience to be similar to that of places like Genesee County or Ingham County, who have had smoking bans like this one for a while. That is, once everyone understands the restriction, there will be very few complaints."

The Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency is the local health department serving Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. Its staff is dedicated to preventing disease and injury and promoting healthy communities.

For additional information about the workplace smoking ban, visit www.nwhealth.org or contact Theresa Singleton, Tobacco Reduction Coalition coordinator, at (231) 547-7659.

Students to present new telling of Moses

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff Writer

The story of Moses just got a makeover.

St. Mary School will perform their annual spring program, but this time things are taking on a new twist.

Jodi Thompson, music teacher at St. Mary School, will be directing the students in Kathie Hill's musical, "Holy Moses!"

The spring program is a school-wide event and will include a performance by St. Mary School's string players followed by a presentation by the pre-kindergarten and kindergarten classes. Then comes the updated story of Moses.

The edgy aspect to this version of the story of Moses is that Hill designed her musical to tell the story of Moses set in the format of a fictional television show called Trading Places, which is similar to the real life show "Trading Spaces."

"Holy Moses!" follows two characters, Page Turner and Ty Kwando, who work with two teams led by Hildy Vine and Frank Incense. Frank's team goes to an ancient Hebrew home while Hildy's group goes to an Egyptian palace.

Instead of keys to access each place, Page gives the team leaders a Bible that they'll use to help them learn about the life of Moses.

Throughout the play the characters, and audience, learn about the life of Moses. Thompson said in a written summary of the musical that the end shows everyone can trade places after they die by leaving their sins behind and turning their attention and hearts to God.

Thompson said she chose Hill's play because she has enjoyed putting on other pieces by Hill in the past, but the play also allows the students to relate more easily to something that happened in history.

"I think the kids relate to them (Biblical stories) even more because they're put in a more modern setting," she said.

The school has put on some more traditional plays, but also a play called "Nic at Night" that told about Nicodemus in the guise of a "Nick at Nite" format.

What Thompson also likes about Hill is that each musical she does makes the subject matter entertaining and easy for children to understand.

"She does a wonderful job with the message," she said.

This is the first time St. Mary School has put on a production of "Holy Moses!" and so far rehearsals are going well.

"I enjoy watching the kids share their talent with the audience," she said.

The performance will occur at 6:30 p.m. on April 28 at St. Mary School.

For more information call St. Mary School at 547-9441.

March of Dimes to host fund-raiser

The March of Dimes, serving in Charlevoix and Petoskey, is asking that residents in northern Michigan join hundreds of their neighbors who will be participating in two coming fund-raising events.

Both of these events are important because they are the main source of funds for the March of Dimes.

The primary focus of the March of Dimes is the prevention of premature births.

More than 470,000 babies, one out of every eight, are born prematurely in the United States each year. Some are so tiny they cannot even cry. Many of those babies die, while others face lifelong disabilities.

Funds raised by the March of Dimes are used in research programs to prevent premature births and provide education and support to help affected families.

The first event will be on Wednesday and Thursday, April 20 and 21.

Everybody is invited to Bowl for Babies at Northern Lights Recreation on the Harbor-Petoskey Road.

The time reserved for this event is from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day and, if they would like, bowlers can call ahead to reserve a specific, preferred time.

Each bowler contributes at least $50, typically raised through pledges and sponsors.

Bowlers get two free lines and will be eligible for prizes.

Pledge envelopes are available at Northern Lights Recreation.

The second event is the annual Walk America.

This is a 5 mile walk, beginning and ending at the Winter Sports Park in Petoskey. The walk will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 14.

For pledge envelopes or information, please call Bill Soellner at (231) 526-0301 or Pete Staelens at (231) 348-3708.

Charlevoix hospital offering CPR classes

Would you know what to do in a cardiac emergency?

During the month of April, Charlevoix Area Hospital is teaching community members to know how to respond by offering a free cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) class. The class is being offered through a partnership with the American Heart Association.

The class takes place from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday, April 23, at Charlevoix Area Hospital, 14700 Lakeshore Drive in Charlevoix. Residents interested in participating can call Connie Roland at 547-8570 to register.

Cardiovascular disease is the nation's number one killer and many deaths — about 250,000 per year — occur suddenly and without warning due to sudden cardiac arrest. A victim of sudden cardiac arrest is likely to die within minutes if CPR and defibrillation do not occur.

CPR can add critical minutes to a sudden cardiac arrest victim's life by pumping blood and oxygen to vital organs such as the heart, brain and lungs.

The majority of all sudden cardiac arrests occur at home (75-80 percent) and only about 5 percent of sudden cardiac arrest victims survive.

The signs of sudden cardiac arrest include an abrupt loss of consciousness, collapse and the loss of normal breathing.

"When performed effectively, CPR doubles the chance of survival. Taking a CPR class is a great opportunity for residents to learn a skill that may save the life of a friend or family member," said Connie Roland, American Heart Association, Community Training Center Coordinator. "CPR is a vital, life-saving skill that everyone needs to know, and when your spouse, parent or child's life is on the line, the training allows you to overcome your fear and act quickly and confidently."

Instructors will train participants using the American Heart Association's Family and Friends course.

This is a community CPR course and does not meet CPR certification requirements of employment or required professional credentials. However, the state Good Samaritan law protects all laypersons trained in CPR.

The course lasts about 3-4 hours and is based on the American Heart Association's longstanding guidelines for cardiopulmonary resuscitation and emergency cardiovascular care.

In addition to training local residents, the American Heart Association's life support courses are used to train more than six million people each year.

The courses are provided through a network of 3,500 training centers and 250,000 instructors and are available year-round. Log onto cah.org or americanheart.org for more course information.

Health department hosts water essay contest for area students

"Our Household Water Cycle" is the topic of an essay contest for students from kindergarten through twelfth grades, sponsored by the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, for Earth Day on April 23.

Students from Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties are eligible to submit Earth Day essays by Friday, April 22.

Winners from three age groups — kindergarten through third grade, fourth through eighth grade and ninth through twelfth grade — will receive cash prizes with donations to their schools' libraries.

Essays should address the general concept that there is no such thing as "new water."

For the essay, students should discuss the importance of the water cycle in their own homes, how water flows through their homes, and how it affects their health and the health of their family members and neighbors. For additional information or for an entry form, telephone Jane Sundmacher at (231) 347-5041.

Entertainment options sparce for youth

By COURTNEY E. PACE
Staff writer

According to those interviews, entertainment offered in Charlevoix is geared toward the older generations and the younger crowd are awaiting their turn.

Several Charlevoix residents talked about what they did for entertainment and whether or not they stay in Charlevoix when they have a day off or want to go out and have some fun.

Carrie Beemon, 23, enjoys staying local when she can, but knows that the entertainment offered in Charlevoix isn't usually something that interests her or targeted toward her demographic.

"I think that a lot of the restaurant owners are comfortable with the crowd they have," she said. "They've had the same acts for 10 years but it brings back the same crowd."

Beemon envisions restaurants, bars and even Castle Farms utilizing their facilities to draw in the college-aged crowd, which could make money as well.

Beemon said she will go out to Petoskey to hear local bands at City Park Grill with her boyfriend and friends, especially during the winter because they offer music she's interested in.

Aside from music, if Beemon wants to go out and dance with friends, she said she'll drive to Traverse City to go to clubs like Streeters as that is the closest place to offer that kind of atmosphere.

Occasionally, Beemon said she'll go see a band playing at the Villager Pub, Whitney's Oyster Bar or the Flight Deck, but it's typically not the music that she's interested in. However, she'll go to enjoy hearing live music.

Beemon said Charlevoix could tap into the youthful population. She said most of the entertainment is geared toward those in their 30s or older.

"There's a smaller demographic of my age group, but the group is large enough to be worth looking into other entertainment for," she said.

Beemon said Castle Farms should open its doors and provide entertainment for the younger demographic. She said music could be played there and dances could occur on Saturday nights.

"I'm sure they'd have a turn out," she said.

Also, the American Legion Hall and other such places could feature Battle of the Bands and the auditorium at Charlevoix High School could be used more to bring in plays and operas, Beemon said.

The local coffee shops could also feature some form of entertainment such as featuring a games night, like the coffee shops in Petoskey and Traverse City. Beemon said people come in and buy a sandwich or something and can then occupy a table to play a game with friends.

Charlevoix seems to close down at 6 p.m. in the winter, Beemon said, and if they utilized one night each weekend to stay open later or offer some youthful entertainment it could be profitable for them.

Darick Leitner, 24, said the only entertainment in Charlevoix seems to be either going out to a restaurant, bar or teen center because there aren't any clubs.

"If I were to do something there's nothing in this town that draws my attention," he said.

In the winter time, Leitner said he usually finds entertainment by playing video games or doing outdoor activities such as sledding, skiing and snowboarding. During the summer, he takes walks on the beach or cruises down back roads, but not much more.

Leitner said he is usually at work and doesn't have much time to go out, but the music Charlevoix features in the park during the summer is too folksy for his taste or something not from his generation. He said this easily puts him off and keeps him from attending.

"I think it's time for something new," he said of the entertainment offered each year at the same bars and restaurants. "Some people can only play only so many cover bands until it gets old."

Leitner said the generation below him is comprised of a lot of musical talents that should be given a chance to display what they have to offer. Charlevoix could become more appealing entertainment wise if they opened a club somewhere or an arcade, Leitner said.

A club that was 18 and up would be wise because it would draw more or a younger crowd, instead of just 21 and up, which could generate more revenue for the owner.

However, Leitner said when he goes out he usually goes to Petoskey because it's the closest Younger residents want more to do in area

city to offer entertainment geared toward his age group. Also, even if there's not much to do there's the 24 hour Wal-Mart that people can walk around in.

Kellie Young, 16, said Charlevoix doesn't offer much for the teenage demographic.

She said there's a lot for children and older people to enjoy, but not those who can't yet go to the bars, but are older than the childish activities.

Young said if the city wants people to stay in Charlevoix, they should provide some place where people can dance, listen to music and do other activities. Currently, Young said bowling is pretty much the only option for her age group in Charlevoix.

Young plays the tenor saxophone for the Northwest Academy Jazz Band and enjoys that type of music. She said the local music is geared toward the older crowd, but that isn't so bad because a lot of it is jazz.

"I think jazz is coming back in because everyone listens to it," she said.

If she was to go out for a night on the town, Young said she'd probably go to Petoskey because they have more activities such as an ice skating rink. Also, she enjoys going to East Jordan as they have a roller skating rink.

"The price of such activities matters and so if Charlevoix created something it should be affordable."

In the summer, Young said Charlevoix hosts a Battle of the Bands that usually displays good music. She said it's hard though for people her age to get gigs outside of a Battle of the Bands atmosphere unless they have connections.

Young said BASES Teen Center in Charlevoix is an option, but it isn't appealing as it is known as a place where troubled youth go to for help. Young said there should be a place that the younger group could go and listen to different bands play without having to wait until the summer time.

"The only time to do anything fun is when the schools throw dances," she said.

Celia Kelly, program director for BASES Teen Center, said the facility used to be called Club 77 and it used to offer dances. However, that stopped due to a lack of interest.

Kelly said there is a negative view on the teen center because troubled youth come there to seek assistance and attend programs. However, the center is open for everyone and offers an array of activities.

Logan Matter, 20, plays bass for Two Faced Heroes, but said there's not many options where they can play and showcase their talent.

Matter said there is absolutely nothing to do entertainment wise in Charlevoix, especially when you can't go to the bars.

For entertainment, Matter said he will go to Petoskey and Traverse City.

Matter said Charlevoix could become more appealing as a venue of entertainment if they created a pool hall or arcade or even put in a miniature golf course.

They should also have a place designated where local bands can hold concerts.

"I think a lot of kids would go to that because there's nothing else to do on a Friday night," he said.

The music scene in Charlevoix is also the bar band scene, Matter said. However, most local bars won't allow underage people to play in their establishment.

But, if they do, Matter said they won't let underage people come in to hear the music or support their friends.

Castle Farms could be utilized as a place to showcase local musical talent and Matter said he knows a handful of bands in the Charlevoix, Petoskey and Traverse City area that would willingly play.

However, Matter said finding a place to play is hard if it's not offered.

He said renting out a place such as the Knights of Columbus Hall in Charlevoix can run between $500 and $700.

This can become a hardship if enough people don't show up in order to make the band money. Otherwise, Matter said the bands are spending a lot of money to play for free.

Alan Lovelace, general manager of Castle Farms, said Castle Farms is open to doing something such as featuring local bands.

"From my perspective, we're open to doing anything we can to bring culture, music and arts to the area," he said.

He said featuring local artists and talent is something the facility is capable of doing since their upstairs can hold 500 people. It's also something they're interested in doing.

Lovelace said Castle Farms hasn't approached the particular market of a younger audience, but will look into it.

Castle Farms can be used all winter long and Lovelace said they encourage it to be a family environment.

Hosting concerts is something Castle Farms is looking into, but it will be more of a week-long festival instead of a one night event. Lovelace said he would like to host a Celtic festival that would incorporate music, dance and food to highlight that specific culture.

Also, national talent and local talent would be brought in to entertain those who would attend.

"We're open to that," he said.

Dean Behan, 45, said he doesn't go out much to hear bands play and he and his wife like to stay local if they can.

However, he said he will go to Boyne City or Petoskey because they offer more dining options.

"I like a lot of natural resources this place has to offer," Behan said of Charlevoix.

Behan said one can walk, ride their hike or go to one of several different beaches.

Behan said he doesn't have much of an opinion on entertainment offered in Charlevoix since he doesn't go out much, but he does think the business owners do a good job of offering a variety.

He said the local coffee shops could offer something for entertainment, which would be a nicer environment than smoke-filled bars that aren't Behan's scene anymore.

Overall, Behan said he thinks having concerts in the park is nice and thinks Charlevoix could model themselves after Alden when it comes to music.

Alden shuts down their main street and brings the music out into the street.

Behan said he doesn't know how it would work to shut down a portion of Bridge Street, but it would be neat to have music filling the streets as Charlevoix does become a night town in the summer.

He said Alden does something different every week and it involves local families.

Behan said it would be good to involve local families in Charlevoix activities.

"Merchants can't survive on a three-month economy," he said. "They need locals coming here."

Baseball team opens season with split

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders are off to one of their best starts in recent years in baseball, opening their season with a split at Petoskey, losing game one, 5-2 and winning game two, 4-1.

The Rayders then won their own Charlevoix Invitational, defeating Lake City, 18-2 and Petoskey, 16-9.

"It's the first time we've won our tournament in a long time," Coach Bryan Hawkins said. "One of our biggest concerns coming out of (the Petoskey) doubleheader was our aggressiveness at the plate and we answered any of those lingering doubts this weekend."

"We put the ball in play every chance we had and to have a thirty-four run eruption in two games is pretty exciting."

At Petoskey, Charlevoix only managed two hits in the opener. Freshman Cliff Jones scored the first run for the Rayders on a passed ball after leading off the fifth inning with a walk.

Ezra Bakker had the lone RBI for Charlevoix, singling in Tyler Bier in the top of the sixth. Bier collected the other Rayder hit.

Jake Teuscher started the game on the mound and took the loss, giving up three earned runs in four innings of work. Teuscher struck out eight while walking three. Bier pitched the final inning, striking out all three batters he faced.

In the nightcap, Bier threw a complete game, allowing only one run on four hits while striking out nine.

At the plate, Jake Teuscher led the game off with a double to the warning track in left field and later scored on a two-run double by Jones. Bakker also scored on the hit.

The Northmen scored on an error in the third inning to cut the lead to 2-1 but the Rayders responded with two runs in the top of the fourth. Matt Teuscher and Nate Dube scored the Rayder runs.

Sophomore Matt Heimbuch threw a three-inning complete game in his first varsity start for the win against Lake City. Heimbuch struck out four and gave up only three hits.

Charlevoix broke the game open with a 12 run first inning.

Jake Teuscher had three hits, two runs scored and an RBI. Bakker had two hits, an RBI and scored three runs. Matt Teuscher was two-for-two with three RBIs.

Eddie Waldron hit a two-run inside-the-park home run and had four RBI in the game. Michael Wojan singled, knocked in three runs and scored three as well.

In the championship game against Petoskey, Waldron was the winning pitcher in the slugfest. Matt Teuscher finished the game in relief. Petoskey had reached the finals by defeating Maple City Glen Lake, 11-1.

Bakker had two hits, two runs scored and two RBI. Bier had two hits, an RBI and a run scored. Matt Teuscher had one hit, two RBI and a run scored. Jake Teuscher scored three runs.

"This year our seniors will take us as far as we go," Hawkins said. "We've got a great group of seniors, probably the best group we've had in a while and I really look forward to great things to come."

The Rayder junior varsity team is also off to a good start, going 4-0 in their first week of play, sweeping Inland Lakes, 4-3 and 13-1, and Maple City Glen Lake, 14-1 and 15-2.

The varsity hosted Leland on Tuesday, April 19 but results were unavailable at presstime. They host Roscommon on Thursday, April 21 and play at Suttons Bay on Saturday, April 23.

PUBLIC NOTICE

If it's not in the newspaper, how will the public notice?

Zoning changes. Tax increases. Legislative proposals. These are just a few topics where government actions can affect your life and community. Imagine if government no longer had the legal obligation to publish this information in your newspaper. How would public notices get noticed? In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. It should not be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, when to look or even to know what you're looking for to be informed. It is government's responsibility to publish and deliver public notice information as it becomes available. So take notice. Your right to know is being served... right here in your newspaper.

Carlson: Campbell could be challenged

However, because Gabe is Karen's husband, she could not vote on his nomination to the seat and she abstained. Adding to the confusion, Carlson and Council Member Bill Haggard were absent from the meeting, leaving only council members Shirley Gibson, Bob Timms, Sherman Chamberlain and Bill Bellows.

But, Bellows was sitting in for Carlson as mayor during that meeting and he could not vote according to city charter. This meant the only people who could vote on Gabe's nomination were Gibson, Timms and Chamberlain.

These remaining council members voted for Gabe unanimously and he was sworn in to the open seat after the meeting.

After the meeting though, city attorney Young began to check into the legality of the proceedings and discovered an attorney general's opinion stating that the three council members did not make a quorum — a majority of council members needed to vote on items. This means Gabe's appointment could be challenged if the process is not redone.

At the beginning of Monday's meeting, Carlson said Gabe had two options. First, he could resign from the seat and get renominated and council could have a revote. Second, he could stay in the seat and see if he is challenged in the future.

City Clerk Carol Ochs informed council that if Gabe resigned she would not be able to give him the oath of office because she did not have the oath book.

"I was not informed of this before the meeting," she said.

She added the earliest she could swear Gabe in would be Tuesday morning. This meant Gabe could not vote on any matters that came before council Monday night — luckily the council agenda was light.

Gabe decided not to resign during the meeting. After the meeting he said he would probably resign and try to get reappointed during the council's next meeting on May 2. Then Ochs would have the oath book and he could be sworn in that night — if he is reappointed.

Carlson said, "I told Gabe I would stand behind him no matter what he did."

He added, if he was the tie-breaking vote on Gabe's renomination he would definitely vote in favor.

"I don't think anyone else would be more qualified," he said. Gibson and Timms agreed.

Bellows would not say how he would vote on Gabe's reappointment.

Chamberlain said he would vote however the residents of second ward want him to vote.

"If they want Gabe, then that is what they get," he said.

Chamberlain is asking residents of second ward to contact him with their thoughts on the matter at (231) 547-7046.

Haggard was absent from Monday's meeting.

Gabe has extensive experience on the city council as both a council member and mayor. He was beaten for the mayor's seat in November 2004 by Carlson.

Teleconference to focus on end of life ethical dilemmas

Charlevoix Area Hospital, Hospice of Northwest Michigan, Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency are co-hosting the Hospice Foundation of America's annual teleconference Wednesday, April 20.

Each year the Hospice Foundation of America (HFA) presents a nationally recognized distance learning program, live via satellite, to more than 125,000 people in 2,000 communities. For more than a decade, this annual educational program has been instrumental in educating health care professionals and families on issues affecting end-of-life care.

This year Hospice Foundation of America's 12th Annual National Bereavement Teleconference focuses on "Ethical Dilemmas at the End of Life." The subject of ethics at the end of life generates an array of opinions and responses on methods to improve or enhance the quality of life for the terminally ill.

Moderated by Coki Roberts,

ABC News Political Commentator and NPR Senior News Analyst, the program will be broadcast from 1 to 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 20.

A distinguished panel of ethicists, educators and hospice experts will define, differentiate and demonstrate the interrelationships between values, ethics and law in health care settings, and examine how cultural differences may influence ethical choices. In addition, the social perspectives of medical ethics and how various health care settings may influence ethical decisions in hospitals, nursing homes and hospices will be explored.

A local panel will continue the discussion following the national teleconference. The panel members are: Professor David Payne, North Central Michigan College; Dr. Geraldyn Doskoch, MD; Julie Spencer, social worker, Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency; Sue Bush, director of nursing, Grandvue Medical Care Facility; Nancy Rhode, spiritual advisor, Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency.

The teleconference will be at Charlevoix Area Hospital in the lower level. Please contact Linda Parsons at (231) 547-8569 to reserve seats.

Sturock: Please write your lawmakers on funding CUTS

According to Sturock, previous to the financial troubles, yearly increases were between $250-$300 per student, per year.

"What's really happened over the last three years is that we're trying to run a program while expenditures are going up," he said.

"It doesn't take rocket science to see you can't go into deficit spending."

Even what looks like some relief in the upcoming year is, at this point, only a possibility.

"In Lansing they are proposing a $175 increase for next year," he said.

"They haven't even dealt with it yet, it's just been proposed."

While academic programs are safe for now, if this financial mess isn't straightened out over the next couple years, more cuts may have to occur.

"The plan is that number one, we need to be prudent with our spending and hope that Lansing will get things in order," he said.

The most effective way for the average citizen to help, Sturock added, is by writing to their senator.

"When parents write it carries more weight than when I write," he said.

Some suggestions he had were to tell representatives in Lansing you acknowledge the states financial crisis, but emphasize how important it is for partisan politics be put aside for the well-being of the children. As more schools cut programs, increase class size and prepare for the worst, people around the state are beginning to take notice of this situation, Sturock said.

He added, "For now, we're going to work with the community to get the message out."

According to State Senator Jason Allen, what people may not have noticed is $17 billion of Michigan's $39.5 billion budget is allocated for academic concerns, in spite of which the public schools continue to face financial woes.

While Lansing feels the schools' proverbial pain, Allen said, Michigan is one of the top five spenders on education in the nation.

In addition, Michigan has one of the highest tax burdens and is ranked near the top of highest unemployment rates in the country.

"I think the first issue you need to take a look at is that we're trying to get new jobs in Michigan," Allen said.

He added, the state of the economy is tied so close to the struggling auto industry and things are in tough shape.

But, Allen said, he is optimistic there will be an increase in school spending next year of between $150-$225 per student, with a target number of around $185.

Cities, hospitals and small businesses are also experiencing financial problems, Allen said.

But, he added, "If anybody has any ideas on anything we're open to helping them."

To contact Senator Allen call (517) 373-2413 or e-mail senjallen@senate.michigan.gov.

Large team could make for a good season

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

With the largest group of players he has ever coached, valuable field time in Florida under its belt and plenty of talent to pick from, Charlevoix High School varsity baseball coach Brian Hawkins has a lot to look forward to this year.

"This is probably the most talented group of players as a team (he has had) with a strong group of seniors," Hawkins said.

Hawkins said he has 17 students on the varsity team this year, with 18 on the junior varsity team. Those large numbers do not just mean lots of talent to pick from this year, but it means good things for the future.

"It gives us a pretty large group of kids to groom and develop over time," he said.

Of the 17 players on the team, nine are seniors and eight are juniors. Hawkins said there is some opportunity for some junior varsity players to come up, especially pitchers.

However, he added, "With depth at all the levels, we can keep the underclassmen on junior varsity where they will grow and mature."

The team will be lead by captains Jake Teuscher and Michael Wojan. Teuscher is a pitcher, plays third base and is a catcher. Wojan plays second base and in the outfield.

"They bring tremendous leadership and have brought us together as a group," Hawkins said.

Added to the size of the team and its great leadership, Hawkins provided some more ammo by taking the team to Florida for a week of spring training at the Disney Wide World of Sports.

This complex is the spring training home of the Atlanta Braves, but has baseball diamonds for high school teams to practice on. The trip was financed through fund-raisers by the team.

Hawkins said this trip enabled the team to get two to three practices a day for four days outside and on a diamond. This gives them an extra advantage over other northern Michigan team who must wait for the snow to disappear.

But, even with all these strengths, Hawkins said there are some areas to work on. The big one will be hitting. He said the team is a little slow right now, but he expects their skills at bat to pick up over the season.

"It doesn't concern me in the long run," he said.

As for the competition, Hawkins said it will be tough.

Boys' City, last years regional champions, is returning some really good players and Elk Rapids and Traverse City St. Francis are looking strong.

"It will be a free-for-all in this league," Hawkins said.

Softball team young, but has potential

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Coach Liz Grunch may have a young varsity softball team this year, but she is impressed with their athletic ability and attitude.

"They have a lot of potential," she said. "In a couple of years they are going to be a good team, but now it is challenging because they are trying to learn so much."

Out of a team of 12, Grunch has only three seniors — with only one having played softball before. She has two juniors, two sophomores and five freshmen.

Returning players are Genevieve Kochanny, Sally Haselschwardt, Brittany Niswander and Sasha Spencley. Niswander is the only senior of the returning group.

Grunch said she had a large graduating class last year, which took away a lot of her experienced players. Added to this, she said, a couple of years ago the school did not have a junior varsity team. Therefore, the current varsity team is feeling the effects of this.

"It hurts when you don't have a feeder program," she said. While she said she does not have any real standout players at this time, she said she has two freshman pitchers, Leah Kelly and Desi Faust, that are pretty accurate.

Plus, she added, "Everybody is trying to learn the game and go from there. I think people are going to stand out, but not right away. It will be a team effort."

Grunch said her goal right now is to improve the team's hitting and batting, as well as their fielding and learning the ins and outs of the game.

"They need game experience, but that will come with time," she said.

Editor

With the largest teams the school has had in a long time, Charlevoix boys' and girls' track coaches Ken and Mary Plude are excited about this year's prospects.

Due to the large teams, both are saying they have a lot of depth and diversity to pick from, creating well balanced teams.

"The depth means I have strong competitors in every event for the first time. That is great for 17 events," Mary said of the girls' team.

"In a lot of them, I have two or three to pick from."

Mary has 30 students on the girls' team. Of those, 11 are seniors, seven are juniors, seven are sophomores and five are freshmen.

Because of this, Mary said she cannot name one single area where the team is stronger than others.

"I have sprinters, distance runners and field events," she said.

However, she said she still needs to make it all work in the meets.

"I can have all the talent in the world. I just have to be able to pull it together in time," she said.

Mary said the weakest area of the team, and this is a minor weakness, is the team only has one pole vaulter and one high jumper. Plus, one of the strongest members of the team, Lindi Edger, will be out for a while due to a surgery she has to undergo. Mary is not sure at this time how long Edger will be out.

But, she said, the team is focused this year. Mary said they want to qualify as many Rayders to the state finals as they can.

"The ultimate goal is to win the regional so they (the team) can go as a team to state finals," Mary said.

Mary will be looking to several experienced players to help achieve this goal.

She said seniors Sonya Plude, Theresa Martin, Betsey Dennis and Liz Madison have been with her for four years and are very hard workers.

She added she will also be looking to juniors Shannon Dibble, Caitlin Ernst, Jasmine Witthoef and Caitlin Cole — all with three years of experience — for their leadership.

She added she is getting valuable help from her assistant coach Marilyn Morehead.

Mary will need this help as she faces some tough teams in the conference. She said Harbor Springs and Boyne City will be the ones to watch, in addition to Kingsley and Benzie Central.

But she added, it is early in the season, so you really don't know what team could be the one.

Coaches: Great attitudes on this year's teams

Ken also pointed to the size of his team giving him a competitive edge.

He has 47 students on the team, of which eight are seniors, 11 are juniors, 15 are sophomores and 12 are freshmen.

With so many underclassmen on the team, Scott said not only will he have a strong team this year, but he could get a lot of talent in the coming years.

"It is good to see so many kids come out," he said.

He added, "I thought it was going to be a down year, but I am thinking we will have a better team than last."

Ken said he is real strong in his field events.

He already has two boys that can clear 6 feet in the high jump.

And he said he has freshmen jumping 17 to 18 feet in the long jump.

As for his running, Ken is very impressed with the relay teams.

He said he has seven candidates for relay, meaning he will not lose a whole lot if he takes one or two out of relay and puts them in other events.

But, Ken also has some challenges for the team. The biggest, he said, is eligibility due to grades.

"We will either be a great team or a good team depending on eligibility," he said.

As for goals, he said the team has not sat down and really decided on specific ones. But he said the team placed third in regionals last year and second in the conference and he believes it is just as good, if not better, this year.

Ken points to senior players such as Ben Bergmann, Mitchell Klooster and Ryan Seelye as vital to the team.

He said Bergmann is the team leader, Klooster gives all he can to the sport and Seelye is really working hard and motivated.

In his juniors, Ken said he is happy with the work Jeff Golovich is doing with his throws.

Plus, Golovich is going to try some running this year, in addition to his field events. Along with Golovich in the field is junior Michael DiMartino, who Ken said is multi-talented.

Another junior to watch is Brandon Stevens in the distance, along with Nate Sotuyo in the middle distance events.

As for the team to look out for, Ken said without a doubt it will be Harbor Springs and Kingsley.

But he is looking forward to facing these teams with his Rayders.

"They are a fun group. They are hardworking and team oriented," he said.

Experience plus youth could make great year

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

According to varsity girls' soccer assistant coach Tom Conlan, the team has the best crop of freshmen it has had in years, which added to the team's experienced players, should mean good things for this season.

"We had our best season ever last year. This team will be better than last year," Conlan said.

Out of 22 students on the team, nine of them are freshmen and four of them are seniors.

Those seniors form a strong nucleus of players for the team to build on. They are: Sarah Cross at defense; Jaime Pettis — a known high scorer — Madison McKenzie — someone who can play the entire field — and Meghan Lane — a good spot player.

Of the freshmen, Conlan said they already have some good skills.

"Three (freshmen) are starting already and have a big impact,"

he said.

Those freshmen are: Becca Madison, Ariel Ramsey and Kaleigh Blanchard.

In the goal again this year is Laura Nitchman. Nitchman was all state as a freshman and all district as a sophomore.

"She is outstanding," Conlan said.

With these girls on the team, Conlan said the Rayders' strengths on defense are the experience they have. With Cross and Nitchman in the back, the team has a defense that has been working together for two years.

Offensively, Conlan said, the team has speed.

"We are going to be faster than most of the teams in our division," he said.

But, with strengths, there are weaknesses. Conlan said this team's weakness is its midfield.

The team lost some of its best midfield players to graduation and one to injury.

"We have the talent, but there is not much experience in the midfield," Conlan said.

The teams to beat for the Rayders this year are Elk Rapids and Harbor Springs. Conlan said Harbor Springs, last year's conference champion, graduated a lot of players last year and will be somewhat vulnerable this year.

The head coach of the team is Carol Madison. She was unavailable for comment before press time.

Tennis coach excited for successful season

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Charlevoix Tennis Coach Erik Lundteigen is excited about the future of the school's tennis program.

With 45 students out for the junior varsity and varsity teams this year, Lundteigen said that means the program will be healthy for quite some time.

"It is good to have those numbers. When those guys (seniors) graduate, the spots will be filled," he said. "I am very pleased with what has happened."

On top of the high numbers, out for the team, Lundteigen also have the experience to back it up, as many students from last year's varsity team have returned this year. Last year the team was second in the conference, second in the regional and qualified for the state finals.

"Things look pretty good," he said.

Starting on the varsity team this year will be first singles, Nate Turner; second singles, Matt Novotny; third singles, Adam Wager; and fourth singles, Justin Klooster. For doubles, the first team will be Sparky Nitchman and Taylor Martin; second is Mitch Klooster and Andrew Maillous; third is Mike Greyerbiehl and Cody Wheat and fourth is up for grabs.

There is also one girl on the varsity team, Lindsey Withrow. However, there are 11 more on the junior varsity team.

Lundteigen stressed no one's spot on the varsity team is safe and the names you see on the roster could change throughout the year.

thanks to the team's use of challenge matches.

In challenge matches, a player can work their way up through the ranks of the team by challenging other teammates for their positions. For example, if someone wanted to challenge Klooster for this fourth singles spot and beat him, then that person would be playing fourth singles.

Lundteigen said this makes the team stronger as a whole by keeping the level of competition high.

"It makes everybody work a little harder," he said.

Lundteigen said the key to this year is how the team improves up to May 20, the date of the regional tournament. While he is happy with the team's skills now, Lundteigen believes things still need to improve.

He added he has some great help in getting the team ready for the regionals in his junior varsity coaches, Vinne Klooster and Corey Kienholz.

"Without their help, we couldn't have a 'B' Team (junior varsity)," he said.

Goldstick charged in murder

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Many in Charlevoix continue to mourn the loss of longtime resident Hubert William (Bill) Brady, 79.

Brady was shot Tuesday morning, April 19 as he worked in the temporary office of the VFW located in a garage known as the "carpet barn" at 12777 North US-31, according to an affidavit written by Officer Mike Wheat of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's department. David Edward Goldstick, 57, also of Charlevoix is suspected of killing Brady.

"Goldstick stated that he shot William Brady because he (Goldstick) was taking money from the Charlevoix VFW Post and that he (Goldstick) was embarrassed that he was going to get caught for taking the money," according to Wheat's affidavit.

According to Wheat's affidavit, Goldstick claimed to be the first to find the body.

Wheat's affidavit stated that he drove Goldstick to a private residence in search of a set of keys located in a work vehicle of Goldstick's. The keys were supposedly to a filing cabinet in the space where the body was found. While Goldstick looked for the keys Wheat noticed a sawed off .22 caliber Ruger rifle equipped with a homemade silencer in the back seat of the vehicle.

With permission, Wheat retrieved the weapon from the vehicle and as the two headed toward the squad car, Goldstick said, "I know I am in trouble for this. But I am only in Candidates debate budget at forum

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Candidates Christine Michaud and Dean Spenceley had an audience of about 40 people last night as they answered questions on everything from the current budget crisis to religion in the schools.

The forum was hosted by the Friends of the Charlevoix Public Library at the library. Candidates Scott Boss and Mark "Barney" Way were unable to attend.

According to Spenceley, offsetting the decreased revenues over the next year will take more than the school board alone.

"What it boils down to is it would be arrogance at best for me to say that I can do it alone," he said. "I'll go in there in any situation knowing

OPINIONS

Writer survives first week at the Courier

Benjamin Gohs
Staff writer

I survived my first week on the Courier staff and I must say things are a bit different from when I was a freelancer.

The dress code for one; I used to work out of my home office so I spent most of my time in pajamas. My new editor frowns on the idea of me showing up to work in a bathrobe.

The other major change is the condition of my new office; clean, organized and replete with every convenience imaginable, while my old office looked like a grenade went off in a flea market that specialized in children's toys, empty cereal boxes and vintage typewriters.

The biggest advantage I've seen so far is that my wife is now unable to tape to-do lists on my computer screen.

Before I go any further, I must be honest, as much as I love my new job, working for the Courier wasn't my first career choice.

Two years ago I left foodservice in hope of becoming a fashion model for Tommy Hilfiger in Hollywood — my wife's ear piercing and incessant laughter told me otherwise.

It took a week of crying myself to sleep before I decided to go after my longtime (and slightly more attainable) goal to write for a living.

I wrote news, feature, advertising, sports and web sites for every publication that would have me. The more I wrote, the more opportunities showed themselves.

The next thing I knew, I was offered the position as staff writer. Due to the competitiveness of this market, I know how lucky I am to be here.

As far as my goals, well, for the most part I've achieved them. I have my dream job; I live in the most beautiful town I have ever seen; And, I have a wonderful family with which to share my good fortune.

The only other goals I have now are to report the news and avoid those damnable to-do lists.

And just one more thing, Tinseltown has nothing on Charlevoix, but if you run into me on the street, please, don't ask about the modeling career — it's still a bit of a sore spot.

Vote for us

Editor:
On Tuesday, May 3, a school board election will be held to elect two positions on the Charlevoix Board of Education. As the two incumbents, we would like to ask for your support to re-elect us for another term.

A lot of good things have happened in our two terms on the board. We hired Dr. John Sturrock as our Superintendent. Through his leadership and the efforts of the school staff and community, we have upgraded our quality of education. We are proud that in the Michigan Education Yes! Report, our high and middle schools each received an "A" rating and our elementary school received a "B." Seventy-six percent of this year's seniors will receive the $2,500 State Merit Scholarship.

We completed our building proj-

Decay helps make the world a better place

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

The biological army that turns all living things back into the soil from which they spring is hard at work long before the lawn turns green and some time before the first crocus blooms.

There is a general rule among living things that the smaller they are the faster they work. The metabolism of a mouse is orders of magnitude faster than the metabolism of an elephant. Imagine then, how fast must be the activities of microscopic organisms. It is possible to watch with a microscope, in real time, the growth of molds. They can grow across your field of view at a speed slightly slower than the movement of the second hand on your clock.

Because the agents of decomposition and decay are generally smaller than we can see without microscopes, we tend not to think of them, even while we are surrounded by evidence of their frantic activity. From tiny soil mites to invisible worms to the molds and bacteria, the machinery of decay can swing into full-time activity with the first hints of warmth. Those of you with golf greens or carefully tended lawns may see round patches of whitened, dead grass just as the last of the snow melting. The so-called Snow Mold fungus lives and grows rapidly at just above freezing temperature and puts out enough cyanide gas to kill grass blades under a late covering of snow.

Some years ago, I followed the accumulation and decomposition of tree leaves in a forest for 18 years. A considerable amount of the decay occurred under the snow each year. And even if winter decay was slowed somewhat by cold temperatures, all the organisms were there and ready to gear up on the first warm spring day.

The smell of dirt and soil that is apparent as soon as snow has gone is really the collective odor of the byproducts of all that early decay. It is the smell of vigorous life, not just mold and decay. At the close of winter an abundance of decomposable organic matter is available and is voraciously attacked by an enormous complex of thousands of different kinds of organisms charged with recycling everything that lived the year before.

The first warm spring rains and the melting snow wash down to soil level from trees and branches anything decayable that might have parked there for the winter. As buds open the waxy scales that have protected them from winter winds and cold drop to the ground and are seized on by the living agents of decay. Later when most of the evergreens shed all that yellow pollen that can cover cars and streets, those same creatures are waiting for what must be like the dessert to follow their early spring banquet.

Most of the myriad organisms involved directly in decay and decomposition are not attractive by human standards. And many of them would be the stuff of nightmares if they were large enough for us to check out their appearance. If we could appreciate them for what they do rather than for what they look like or smell like, our view of the world would be both more accurate and more rewarding.

Along with the spring toasts to the first tulips and the first lilacs, raise a glass to the mostly invisible, but absolutely essential agents of decay and decomposition, busily at work making our world a better place, and making our life possible.

Roger Knutson is a columnist for the Charlevoix Courier. He can be contacted by calling (231) 547-6558 or e-mailing news@charlevoixcourier.com.

Stop the Ash Borer

Editor:
I am responding to the article in April 13's Charlevoix Courier titled Emerald Ash Borer Found in Charlevoix County.

I feel strongly about the fight against Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) and as a green industry professional, it is my intention to inform the public about options not discussed in last week's article.

The Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) is a very serious threat to our native White Ash trees and it is important for homeowners to be aware of what to look for in their Ash trees and their options. We have all but lost our beautiful native elms to Dutch Elm Disease and I feel a pro-active approach is the only answer to avoiding a similar fate with Ash trees. The most important point for homeowners to be aware of is that there are chemical treatment options if it displays 20 percent or less damage to the canopy of the tree. However, if there is more than 20 percent canopy damage or there are visible D-shaped exit holes along the trunk of the tree, removal and chipping of the tree is necessary to prevent further spread.

The most effective treatment to date is by trunk injection. With this method, the chemical is injected directly into the trunk and carried through the vascular system of the tree, which is generally where the Emerald Ash Borer larvae is located. Trunk injections can only be done by State certified pesticide applicators and is safe to people and the environment when done correctly. This method has been 98 percent effective in the fight against Emerald Ash Borer up to this point both preventatively and after insect emergence. Dan Banks, consulting arborist and co-owner of Banner Sales and Consulting, Inc. of Union Lake, has been directly involved with the fight against Emerald Ash Borer in the quarantined areas of Southeast Michigan and has some success stories he has shared.

Banks mentioned that in 2002, 587 infected Ash trees were treated with the Wedge Direct-Inject system at Grosse Pointe Farms and not one of them has been lost to Emerald Ash Borer. Conversely, the remaining Ash trees in that area that were left untreated were all lost. Other success stories include the Summerfest Mall in Troy, where 120 Ash were treated with none being lost and at the Pontiac Airport, where 110 Ash were treated and are still healthy now.

Banks also mentioned that treatment should be done yearly to maintain prevention and followed with fertilization to help recover from insect stress and return to health.

This sounds expensive I know, but in the future, the fight against Emerald Ash Borer could become more costly as state funding will likely only decrease. Currently, Federal funding is for removal only as the State and the Department of Agriculture have acknowledged chemical control as a method, but up to this point, have not provided funding for it. In fact, with funding on the decrease, it is thought that the onus will eventually be on the homeowner to remove and dispose of trees at their cost. With that, it is very important to know what you can do to save your Ash trees and others because as the saying goes, "an ounce of prevention is equal to a pound of

School issues

Editor:
With the school board election approaching I would like to bring up the question of the candidates' positions regarding the library and the school auditorium.

The current school board and superintendent are attempting to claim the existing library building and property when the new library facility is opened. Their argument is based on and unsigned reverter clause in the District Library Agreement of Jan. 1, 1997. Cynthia E. Faulhaber of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone drew up this agreement. In a letter to Roberta Jackson, superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, dated Aug. 26, 1996 she briefly outlines the agreement. Under Treatment of Property Issues (paragraphs Numbered 6 and 9 and Exhibit C) she writes, "Real property is conveyed by Quit Claim Deed with School District retaining right of reverter if District Library ceases to operate a public library." The district library is absolutely continuing to operate; it is simply moving to a larger facility. When the previous library was sold the school district applied the equity to the new facility. The school board should respect both the intent and the precedent.

The second issue is the community use of the auditorium. The Charlevoix community supplied the funds for the auditorium, not only with their taxes but also with generous contributions with the understanding that it would be available for community use. The current rate to rent this facility is prohibitively expensive for most groups. When Hospice of Northwest Michigan wanted to hold a benefit concert, the Charlevoix auditorium was not affordable. The Boyne City School offered a rate that enabled the concert to raise money for Hospice. Our community shouldn't have to go to another school district when we have virtually the same facility.

School Board representatives are there to serve the community. I hope in the weeks before the election these issues will be discussed and voters can choose the people who best represent the community interests as well as the education system. The school board sets policy and the superintendent administers it. The current superintendent has suggested that he is prepared to sue the library to take the property. This would not be the first lawsuit involving the school board and they did not win the last one. What kind of example for our students is our school board when they refuse to honor the wishes of the community and sue the same taxpayers who support them?

Charlevoix needs a school board that will work with the community, not against it.

New feature added to breast cancer walk

The Sue DeYoung/Judy Edger Memorial Cancer Walk will be Saturday, May 7.

This year to generate pre-walk publicity the organizers of the walk have introduced a new event. They call it the "Pre-Walk Ribbon Tour."

Approximately 30 pink ribbon posters have been distributed throughout the city of Charlevoix (the area covers M-66 on the South and West to Mercer on the East.) Individuals are invited to tour Charlevoix in search of the ribbons which can be found in the windows of homes and business.

A number of prizes have been donated and will be awarded to the individuals finding the most ribbons. Participants can pick up entry forms at the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, Vacation Properties Network and the Charlevoix Hospital Foundation Office.

The Sue DeYoung/Judy Memorial Breast Cancer Walk is given each year on the Saturday before Mother's Day. Funds raised by the event go to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation allowing the money to be used locally through the Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund. The fund is used for individual support services, screening and early detection services and health education and outreach. These services cover all types of cancer.

The fund was started with money given in memory of Judy Edger who died of breast cancer in 1999. Edger was an enthusiastic supporter of the Sue DeYoung walk during the last years of her life and her name was added to the walk following her death. Her friends and relatives have continued to support the event and this year the Circle of Strength members under the Charlevoix Hospital Foundation have also joined the effort to promote the event.

Like most charitable organizations, the fund has found that contributions have fallen during the past couple of years. As in past years, walkers are invited to form teams to raise funds and walk on Saturday, May 7.

Registration Forms are available at the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, Vacation Properties Network, Harbor Health and Fitness Center and the Charlevoix Community Hospital Foundation office.

The walk will begin at East Park in downtown Charlevoix. Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. The two and half mile walk will begin at about 9 a.m.

Anyone wishing to donate to the fund may do so by making checks payable to: The Charlevoix County Community Foundation, (CCCF) Mail to: Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund, 12199 Cottage Lane, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Northwest students place high at band competition

Northwest Academy students participated in the District Two Jr. High Solo & Ensemble Festival in Kalkaska recently.

Students prepared solos and/or ensembles and performed them for adjudication and were eligible to receive a rating of a Division One, Two, Three, Four or Five. A Division One rating represented and excellent level of performance and musicianship for the event being judged.

Nine groups performed on Saturday and seven received first division ratings. Those receiving a one were: Alyssa Them, Kelly Brethauer, Tom Riley and Rachel Gilmore - saxophone quartet; Rachel Gilmore and Hanna Oliver - saxophone duet; Rachel Gilmore - saxophone solo; Andy Tuck - viola solo; Emma Maynard and Evan Themm - clarinet duet; Evan Themm, Kelly Themm, Kelly Brethauer, Emma Maynard - clarinet trio; Rose Trudeau and Janiece Kroon - clarinet duet.

A Division Two rating represents a good performance, but not worthy of the highest rating because of minor defects in performance or ineffective interpretation, but it shows much accomplishment and promise.

Receiving a Division Two rating were: Alyssa Themm and Kelly Brethauer - flute/clarinet duet.

Bill Brady: Oct. 25, 1925 - April 19, 2005

Bill Brady, 79, of Charlevoix, died Tuesday, April 19, 2005.

Bill was born Oct. 25, 1925, in Charlevoix, the son of Homer and Mae (Wood) Brady.

Bill owned and operated many of his own businesses, including Steven-Brady's Bar and Restaurant and later Brady's Carpet Cleaning, after retiring from the Detroit City Police Force.

Serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II, Bill carried the tradition home dedicating his time as an active member of the VFW Post 1153 and the American Legion Leslie T. Shapton Post 226.

By those who knew him best, he was known as husband, dad, grandpa, brother and always friend.

Bill will be remembered and loved by his wife, Geraldine "Gerry," of Charlevoix; children Kristin (Paul) Goldstein of Chesterfield, Mo., Sheila (Dick) Bogart of Charlevoix, Brian (Diane) Brady of Okemos and Michael (Lisa) Brady of Charlotte; grandchildren, Nicholas and Kadie Bogart, Erin and Meghan Brady, Mitchell Parkinson, Adam, Jason and Stephanie Goldstein; sisters, Hilda Gibson and Jane Glidden; as well as many nieces and nephews.

A memorial service in Bill's honor was given at 2 p.m. Saturday, April 23, at Bethany Lutheran Church in Charlevoix with the Rev. Michael Teuscher officiating. A celebration of life followed at the Weatherhane. Memorial contributions may be made in memory of Bill to the Bethany Lutheran Church.

Arthur R. Knowles, Sr.: March 13, 1927 - April 23, 2005

Arthur "Art" R. Knowles, Sr., 78 of Charlevoix, died April 23, 2005, at home.

A funeral was 7 p.m., Tuesday, April 26, at Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. The Rev. Jerry Polk officiated.

Art was born March 13, 1927 in Dayton, Ohio, the son of Arthur R. and Faye Etta (Van Horn) Knowles.

On July 24, 1976, he married Julia A. LaMarre in Bolingbrook, Ill.

He served in the Navy during World War II. He was a school bus driver for Charlevoix Public Schools for seven years and Safety Director for East Balt Commissary in Chicago prior to moving to Charlevoix.

Art was a private pilot and enjoyed flying.

Art is survived by his wife Julie A. Knowles, of Charlevoix; sons, Arthur R. Jr. (Rita) of Montgomery Ill., Kip of Kissimmee, Fl, Michael (Melissa)

Green of Joliet, Ill.; daughters, Regina (Milt) Shiner of Port St. Lucie, Fl., Heather Knowles of Kankakee, Ill., Reggie (Dave) Soto of Charlevoix, Lisa (Tom) Collins of Hammond, Ind., Sue Green of Charlevoix, Noelle (Jason) Cross of Charlevoix; 17 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Art was preceded in death by two sons Kit Knowles and Donald "Tuffy" Green and sister Delores.

School board candidates discuss finances

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

While school board candidates may not all agree on a single solution to worsening budget problems, they do agree the community must work together for solvency.

According to Christine Michaud, cuts in curriculum and teachers should be avoided if possible and only come after extracurricular activities have been looked at.

"I think there could be some activities cut," she said. "Not necessarily cutting out athletics, but what we pay our coaches -- making some cuts there."

Michaud cited that Charlevoix schools pay more for their coaching salaries than many surrounding schools.

"I'm not saying we shouldn't pay our coaches," she said. "I would like to see us support our education. Sports really do bring more people to Charlevoix, but we need to get them to come also for the good academics teachers."

Another possible savings, Michaud said, is a co-pay style benefit for the teachers where they would pay a little more for their health coverage.

"I would never like to see benefits cut," she added.

According to Michaud, another potential savings could come from a more efficient use of bussing. She said last year her son rode a bus with only seven to 10 other students and that the most she remembered on board was 15.

As far as candidate Dean Spencey is concerned, all the issues surrounding the school budget need attention, including bussing, teachers, programs and spending.

"We need to communicate to the public that this is a dire situation," Spencey said. "We really have a situation where we all have to come together."

The schools' financial crisis is more than simply a school board issue. Parents and educators as well as board members must work together in order to achieve solvency, according to Spencey.

He added, "It's not just a small group of people that should make the decision, it should be all of us that make a decision -- the community in general."

While there is no one cause to the situation, Spencey said, finger pointing will only exacerbate the situation.

"I'm not blaming the school board at all, because it's not their fault."

Being honest and upfront, he said, is the only approach in finding a solution to this problem.

"There are going to be cuts that have to be made," said Spencey. "If there is any frivolous spending, we need to see where it's at."

He added, some immediate cuts which may have to be made may not be appreciated in the short term, but in the long run they might be unavoidable, if the integrity of the schools are to be maintained.

"We have one of the nicest schools in northern Michigan," Spencey said. "In order to keep things strong we need to give back."

It is so important for the public to be informed on these issues if there is any headway to be made, he added.

The sitting school board candidates feel there is a great need for the state to step up its support of education.

"First of all, to fix the budget problem that we have has to be done at the state level," said school board member Scott Boss. "What's gone on here is no different than our neighboring schools in Michigan. We've lived for the last three years on not just a fixed income but we've had roll-backs, so in other words to fix the problem, they (the representatives in Lansing) need to back education."

According to Boss, if there isn't a fix to the problem, the schools must utilize their rainy fund.

"Any fat or fringe that was in our budget, trust me, if you go talk to Boyne City or East Jordan, not just Charlevoix it's flat out gone," he added. "If there isn't a state increase there will be major cuts."

According to Boss, things have already moved out of the hypothetical.

He said, he spoke with someone who was actually planning to change schools if bussing was cut because the person had four children and no other way to get them to school.

"It's like a nightmare for a board member because we're looking at trying to offer the best possible package we can because there's only two ways we get funding, from the state and more kids," he said.

He added, if programs are cut parents may decide not to bring their kids here or even worse. Charlevoix may lose current students. "Parents make decisions on the whole pic, not just one part," he said. "I believe we have a great board that works well together. I think we've got a great administrative team and I have absolutely no questions that our staff is second to nothing in northern Michigan, but without money, that's what brings us to all this ugliness."

Boss said, concerned citizens must inform their state legislatures by letter and phone how important education is to them.

"We've got to have concerned citizens let their state legislatures know, 'You know what? Don't just say your education people, put your money where your mouth is,'" he said.

Political rhetoric is the last thing you need when you are dealing with your children's future, he added.

"We're in a global economy and I can't think of anything more important than a kid's education," he said.

"They're competing at a level that I never had to compete at. And the only way to do that is to educate these kids to be a viable

How do we deal with school funding issues?

BOARD

piece of the puzzle."

He added, "We need to bring this education piece to the top of the list of priorities so that it doesn't get shoved under the rug."

According to board member Barney Way, the school board works tirelessly to find new ways to save money.

"We've been turning over every stone and looking underneath every rock trying to figure out what we can live without," Way said. "We continue to look at everything that comes down the pike. And, as far as what programs we have right now, we've looked at bussing, we've looked at the sports program and the extracurricular activities."

He added, "What we're trying to do is maintain as much program, as much service as we can to our kids and to our community right now."

Way hopes if everyone picks up a little extra slack in the schools as teachers retire, money could be saved by not hiring new teachers.

"We have had to lay some of the support staff off, but we haven't had to do that to the teachers yet," he said.

According to Way, one of the problems many people don't understand is there are two purses for the schools: one is the general fund, the other is the sinking fund.

The general fund comes from the state, while the sinking fund comes from a local millage that can only be used for facilities and capital type improvements.

"People say we're cutting back and we're not doing operational things," he said. "But then they see us on this other side spending money on — a new gym floor in the middle school or we're going to redo the bus garage or do a superintendent's office — it's totally different money and they cannot be mixed together."

Indeed, state law prohibits the use of the sinking fund for operational costs.

According to Way, it is up to the citizenry to make their opinions known because the school board's pleas to the state for additional funding are often in vain.

"I think every opportunity people get to make it known to the state legislative people is going to help," he said.

"The legislators are all voted in and they need to start responding."

School election to be May 3 this year

Be sure to find your way to the proper ballot box next Tuesday for the school board election.

Marina work could start in fall

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Work on a new Charlevoix marina may begin next fall, according to Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner.

Wiesner told council at its April 18 he, Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson and Waterway's Commission Member John Winn have been working to get funding together to start construction on the marina project this fall, with a completion in May or June of 2006.

Wiesner said it has been suggested the city proceed with the new bulkhead, utilities, walkway and docks soon. The total cost of this portion of the project, he said, would be about $5 million.

He said $3 million of it will come from bonds sold this year, $1 million will come from the state and the rest will come from funds in the Downtown Development Authority budget.

"That should carry us through, cash-wise," he said.

Wiesner added he is working on bringing a list of possible engineers for the project to the next city council meeting, May 4.

The marina project is part of a higher plan to renovate both the marina and East Park.

The total projected cost of the project is estimated around $11 million. Of that, 75 percent is being paid for with funding from the state Waterway's Commission. The remaining 25 percent of it will be paid for by the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority using existing funds.

Under this plan, the City of Charlevoix will not have to pay for the project using its taxpayer funds.

In a city council meeting in March, it was decided to approve DDA funding for a majority of the project, with the exception of a new band shell and ice rink in East Park.

Greggs named island citizens of the year

Courtesy photo

Chamber of Commerce President Kathy Speck presents the 2004 Citizen of the Year award to Phil and Lil Gregg.

The fourth annual Beaver Island Citizen of the Year banquet was given on April 23 at Stoney Acre Restaurant, which was awarded to Phil and Lil Gregg.

Each year, nomination letters are submitted to the Chamber Board of Directors, who makes the final selection.

The criteria for the award states: "The award will honor an individual, couple of community organization that has made a significant contribution to making Beaver Island a better place to live, work or visit."

This year's nominees included: Father Pat Cawley, Bud and Barb Cruickshank, Laraine Dawson, Robert and Lisa Gillespie, Phil and Lil Gregg, Henry Hill, Alvin LaFreniere, Grace Matela, Helen Pike, and the staff of the Beaver Island Rural Health Center.

The Greggs came to Beaver Island in the early 1960s and have been members of the school board, the library board and the Beaver Island Historical Society.

They are active in the Beaver Island Christian Church and have sponsored many activities for students at the Community School and the Lighthouse School.

The Greggs received a framed photograph of an island sunset scene and a framed tribute to the couple signed by State Senator Jason Allen, State Representative Kevin Elsenheimer and Governor Jennifer Granholm.

Sanitary code revision for septic proposed

Public hearings set for revisions to county Sanitary Codes currently in effect in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties are the subject of public hearing set by the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency.

The hearing for Charlevoix County will be at 7 p.m., Wednesday, May 4, at the health department office at 220 W. Garfield Street in Charlevoix.

Three revisions, which cover point-of-sale septic system inspections, requirements for advanced waste treatment systems and requirements for off-site treatment systems, were developed over a year of study and discussion by a committee of health department staff, county commissioners, members of environmental groups, septic waste haulers and consultants.

"Most people don't think too much about what happens in their septic systems once they flush the toilet," said Scott Kendzierski, director of Environmental Health Services for the health department. "But septic system failure is expensive and adversely impacts the environment — and it's preventable by taking some precautions."

The point-of-sale revision will require septic systems to be pumped and inspected at the time properties are sold. The advanced waste management revisions will establish performance and operating standards for alternative and off-site systems. The off-site revision will require written easement and engineering plans for approval. Both alternative and treatment, and off-site systems, will require routine maintenance and annual inspections.

According to Kendzierski, all three proposed revisions are extremely important. "Many new homeowners have had the unwelcome and expensive surprise of a failed system," he said. "The point-of-sale revision will extend the life of septic systems and assure that all evaluated septic tanks are pumped prior to occupancy."

Point-of-sale evaluations include documenting septic tank capacity and condition and the size and condition of the drainfield, as well as inspecting mechanical equipment associated with the system, such as pumps, alarms, and floats.

The advanced waste management system revision allows properties with certain site limitations to use what are called monitored septic systems, combining high standards for the waste product with best management practices. It requires discharge performance criteria for the effluent or the product of a septic system.

"This revision takes advantage of technologies that can produce highly treatable effluent prior to final disposal," said Kendzierski.

It requires an operational permit from the health department, a maintenance contract with a firm that specializes in on-site wastewater management and includes frequent evaluation of all system components and its operational status.

For properties that are unsuitable for a septic system, the off-site waste management revision allows sewage to be conveyed for final disposal away from the parcel where waste is generated. Often easements on properties with suitable site conditions for sewage disposal are obtained for this purpose.

In addition, operation permits will be required to assure inspections meet all state and local regulations for this revision.

The Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency is the local health department serving Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. Its staff is dedicated to preventing disease and injury and promoting healthy communities.

For additional information about the septic system revisions, visit www.nwhealth.org or contact Kendzierski at (231) 547-7651.

Attorney: Law prohibits hiring city officials

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The Charlevoix City Manager's procedure of giving city contracts under $10,000 to council members without approval of the full council is apparently against state law.

Charlevoix City Attorney Jim Young informed council at its April 18 meeting that he discovered a state attorney general's opinion that says local government contracts may not be given to city officials without prior approval of city council.

"It showed some sections, I believe, that conflict with city code..." Young said.

According to Young, the attorney general's opinion was written after the city code was put into place. The city code allows council members to bid on and get city contracts.

The code also allows City Manager Mike Wiesner the ability to grant contracts to anyone for any job under $10,000, without prior approval of city council. That portion of city code has been under attack lately, as some council members have questioned Wiesner's use of it to grant contracts to current city council members who own businesses.

Council Member Shirley Gihson has been one of the forces behind a movement to change this section of the code to say Wiesner must inform council before granting a contract to a city council member, no matter what the amount.

Upon hearing about this state law, Gihson said, "The city manager needs to start doing what the law says."

Wiesner said he highly recommends, in light of this find, that council change city code to one in compliance with state law.

In a later interview, he said he is a little confused on what the law actually says. He and Young are doing some research on it and are going to revisit it with council at the May 2 meeting.

Hospice to offer volunteer training

Hospice of Northwest Michigan, in partnership with Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, which serves Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties is looking for caring and compassionate individuals who would like to join its family of hospice volunteers.

Hospice will be conducting a volunteer training program starting on Monday, May 2. The sessions will run for four weeks, from 5-7 p.m., meeting Mondays and Wednesdays. The classes will be conducted at Greensky Hill United Methodist Church, Charlevoix.

The first session will be a hospice orientation and discussion of the role of the volunteer. Each class will deal with a different aspect of training — grief and bereavement, death and dying, communication skills, understanding the family, spiritual care of the family, care and comfort measure, ethical issues and personal stress.

Hospice volunteers provide a variety of services, including respite care to the terminally ill and their families. Anyone who has been a care-giver knows how important it is to have some time for themselves, and our hospice volunteers provide this very needed help by staying at the home so the care-giver can get away or just rest.

Volunteers provide much help, whether it is with patients, in the office or helping with fund-raising.

Please call the Hospice of Northwest Michigan office at (231) 536-2842 if you are interested in becoming a volunteer.

Four Charlevoix teachers retire from school district

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Charlevoix schools say goodbye to four teachers with over a 100 years of combined teaching experience this year.

Pat Carland

Local elementary school teacher Pat Carland says she is no wicked witch, but that doesn't stop her from riding a broom on occasion.

Over her 33 years of teaching, Carland has taught everything from special education to music.

Carland graduated from Western Michigan University and taught for a short time in Kalamazoo. Then in 1971 she moved to northern Michigan for a teaching position with her husband Mike, who now teaches in Boyne City.

According to Carland, dull moments are rare when dealing with young children.

"I think they keep you on your toes," she said. "They are always enthusiastic. I like how bright and bushy tailed they are, go-go-going every day, so time passes fast and it's fun."

While she wants to travel eventually, Carland said she will spend some more time engaged in the activities she enjoys right here in Charlevoix.

"I like sports, music. I hope I can volunteer here and be there to help out the community," she said. "I'll probably play golf and tennis in the fall and continue with my music."

Carland said, the things she will miss most are the staff and kids with whom she worked.

She added, "It's going to be hard leaving everybody." Known for her sense of humor, Carland came up with the idea of saying she would ride her broom around the classroom because, she said, the kids needed to know when it was time to get serious about their work.

In 2002 one of her then students, Noah Maicheit, made her a real broom to ride.

"Sometimes you have to keep after the kids to do their homework, so that's when I bring humor into it," she said. "I mean business, but in a fun way."

She may not miss having her name mispronounced, but Marina LaBlance will definitely miss her 32 year position as music teacher.

She received her degree in music and elementary education in spring 1972 from Western Michigan University and was on the job in Charlevoix by that fall.

According to LaBlance, one of the funniest things she dealt with over the years is the way the kids pronounce her name. With variations including Mrs. Ablah, Ma-blah and Ma-Blob.

Looking to the future, LaBlance said, she isn't too worried about looking for things to do.

"It's not in my nature not to keep busy," she said.

LaBlance enjoys gardening, reading, music and especially traveling.

"My folks are from Greece, so I plan on maybe spending some time there," she said.

But what she mostly looks forward to is having that extra cup of coffee in the morning.

"I don't really have any plans for awhile. I look forward to spending a little time on myself," she said.

LaBlance still enjoys teaching, but feels it is time to do some things just for her.

"I've had just a fantastic ride being a music educator in Charlevoix," she said. "I have enjoyed my kids."

Over the course of 20 years Jim Glynn taught in Germany, Japan and even Charlevoix.

Jim Glynn received his Masters degree from Eastern Michigan University and taught in Romulus from 1972-1976. Glynn came to Charlevoix in 1979 to teach physical education and science, among others.

Glynn worked overseas in Ausberg and Heilbronn Germany as well as Japan for the Department of Justice schools teaching children of service members history and comparative studies of eastern and western cultures in an advanced placement class.

According to Glynn, he doesn't have a favorite subject.

"I like 'em all," he said.

Glynn has served as assistant high school baseball coach, middle school track coach.

"The best subject is the kids themselves," he said.

He added, he will miss the kids the most because they keep him young.

Glynn plans to spend more time with his family and on his hobbies, including refinishing a boat from the late 1950s.

Glynn said he loves teaching, but now he wants to spend more time with his wife of 37 years and his children — who are so dear to his heart.

"I've really enjoyed teaching in Charlevoix schools," he said. "They gave me the opportunity to travel with my family and come back and share the experience."

While Glynn will miss his pupils he won't be going too far.

"I'll still be coaching the golf team," he said.

Kathy Schofield retired from Charlevoix Elementary school at the end of the 2004 fall semester.

Schofield graduated from the University of Michigan in 1972 and went on to receive her masters degree from Western Michigan University.

Schofield taught since 1974, but did not start in Charlevoix until 1985 where she worked with children in special education, fifth grade and finally with the fourth graders.

According to Schofield, the thing she misses most is the kids. "I feel so lucky," she said. "I think I got to take something from each one."

Schofield plans to spend some of her free time visiting her children who both live out of state.

She and her husband Robert also plan to build a house in the Charlevoix area, which is something they've always wanted to do.

One of Schofield's fondest memories was when her class talked to the Russian space station Mir for nine and a half minutes via Ham radio.

"We were one of only three schools in the world," she said.

Schofield said, she would like to thank the children she taught for making her who she is today.

THERE ARE GOOD REASONS WHY

PUBLIC NOTICE

APPEARS IN YOUR NEWSPAPER.

Currently, and historically, it is the responsibility of state and local government to publish public and legal notices here in Michigan's newspapers. This paper you're holding right now is a historical document, printed and published with a date on every page. And its pages hold your right to know what the government is doing in your community. In fact, it's law.

In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. After all, it shouldn't be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look or when to look, let alone to know what you're looking for to be informed. That is why you have, and read, your newspaper, where public notices are published with accountable circulation and presented to you on these pages in clear black and white.

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine opens new location

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center has opened a new satellite location in Charlevoix. The new facility is located in the Kmart Plaza on M-66. The Charlevoix facility is open 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and will be more convenient for patients from the Charlevoix and surrounding areas.

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center of Charlevoix clinic is a 5,000 square foot state of art gym with new equipment and houses the only heated therapeutic pool in Charlevoix. The clinic is staffed with three-licensed physical therapists, two certified athletic trainers and a physical therapy aid. The physical therapists are Jeff Samyn, Jeff Smith and Chuck Smith. The athletic trainers are Amy Bartling and Joelle Beaudoin and the physical therapy aid is Tara Morrow.

- They specialize in:
- Physical Therapy and Athletic Training
 - Neck and back pain evaluation and treatment
 - Ankle - Hip - Knee- Shoulder rehabilitation

- Sports injury assessment and rehabilitation
 - Post surgical treatment and rehabilitation
 - Workers compensation injuries
 - TMJ dysfunction
 - Aquatic therapy
- "The idea for a clinic in Charlevoix came from our patients and referring physicians," said Chuck Smith, owner and physical therapist. "Their desire and request for physical and aquatic therapy in a close and convenient location spurred the opening."

He added, "We are excited to be part of the community and to offer the benefit of aquatic therapy in our clinic." Aquatic therapy is a way to increase strength, decrease swelling, improve range of motion and restore function quickly and with less pain for all of their patients. Research indicates that muscle fatigue due to weight bearing and pain associated with joint stress is greatly reduced by the buoyancy provided by water. This type of therapy allows for an earlier return to functional exercise, especially after surgery or an injury. The Sport Medicine Center also offers a "Get Moving Program" in the pool and gym. The programs are open to the public. For more information, contact Karyn at (231) 547-0380. Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Centers have been providing physical therapy and rehabilitative services to Northern Michigan residents since 1987. They are experts in the field of rehabilitating patients to their daily activities after surgery or an injury.

Rayders start season with three wins out of four games

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders softball team is 3-5 in play thus far this season.

Last week, the Rayders won three out of the four games they played, sweeping Roscommon, 13-11 and 19-18, and splitting with Leland, winning game one, 24-16 and losing game two, 16-9.

"Things are coming together for us," Coach Elizabeth Grunch said. "We are improving but it's a slow process, we have a very young team."

Charlevoix features five freshman and two sophomores on varsity.

Sally Haselschwardt was 3 for 3 with a double against Leland. Jessica Gauthier, Murphy Gillespie and Brittany Niswander each had two hits in the twinbill.

Desi Faust was the winning pitcher in game one and struck out four.

Faust also was the winning pitcher in the first game against Roscommon. Leah Kelly earned the pitching victory in game two.

Gauthier had four hits, including two doubles against Roscommon. Haselschwardt had three hits, including a double. Niswander tripled twice and singled.

Faust had three hits. Caitlin Mitchell and Genevieve Kochanny each had two.

Earlier, the Rayders fell to Petoskey, 17-0 and 20-0. Charlevoix also lost twice in their own Charlevoix Invitational losing to Lake City, 10-9 and Maple City Glen Lake, 10-0.

Against Petoskey, Sasha Spencley had the only Rayder hit in game one while Kochanny and Gillespie both singled in the nightcap.

In the tournament's opening round, Faust was the losing pitcher despite striking out 10 batters. She yielded nine hits and four walks.

Spencley was four for four at the plate. Gauthier and Kelly each tripled. Chelsea Nemchek was two for two.

While in the consolation round, Charlevoix fell to Glen Lake, who is listed as honorable mention in Division 3 in the state.

Nemchek was again two for two at the plate. Spencley doubled while Niswander and Gillespie each singled.

Faust was the losing pitcher, with six hits allowed, two walks and six strikeouts.

"We hit the ball pretty well (in the tournament)," Grunch said. "We made good contact but we left a lot of runners on base."

Charlevoix (3-5) hosts East Jordan on Wednesday, April 27 to open Lake Michigan Conference play.

Rayders' soccer team looking good

The Charlevoix High School girls' soccer team beat East Jordan, 9-0, April 18.

Freshmen led the way as the Rayders improved to 1-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference with a win at East Jordan. Charlevoix managed 34 shots on the net as the EJ keeper made 25 saves. Rayder keeper Laura Nitchman stopped three Red Devil chances to earn the shutout in goal.

Rayder goals were scored by freshmen Emily Foster, Ariel

Ramsey (2) and Becca Madison (4); and by sophomores Zita Anderson and Lori Zimmerman. Assists went to Sarah Cross, Stevie Murray, Zimmerman, Madison and freshman Megan Cross.

"This was a good team win giving us the opportunity to get all of our 21 players extended playing time," Coach Carol Madison said.

On April 19, the team beat Glen Lake, 6-0.

The Rayders opened up scoring early as senior tri-captain Jaime

Pettis assisted freshman Ramsey

Baseball team has up/down week

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayder baseball squad was 1-2 in non-conference play last week, dropping a single game to Leland, 12-11 in extra innings and splitting a doubleheader with Roscommon, losing game one, 10-8 but bouncing back to win the nightcap, 9-6.

Against Leland, "Neither team played great defense, but Leland was able to withstand a furious Rayder offensive barrage," according to Rayder Coach Bryan Hawkins.

Leland committed seven errors and Charlevoix had three. The Rayders led 11-9 after four innings but the Comets scored one run in the fifth and another in the sixth to send the game into an extra frame.

Tyler Bier was 3 for 5 at the plate with two doubles, a triple and two RBI but he suffered the pitching defeat. Freshman Cliff Jones tripled. Brady Way was 1 for 2 and drew two walks and scored two runs. Nate Dube doubled.

Game two against Leland was called due to darkness.

Charlevoix trailed 9-1 after three and a half innings in game one against Roscommon but rallied to make the game close. Bier, again, was the losing pitcher.

Jake Teuscher had three hits and scored two runs in the contest. Eddie Waldron had two hits, including a double and two RBI. Matt Teuscher doubled and drove in three runs. Logan Niswander had a hit, an RBI and a run scored. Michael Wojan and Way had the other Rayder hits.

Eddie Waldron had a solid pitching outing in game two, yielding only one earned run in 4 2/3 innings and striking out three to get the win. Matt Teuscher came on to quell a Roscommon rally fanning a Buck hitter to earn the save.

Bier had two hits, including a double and scored three runs. Way singled and had two RBI. Wojan singled and scored two runs. Waldron tripled. Matt Teuscher singled in a run. Dube singled and scored a run.

"Eddie Waldron pitched a fine game," Hawkins said. "He cruised until the fourth inning when Roscommon took advantage of some fielding miscues."

The Charlevoix junior varsity squad (7-1) continued its winning ways, splitting with Mancelona, winning, 17-2 and losing, 9-8 and sweeping Roscommon, 4-3 and 9-5. Charlevoix (4-3) hosts East Jordan in the Rayders' Lake Michigan Conference opener on Wednesday, April 27.

Sheriff seeking info for cases

The Charlevoix County Sheriff is requesting citizens assistance pertaining to several serious crimes in Charlevoix County.

The sheriff's office is looking for any citizen who observed a suspicious or 'out of place' vehicle between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 9:15 a.m. on the morning of April 19 that was parked in the Waller Road area of Charlevoix Township.

This is in connection to the murder that took place that day. David Goldstick, of Charlevoix, is suspected of killing Bill Brady, 79, also of Charlevoix, near Brady's Carpet Cleaning on Petoskey Avenue.

The sheriff's office is looking for anyone who may have come across a shotgun barrel and action in the area of Pincherry Road or Horton Bay Road off of C-56 (Boyne City/Charlevoix Road) in Hayes and Bay townships.

This shotgun was used in a crime on Dec. 20 and it is believed to have been thrown out of a vehicle after that time.

Any information on these two items, please contact Sheriff George T. Lasater or D/Lt. Mike Wheat at (231) 547-4461.

RONALD WILLIAM HAGGARD

Aug. 18, 1977-APRIL 27, 2000

Our lives continue to forge ahead with enthusiasm and hope, while our hearts and memories are interminably locked in the past.

We are once again slowly, very slowly it always seems, emerging from another Northern Michigan winter. It is a time of year when Charlevoix is both beautiful and harsh. Sometimes the short days languish as though stuck in time. The snow muffles the sound of our footsteps as we crunch down the street or through the woods. It is quiet and peaceful, and it is exhilarating to breathe the cold, crisp air into our lungs. The snow bundles in huge pillows against the house, gathered there by the nighttime wind that huffs and puffs across the lake.

These are the times when our memories tug at our hearts, like a child who pulls on a loose piece of yarn that gradually unravels row after row of his sweater. We think of our son, Ronald. We remember all the happy times, his many talents, his love of hunting, his contribution to his high school wrestling team, his many friends and his endless ability to smile. Every year we think of his birthday, and our holiday dinners will always have a missing chair at the table.

We also remember the sad times. We recall his disappointments, his frustrations and his confusion. The cold melancholy blows through our thoughts like a Beaver Island storm.

How can we begin to understand the glory and thrill of a summer without a winter of bleak, hazy gray? Our summer days remind us of the life and joy that surrounds all of us. It is reassuring for us to think of how well Ronald would have enjoyed these times. He would have done well in life and we know that in time, he would have been very happy. We know this as sure as we know the winter snow and ice will disappear.

Once again, the seagulls will soar in the blue sky and the ever-growing number of tourists will swell the local population. The endless cycle of life continues.

We miss you Ron. What we miss most of all are your wonderful, loving, endless hugs. We love you and know that you are with our Savior. Be patient, our son. One glorious day we will have a true family reunion, and once again celebrate the joy of being together.

THE LOVING FAMILY OF RONALD HAGGARD

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS: This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt; any information we obtain will be used for that purpose.

Default having been made in the terms and conditions of a mortgage made February 6, 2002, by James E. Karlskin and Mary M. Karlskin, husband and wife, as mortgagors, to First Community Bank, as mortgagee, and recorded on February 15, 2002, at Liber 458, Page 846, Charlevoix County Records; and the entire balance secured by said mortgage having become due and payable by reason of the acceleration provisions contained in said mortgage and the promissory note secured thereby; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this notice $119,347.44 principal, $5,362.54 interest, and $150.00 late fees; and no legal or equitable proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt or any part of the debt secured by the mortgage; and the power of sale contained in the mortgage having become operative by reason of the default.

Notice is now given that on Friday, May 13, 2005 at 11 o'clock a.m., in the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Building, 301 State Street, in Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held, there will be offered for sale and sold to the highest bidder, at public sale, the premises described in the mortgage, situated in Melrose Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and described as follows:

Lot 72, SPRINGBROOK HILLS NO. 1, as recorded in Liber 2 of Plats, Pages 197 through 200, Charlevoix County Records.

This sale is for the purpose of satisfying the amounts due and unpaid on the mortgage, with interest at the rate of 8.00% per year, together with the legal costs and charges of sale, including the attorney fees allowed by law and in the mortgage, and any sums that may be paid by the mortgagee subsequent to the date of this notice to protect its interests in the premises.

Soccer team wins several matches for the 1-0 lead. Charlevoix controlled play throughout managing 30 shots to one for the Lakers.

Keene Nitchman earned the shutout in goal.

Strong midfield and defensive play from Murray, Madison and Cross and Madison McKenzie proved too much for Glen Lake.

Charlevoix goals were scored by Ramsey (2), Pettis (2), Madison and Zimmerman. Assistants went to Pettis (2), Madison and McKenzie.

The Rayder bench was able to gain valuable experience with extended playing time.

Ramsey was awarded the game ball for the Rayders.

On April 21, Charlevoix beat Harbor Springs, 3-1.

Charlevoix scored 2 minutes into the contest when Pettis sent an assist across the box to Zimmerman who sent the ball home past the Harbor keeper.

The Rayders continued to knock at the door with several good scoring opportunities just missing the mark throughout the first 20 minutes. The Rams came back on their first opportunity with a long counter attack to knot the score at 1-1.

Charlevoix answered at the 30 minute mark when freshmen Kaleigh Blanchard and Ramsey combined, with Blanchard assisting Ramsey who beat a defender on the end line and stuck the ball in the net. The last of the scoring was on the Rayders side in the second half when Cross assisted freshman Madison for the clinching goal.

Charlevoix had the better of the play through most of the match, mounting 18 shots to 10 Harbor opportunities.

The Rayder keeper, Nitchman was up to the task to get the win in goal. In addition to Nitchman, Charlevoix received strong play from the whole squad.

Defensively, the Rayders were led by Cross, McKenzie, Murray and Lisa Kuebler. In the midfield, Madison, Blanchard and Anderson continually won the ball. On the forward line Zimmerman, Ramsey and Pettis, who was marked by Harbor throughout the match, gave the Rayders their spark.

Cross was awarded the Rayders game ball.

Spencley, Michaud answer questions that most of these people are my friends, that we're going to make revenue cuts on and putting myself in their shoes."

"The last cut that I would possibly make is to take any part of the education system away," he added. "We need to somehow bring everybody together and say there are cuts to be made."

According to Michaud, a possible way to help offset costs would be to take a look at the sports budget.

"I would like to maybe see a little bit of change in how we spend some of our extracurricular activity money," she said. "Not that I would cut anything, but maybe look at how we're spending it and how much we're giving to the extra curricular activities."

She added, "And I would rather see us cut a portion of that rather than cutting education."

One of the few questions of the night which didn't revolve directly around finances was the issue of the current library building.

Spencley said, "This is probably going to end up on the desk of two attorneys who will probably take both sides for a little bit of money. Maybe there can be some concessions made both ways."

Michaud declined to comment.

If he gets on the board, Spencley said, he will make sure the public gets more information.

In preparation for service on the school board, Spencley said, he lives in Charlevoix and attends many sports functions.

"It's one of those things that you start to love the town because you start to love the kids," he said.

He is working to get on the board reluctantly because he still wants to coach, but he is interested in giving everyone a voice including the children.

"They're part of the group as well. This is why we're all here," he said. "If you're here for any other reason then you're here for the wrong reason — it's an educational thing."

According to Michaud, living in Charlevoix all her life has prepared her for service on the school board.

"The main reason I am going out for school board is because I do have young kids in school and I have been in Charlevoix all my life. I was brought up through the school system and a lot of people that are my friends have talked about needing a change," she said.

She added, "Not that I'm necessarily going to change anything, but I'm another voice in the community."

Michaud said another concern of hers is the amount of money coaches are paid.

She said, while researching the wages of teachers in the different schools in the area, she found teachers just out of a four year school make $33,500 a year with their benefits starting with the date of hire.

"People don't realize how much teachers make," she said.

She added, "My next question to the schools were how much do we pay out yearly for coaches. We are the highest paid coaching staff in northern Michigan."

Michaud cited Charlevoix pays $129,000 a year to coaches with Harbor Springs paying $14,000 less and East Jordan paying $30,000 less than Charlevoix.

"When I was looking at how much we're paying people it's not because I want to see some cutting but I want to do some comparing," she said. "We could take that $30,000 we pay coaches and put an aide back on."

She said not everybody in Charlevoix plays sports and parents should pay something for their kids to play.

Spencley believes sports are an integral part of the Charlevoix schools.

"I believe that sports in Charlevoix are as key as, sometimes, education," he said. "We've had some great people, great kids that have come to Charlevoix to play sports because of what we offer."

He added, "I think we at times we put too much into it (athletics), but I think that goes with anything."

Spencley said maybe there should be a cap on coaches salaries in order to control costs.

He added, "I do it because I love it, she (Michaud) could cut my salary and do whatever she wants with it and I would coach regardless."

The topic of the night always found its way back to budget concerns.

When it comes to the idea of families paying out of pocket for busing, Spencley said, "If we have to do that, that's what we have to do. I would pay for my kids to do it. I would have no problem with that if that's what it came down to."

Michaud said, she doesn't want to force children to pay for their busing.

"Not necessarily would I ask a child to pay for his busing out to school but maybe look at combing some of the routes to decrease the amount of gas that we spend for busing," she said.

When asked whether the candidates would follow the rule of law or personal feelings as it pertains to the separation of church and state, Michaud said, she would like to see the rule changed, but that the board should follow the law as it stands.

According to Spencley, he feels religion has lost its place in the school system.

"I think I'd argue to the church side," he said.

Advertising Works

Murder suspect, victim were friends trouble for this (the weapon)," the affidavit said.

MURDER

David Goldstick

According to Wheat's affidavit, he said, "A good man like you must have your back against the wall to do something like this." Goldstick nodded in affirmation at which point he was arrested and later admitted shooting Brady.

Goldstick said he used a .380 handgun he bought several years prior to the shooting, which was later found at a residence located at 8091 Indian Trails in Charlevoix. The owner of the residence was unaware that Goldstick had placed the firearm on his property.

Friends and family of the victim as well as the suspect sat in somber silence Thursday morning, April 21, in the 90th district courtroom as Judge Richard May presided over Goldstick's arraignment.

Prosecutor John Jarema charged Goldstick with open murder and asked that Goldstick be denied bond. While Goldstick had no serious criminal history, Jarema said, he did shoot a friend five times and was therefore a potential threat to the community.

According to Goldstick, he has almost no money, so even if bond was set, he would be unable to pay it. Bond was denied and a preliminary hearing was set for May 5, 2005.

Robert Banner was appointed as Goldstick's attorney.

According to Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema, if Goldstick is found guilty, he could receive a maximum of life in prison without the possibility of parole.

"The investigation is still going on to try and pin down the motive and premeditation. Once that is done we will probably amend the charge from open murder to murder in the first degree and felony fire arm," Jarema said. "It's moving along. We're getting a lot of cooperation from everyone."

Jarema added, his office will also be reviewing the original report on the investigation into the VFW fire which happened earlier this year.

The fire, which destroyed the VFW hall on Petoskey Avenue, occurred on Dec. 10 and took the Charlevoix Township Fire Department about two hours to get under control. No one was hurt in the process and no one was inside the building at the time, however it completely destroyed the building.

According to Jarema, Goldstick was reported as the first person to discover the fire.

Those who knew Brady had plenty of fond memories to share.

"Mr. Brady was a well known citizen of Charlevoix County and well respected by all who knew him," Said Sheriff George Thomas Lasater. "He was devoted to his family, community and Veterans of Foreign Wars."

Brady is survived by Gerry, his wife of 56 years, children: Kirsten; Shelia; Brian and Michael as well as eight grandchildren.

According to a statement released on behalf of the Brady family by Mary Beth Kur of Schmoll, Martin & Kur, Brady was born and raised in Charlevoix and served in the United States Navy from 1943-1948.

Kur added, "He was a police officer for the city of Detroit for eight years before returning to the Charlevoix where he was a business owner until he retired in 1987."

Brady was also a member of the American Legion and was active with the VFW since the late 1960s.

"Not a day will go by that we don't think of him and miss him deeply," Kur's statement said. "He was always there to help others. He was that kind of person."

Leaving the Navy didn't put Brady's service to his fellow man to an end by a longshot.

"He was one of those active members of the community. He was a doer of mankind," said Bob Drebenstedt, director of the Charlevoix County Office of Veterans Affairs.

"Bill was the kind of a guy who worked without the limelight," he added.

The day before Brady was shot, he was in the office for veterans affairs. And, as usual he was working to help someone else.

"Monday he wasn't there to see what we could do for him, he was there to see what the VFW could do for a widow," Drebenstedt said.

Brady was a great father figure to his family and tried to be a fatherly figure to Goldstick, Drebenstedt added.

"I never had anything but a good working relationship with him," he said. "He was a service oriented human being."

According to Goldstick's mother, Rosalyn, her son was born and raised in Charlevoix. Goldstick joined the Air Force and went on to serve two tours of duty in Vietnam serving a total of 21 years in the military.

Goldstick didn't come back to Charlevoix until 1990 after his father passed away from an auto accident in 1989.

"After he got back to Charlevoix my son got heavily involved with the VFW," Rosalyn said.

She added, he and Bill Brady worked with the weekly VFW bingo for over 14 years.

Incumbents ousted

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Both incumbents running for school board were unseated by first time candidates Tuesday in the Charlevoix Community School Board election.

In an election cycle wrought with talks of deficits, there was a surplus of voters for newcomers Christine M. Michaud and Dean J. Spenceley who garnered 29.74 percent and 34.85 percent of the votes respectively. They beat incumbents Kenneth Scott Boss and Mark A. Way, with 20.21 percent and 15.10 percent, respectively.

"I'm ecstatic. I'm very excited about this," Michaud said. "It sounds like the community wanted some kind of a change."

She added, "I will try to do my best by everybody and I want to thank the community for their confidence in me."

Spenceley said he is very happy with the result citing his many thanks to the voters who supported him.

He said, "I'd like to thank Scott

(Boss) and Barney (Way) for putting in eight years. They've done a lot of good things and I hope Chris and I can do some good things as well."

He said now that he has been elected, his first goal will be to examine all the issues and hear everyone's opinion on it. Spenceley said these are important issues whose

Creswell, Mazur avoid jail, get fines

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Former Charlevoix wastewater treatment plant employees Sam Creswell and James Mazur avoided jailtime Friday, April 29, for falsifying department discharge reports but received several thousand dollars in fines for the crime.

Creswell and Mazur were in Charlevoix County Circuit Court for sentencing after pleading guilty on March 18 to falsifying wastewater plant discharge documents. Both men said they accept full responsibility for the crime.

Mazur, a former lead worker at the plant, said, "I am just deeply ashamed of what I did. I have no one to blame but myself."

Creswell, the former supervisor of the plant, also said he has no one to blame by himself and added, "This was an incredible lapse of judgment on my part. I am not sure what possessed me to do it."

The men were arrested in December 2004 after an investigation by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality showed problems at the city's wastewater treatment plant over a three year period regarding high discharges of chlorine into Lake Michigan and monitoring reports that were falsified.

Mazur had pled guilty to several instances of falsifying documents at the plant and Creswell pled guilty to one instance. However both men received similar sentences from Judge Richard Pajtas.

While the state of Michigan did not recommend jail time for either man, Mazur and Creswell received 24 months probation and around $5,670 in fines and costs. Mazur received an additional $800 to his fines and costs due to issues related to a computer the city of Charlevoix had to inspect.

OPINIONS

Good government is alive and well in Charlevoix

EDITORIAL

This is the last editorial that will be written by editor Jeremy McBain, with the exception of his good-bye column to be published next week.

In this last editorial, the editor would like to congratulate the Charlevoix City Council for the work it has done over the years to improve public awareness, public input and the quality of its governing.

While the people on the Charlevoix City Council — Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson, Sherm Chamberlain, Bill Haggard, Shirley Gibson, Bill Bellows, Gabe Campbell and Bob Timms — have different agendas on the direction they want the city to go in, they are to be commended for the way they do business at their meetings.

A simple explanation of this is: They talk over the issues before them, debate what to do, question the information given to them, question city officials on the subject and vote the way they feel is right. They do not just pass every item before council unanimously and without comment — as is the case with too many other government bodies — and they do not shy at questioning city officials.

Why is this a good thing? Well, by debating the issues in public the community can see that the public's business is being done in the open, as it should.

When a government body just passes everything without comment, one begins to question when all the discussion took place.

Plus, by debating the issues instead of just accepting and passing, the public gets better policy. Debate on policy creates compromise. Compromise is good for all parties. We get good budgets, good ordinances and good government.

The council also questions city officials. By doing so, in public, the public learns more about that city official. We learn how they operate, how they think and how they are serving the people.

There are some that want the council to just vote unanimously without comment. But they need to understand that voting as one and keeping quiet are not a way to run a democracy.

The days of keeping the public out of city business are gone. The days of not knowing why your council member voted the way they did are gone. And the days of city officials getting a free pass are gone.

Good job Charlevoix.

Writer's has a dream to bridge the political divide

Roger Knutson

'Ear to the ground'

I, like most people, have a dream.

It is a dream that just might restore unity to a much divided world, or at least a much divided America.

The fulfillment of my dream requires simply that I be in complete charge and able to impose my will on a small number of people.

It will cause no physical harm to anyone, although it might be psychologically stressful to some.

My dream requires moving a few people, possibly against their will.

My dream was initiated by a visit to our local library; certainly a place where dreams can be formed.

Some years ago, before moving to Charlevoix, we decided to cancel a number of our magazine subscriptions. This action was initiated in part by the accumulation of a collection of National Geographic magazines that threatened to collapse the living room floor of our 1905 home.

When a magazine comes in your front door it seems to me it carries an obligation to be read and used. When a magazine is in a library more choices are available.

The library magazine can be read or not, and if a week or month is skipped there seems to be no harm done.

At home that nearly month-old issue of Newsweek still on the coffee table or in the magazine rack seems to cry out almost audibly to be read and used.

In short, I am pleased to have the library's magazines available on demand, rather than accumulating a pile at home, just barely too valuable to be discarded.

The library offers a much wider range of periodicals than I could ever have subscribed to, and I can pick and choose freely without the serious monetary considerations of individual subscription.

For much of the year, particularly during the winter months, that is from October through part of May, I scan the periodical shelves of the library for what might be appealing.

One of my recent visits resulted in reading almost completely, including especially letters to the editor, the current issue of National Review and the current issue of Harper's.

My dream emerged from the consideration of that experience.

The two publications could hardly be more different. The National Review proudly carries the banner of conservatism (William F. Buckley was the editor for many years.) Harper's presents a more liberal view of the world, the nation and its news.

After reading both publications it is difficult to believe that the producers of the magazines live in the same world.

Both might claim to present a "fair and balanced" view of people and events, but both cannot be doing that with views so diametrically opposed.

Reading one of these publications can only reinforce already held views. Reading both of them strongly suggests that "there is no truth in them."

Here my dream begins.

If I were truly and totally in charge, I would require that a randomly-selected half of each editorial staff be required to work permanently for the other magazine.

This would require that 19 people from the National Review and 23 people from Harper's be required to move their decision-making and writing to new quarters.

The blended staffs would still be required to produce a magazine. We could call one "Harper's Review" and the other "National Harper's." Publication times and advertising sources could remain the same, but I suspect that advertisers would shift in unpredictable ways.

Every two weeks there would be a new issue of Harper's Review and each month a new issue of National Harper's.

More than anything I would like to be present at the editorial meetings while the newly blended staffs attempted to decide what should be written and by whom, and what should appear in the next issue of their magazine.

Is it possible that both the new magazines could be read and make sense?

It is possible that editorial staffs and readers might develop new, more middle of the road ideas? It is my dream that they would.

It is my dream that conservatives and liberals could live and work together and could be known by the quality of their thinking rather than the color of their ideology. Total segregation of ideas may be as damaging as other kinds of segregation.

Maybe if it worked for the magazines we could try it with other politically segregated groups.

But alas, it is only a dream, never to be realized. If only I were in charge.

Letters to the editor

Thank you

Editor:

On April 13 our dog, Sunny, ran from our yard and went missing. He was gone for about 30 hours. During that time, our friends and neighbors started searching and spreading the word that Sunny was missing. It seemed as though the entire city of Charlevoix was looking for our dog.

Our family just wanted to say "Thank you" to all of our friends and neighbors who spent hours driving around the area looking for him. "Thank you" to those who don't even know us, who looked for Sunny while on their walks. "Thank you" to those who spread the word that Sunny was missing.

We truly appreciate all of you time and effort. This kind of event really shows how wonderful the people of Charlevoix really are. We are happy to have our Sunny back and happy to live in such a great community.

Thank you Charlevoix!

Recycling issues

Editor:

Being a builder I create a lot of debris. I recycle cardboard quite often from kitchen cabinets and many other things. I am taking a moment in my busy schedule to clear a few things up.

Recycling is a free service to the community and to help out the environment. Some of our lazier and not too sharp citizens just throw big boxes in the bin and walk off feeling good about themselves. Make them flat, you bozos, it is the difference between 400 boxes and 10.

Also, the white packaging in the box is not cardboard, it's called Styrofoam. The clear stuff is called plastic. Anything else in the box that looks unusual probably is not cardboard.

Throwing the wrong things in a dumpster can void the whole load. One bonehead can undo 50 people's good intentions.

Also we have a large number of color-blind drinkers in town. To help you out I am including this guide list — clip and save.

These bottles are not clear: Seagram's is brown. Lauders is green, most wine bottles are green. If you need help ask a friend before you recycle, because they only want clear glass.

Thanks.
Your environmentally conscious builder guy,
Mike Eickhoff

Stop cutting aids

Editor:

I think that what the schools are doing is wrong. They keep cutting and now they are cutting teachers aid.

Wake up people we need all the help we can get. The teachers need the help, as well as the kids. They cut the nurses at school and now they are going after teachers aid. Stop building new schools if you cannot pay for them, so why build them. And when you do then you start cutting, look at the big picture. Start cutting at the top.

Maybe I am not the right person to speak out for them. I have seen what teachers aids can do. I have three kids and all three have ADD, ADHD and all three have epilepsy and if the teachers did not have teachers aids there would be a lot of trouble.

I think that teachers need them because they are a life line for the teachers and the kids.

Save the lighthouse

Editor:

You have no idea how many pictures I have of the lighthouse at Michigan Beach sitting all over my house in Redondo Beach, California.

The lighthouse is a landmark of Charlevoix and one of the first things that I go to look at when I come home to visit. Being a Charlevoix native, I want to thank all of the people who are working so hard to make sure that a valuable part of Charlevoix history is preserved and that Charlevoix does not lose its uniqueness by giving up cherished landmarks.

Roloff — Goldsmith

Jodie Nicole Roloff, of Charlevoix, and T.J. Goldsmith, of Petoskey, are engaged to be married.

Jodie is the daughter of William J. Roloff and Jane L. Roloff of Charlevoix.

T.J. is the son of Wendy L. Casteel and Chuck R. Casteel and Joseph E. Goldsmith, all of Petoskey.

A wedding is being planned for 2 p.m., July 30, 2005 at Michigan Beach in Charlevoix. A reception will follow at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be attended Charlevoix High School and was on the student council. She is currently employed at Chiropractic Center of Petoskey.

The groom-to-be attended Petoskey High School and was involved with wrestling. He is currently employed at R.J.'s Floor Covering.

Annual breast cancer walk adds new item to raise funds

The Sue DeYoung/Judy Edger Memorial Cancer Walk will be Saturday, May 7.

This year to generate pre-walk publicity the organizers of the walk have introduced a new event. They call it the "Pre-Walk Ribbon Tour."

Approximately 30 pink ribbon posters have been distributed throughout the city of Charlevoix (the area covers M-66 on the South and West to Mercer on the East.) Individuals are invited to tour Charlevoix in search of the ribbons which can be found in the windows of homes and business.

A number of prizes have been donated and will be awarded to the individuals finding the most ribbons. Participants can pick up entry blanks at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Vacation Properties Network and the Charlevoix Hospital Foundation Office.

The Sue DeYoung/Judy Edger Memorial Breast Cancer Walk is given each year on the Saturday before Mother's Day. Funds raised by the event go to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation allowing the money to be used locally through the Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund. The fund is used for individual support services, screening and early detection services and health education and outreach. These services cover all types of cancer.

The fund was started with money given in memory of Judy Edger who died of breast cancer in 1999. Edger was an enthusiastic supporter of the Sue DeYoung walk during the last years of her life and her name was added to the walk following her death. Her friends and relatives have continued to support the event and this year the Circle of Strength members under the Charlevoix Hospital Foundation have also joined the effort to promote the event.

Like most charitable organizations the fund has found that contributions have fallen during the past couple of years. As in past years, walkers are invited to form teams to raise funds and walk on Saturday, May 7.

Registration Forms are available at the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, Vacation Properties Network, Harbor Health and Fitness Center and the Charlevoix Community Hospital Foundation office.

The walk will begin at East Park in downtown Charlevoix. Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. The two and half mile walk will begin at about 9 a.m.

Anyone wishing to donate to the fund may do so by making checks payable to: The Charlevoix County Community Foundation, (CCCCF) Mail to: Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund, 12199 Cottage Lane, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Char-Em to host a concert for children

A special music and dance concert for families with children birth to 5 and their siblings will be presented in two area communities.

Music for Little Folks (and big folks too) concerts will be:

• 5:30-7 p.m., Thursday, May 12, at Boyne City Elementary Cafeteria. In addition to the concert, a free dinner will be served. Please reserve your place by calling Cindy Kujawski at (231) 582-8070 with the number of family members attending.

• 9:30-10:30 a.m., Friday, May 13, at Boyne City Elementary Cafeteria. Refreshments will be served. Please reserve your place by calling Cindy Kujawski at (231) 582-8070 with the number of family members attending.

• 9:30-11 a.m., Saturday, May 14, Charlevoix Middle School. Refreshments will be served. Please reserve your place by calling Leslie Van De Car at (231) 582-8070 with the number of family members attending.

Music for Little Folks, presented by Gari Stein, is an interactive concert for people of all ages — from infants to grandparents. The music program, designed for infants/ kindergartners and moms-to-be, explores sounds, words, stories, rhythm, melody, pitch, tone, meter, tempo, dynamics, beat, movement and dance.

It is designed to bring all children into music, some by active participation and others by watching and absorbing.

During the concert, children will be introduced to many styles of music from classical to Cajun to Broadway. Props, puppets, visual aids and rhythm and percussion instruments are part of the repertoire.

There is no charge for the concerts that are hosted by Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, Stepping Stones to School, and Boyne City and Charlevoix elementary schools.

Stepping Stones to School is designed to help families walk their child toward school readiness starting at birth.

What your child experiences today affects his or her level of success in the future.

Coordinated by Char-Em ISD, Stepping Stones to School offers parents a network of services and programs in their community to provide positive and rewarding results for young children and families.

Myrtle E. Fulton: Jan. 16, 1912 - May 1, 2005

Myrtle E. Fulton, 93, of Charlevoix, died Sunday, May 1, 2005, at the Grand Traverse Pavilion in Traverse City.

She was born Jan. 16, 1912, in Charlevoix, the daughter of Edward R. and Eva Belle (Hamlin) O'Neill.

Myrtle graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1929, and then from Harper Hospital School of Nursing in 1932, as a Registered Nurse. She worked at Harper Hospital until her marriage to Andrew Fulton, Jr. on Oct. 16, 1937, in Charlevoix.

She returned to nursing in 1943, as a private duty nurse for doctor's offices in Detroit through 1966, when she began employment with Blue Cross/Blue Shield until her retirement in 1977.

She returned to Charlevoix that year to make her home. Her husband Andrew preceded her in death in December of 1961.

Myrtle was a member of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix, and its Woman's Fellowship. She was a member of the Harper Hospital School of Nursing Alumni, a life member of the Charlevoix Historical Society and the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild.

Myrtle is survived by her brother and sister-in-law, Marshall and Laurel O'Neill of Sault Ste. Marie and their sons, Patrick and Robert; nephew and his wife, Bruce and Patricia Hess of Traverse City and their son, Matthew; nephew and his wife, Edward and Susan O'Neill of Columbus, Ohio and Charlevoix and their sons, Kevin, Brian and Justin; and her longtime dear friend, Loretta Conine of Charlevoix.

A memorial service will be announced at a later date, and interment will take place in Brookside Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix, Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is in charge of arrangements.

Mary L. McClanathan: March 3, 1949 - May 2, 2005

Mary L. McClanathan, 56, of Charlevoix, died Monday, May 2, 2005, at the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

She was born March 3, 1949, in Royal Oak, the daughter of Joseph and Clara (Liemer) Przybylski.

Mary graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1967. On Jan. 31, 1972, she married Raymond G.

McClanathan, and he preceded her in death on July 8, 1990.

Mary was employed by Harbor Industries in Charlevoix in the 1990s.

She is survived by her son Robert (Angie) McClanathan; daughter, Tammy (Gary) Sarasin; grandchildren, Corey, Brandon, and Brianna McClanathan, and Ashley Sarasin; brother, Mike (Judy) Przybylski; sisters, Patricia Loper, Frances (Tom) Grose all of Charlevoix, and Rose (Dan) Wilkinson of Pensacola, Fla.

Mary's family will meet friends from 6 until 8 p.m. Thursday, at the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix. Following the visitation, burial will be in Brookside Cemetery in Charlevoix.

Church bell tower ready to tumble

Charlevoix Courier Wednesday, May 4, 2005 - PAGE 9

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The Norwood United Methodist Church sits empty while its bell tower awaits dismantling. The bell is expected to be taken down on Thursday afternoon.

The Norwood United Methodist Church bell tower is in such disrepair it must be dismantled for safety concerns.

For about 120 years the bell tower, which stands over the entrance of the church, has been a reminder of just how long the building has been around. But now, due to safety concerns, the church is off limits to worshippers.

"We're now having services in the schoolhouse because the church's only entrance is through the bell tower," said Marion Shea-Light, vice chairman of the board of trustees. "The historical society has graciously allowed us to use the schoolhouse for services."

According to Shea-Light, the townspeople first started to notice the lean in 1970.

"Because the tower has open louvers, the water got in and rotted the timbers," she said. "In 1970 they put some guide wires up so there must have been some concerns about it at that time."

Shea-Light said the congregation sold the old schoolhouse to the historical society in order to fund the repairs needed on the leaning bell tower.

"We had an engineer come in and look at it because we needed a permit to repair it," she said. "The engineer said it had to be taken down and replaced."

The small congregation managed to raise the funds needed to tear the tower down, but they have not yet attained enough money to build a new tower for the bell and spire.

"We're a small congregation with about 15 members and only about 10 are active so we don't have the kind of resources we need to rebuild it," she said. "We're going to have to do some serious fundraising."

At the time the church was built, it was valued at $2,400. In today's economy that won't even pay for the dismantling of the bell tower.

According to Shea-Light, if the tower isn't fixed, Norwood will lose much more than just a place of worship.

"Basically at the time when the church was built it was the only social activity around. Everybody went to all the activities at the church," she said. "People have wonderful memories of what happened."

pened there." Shea-Light added, "For us to lose any part of this building is a tragedy."

The contractor will save as many original pieces as possible in hopes of maintaining the integrity of the historical landmark, Shea-Light said. "We're trying to save it so when we raise enough money to get it back up we can put it back together...without the lean," she said.

She added, "We hope people think this is as important a part of history as we do."

A large crane will be used to remove the approximately 500 pound bell from its perch.

"We'll have to pray for a non-rainy, non-windy day because moving the crane around will be tricky enough as it is," she said.

They must remove the bell in precarious steps minding not to damage the areas of the church which remain intact.

"We'd really like to have it look as much like it did in 1884 as possible," she said.

In the past people in the area went to this church whether they were that religion or not because it was the only church around. But with the advent of cars, she said, people moved away and the "amount of people in the church diminished."

At the age of 83, Shea-Light's husband is one of only a few life-long members of the church still in the area and, just like in the late 1880s, Norwood United Methodist has a preacher who travels a circuit of small churches.

There was a time when Norwood was a boomtown thanks to the lumber industry.

Now, she said, "There is no commerce in the town aside from a newspaper stand."

Removal of the bell and spire and demolition of the tower are set to begin in the next couple weeks, Shea-Light said.

She added, "Right now the builder is stripping some of the timbers so that they can be sure of what it is that they need to replace."

Society to host program on area lumbering

The Charlevoix Historical Society is hosting a program on lumbering in northwest lower Michigan at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 3 at the Depot.

Society vice-president Paul

Hoelderle, board member Paul Nowak and Harsha House museum co-director Steve Goslee will combine an audio-visual presentation with a hands-on demonstration of lumbering tools.

The program will focus on the techniques and technologies used to harvest the region's timber and photos of area lumber camps and lumberyards will be shown.

This program is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Woman opens business upon return to her home

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Jamie Jennex can help soothe away your muscle tension or ease your stress with her new massage business at Express Yourself Salon.

Jennex opened her massage business on Jan. 4, 2005 after having returned to Charlevoix from California, where she received her massage license at the Natural Healing Institute in Encinitas, Calif.

"I thought about (being a massage therapist) in high school," Jennex said about her profession.

After a stint in beauty school in Grand Rapids, she decided to go to massage school in California, where she received her certification in massage and in aromatherapy.

Jennex practices deep tissue, Swedish and pregnancy massage. However, she is looking to add more items in the future, including natural health as a holistic health practitioner.

She said she is looking into taking classes for this expansion in the near future.

Jennex is originally from Charlevoix. She spent a year at Charlevoix High School as a student, but graduated from Boyne City in 2000.

After graduation, she went to California with her husband, a soldier in the marines, and spent over three years there. However, she wanted to be with her family and came back to Charlevoix.

"It was either pick the warm weather or the family. I chose the family," she said.

Jennex's massage practice is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, with Saturday sessions by appointment. Her business is located in Express Yourself Salon at 219 Ferry Avenue, in Charlevoix, just under Nanny's Restaurant.

She can be contacted by calling (231) 547-5607.

After spending a few years in California, Jamie Jennex has returned and has opened her own massage therapy business located within Express Yourself Salon. Jennex received her massage certificate from the Natural Healing Institute in Encinitas, Calif. She graduated from Boyne City in 2000. Jennex is hoping to expand her business in the future to include holistic healing. She is seen here in her massage therapy room at the salon.

Residents report higher number of strays

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The town may not be going to them, but the increased nuisance of unwanted dogs and cats is a growing concern for some Charlevoix county residents.

According to Charlevoix resident Joel Clark, the cat population has increased about six fold since he first moved into his home on US-31 north in Lakeview Terrace about four years ago.

"When I moved here there were one or two cats," he said. "Now there are about 12 to 15 of them and none of them have licenses or identification."

According to the Charlevoix County Animal Control Supervisor, Julie Whitley, while dogs must be licensed in Charlevoix county, cats are free to roam as they please.

However, she said, "You have every right to trap them on your property and bring them into the animal shelter."

Whitley added, the Humane Society lends live traps for a $20 deposit and they will even instruct you in the trap's proper operation.

Up until recently, Clark said, some of the cats were using the space under his mobile home for a bathroom and breeding ground.

"What I was worried about was sealing it up and having dead cats underneath," he added.

Clark said, he also worries about the potential for fleas, rabies and the waste they leave behind.

"They use my flower garden as a litter box," he said.

Clark said, the cats wander from yard to yard doing as they please like strays, but he knows several of them are fed and watered by someone in the neighborhood.

"I just wish the owners would take more responsibility for their pets," he added.

Clark isn't the only one noticing a boom in the nuisance animal population.

According to volunteer office and kennel worker Wanda Anderson, the Charlevoix County Humane Society has seen a near 40 percent increase in unwanted and stray animals.

According to Anderson, there has been an extreme amount of abandoned animals so far this year.

"April, May and June is our heaviest time for strays and owner surrendered animals," she said.

Anderson said, approximately 25 percent of the increase is due to strays, while 13 percent is due to owner surrendered animals.

And, she said, "We expect that to increase."

According to Anderson, many people who abandon their pets do so during summer vacation because they won't take the animal with them.

them or they can't find someone to watch the animal while they are away.

"People are not having their animals spayed or neutered," Anderson said.

"A male can smell a female in heat up to 20 miles away."

She added, "Right now is the breeding season."

While the animal control officers don't usually pick up cats unless the animals are found in buildings, last month three sets of kittens were found abandoned for a total of 34 kittens.

"We try to get foster parents because we don't have the room to hold that many animals," she said. "Our facility puts an ad in the paper for five days. If the owner doesn't come for them they go to the humane society."

She added, the Humane Society keeps the animals as long as it possibly can.

During the animals' stay, their health and temperament is checked and appropriate vaccinations are administered before they are put up for adoption.

Anderson said, it makes her angry when people abandon their pets.

If people were more educated on the proper care of their pets, Anderson said, the stray population wouldn't be such an issue.

According to Anderson, rabies is a major thing to look out for when it comes to feral cats and dogs.

"They are extremely violent when they are infected," she said.

Some warning signs of a rabid animal are excessive panting, drooling, glazed eyes and diarrhea.

If you have a problem with a potentially dangerous animal call 9-1-1 so an animal control officer can be dispatched.

For more information on vaccinations, adoption or live traps call the Humane Society at (231) 582-6774.

Public Notice?

Without it in your newspaper, you're left guessing what the government's doing in your community.

Public notice is the people's right to know the issues that affect them directly, and people know the place to find public and legal notices is in the newspaper. What you're holding right now is a historical document, printed and published with a date on every page. Public notices have been posted here since the days of colonial America. In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. After all, it shouldn't be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, or when to look, let alone to know what you're looking for to be informed. Why guess? Council wants new conflict of interest rule

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The Charlevoix City Council has decided to go forward with plans to create a city ordinance that deals with possible conflict of interest by some council members based on state law.

For the past few months, council member Shirley Gibson has been questioning the city's conflict of interest policy, pointing to City Manager Mike Wiesner's ability to hire anyone for any job under $10,000, even if they are council members, without informing council first. However, it turns out this is against state law, according to city attorney Jim Young.

Charlevoix City Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson said of the state law, "This accomplishes everything that we were looking for."

According to Young there is a state law that says the city may not make any purchases or give contracts to firms or individuals that are on council or are city employees without prior council approval. However, there are some exceptions to the rule for a community the size of Charlevoix.

He said council can allow the city to purchase equipment or contract with a council member or city employee for any job under a certain amount of money. Plus, council can make a similar ruling that deals with emergency situations at a slightly higher amount.

Carlson said this means council can create a rule that says the city can only spend up to $500 — or any figure the council decides to use — for routine purchases and work from council members or city employee's companies. Council can create a separate rule that says the city can spend another amount of money for emergency repairs.

Both of these rules would have the stipulation that council must be informed of the purchase or work at the next council meeting. And, he stressed, these rules are only in place for purchases or work done with a city council member or city employee. Outside businesses are exempt from it.

Several city department heads had expressed concern about this new rule, saying, in many cases, businesses owned by council members are the ones that know the most about how the city works. For example, if the city has a boiler emergency it usually calls Haggard Plumbing and Heating, which is owned by council member Bill Haggard, because that company installed the boiler.

But, Carlson said with this rule the city can continue to use businesses owned by council members and allow full disclosure to the public.

One resident was not impressed though. Dave Scott, of Charlevoix, argued the law simply says the city can not hire city council members or city employees for city contracts. He said when it was done in the past the city and those council members involved were breaking the law.

"The reason you guys only know how the city works is because you keep awarding the contracts to yourself," he said.

However, Young argued the city has not broken the law and this state law does allow for the exceptions

Carlson pointed out.

Young suggested the city create an ordinance based on this state law, but in the meantime have a temporary figure for city departments to use.

Therefore, council decided to create a temporary rule that says the city may make routine expenditures at companies owned by council members that are under $500. A separate rule was created for emergency situations, saying the city may not spend over $1,500 without prior approval.

In both cases, council must be informed at the next meeting of the situation.

The plan passed unanimously. Young will have a draft ordinance at the council's next meeting May 16.

Charlevoix High School Band gets high marks at state festival

The Charlevoix High School Band attended the State Band Festival last Saturday in Big Rapids.

They qualified after receiving a first division rating at the District Band Festival in Petoskey on Feb. 23.

Each band played a march, a piece chosen from a required list and a selection of their own. After performing for three judges, the bands enter the sight-reading room to perform two songs that they have not seen previously.

They have 7 minutes to review this new music and then play both pieces for a judge.

The band received high praise from judges saying, "Your band played with an exciting music, had a warm, rich sound and can even sing beautifully."

Please join them for its spring concert at 7 p.m. on May 10 in the Charlevoix Auditorium.

Dems to meet with high school students

Six Charlevoix High School students will air their views of politics and their future at an open-to-the-public Charlevoix County Democratic Party meeting at 6:30 p.m. May 5, at the Charlevoix Flapjack Restaurant. Prior to the meeting there will be a Dutch treat dinner at 5:30, to which everyone is also welcomed.

The six students, who were chosen from the social studies classes of teacher Annemarie Conway, were students who showed interest in politics but not necessarily either party.

Township may vote on big box ordinance this month

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Locals may soon have an answer on Charlevoix Township's proposed big box ordinance.

According to Nancy Rajewski, a mistake on a public meeting notice by the Charlevoix Courier nullified the original big box vote scheduled for late January.

"The problem is we went through this exercise in winter. Now we have to do the whole thing over again," she said.

Rajewski added, due to the fact that not much work is done by the township board in late winter, the earliest the vote could be rescheduled was May 18.

Township lawyer Richard Joseph asked to consider having the township board vote on the proposal at the April 20 meeting, but the issue was tabled to allow time to refine certain points of the proposal.

Several people at the meeting voiced concerns on both sides of the big box issue.

Local resident Kay (Ulrich) Merrifield said, "They (Charlevoix township) don't have a cap on industrial. They are specifically keeping out certain types of businesses and they make no bones about it."

According to Steve Little, also in attendance, he supports a limit on square footage 100 percent, citing that commercial property in Charlevoix needs caps.

If passed, a special use permit would be necessary on single tenant commercial structures of between 20,000 and 90,000 square feet.

Joseph added, landscape, lighting and look of a building would all be taken into consideration before a special use permit would be granted.

"We're not trying to pick on a particular store, but we are trying to limit the size of commercial buildings in the township," Joseph said.

The planning commission will make their recommendation on May 18 with the township board taking up the ordinance, for a vote on June 13 barring any substantive changes to the proposal.

Girls' soccer team showing great skills

The Charlevoix girls' soccer team has been on a roll lately, with two wins and one tie.

On April 28, the team beat Suttons Bay, 3-1.

Charlevoix scored early when freshman Ariel Ramsey scored unassisted past the Suttons Bay keeper. Suttons Bay tied the score just before the half as they got behind the Rayder defense and Charlevoix keeper Laura Nitehman had no chance to make a save.

Ramsey connected again in the second half on a nice assist from fellow freshman Kaleigh Blanchard. The Rayders put the game away with just a few minutes left, when Becca Madison sent a 30 yard direct kick over the outstretched hands of the Suttons Bay keeper.

The Rayders had nine shots on the net for the match which Nitehman stopped 11 Suttons Bay chances for the win in goal.

Charlevoix received strong play in the midfield from Zita Anderson, Blanchard and senior Sarah Cross. Defensively, junior Lisa Kuebler stood out and earned the Rayders game hall for her efforts.

On April 27, the team tied Boyne City, 0-0.

The Boyne keeper turned away 27 Rayder shots on goal as most of the play was in the Charlevoix offensive end. Charlevoix keeper Lori Zimmerman made 10 saves on the night, the most impressive in the first overtime period as she made a foot save on a Boyne breakaway to preserve the defensive shutout for the Rayders.

Both teams had chances to win the match but were unable to capitalize on scoring opportunities. The Charlevoix defense played a strong game in front of Zimmerman, led by Cross, Stevie Murray, Kuehler, Maddie McKenzie and freshman Meighan Havens. Blanchard and Madison also had strong games in the midfield.

The Rayders game ball was awarded to Zimmerman for her efforts in goal.

On April 26, the team beat Grayling, 7-0.

Charlevoix dominated play with 36 shots on the night while Charlevoix keepers Nitehman and Zimmerman combined for three saves, to share the shutout.

Charlevoix goals were scored by Pettis (2), Nitehman, Zimmerman and Madison and Ramsey (2).

Assists went to McKenzie, Anderson, Madison (3), Ramsey and freshman Danny Bergmann.

The Rayders also received strong defensive play from Cross, Kuehler, Murray and freshman Gena Gaudio — who was awarded the Rayders' game ball for her efforts.

Rayder baseball team goes 1-3 in games last week

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders baseball squad had a 1-3 record last week, losing both ends of a twinbill to Suttons Bay, 12-11 and 5-3, and splitting with Elk Rapids to open Lake Michigan Conference play.

The Rayders took game one, 4-1, but dropped the nightcap, 8-6.

"In our win, we were led by the outstanding play of senior captain Jake Teuscher," Coach Bryan Hawkins said. "Jake delivered at the plate and on the hill."

Teuscher threw a one-hitter against the Elks and scored the Rayders' first run in the first inning, reaching on an error, stealing second base and scoring on a double by Eddie Waldron. In the second inning, Teuscher hit a two-run double, scoring Ezra Bakker and Cody Crain.

Michael Wojan had the other Rayder hit and RBI.

In game two, Charlevoix took early leads, 1-0 after the top of the first, and 4-1 after the top of the second but Waldron struggled with control on the mound, walking or hitting four of the five first Elks hitters in the third.

Elk Rapids took advantage to take a 6-4 lead after three. The Rayders rallied with two runs to tie the game in the top of the fifth on singles by Wojan and Tyler Bier. Waldron and Matt Teuscher being hit by pitches and an RBI fielder's choice by Bakker.

The Elks mounted a two-out rally off Waldron and Jake Teuscher in relief to score the two deciding runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Charlevoix put two runners on base in the sixth but was unable to score.

Against Suttons Bay, in game

one, nine Rayder errors were the team's undoing, leading to seven unearned runs. Charlevoix led 10-6 with two outs in the bottom of the sixth inning but the Norsemen took advantage of four errors to tie the game. They won in an extra frame on another Rayder fielding miscue.

Waldron had two hits, including a double and an RBI. Shannon Gillespie had a double, two runs scored and an RBI. Wojan, Matt Teuscher and Nate Duhe all had a hit, run scored and RBI.

In the nightcap, Waldron was two-for-three, including a double, at the plate with two RBI. He took the loss on the mound despite giving up only two earned runs on seven hits and one intentional walk.

Wojan tripled, was hit by a pitch and scored a run. Jake Teuscher had the other Rayder hit.

The JV baseball squad is 10-2 after sweeping Grayling, 9-3 and 4-3 and splitting with previously unbeaten East Jordan, winning, 9-3 and losing, 6-1.

The varsity (5-6 overall, 1-1 conference) hosts Harbor Springs on Thursday, May 5.

Tennis team gets big win

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The Charlevoix High School tennis team scored a big victory Friday with a win in the Boyne City Invitational against seven other schools.

Charlevoix finished first, with Traverse City St. Francis taking second and Harbor Springs taking third.

Individual results were:

• First, singles — Nate Turner: beat Traverse City Christian 6-0, 6-1; beat Glen Lake 6-0, 6-1; lost to Harbor Springs, 3-6, 4-6.

• Second, singles — Matt Novotny: beat Glen Lake 6-4, 6-4; beat Grayling 6-1, 4-6, 7-6; lost to Traverse City St. Francis 0-6, 1-6.

• Third, singles — Adam Wager: beat Boyne City 6-0, 6-1; beat Grayling 6-3, 6-2; lost to Traverse City St. Francis 3-6, 7-5, 6-7.

• Fourth, singles — Justin Klooster: lost to Traverse City St. Francis 3-6, 7-5, 6-7; beat Glen Lake 6-3, 6-0; beat Boyne City 6-2, 6-1.

• First, doubles — Sparky Nitehman and Taylor Martin: beat Traverse City St. Francis 6-4, 6-0; beat Boyne City 6-0, 6-2; lost to Elk Rapids 6-4, 6-4.

• Second, doubles — Mitchell Klooster and Andrew Mailloux: beat Boyne City 6-4, 6-0; beat Traverse City St. Francis 6-3, 3-6, 7-6; beat Harbor Springs 6-4, 7-5.

• Third, doubles — Michael Greyerhieh and Cody Wheat: beat Harbor Springs 7-5, 7-6; beat Traverse City St. Francis 6-3, 6-1; beat Grayling 6-3, 6-2.

• Fourth, doubles — Dustin Dibble and Dan Swenor: beat Glen Lake 6-0, 6-0; beat Boyne City 6-0, 6-0; beat Traverse City St. Francis 7-6, 6-2.

Rayders' softball team winless in play last week

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders softball team had a tough week on the diamond, losing doubleheaders to Suttons Bay, 12-9 and 15-0, and Elk Rapids, 10-1 and 12-0.

"We just keep plugging away," Rayder Coach Elizabeth Grunch said. "It's going to be a slow learning process all season long but we're still improving."

Desi Faust was the losing pitcher, in game one against Suttons Bay despite recording eight strikeouts. Sasha Spencely was three, for three at the plate. Genevieve Kochanny had two hits. Leah Kelly and Anam Minhas each had hits as well. In the nightcap, Spencely was the losing pitcher.

Against Elk Rapids in game one, Spencely doubled and Faust singled. Faust was the losing pitcher, walking 12 batters and striking out six.

In game two, Faust had two hits. Spencely and Sally Haselshwardt had the other Charlevoix hits. Faust took the pitching loss, walking five and striking out three.

Though the Rayders (3-11 overall, 0-4 conference) are not doing well in the won-loss column, they are gaining valuable experience.

"It's tough with such a young team," Grunch said. "It's good experience for them."

Students to get hands-on jazz, blues training

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Some fortunate area music students have been training with a handful of worldclass musicians for an upcoming swing, jazz and blues concert.

On May 20 Charlevoix High School will host a concert with performances by music students from Petoskey and Charlevoix high as well as Northwest Academy and professional musicians alike.

"The concept is to have profes-

Junior Golf to have FSU scholarships again

Several lucky youngsters that participated in the Charlevoix County Junior Golf Association's 2004 summer program will be awarded scholarships to attend the prestigious golf camp at Ferris State university this summer.

Dean Davenport, executive director of the summer program, announced that the Association's Board members approved renewing the scholarship program with Ferris State University. Awards will be likely made to six deserving juniors for scholarships enabling them to spend a week on the campus of Ferris State University.

Applicants must have participated in more than half of the past summer's sessions and be a least 12 years of age to be eligible. Application packets were mailed recently to over 60 youngsters that qualified for consideration.

Winners are selected because of their dedication and interest in golf, their potential and the manner in which they respond to the official application questions. During the past eight years 62 junior golfers from the Charlevoix area have been awarded scholarships. Applicants are reminded of the May 14 deadline.

Local PGA professional from the Belvedere, Steve Braun again added greatly to the camp scholarship fund by taking pledges for his "100 Holes in a Day" fund-raiser last fall.

More information regarding this year's program and the June 10 registration procedures will be announced soon.

sional blues and jazz musicians interact and educate students in the jazz lab hands in the local high schools," said program producer Chris Ventzke, who goes by the stage name Doc Woodward. Woodward, a 30 year veteran of the Hammond B3 organ and piano is one of several musicians holding clinics at the area high schools who will also appear in the upcoming concert.

"The professional musicians enjoy sharing the challenge and experience with the younger generation," Woodward said. "Trumpeter Dan Jacobs has been integral in coaching the big bands because that's his forte."

According to Woodward, Jacobs played with many great musicians including Mel Torme, Linda Rondstadt, Kenny Rogers and the Four Tops.

When the students interact with professional musicians it offers them, "A little boost in their confidence and their ability," Woodward said.

Other musicians featured in the concert will be David Hay on bass guitar, Chris Ames on drums, with a special appearance by Jon Rehamhault of Mojo and the Boogiemans on guitar.

"It will be an opportunity to see young people playing jazz and blues in a fun noncompetitive atmosphere," he said. "And to see some of the area's best professional jazz and blues musicians."

The concert will be recorded and distributed on CD this summer.

The Michigan Blues & Jazz Educational program, "Jazz in the Mitten," is supported by the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs and the National Endowment for the Arts through a grant administered by North Central Michigan College.

Banners to announce Charlevoix's birthday ize 100 years of incorporation for Charlevoix as a city.

"It's a commemorative design and it's a commemorative date," Merta said. "It's definitely a collectors item."

Charlevoix was incorporated as a city on June 1, 1905.

Merta added the banners should be available very soon.

According to local artist and owner of Gallery 704, Audrey Shapiro, she and fellow artist Steve Tornman designed the maroon and white banner for the June 1 Charlevoix centennial.

"We designed it to look like the lighthouse," Shapiro said.

She added, "We're also going to have T-shirts for sale at functions around town."

The 18-by-36 inch banners read,

"100 years, Charlevoix the Beautiful, 1905-2005." They retail for $40 with proceeds going to the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce.

Shapiro said she based the color scheme off of a flag of like colors which resides packed away in City Hall.

"I'd like people in town or those visiting to know we have pride in our past and present. The more flags we have flying, the more obvious it is," she said.

In addition, many businesses in town will decorate their storefront windows in honor of the anniversary and the Charlevoix Historical Society plans to showcase a historic photo project in honor of the big date and there will also be a city-wide ice cream social.

The city council is also looking into creating a citizens committee to plan activities around Charlevoix's birthday.

LEGAL NOTICE 210

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS: This firm is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt; any information we obtain will be used for that purpose.

Default having been made in the terms and conditions of a mortgage made February 6, 2002, by James E. Karlson and Mary M. Karlson, husband and wife, as mortgagors, to First Community Bank, as mortgagee, and recorded on February 15, 2002, at Liber 458, Page 846, Charlevoix County Records; and the entire balance secured by said mortgage having become due and payable by reason of the acceleration provisions contained in said mortgage and the promissory note secured thereby; and on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and unpaid at the date of this notice $119,347.44 principal, $5,362.54 interest, and $150.00 late fees; and no legal or equitable proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt or any part of the debt secured by the mortgage; and the power of sale contained in the mortgage having become operative by reason of the default.

Notice is now given that on Friday, May 13, 2005 at 11 o'clock a.m., in the main lobby of the Charlevoix County Building, 301 State Street, in Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held, there will be offered for sale and sold to the highest bidder, at public sale, the premises described in the mortgage, situated in Melrose Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and described as follows:

Lot 72, SPRINGBROOK HILLS NO. 1, as recorded in Liber 2 of Plats, Pages 197 through 200, Charlevoix County Records.

This sale is for the purpose of satisfying the amounts due and unpaid on the mortgage, with interest at the rate of 8.00% per year, together with the legal costs and charges of sale, including the attorney fees allowed by law and in the mortgage, and any sums that may be paid by the mortgagee subsequent to the date of this notice to protect its interests in the premises.

The length of the redemption period will be six (6) months from date of sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with Michigan Compiled law 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of sale.

looking at handicap access," said City Manager Mike Wiesner.

The city plans to install an estimated 170 foot sidewalk which would extend across the south channel bank, just north of the Beaver Island Boat Company to the channel sidewalk below. There is currently a set of steps leading down to the channel sidewalk allowing after hours access to all but the wheelchair bound.

Although, he said, the city will probably wait until fall to avoid construction work near the walkway during the busy tourist season.

"While I know it's an inconvenience, people can get access from the Lake Michigan Beach area," Wiesner added.

Local resident and longtime fisherman Aaron Whitley said, he is familiar with the Lake Michigan Beach access point, but it is a struggle to return home because the hill leading to Lake Michigan Beach is so steep.

"I'm not complaining really, but I would like to see anybody try going up the hill in a wheelchair with a bucket of fishing gear," Whitley said. "I have to make two trips if I catch any fish."

"All I ask them (Beaver Island Boat Company) for is to keep the gates open until there's a ramp," he added.

According to Mike Evans, marketing manager for the Beaver Island Boat company, the MTSA states there must be a secure facility for passengers and freight.

"The gates are closed whenever a boat is docked or when the facility is closed," he said.

According to Evans, the Beaver Island Boat Company is trying to help Whitley out as best they can.

"During hours that the boat isn't in, we will be able to escort him in there," he said.

Evans added, "We are currently working with him (Whitley) and the city to find a solution."

Upon erection of the fence, Whitley used the Lake Michigan Beach access, but was forced to drive his van to avoid having to wheel himself up the steep hill.

One of the problems with driving, he said, there are no handicapped signs in the parking lots on either side of the fish hatchery.

"I've had it to where my door has been blocked by other cars and I've had to have people move my van so I can get back in," he said.

Whitley said the other problem with driving to the access is his disability insurance does not cover the rising costs of vehicle maintenance.

"I'm not sure if my van will be on the road much longer," he said.

The worst part of not being able to get to that part of the dock, Whitley said, is that some of the best fishing occurs there at night.

"If I can't afford my insurance on my vehicle, what am I supposed to do?" he said. "People with bikes can't even usually make it up that hill. And I don't see what one more summer of having it open can hurt."

Former city employees plead guilty in wastewater plant case

SENTENCE

Creswell received a similar sentence as Mazur because, while he had only one count of falsifying documents, according to the court that took place while the state Department of Environmental Quality was investigating the wastewater treatment plant for reported troubles.

"By doing so, he was interfering with the investigation," said state attorney Joshua Gubkin.

In his sentencing, Pajtas noted that both men were respected members of the community, with strong families and without a prior criminal record.

Problems at the Wastewater Treatment Plant reach back over a three-year period, which the city staff discovered in the winter of 2004.

The MDEQ's investigation found that 31 total residual chlorine limit exceedences were reported to MDEQ as being in compliance. The investigation also found reports for 15 phosphorus results, 32 fecal coliform results were falsely reported to MDEQ and there were 27 days when monitoring didn't take place.

However Gubkin said this does not mean this should be taken lightly. "The crimes that were committed did occur over a period of years. There were several reports that were falsified. We believe this is a serious matter," he said.

But, he added, "My understanding is that probably did not cause great damage."

Voters make their picks in school election

outcome will need to be decided by the whole community, not just the board of education.

According to Boss, he'll take the loss in stride.

"Thirteen percent of the people voted and out of that 13 percent the majority of the people voted for the other two (candidates)," he said. "I wish the new school board members a lot of luck."

Boss said the budget problem the school faces needs to be fixed at the state level. He said hopefully it will be fixed before it becomes a major problem.

The district is looking at making over $500,000 in cuts this year for the second year in a row.

Way said he was pleased with the larger than average turnout.

"I've enjoyed the last eight years," he said. "I feel we did a number of great things."

Way also wished the new board members the best of luck. He said the new board has a tough job ahead of it.

He said one of the best experiences he had was learning to work together as a board to get things done for the school district.

In the race for the two open Charlevoix Community School District Board seats, Spenceley was the leader with his 34.85 percent or 688 votes. Michaud was second with her 29.74 percent or 587 votes.

Boss was third with 20.21 percent or 399 votes. Last was Way with 15.1 percent or 298 votes.

About 13.8 percent of the registered voters in district voted or 2,022 out of 7,300 voters. Of the 2,022 voters that cast a ballot, 1,974 counted and 48 were counted as under votes — this means the voter did not make a pick in the election but turned in a ballot.

This is the first year the election, normally given in June, was given in May. The election was moved in accordance with the election consolidation act passed by the state.

In addition to the new day, voters also found their voting location had changed.

Residents of the city of Charlevoix voted at the Charlevoix City Hall on State Street; residents of Charlevoix and Hayes townships voted at Hayes Township Hall located at 09195 N. Old US-31 in Charlevoix and residents of Marion, Norwood and

First degree murder charge

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The man suspected of shooting and killing Hubert William (Bill) Brady now faces first degree murder charges.

Judge Richard May concluded in preliminary examination Thursday that Charlevoix county Prosecutor John Jarema has sufficient evidence to warrant David Edward Goldstick he charged with first degree premeditated murder and felony firearm. Goldstick confessed to shooting Brady six times the morning of April 19 in an office near the former VFW Hall on Petoskey Avenue.

"The cause of death is a gunshot wound to the head and abdomen," said Forensic Pathologist Stephen Cohle, who performed the Brady autopsy.

According to Cohle, three of the six shots Brady suffered could have been fatal.

Jarema said he believed the act to be premeditated for several reasons, he said, including the fact that Goldstick switched vehicles, shot the murder weapon the night before the murder and shot the victim repeatedly.

But, according to Defense Attorney Robert Banner, it doesn't make sense that Goldstick would shoot Brady over a couple thousand dollars.

"It would suggest to me that this was not premeditated," Banner said.

A witness, James Marsh, called by the prosecution said he saw Goldstick at the entrance of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club on April 19, the night before the murder.

Goldstick, in a later interview with Det. Charles Vondra, admitted shooting a .380 caliber handgun two or three times into a herm at the Rod and Gun Club the night before the murder.

The morning of the murder,

Richard Bogart, Brady's son in law and owner of the building Brady was dead in, testified he saw Goldstick pull up in a pickup truck.

Bogart said, "Goldstick said, 'Hey, where's Bill?' I said, 'Probably in the house with the dogs or in back.'"

According to Bogart, Goldstick came out of the carpet barn a minute or so later and said, "Something's happened to Bill...call 9-1-1."

A couple of men who had been speaking with Bogart at the time rushed into the carpet barn to find Brady lying on the floor.

Editor steps down after five years

Jeremy McBain

'Just a thought'

After almost 5-and-a-half years, as of this column, published on Wednesday, May 11, I will officially no longer be the editor of the Charlevoix Courier.

For those who do not know, I will be heading on over to the Petoskey News-Review to take over a position as special sections editor. I wanted to try something new and this chance came along, so I went for it. (No I was not forced out, no matter what some folks are trying to claim.) I will also still be living in the Charlevoix area, so you will still see me around.

It has been an exciting time for me at the Charlevoix Courier. When I came here I did not know what to expect.

Yes, there have been bad times, but there have been good times in this small town of Charlevoix. While editor of the Charlevoix Courier, I have been called many different, nasty, names; I have had many strange conspiracy theories passed around about me (no, I am not in league with the devil) and I have had to pull so many knives out of my back, I find it hard to trust people.

But, I have also been told by many people, they appreciate the work I do, I have been called courageous, I have been told I help people, I have been told I am kind and I have been told the Courier is the best weekly newspaper they have ever read.

I have seen much as a newspaper editor, I have done much and I have written much about the happenings in Charlevoix. In the process I have grown to know Charlevoix and its people like it was the back of my hand.

Here are a few of my final thoughts before taking leave:

- When I first came here, local government was very unaccustomed to the idea of open government. Now, they seem to try to get the public involved in many areas and try to take away that veil of secrecy. There are those that want the curtain pulled back to where it was, I urge you all to resist them.

- I would love to play poker against Charlevoix City Manager Mike Wiesner. He has horrible tells.

- I may have been misguided in my first editorial about the location of the new high school. Now, I don't know if it really is the right location and I can understand both sides. I am not young enough to know everything anymore.

- My two favorite older men in Charlevoix were Bruce MacArthur and Jim Hisey. Sadly, Jim passed away last winter and could not read this comment about him. When I first came here, Jim was on the opposite side of me on a few editorials, but he was very nice about it and treated me as a fellow human. We became friends. I enjoyed his tales of being a newspaper owner downstate and his ideas for the community. I miss that old guy.

MacArthur is a man I have grown to respect and is the type of person I hope to be when I am his age. He is a man in his 80s that spends every day playing tennis. He is also a man that is not afraid to fight for what he believes. Agree or disagree with him, you have to admire his energy.

- Some people just don't really get the whole freedom of speech idea. Freedom of speech includes all speech, not just the speech you agree with. Without freedom of speech, your other freedoms are useless. Oh, and editorials are just opinions. Feel free to disagree with them, just don't make it personal.

- News is neither good nor bad, it is just news. I do not and will not take sides in news stories, no matter what you have heard from the rumor mill. Most of the time, the rumor mill is just upset because I reported the whole story, not just the side they wanted reported.

- One of my favorite strange moments was when I was told by a co-worker that a local businessman told her he wished I would hurt myself when practicing for the highland games. Good job showing your maturity level, businessman.

- Sometimes people read too much into my columns, sometimes they did not read enough of the column. I can't tell you how many times I have had to inform an angry caller that I never wrote the statement they were angry about or that if they had read the column all the way through, they would see I was arguing for their side of the issue.

- An issue of the Charlevoix Courier costs 50 cents. For some reason, each summer we have several people that drop by the office, reach in the door and grab a paper without paying. They say they have a subscription at home. That is like me going to a store, grabbing an issue of Men's Health and walking out. When they stop me for shoplifting, I just say, "But I have a subscription at home!"

- There are just as many kind people as there are nasty people in this community. The problem is the nasty people can be so much louder than the kind people.

- Some people don't realize that the editor is responsible for all of the news in a newspaper. I have been responsible and read over 7,000 articles in this newspaper over the last five years. And yes, I was responsible for that piece your loved, as well as that one you hated.

- Out of those over 7,000 articles I have read, there were bound to be some grammatical errors here and there. I am human. I get tired.

As of Thursday, May 12, Jeremy McBain will be the past editor of the Charlevoix Courier.

Letters to the editor

Suggestions

Editor:
The story about Mr. Whitley, the wheelchair-bound fisherman, is certainly an example of the unintended consequences of an otherwise good idea. I have a couple of suggestions that might work better than waiting months for an expensive new sidewalk to go in.

Why not put a gate in the fence, and lock the gate? Give keys or the combination to qualified handicapped individuals. If that sounds too "loose" for the authorities, maybe the sheriff could appoint Mr. Whitley as an unpaid Junior Assistant Deputy, with the assignment of observing the waterfront area at random times and reporting any suspicious activity he observes. Doing that would actually improve Transportation Security, not threaten it. Other handicapped fishermen could apply for similar positions, and it is unlikely the response would overwhelm the system.

Thank you

Editor:
Northwest Academy in Charlevoix recently held our fifth annual Career Day for middle and high school students. The student committee responsible for planning the day would like to commend the following community members for giving up their morning to share information about their chosen careers: Dave Phillips, chef; Dr. Pamela Graves, veterinarian; Terry VanTine, information system technician; Dr. Marc Lame, surgeon; CJ Winnell, EMT specialists; Spec. Jeff Riley, National Guard; Mark Buday, architect; Dan Jacobs, jazz artist.

We would also like to thank John Murphy of Char/Em ISD for assistance in obtaining a transition grant to help fund the day.

School/community partnerships like this provide unique opportunities for young people to explore possibilities for their future. Responses from students indicated that they were very appreciative and had a terrific morning.

Cat not a stray

Editor:

My son picked up the current issue of the Charlevoix Courier today and discovered a picture of his cat on the front page. On page 16 photographer, Benjamin Gohs had another photo of both of my son's cats in front of their own home.

These cats are spayed and neutered, have all their current shots and are not allowed to stay out at night.

I'm keeping the cats with me at my mobile home at Lake Terrace Mobile Home Park. They are NOT dangerous and stick close to home explaining how easily the photographer was able to get his pictures.

Do I need to get them collars w/ name tags? I'd hate to see them die in traps. In fact, I'd be VERY angry!

Thank you

Editor:

Before last weeks school board election I knew I would have to sit down and write a letter of thanks to all those who helped me and voted for me no matter what the outcome would end up to be. I must say I am blessed to have the friends and family I have and the support they are always willing to give me in whatever I choose to do. The outcome was very surprising to me but one I was very happy to see. I appreciate all the confidence that the voters have in me and I hope to repay that confidence with a job well done and I look forward to the new experiences ahead.

I'd also like to thank Scott Boss and Barney Way for serving on the board for the past eight years and the efforts they have put in, in creating not only a better school system but a better

Charlevoix. It is my belief that any effort put into our kids is an effort that will be paid back time and time again in our lives and theirs as well.

Furthermore, I'd like to congratulate Chris Michaud for being elected and I look forward to working with her and the rest of the board in the near future.

Understandably there couldn't be a worse time to be on the school board due to all the budget cuts that will need to be made but my goal will be to keep the community informed and try to draw more of a community interest into the process for the tough decisions ahead. We will have a far stronger system with everyone's help which will also create a stronger community.

Once again thanks to everyone that voted for me, all that helped me and those of you who always seem to be there when I need you. Thank you!

Operation Basket a success

Editor:

Operation Basket, developed to support the elementary school classrooms, was held on April 22 at the Spring Carnival.

It was a great success and surpassed all expectations. The fund-raiser raised just over $2,600.

This money will be divided between the teachers to use for supplies, projects or field trips.

The Operation Basket Committee would like to thank the elementary school parents and local businesses for their great donations. We would also like to thank the teachers and school staff for their help and support. A special thank you to Sharon Seese for doing all of the jobs no one else wanted, Sue and Jill in the school office for their unconditional support and suggestions, Jeff at the Weathervane and Sue at Esperance for their extra contributions.

Thank you to all who bid on and purchased the baskets. We look forward to next year's Operation Basket. The future of our community is our children and it takes a community to raise them!

Why does school start so early?

Editor:

I have meant to write in praise of the letters from sixth-graders which you publish occasionally.

The letters are well written, and present concisely the thoughts of these students about local situations which they think should be remedied.

My compliments to the students and their teachers, and I hope some of these suggestions will be acted upon.

A recent one about the early start hours of school days now seems to be a concern in many parts of the country. In my long-ago junior high and high school days in Charlevoix, I remember that we had to be in school at 8:45 a.m.; had four 45-minute classes and/or study hours, lunch hour and a quarter from 11:45 a.m. to 1 p.m., then another four classes and study hours in the afternoon, ending at 4 p.m.

I don't remember how long grade school sessions were, but they certainly did not start any earlier in the day. Whose idea was it to start school so early, and what purpose is it supposed to serve?

It is pretty much agreed among medical people that young children and teenagers need more sleep than they are getting with these early school hours.

Anne Olmstead,
La Cr scenta, Calif.

Thanks volunteers

Editor:

The word in Webster's dictionary "volunteer" means one who does but doesn't have to. That's exactly what our 172 volunteers who service our patrons do - extending themselves to the limit.

These dedicated people show up on their designated day, regardless of inclement weather, their aches, pains or broken limbs. We certainly appreciate their loyalty.

The second of three "Life Lessons: Conferences Dealing with Difficult Issues" presented by Hospice of Little Traverse Bay will focus its attention toward the complex issue of suicide. Sponsored jointly by Hospice of Little Traverse Bay and Third Level Crisis Center, this suicide conference will be 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, May 14, in North Central Michigan College's Library Conference Center.

The cost is $5 per person, to cover a portion of the lunch. 5.1 hours of Nursing CEAP credits will be available.

Healthcare professionals and concerned citizens are invited to attend and discuss the national and local impact of suicide and learn the symptoms of depression, warning signs of suicide and services available in the community. Because of the complexity of the subject, a broad spectrum of panelists consisting of local professionals and community members will discuss suicide on a local and personal level.

The morning session of the conference will be focused on the prevention, while the afternoon session will focus on bereavement and aftermath.

Moderated by Greg Billiard of Hospice of Little Traverse Bay, the conference will feature speaker Jack Klott of Suicide Prevention Consultants in Grand Rapids.

Other panelists on prevention include: Dr. Marit Vogel, a child psychiatrist; Karen Starkey, director of counseling at Petoskey High School; Andrew Sahara, director of acute services for North Country Community Mental Health; Laura Lasater, a registered nurse; Carolyn Koppenol, psychiatrist and medical director of Northeast Community Mental Health;

Ken Winter, editor and publisher of the Petoskey News-Review and a local Law Enforcement Officer.

Barb Smith, presenter for Yellow Ribbon group, facilitator of survivor group and past vice president of the Michigan Association of Suicidology will be speaking in the session focusing on bereavement and aftermath.

Family members who have lost a spouse, child or sibling to suicide will also be on hand.

For more information or to register for the conference, contact Greg Billiard at (231) 487-4825.

Writer's dad taught him many lessons for life

By CHIP SAUER
Community Reformed Church

I wish my dad was still around. I wish he would have been there for my wedding. I wish I could still ask him for advice. I wish I could see him at his attempts of humor. But that wasn't the plan. But what I am so thankful for is the fact that I had a dad who lived out what it meant to be a dad.

Being a dad is a tough job and sadly it seems to be a lost art in our society today. Rarely do I hear stories from students about how influential and meaningful their relationship with their dad has been. Too often the influence has been negative and more often simply non-existent.

Here's what stood out to me about my dad:

First, he spent time with me. He was involved in my life. He knew my friends and participated in the activities of which I was a part.

Second, he clearly loved my mom.

Beacons of Blessing

He evidenced that by his words and actions, I never doubted the health of their relationship. I never wondered if they would stay together.

Third, he listened to me and allowed me (as I got older) to make my own decisions. He didn't always agree, but when I made my decision, he supported me.

Fourth, he consistently told me he was proud of me. He affirmed the person I was becoming. He pointed out my strengths and helped me deal with my weaknesses. He loved me through my failures.

Fifth, he helped me see God. Church was always a priority. I do wish we would have had the chance to speak more openly and often about faith, but I never doubted the priority that God held in his life.

Sixth, he modeled quality. What he did, he did well. He took pride in his work and relationships. And finally, he wrote to me.

That may seem strange to you. What does that mean? It means that I have my dad's written words about his thoughts on life, faith, me, and himself. I am so thankful that my dad took time to write how he felt about me on paper.

We never know what plan God has for us. Make sure there is no doubt in the minds and hearts of your children and spouse how you feel about them.

God has truly modeled what it means to be a Father, and it is only by depending upon Him can any man be the husband or dad that God calls them to be. What do you want your children to learn from you about what it means to be a dad?

"The righteous man leads a blameless life; blessed are his children after him." Proverbs 20:7

Obituary

William "Bill" M. Depuy: Feb. 14, 1936 - May 3, 2005

William "Bill" M. Depuy, 69, of Kalkaska, passed away on May 3, 2005 at his home.

William was born Feb. 14, 1936 in Mt. Pleasant, the son of George and Marguerite (Skinner) Depuy.

Bill graduated from Mt. Pleasant High School in 1954 and then attended Central Michigan University. Bill was also a veteran serving our country in the US Navy.

He designed model cars for Ertl; and also worked as a designer and engineer at Freedman Manufacturing in Charlevoix, Log Cabin Homes in Boyne Falls and Craft Homes in Kalkaska.

Surviving is his sister, George Ann Wolf of Mt. Pleasant; his ex-wife, Kay Kisby Ernst, of Illinois; nieces Marcie (Wolf) Szebelek of Harbor Springs, Stephanie (Wolf) Wiltse of Grand Rapids, Suzanne (Wolf) Hettenvan of the Netherlands; nephew Max Wolf of Mt. Pleasant.

Bill was preceded in death by his parents, his son, Dan Depuy, and his brother Eugene Depuy.

There will be a celebration of Bill's life on Sunday, at 3 p.m., May 15 at George Ann's residence in Mt. Pleasant.

Arrangements were made by Wolfe Funeral Home, Kalkaska.

Zahner named county public defender

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Charlevoix County has hired its first female public defender in the past 10 years.

Kerry Zahner, who replaced Mark Muniak in April, is slated to work for the county until 2006 when her contract will come up for renewal.

"I enjoy it. It's what I did when I first became an attorney, so I feel like I've come full circle," she said.

Zahner graduated high school in Charlevoix, attained her bachelor of science from Michigan State University and went on to get her juris doctor from The Capital University in Columbus, Ohio in 1996.

Zahner began her career later in 1996 as an associate attorney with LeFevre & LeFevre working as a public defender in Saginaw.

She then worked as assistant prosecuting attorney and child support investigator under Mary Beth Kur in the Charlevoix County office of the prosecuting attorney from April 2003 to December 2004.

In Early 2005, Zahner opened her own law office practicing criminal, probate and family law.

According to Zahner, she enjoys both the private and public defense work she does.

"I like helping people navigate through the often complicated system," she said. "And I feel more comfortable in my skin as a defense attorney."

As much as she likes defense work, she said, working for the prosecutors office was a great experience which taught her a lot.

Zahner said she is just recently being appointed clients through her public defender duties, which will be her priority.

But, she added, "I will continue to build my practice."

Zahner said running her own practice comes in handy considering she has two young children.

"So far I enjoy the independence of being on my own and the flexibility it offers," she said.

One of the best things about being a public defender, according to Zahner, is simply helping people.

"I enjoy standing up for people who can't always do that for themselves," she said.

Since she began working in Charlevoix, Zahner has dealt with some severe cases including a couple criminal sexual conduct jury trials involving child victims.

"I think people are surprised to learn that we have our share of criminal sexual conduct," she said. "There have been consistently more serious crimes in the area than I expected."

However, she said, she feels she is up to the challenge.

Zahner added that she is honored to be in the company of her fellow public defenders.

Kerry Zahner runs her own law firm and is also the new public defender for Charlevoix County.

Students gearing up for high school prom

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Students from Charlevoix high are preparing for their annual prom Saturday night.

According to Junior Caitlin Cole, the prom committee has met approximately every other week for months in order to plan the big event.

"We've been planning since October," she said.

According to the prom committee, the theme of this year's prom is Splash of Class, with a color scheme of teal, black, fuchsia and dark blue.

"We thought it would be fun to have the usual classy prom, but with a little more color," Cole said.

About eight to 10 students work on the committee full-time planning where the event will take place, what materials will be used for decorations and even what color the tissue paper will be.

One of the kids in attendance at the meeting was junior class secretary/treasurer Kristin Dupuis who felt she had some great ideas for the prom.

"I joined the committee because I wanted to make sure the prom was good," she said.

English teacher Karen Peterson serves as one of two junior class advisors.

She said her favorite part of helping with the prom committee is working with the kids.

"They are excited about the prom, so it's neat to be a part of it," Peterson said.

From 8 p.m. to 12 p.m., May 14, the Kings Ballroom of Castle Farms will host the prom. Peterson asked any parents who would like to help, to call the school at (231) 547-3222.

Campbell appointed to council again

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

The Charlevoix City Council hoped to end any issues with last month's appointment of Gabe Campbell to it with a vote or reaffirmation at the May 2 meeting.

Gabe was appointed to the seat following the resignation of council member — and his wife — Karen Campbell due to health reasons in April.

However, there was some question if the council that voted him in to the open seat had enough people present to allow it to even vote.

At the time, the mayor, Norman "Boogie" Carlson and two council members, Bill Haggard and Bill Bellows, were away on vacation. This left Council Member's Shirley Gibson, Bob Timms, Sherman Chamberlain and Bill Bellows left to vote. However, Bellows was sitting in for Carlson as the mayor and could not vote.

Gabe was nominated and voted in to the open seat by all those left. According to Carlson though, with so many council members away, Bellows not being allowed to vote and Karen resigning, there may not have been a quorum of the council to vote.

"I don't think this is a question of his (Gabe's) qualifications. I would support him for that seat. This is just paperwork," Carlson said in a previous story.

Therefore, at the April 18 meeting, Carlson asked Gabe to resign and be reappointed.

But, the city clerk informed Carlson she did not have the city charter and could not swear Gabe in that night.

Gabe decided not to resign. This meant any votes Gabe made could be voided, according to Carlson.

But council hopes its latest move will end this issue outright.

At the beginning of the May 2 meeting, Carlson asked for a vote of reaffirmation of Gabe's nominations.

There was only one council member absent from this meeting, Haggard, making it a clear quorum. Gabe was voted in unanimously.

"I appreciate it," Gabe said. "I didn't see it as a problem before. I think this will put it to rest."

Go to lunch. Meet Georgie Anne Geyer. Monday, June 13

Proceeds benefit NCMC students

North Central Michigan College Student Center • 12 noon - 1:30 p.m.

North Central Michigan College and the Petoskey News-Review present Georgie Anne Geyer, veteran foreign correspondent and a syndicated columnist on international affairs. She is renowned for her in-depth interviews with world leaders and her ten published titles including her just-published book, "When Cats Reigned Like Kings: On the Trail of Sacred Cats".

Geyer's chance meeting with an adorable "black-as-midnight" kitten on the streets of Chicago in 1975 grew into a lifelong fascination with cats and their unique position in the lives of humans. In the book, Geyer explores the connection between the royal and sacred felines of ancient civilizations and the beloved domestic cats of today.

Georgie Anne Geyer's luncheon lecture is sure to be just as engaging and delightful as her remarkable book, "When Cats Reigned Like Kings".

Luncheon Tickets are $25 (donation) available at North Central Michigan College Cashier's Office & the Petoskey News-Review. All proceeds to benefit students through the North Central Michigan College Foundation. CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

MAY 16, 2005 - 7:00 P.M.

The Charlevoix City Council will hold a public hearing on Monday, May 16, 2005 at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of City Hall, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, to receive public input on a proposed amendment to the animal ordinance of the City Code. The Ordinance would amend the City Code by recodifying Title IX, Chapter 133: Animals in its entirety and would add section 9.125, which will regulate dogs in the East Park area.

Section 9.125 is proposed to read as follows:

9.125. Dog Regulations - East Park Area.

From Memorial Day to Labor Day and during the festival known as Apple Fest, no person, who owns, keeps or possesses a dog, shall permit the dog to enter on or within that portion of East Park that is bounded by: on the north - the sidewalk to the south of East Clinton Street; on the south - the paved portion of Mason Street; on the east - the sidewalk which runs along Round Lake between East Clinton Street and East Mason Street; and on the west - the sidewalk adjacent to the east side of Bridge Street between East Clinton Street and East Mason Street.

A complete copy of the proposed Ordinance is available at the City Clerk's Office.

Interested citizens can make comments at the public hearing or written comments may be sent to the City Clerk's Office, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

Some select local high school students tested their communication skills in Mt. Pleasant last weekend.

Coach and Director of performing arts at Charlevoix High school, Connie Ford, led her forensics students to the state finals hosted by Central Michigan University May 6 and 7.

"I like the challenge of teaching students to learn to communicate and be flexible in any situation they get into," she said.

For 36 years and counting, Ford's students learn the essentials of story telling, informative, extemporaneous and other forms of public speaking.

According to Ford, some students from Charlevoix always make the state level of competition.

Despite missing out on a trophy by two points, Ford is proud of her kids.

"I think they did a marvelous job placing as high as they did considering so few of them went against schools that had full loads," she said.

And, she added, "We were still able to maintain a solid position."

Anna Taylor placed in the top 12 in extemporaneous category while the multiple group placed ninth in the state.

"We didn't win, but we did quite well," Ford said. "They picked up enough points to be 7th in class C-D."

She added, "When you're going up against Andover and the Detroit School for the Performing Arts, you have some pretty heavy competition."

Library makes adjustments to plan

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The new 24,000 square foot library plan set for completion in fall 2006 awaits a few minor adjustments.

According to Library Director Valerie Meyerson, while the major demolition is complete, construction has yet to start on the new library building.

"We're about a month later than we planned on being, but I don't think it will hurt anything," she said.

"We took into account that there would be delays."

Meyerson said structural engineers found a couple items in the building which have changed a few points in the overall plan.

"We need more additional columns than we earlier thought," she said.

Clark construction, the same firm which managed work on the Petoskey Library, is handling the Charlevoix project estimated at $5.6 million.

Meyerson said the funds budgeted do not include furniture or other soft fees such as consulting.

The situation regarding the library building currently on Clinton Street hasn't changed much either, according to Meyerson.

"Right now we have the building until we leave," she said.

Meyerson said, "In the 60s the Saltonstall family donated the piece of property. The school really never paid for the land or the building."

However, the school district claims it owns the library building and wants to use it for possible administrative offices.

Others want the library to have the opportunity to sell it and use the money to pay for the new library buildings. Litigation over the ownership of the building has been mentioned.

According to Connie Saltonstall, though a delicate issue, litigation over the old library shouldn't be necessary.

"The reality is that the library owns the library," she said.

Saltonstall said the school believes they have a right to the property by way of a reverter clause.

She added, "As far as I'm concerned, the reverter clause isn't an issue. It was never signed and never executed."

Saltonstall said she and her sister offered to sign off on the deed restriction and trade the Clinton street property for the old middle school in October 2002 at a joint meeting between the library building committee and the building and site committee of the Charlevoix school board.

"They announced to us that they had no interest in that building at all, that they would use either the bus garage property or high school property for administrative office space," she said.

She added, "They went ahead and built a new addition to the high school for athletic training. If they're so short of funds, why not save the money and use it toward offices?"

According to Dr. John Sturock, Superintendent of Charlevoix schools, the money in the sinking fund designated for administrative offices is still there.

He emphasized that the shortage the school is experiencing is in operational, not capital funds.

He added, even if the school board wanted, they could not have traded the middle school for the Clinton street property.

"The law says we have to get the appraised value out of the asset," Sturock said.

To Sturock's knowledge, the library board planned to deal with the Clinton street property issue in April or May.

"We're just waiting for the library to respond to us in regard to the deed," he said.

"All we're saying is, re-file the quick claim deed and make it right so we can go on from here."

Sturock said by renovating the Clinton street building, the schools could possibly save hundreds of thousands of dollars which could then be diverted to other needs.

Attorney for Charlevoix public schools, Gordon Vanwieren Jr., declined to comment in detail as this is an ongoing matter.

However, he said, "At this time the parties are working in good faith to correct the situation."

Career, tech students honored at dinner

The achievements of approximately 200 high school students enrolled in Career and Technical Education (CTE) classes were recently celebrated before a packed house at the annual CTE Recognition Dinner.

Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District hosted the May 3 Recognition Dinner to honor students for being among the top seven percent of those attending Career and Technical Education classes. More than 2,600 high school students enroll annually in the 39 CTE programs available across local schools within Char-Em ISD.

Approximately 600 people attended the Recognition Dinner, including students, parents, Career and Technical Education teachers, and other school personnel.

In addition to each student receiving a pin and certificate, one Career and Technical Education program's activities were highlighted at the Recognition Dinner.

Petoskey High School presented information about Project Thanksgiving, a cooperative endeavor of the Food Service/Hospitality and Tourism and Construction Technology Career and Technical Education classes. The students organized the event to purchase, cook, and deliver Thanksgiving meals to 63 families last year.

In addition to the students, Char-Em ISD recognized six business partners for their continued support of the Career and Technical Education programs. Polly Flippo of North Central Michigan College, Christine Meister of Northern Michigan Hospital, and Chris Wilhelm of Charlevoix Area Hospital were recognized for their involvement in an upcoming medical career investigation to encourage students to enter one of the many health occupations.

Andy Hayes of Northern Lakes Economic Alliance and formerly of Harbor House Publishers, was honored for his role in the ISD-created video highlighting the CTE programs operated at area schools. Carlin Smith of Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce was honored for his continued support of the schools in numerous ways, including as emcee of the Career and Technical Education Recognition Dinner.

Carl Wager of Little Traverse Association of Home Builders was also honored for his organization's support of providing scholarships for Construction Technology students.

The Little Traverse Association of Home Builders and Construction Technology classes from Petoskey, Charlevoix and Boyne City annually team up to build and auction a garage. Numerous sponsors donated toward the 2005 garage built with proceeds supporting student scholarships within Construction Technology programs. Wager presented a check for $1,875 to each of the schools for scholarships (see related story on garage build proceeds).

Carlin Smith, Executive Director of Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce, served as emcee for the evening which involved students from all schools within Char-Em ISD.

Book dealer to show how to find rare reading gems

The Friends of the Charlevoix Public Library will feature rare and used book dealer, Mary Carney, at 7 p.m., on Wednesday, June 8 in the lower level of the library.

Carney who is the owner of First Editions Bookstores in Muskegon Heights and Moran will talk about "Spotting a Rare and Collectible Book."

Carney has a background in anthropology and library science. She also has extensive experience in bookbinding. She has been very helpful in evaluating and appraising the Charlevoix library's Michigan Room collection.

Following Carney's presentation, patrons are welcome to bring one book for Carney to appraise. Light refreshments will be served. Admission is free.

The library is located at 109 Clinton Street in Charlevoix. Phone the library at (231) 547-2651 for additional information.

Student art show to be Thursday

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Children from the elementary, middle and high school prepared all year to show off their artistic flair.

The annual Charlevoix public schools K-12 art show kicks off 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 12 at Charlevoix elementary and runs until 9 p.m.

"The entire art departments of all three buildings will be showing an accumulation of what they've done throughout the year," said Mary Beth McGraw, elementary art teacher. There will be many forms of multimedia at the show including drawings, paintings, jewelry, sculpture and textiles.

"That night we also have middle and high school kids putting on demonstrations," McGraw said.

Parents and children will have the chance to interact with the demonstrations such as making their own jewelry.

"We also have student musicians performing throughout the evening," McGraw added.

The art show is a great way for the community to see just what the future generations are up to and it gives the kids a small taste of the world of art.

"They absolutely love showing their artwork. It gives them an opportunity to learn how to operate in a show setting," she said.

According to McGraw, the arts incorporate all subjects, which allows the kids to really learn a lot from completing their projects.

"It's a time to support the arts because they are just an integral part of a complete education," she said.

The art show is also open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Monday.

Middle school band honored

Middle School Band students earned medals for performing at the district Solo and Ensemble Festival on April 16 in Kalkaska.

Charlevoix students visit Washington D.C.

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Driving 800 miles for a civics lesson may seem excessive, but some educators feel the excursion is essential to a well rounded education.

Eighth graders from Charlevoix Middle School made their annual journey to Washington D.C. last week.

And according to middle school Principal Keith Haske, the trek was a success.

"The D.C. trip was awesome...the kids were tremendous," he said.

Haske said a part of what the kids learn in eighth grade history consists of studying the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

"This trip helps make that come alive a little bit more than just sitting in a classroom," he said. "I think it goes hand in hand with the curriculum."

Of his four trips with the eighth grade class, Haske said, this was the first time he was able to see the Declaration of Independence due to the fact that it has been undergoing restoration.

"I just really enjoyed seeing the Declaration of Independence and being just inches away from it," he said.

He added, seeing things like both the holocaust and Vietnam memorials help give the kids some insight into history classes they will take later on.

Some of the more interesting stops on the trip, Haske said, were when the kids saw Arlington National Cemetery, the Smithsonian museum and the National Archives.

"I think the kids are always impressed by the changing of the guard," he said.

He added, "I really thought our kids appreciated some of the things they saw. It was a pretty valuable lesson."

In addition to all the monuments and historical documents, some kids were introduced to a whole new culture who normally don't leave the area.

The real highlight, Haske said, "is everybody came back safe."

March of Dimes Walk to help babies

Residents in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area will have an opportunity to support the March of Dimes in its annual WalkAmerica on Saturday, May 14.

This is an easy five mile walk, beginning and ending at the Winter Sports Park in Petoskey. The walk has been organized so that people bringing small children, or not wanting to walk for five miles, can still participate by walking shorter distances.

The primary focus of the March of Dimes is the prevention of premature births. More than 470,000 babies, one out of every eight, are born prematurely in the U.S. each year.

Some are so tiny they cannot even cry. Many of those babies die, while others face lifelong disabilities. Funds raised by the March of Dimes are used in research programs to prevent premature births and provide education and support to help affected families.

Participants in the annual walk typically are sponsored by friends and family members. Children through age 17 are awarded prizes for raising at least $100.

Adults age 18 and over are eligible to earn prizes, such as T-shirts, sweatshirts and DVD players for various levels of support starting at $125.

Registration for the walk and the awarding of prizes begins at 8 a.m. on the day of the walk, Saturday, May 14.

For pledge envelopes or information, you may call Bill Soellner (231) 526-0301 or Pete Staelens (231) 348-3708.

Coast Guard to co-host boating safety day

The U.S. Coast Guard, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U.S. Power Squadron, the Charlevoix County Sheriff and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will host Boating Safety Day 2005 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, June 17, in East Park in downtown Charlevoix.

There will be activities and information for both children and adults including (but not limited to) tours of rescue assets, courtesy inspections of your vessel by the Auxiliary, an obstacle course for the kids, flare and fire extinguisher demonstrations, a helicopter/boat rescue demonstration on Round Lake and much more.

In addition, the Charlevoix County Sheriff will be administering the State Boating Safety Exam. For more information on the exam, call (231) 547-4461 ext. 320.

For any other questions or for more information about this event contact BM2 Rudy Patten at (231) 547-2565.

New friend of the court named

Charlevoix County Circuit Judge Richard M. Pujas announced that James C. Raber has been appointed to serve as Charlevoix County Friend of Court.

The appointment was effective on April 4 following the retirement of George Ebenhoeh after 28 years of service. The Friend of Court office serves the Family Division of the Circuit Court and has nine employees.

Raber joined the Charlevoix County Friend of Court office in 2001 as Assistant Friend of Court. He was previously employed by Child and Family Services of Northwest Michigan as an intensive foster care worker with families and children. He has worked as a Title I aide at the Boyne City Middle School after completing an internship with the Charlevoix County Probate Court.

Raber received a bachelor's degree in social work from Ferris State University in 1998. He is a graduate of Boyne City High School and attended North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

He is married and has three children.

Drug search

The Charlevoix Community School District and the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office searched the Charlevoix High School parking lot April 29 with drug sniffing dogs. The search was a routine procedure by the sheriff's office and took place at schools across the country that day. No drugs were found in Charlevoix schools.

Official Notice

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
ORDINANCE NO. 701 OF 2005

AN ORDINANCE TO ADD SECTION 5.82(23)(b) OF ARTICLE IV, CHAPTER 51 OF THE CHARLEVOIX CITY CODE TO ADD A SPECIAL USE IN THE "C-1" ZONE DISTRICT.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

Section 1. Addition of Section 5.82(23)(b) to Article IV of Chapter 51.

Section 5.82(23)(b) is hereby added to Article V of Chapter 51 and shall read as follows:

(b) Retail establishments having a gross leasable area of greater than 15,000 square feet. Any single retail business shall not occupy a gross leasable area of greater than 45,000 square feet within a free standing of multi-tenant building such as a shopping center. (This shall not act to limit the size of collective businesses located within multi-tenant buildings such as shopping centers.)

The intent of this section is to insure that large retail development is of a quality that enhances the character of Charlevoix, and does not overwhelm its surroundings, and protects and contributes to the health, safety and welfare of the community. Large retail development can result in substantial impacts to the community, such as, but not limited to noise, traffic, community character, environment, and the local economy. (The purpose of this section is to address these impacts and provide for detailed view of such uses.)

Section 2. Effective Date.

This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after enactment.

Ordinance No. 701 was hereby adopted on the 14th of March, 2005, by the Charlevoix City Council as follows:

Motion by:	Councilmember Gabe Campbell
Seconded by:	Councilmember Shirley Gibson
Yeas:	Council members Timms, Bellows, Campbell, Chamberlain and Gibson

BUSINESS

New owners of Oma's make several changes

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Editor

Del and Lori Hart and Dale and Elizabeth Rich, all of Charlevoix, have big plans for Oma's Breakfast Club now that they are its new owners.

The two couples took ownership of the longtime Charlevoix restaurant on March 1 after deciding they wanted to go into partnership together on a business. With their experience at Oma's — Lori is the former owner's daughter — they thought this would be the best opportunity for them.

Del, who was a cook for a few years before working for East Jordan Iron Works said, "I always loved cooking and I figured owning my own business was better than working my whole life at the iron works. I love it."

Del is the manager and cook for the restaurant.

Elizabeth said regular customers to the restaurant will see some nice changes, starting with consistent hours of operation. She said the business will be open all winter and someone will be there every day.

Elizabeth added other changes include an expanded menu that includes lunch.

She stressed Oma's is not just about breakfast anymore. She also said Oma's is not really a club; anyone can come and eat.

"It is just a name," she said.

Additionally, Elizabeth said the restaurant will now accept credit cards, it is 100 percent non-smoking, it will have outdoor seating in the summer, they are working on a creating a delivery service to the marina and she is redecorating its inside to include student art.

Plus, because Elizabeth is an owner of the Villa Moderne Motel in Charlevoix, people staying at the motel can get a discount on their meals.

She added they are still trying to think of more changes they can make to the business.

"We are open to all kinds of ideas and suggestions," she said.

Oma's Breakfast Club is located in the Oleson's Plaza on Bridge

Del Hart (left) and Elizabeth Rich are the new owners of Oma's Breakfast Club in downtown Charlevoix. The restaurant is now open for lunch.

Street in Charlevoix, near Antrim Street. It is open from 6 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Saturday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Sunday.

In July, Oma's will be open from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. every day.

Historical society to offer prints for birthday have yet to discover the instigator of its move from village to city.

As Charlevoix moves closer to its anniversary of incorporation, Miles and the historical society ready their collection of keepsakes from the past century.

"We have a headlight off a 1907 two-cylinder Cadillac," he said. "It weighs about a good 25 pounds."

He added, "We have the bell from the old bridge...bridge number four. It came out in 1947. We're going to set it up so people can ring it when they come in."

Some of the many items on display to celebrate 100 years of Charlevoix are a brick from the Parkside restaurant, an old wooden drain pipe, shuffleboard sticks from East Park and a 1930s era drinking fountain.

According to Miles, there is also a 1950s parking meter lined up for viewing.

"(It was) back when you could park for one hour for five cents and 12 minutes for a penny," he said.

In addition, there will be a special exhibit dedicated to the Inn Hotel which fell on hard times in the 1930s and was later dismantled.

"The Inn was one of the biggest hotels in the state of Michigan," Miles said. "In fact, it was second only to the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island."

The other main activity the historical society has planned for the celebration is to sell reprinted photos of previous or currently existing historical sites.

Until recently, the photos were only available to local business owners, many of whom plan to display them at their place of business in recognition of the anniversary.

"The photos are 13 inches by 19 inches and are printed on ceramic stock paper," Miles said.

Upon each photograph reads the logo: City of Charlevoix; 100th Anniversary; Act of Incorporation 1905-2005.

According to Miles, the pictures, which are tested to last approximately 150 years, are available for $50 each.

Miles said the photo sale went so well with local businesses, the Harsha House decided to open the sale up to the public.

"Just come in any time we're open," he said.

Harsha House hours for the upcoming season are: 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday in May; Tuesday—Saturday in June; Monday—Saturday in August.

Dave Miles shows off one of the photos available for sale. It depicts some churchgoers shoving off from the Belvedere Bayou for Sunday service in the early 1900s.

Charlevoix soccer team's streak broken

Charlevoix had its unbeaten streak snapped at eight with a non conference loss to Williamston at home on Saturday, 2-0.

Williamston, ranked in the top ten in Division Three, controlled the play most of the day, managing 19 shots on goal to 5 for the Rayders.

Charlevoix split the net minding duties on Saturday, with Laura Nitchman playing the first half and making nine saves and allowing one goal at the 30 minute mark of the half.

Sophomore Lori Zimmerman played in the net in the second half, recording eight saves against the second Williamston score. Maddie McKenzie played a great game defensively and was awarded the Rayders Player of the Game ball.

On May 5, Charlevoix beat Boyne City, 5-0.

Jaime Pettis scored two goals and was matched by freshman Becca Madison who also scored two. Ariel Ramsey notched the final goal and assisted Pettis on one of her scores. Sarah Cross had an assist and Madison picked up two assists.

The Rayder defense provided honorable mention all state keeper Nitchman with an easy night as she stopped Boyne on just two opportunities to pick up the Rayders' sixth shutout of the season.

Teresa Potter earned the Rayders Player of the Game ball.

On May 3, Charlevoix beat Traverse City St. Francis, 3-0.

Charlevoix, going with the wind in the first half, kept the pressure on and broke through for a 1-0 lead when Madison converted on a direct kick.

Later in the first half, the Rayder freshmen combined again when Ramsey sent home a shot in the corner of the net on the assist by Kaleigh Blanchard.

Charlevoix came out strong in the second half and maintained the pressure against the wind.

Ramsey notched her second goal of the night when Madison sent a nice through ball to Pettis who laid off the assist.

The Rayders outshot the Liberty 12 to 9 on the night. Rayder keeper Nitchman earned the shutout in the net for Charlevoix.

Our defensive line of Stevie Murray, McKenzie and Lisa Kuebler had a good game in combination to minimize the pressure on Nitchman. Cross, Zita Anderson and Madison were able to control the match.

Madison earned the Rayders game ball.

Boys' track team places second in Traverse meet

The Charlevoix boys' track team finished second in the Traverse City track meet May 6.

The team scored 32 points for second place. Kingsley was in first with a score 39.5. Glen Lake was in third with 30 points.

Individual results for the boys' team were:

• 3200 meter relay — the team of Nate Sotuyo, Brandon Stevens, Scott Plude and Jacob Wimmer finished third with a time of 8 minutes, 28 seconds.

• Long jump — Ryan Seelye finished in first with a distance of 19 feet, 9 inches.

• 800 relay — The team of Seelye, Jared Hunt, Mike DiMartino and Ben Bergmann was in fifth with a time of 1 minute, 35.6 seconds.

• Discus — Jeff Golovich finished in third with a distance of 130 feet.

• 400 meter — Nate Sotuyo in sixth with a time of 54 seconds.

• 800 meter — Hunt in fifth with a time of 2 minutes, 6.2 seconds.

• 300 meter hurdles — Golovich in sixth with a time of 42.6 seconds.

• 1600 meter relay — The team of Bergmann, Hunt, Darron Manson and Sotuyo in fifth with a time of 3 minutes, 37.2 seconds.

• Shot put — Golovich in fifth with a distance of 42 feet.

Rayders baseball sweeps Harbor Springs

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

It was a week of sweeps for the Charlevoix Rayders baseball team as they defeated Harbor Springs, 6-1 and 8-3, but fell to Kalkaska, 6-4 in seven innings and 6-3 in a four inning darkness shortened contest.

Tyler Bier threw a complete game three-bitter against the Rams, giving up only one walk and striking out nine. He also helped himself at the plate with a single and two RBIs.

Michael Wojan singled, tripled and scored two runs. Matt Teuscher also had two hits, a run scored and an RBI. Eddie Waldron singled, scored and drove in a run.

In game two, Matt Teuscher pitched a complete game for the win. He gave up only six hits, one earned run, struck out four and helped himself at the plate with three RBIs.

Waldron had two hits and three RBIs. Wojan tripled. Bier singled and scored two runs. Logan Niswander had a pinch-hit RBI single in the third that broke a 3-3 tie and put Charlevoix ahead to stay.

"We jumped on them early (in game one) and Tyler cruised the rest of the way." Coach Bryan Hawkins said. "It was exactly the kind of effort we were looking for. (In game two), I was really pleased with (Matt Teuscher's) control and confidence as the game wore on. I was really happy for (Logan Niswander) to come in and deliver like he did. It really lit a fire under us the rest of the way."

Against Kalkaska, Waldron took the tough loss, throwing 6 2/3 innings in relief, giving up only five hits, one walk and two earned runs while striking out nine. He struck out the first two batters he faced in a one-out, bases loaded situation in the first.

Waldron also led the hitters with a single, double, run scored and RBI. Bier was also 2 for 3 with a run and RBI. Jake Teuscher doubled, Matt Teuscher and Niswander each had RBI singles.

In the nightcap, Charlevoix fell behind 6-0 in the third innings but rallied on consecutive singles by Jake Teuscher, Bier and Waldron. Matt Teuscher then reached on an error and Shannon Gillespie knocked in a run on a fielder's choice, cutting the lead to 6-3.

The game was called due to darkness after the end of the fourth.

"Overall I was satisfied by our effort and heart we showed during both games, but am obviously disappointed with the outcome," Hawkins said. "We felt coming in that it was a good opportunity to win against a perennial power in the league, but now we'll have to re-focus on our games at Traverse City St. Francis."

The Rayders (7-8 overall, 3-3 conference) visit the Gladiators on Thursday, May 12.

Charlevoix's JV team went 3-1 last week to up their record to 13-3, sweeping Harbor Springs, 12-0 and 8-2 and splitting with Elk Rapids, winning 9-6 and losing 10-7.

Lady Rayders beat Harbor Springs, lose to Kalkaska

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders swept Harbor Springs in softball action last week, winning game one, 14-10 and game two, 10-0.

Later in Lake Michigan Conference action, the Rayders lost two to conference leader, Kalkaska, 9-2 and 13-1.

"The team played good fundamental softball," Coach Elizabeth Grunch said. "Things really came together against Harbor Springs where we were very tough on offense and defense."

Desi Faust was the winning pitcher in both games against the Rams, striking out seven in game one and one in game two, where she only walked one.

Genevieve Kochanny, Faust and Sally Haselshwardt all had two hits in the opener. One of Kochanny's was a double. Leah Kelly also doubled.

Sasha Spenceley and Jess Gauthier both singled.

In the nightcap, Gauthier had two doubles and a triple. Spenceley also had three hits, including a double. Kochanny doubled and tripled.

Faust and Ashley Jones also had hits.

Against Kalkaska, in game one, Spenceley, Kochanny, Haselshwardt, Faust and Brittany Niswander all had hits for Charlevoix. Faust was the losing pitcher.

Spenceley and Haselshwardt each doubled in game two for the Rayders' only hits.

"Kalkaska is a very good team with a dominant pitcher but we still attacked the ball pretty hard and had lots of opportunities on the bases but we left too many on," Grunch observed. "It was a good effort by the Rayders."

Charlevoix (5-13 overall, 2-6 conference) travels to Traverse City St. Francis on Thursday, May 12.

Official Notice

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP PLANNING COMMISSION NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Charlevoix Township Planning Commission will hold a public hearing for the purpose of accepting public comments on the proposed new language for Article V, Section 5.12 Mineral Resource District of the Charlevoix Township Zoning Ordinance. The hearing will be held on May 18, 2005 at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlevoix Township Hall (Stroud Hall), located at the corner of Waller Road and Old Orchard Road. A copy of the proposed language may be reviewed or purchased at the Charlevoix Township Hall on Monday - Friday, 9 a.m. - 12 noon or by contacting the Zoning Administrator, Bob Rajewski at (231)547-5364. A summary of the proposed changes is shown below.

Article IV

Delete the definition of "Zoning Board".

Amend the definitions of the following terms: "Air Pollution, Annual Plan, Blasting Pollution, Bond, Noise Pollution, Overburden, and Water Pollution."

Add the following new definitions: "Abandoned, Environmental Plan, Mining Area, Reclamation, and Planning Commission".

Article VI

Amend regulations to:

1. Limit amount of berm construction without vegetation.
2. Increase setback of disturbed land from property boundary.
3. Increase maximum height of buildings.
4. Delete requirement that money damages be paid if water table is affected.
5. Shorten period of time before bond is required.
6. Change references from Zoning Board to Planning Commission.
7. Require all mine operators to submit plans with 12 months of effective date of this ordinance.
8. Increase district size from 40 to 100 acres.
9. Publish a notice if applying for permits for activity within 300 feet of flowing water bodies.

Article VII

Language revised to specify requirements for new mining operations.

Article VIII

Language revised to specify requirements for Annual Plan submittals to the Township by mine operators and requirements for the Township review process. This article also specifies Environmental Plan and contents.

Article IX

Revised to allow new mine operators to amend plans.

Article X

Raises fines for violations from $100.00 to $1,000.00 per day.

Brady shot six times morning of April 19

During an interview with Lt. Mike Wheat in the hours after the murder, Goldstick admitted to shooting Brady.

According to Wheat, Goldstick said he shot Brady because he was afraid he would get caught for taking about $2,000 from the VFW fund.

He added Goldstick also said work was piling up and he was afraid Brady would lose faith in him if he found out about the unfinished work.

The Michigan State Police crime lab found the murder weapon later that day in a plastic bag at the Rosenhaus residence 8091 Indian Trails in Charlevoix, the same residence of which Goldstick used to switch vehicles shortly after the murder.

According to Vondra, he spoke with Goldstick in the days following the murder.

"We talked about his financial issues," Vondra said, to which Goldstick reportedly admitted skimming money from the VFW.

"One example was that he was in charge of ordering flags. He would charge flags to his personal credit card and then write himself a check for that amount," Vondra said.

In later discussions Goldstick also admitted to constructing makeshift silencers, according to Vondra.

Vondra's said Goldstick told him a farmer on Barnard road taught him how to make the silencers for squirrel hunting when he was a child.

Several times during the four-and-a-half hour hearing, the defense Robert Banner objected to testimony, citing he would later challenge some of the admissions made by Goldstick.

According to Wheat's testimony, Goldstick has been in isolation since the murder and has since asked to see a mental health professional.

"He (Goldstick) said he felt he may have had a mental breakdown. He also said that his mind is out of control," Wheat said.

Banner asked that Goldstick be bound over on a second degree murder charge, but May said there was too much evidence to the contrary.

Judge May said murder has no reason to the community and it makes no sense to a rational person.

"In my opinion it shows an intent to kill, but also a premeditation," May said.

"There was no evidence of any hot blood or argument. This was the act of somebody that had a plan rather than someone who was angry, upset or trying to flee."

How to get your event news into the Charlevoix Courier

If you have a news item you think would be perfect for the Charlevoix Courier, feel free to call 547-6558, e-mail news@charlevoixcourier.com or visit the Courier office located at 112 Mason Street in downtown Charlevoix.

News items include events sponsored by non-profit organizations. Please inform us of your event at least two weeks in advance.

Our coverage area is the city of Charlevoix and its immediately surrounding areas, including Beaver Island.

Because of space limitations in the newspaper, we generally try to avoid publishing "check-handing" pictures or "ribbon-cutting" pictures. However, we will work with your organization to get a picture that reflects the event and is visually interesting to our readers.

Due to time constraints on the staff, we cannot attend every event of which we are notified. If you have a picture of your event, we will gladly consider it for publication. But, please, contact us before your event.

It should be noted, each story and picture is dealt with on its individual merits. Any policies outlined above may be suspended by the editor or general manager of the Charlevoix Courier if necessary.

Huntington

A bank invested in people.

*Borrower-paid title insurance may also be required on line amounts greater than $359,650. For credit line products, minimum payment will not repay principal outstanding on your line. If you make only minimum monthly payments each month, you will have to pay the entire outstanding balance in a single payment when your account ends. Rates subject to change without notice. Advertised rate available on a Home Equity Personal Credit Line of $150,000 or greater. Your rate may be different based on Prime plus or minus a margin. The margin is based on your home's loan-to-value ratio, your credit history and the size of your credit line. Current Prime rate is 5.75% as of 4/16/05. Offer subject to application, credit approval and acceptable appraisal and title search. APR advertised is variable and can change monthly, but will never be higher than 18%. Rate also reflects a 0.25% discount for electronic transfer of payments from a Huntington deposit account. "Prime" means the "Bank Prime Loan" rate published by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in its statistical release H.15 (519) entitled "Selected Interest Rates." Use of the word "Prime" does not mean that the rate is the best or lowest rate offered by any lender. Annual fee is $50. Other rates available without an annual fee. Maximum loan-to-value ratio is 80.5%. Other credit line products available at different rates that require less equity. Credit lines available from $5,000. Insurance must be carried on the real property securing the account. There may be an early cancellation fee if you close your account within 3 years. Equal Housing Lender. SCRAPBOOK

Writer continues her trip down memory lane

Marilyn Boss
'Days gone by'

The forties were a good time to live, even though we didn't have the conveniences we have today.

Everyone made do with what they had, and there wasn't money for extras, but we enjoyed what we had.

Continuing on in 1940, Peter John and his wife Katie, lived on West Carpenter Street. He was a laborer. Mrs. Ida Johnson lived at 823 State Street with her children, Elveta, Marguerite and Andrew. Melvin Johnson and his wife Alice lived at 211 W. Hurlbut. He was a laborer, and his children were Melvin Jr., Andrew, Ernest and Wilma. Earl Johnson was a clerk at Martin Block Grocery. He and his wife Verna and children Oliver, Phyllis, Nuel, Paul and Martin, lived on Route One, near Barnard.

Joel Johnston owned Johnston's Dahlia Garden at the north city limits on Petoskey Avenue. He raised beautiful flowers on the corner where Uhricks trailer court is now located. Earl Johnston, who did upholstering and furniture repair work, and also lawn mower and scissor sharpening, lived with his mother, Florence, who was the widow of Henry. In later years, they moved to 305 Mason, where he continued his business. When Dale was a young boy, he would watch Earl as he upholstered furniture, picking up many tricks of the trade.

Dora Jones was the widow of Charles. Her daughter, Mildred, was bookkeeper for the Charlevoix Co Op. They lived at 102 W. Upright. Vernon Jones and his wife Edna Marie, lived at 409 W. Upright, and he was a driver for the Charlevoix Coal and Ice Co. Their son, Vernon Jr., also lived there.

Otto Kane was a mechanic for the Northern Auto Co., and he lived on Route Three, which was north of Charlevoix, near Burgess. Roy Kane and his wife, Ella, also lived on Route Three. Willis Kerns owned the Argonne. He and his wife, Blanche, lived on Petoskey Avenue. Crayton Kerr and his wife, Mary, lived on W. Carpenter Street. He was a laborer. Kathleen Ketchman and son Norman, lived at 110 East Hurlbut. Norm was an excellent basketball player when he was in high school, in later years.

Ernest Kibbe and wife Ola, owned Kibbe's store at 204 Antrim. He was a grocer. Their home was located at money for groceries they charged, and so he had them build his stone house. During hard times, people traded services and goods many times.

William Kibbe, Ernest's brother, lived at 104 Palmer with his wife, Rose. John and Evelyn Kincaid lived at 316 Mason. He was in the Coast Guard. Ella King and daughter, Lillian, lived at 203 Mason. She was the widow of George W. Their son, Georgie, was a clerk at F.J. Fessenden and Son. He also lived at 203 Mason. Hugh and Florence King lived at 225 Belvedere. Norman and Celia King lived with their son, Stuart at 115 E. Upright. Samuel and Eva King lived with their children, Robert, Lyle, Sallie Ann and Janet, at 112 W. Upright. He was a salesman for Charlevoix Oil Company. Ray Kipke and wife, Mabel, lived at 1002 Bridge Street. Their children were Nancy, Amy and Bennie. Mr. Kipke was the coach and mathematics teacher at Charlevoix High School. Kipke Field was named for him.

Harker Kirby lived at 408 W. Upright. Frederick Kirkpatrick owned the Kirkpatrick Dairy on Marion Center Road. He lived at 703 Bridge Street. Marie Klooster was a maid and lived at 409 Antrim. She was the daughter of Ralph and Frankie Klooster who lived on the Boal farm in Hayes Township. She later married Edward Heise. Marie's sisters were Esther and Dorothy. Arthur Knaffle owned Arts Gulf Service at 1211 Bridge St. Justus Knapp lived at 305 W. Lincoln with his daughter, Clarissa.

John Knight lived at 204 Belvedere. He became one of the best mayors Charlevoix ever had. He was instrumental in getting American Mold to locate here. Carl Kohler and his wife Benona, lived at 215 Park Avenue. He owned the Kohler Machine Shop, located at 213 1/2 Belvedere, where he offered welding, machine and marine work. Their children were Louis and Martha Jane. Jane later married Bob Lieberman, and they owned Lieberman's Clothing store. Rudy Korth raised chickens and he and his wife Julie, lived on South US-31, where they dressed poultry for sale. Lawrence Korth and wife, Anne, lived at 801 State Street, and he worked for his dad at the time. Luella Korth also lived there. LaVonia Krehak was a maid, and lived at 409 Antrim. Ellen Koskela was the Superintendent of the Charlevoix Hospital. She lived at 303 W. Hurlbut. Later, she married Mike Hamlin. Arthur and Gladys Krulik lived at 529 Petoskey Avenue. He was a clerk at the A & P food store. Josephine Krulik was a widow (Charles) and lived at 207 Nettleton. Charles Jr. and Spid Krulik also lived there. Frank Krulik lived at 429 Petoskey Ave., and was a fisherman. James and Betty Krulik lived at 412 Prospect. They had a daughter, Janet. He was the meat manager at the A & P food store. Kenneth Krulik was a fisherman, and he and his wife Nellie, and daughters, Wilma and Shirley lived at 410 Prospect. Emerald LaBlance was a fisherman and he and his wife, Helen, and son Paul, lived at 807 Bridge Street. The LaBlance Fish Market was owned by George E. and George A. LaBlance. George E. and his wife Laura, lived at 414 Antrim. Their daughters were Theresa and Suzanne.

George A. and his wife, Edna, lived at 105 W. Lincoln with their sons, John, Thomas, Steve and Brendon.

Lula LaPeer lived at 301 W. Upright. Cleo LaPeer also lived there, as did John and Richard Parsons. Harry and Mac Ladd lived at 203 State. Edward Lagerman and wife Margaret, lived at 214 Mason with their children, Norman, Clifford, Mary Alice, Frank, Eleanor Ann and Marjorie.

These are some of the people who lived and worked here in 1940, and writing about them and where they lived is an enjoyable time for me.

Ruling: $1 million to two former county employees

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

After hundreds of hours of hearings and depositions, two previous Charlevoix County employees were awarded over $1 million in damages last week in circuit court.

Grand Traverse Circuit Court Judge Thomas G. Power presided over the courtroom as a 6-person jury handed down the verdict. The decision awarded Sandra Ward and Jacqueline Rozema over $1 million in a Whistleblowers Act suit they filed against their former boss, previous Charlevoix County Prosecutor Mary Beth Kur.

"They were retaliated against after longtime employment because they simply told the truth — they were caught in the crossfire of the Kur, Jarema lawsuit," Grant Parsons, the Traverse City attorney representing Ward and Rozema, said.

The women's claims against Kur started in 2002 when they testified against her in a Whistleblowers Act case Kur's former assistant prosecutor John Jarema brought against her and the county. Both Ward and Rozema said Kur retaliated against them due to their testimony.

Jarema, the current county prosecutor, was present for much of the Ward and Rozema proceedings.

Some "retaliation" described by the women included denial of a conference attendance request, requiring attendance at regular staff meetings, issuance of a confidentiality policy and phone etiquette requirements. They said these new policies were compounded by the cool attitude allegedly being directed at them.

Parsons said these allegations See COUNTY, page 28

Goldstick to plead insanity

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

David Edward Goldstick is attempting to use an insanity defense for his alleged involvement in the recent slaying of former Charlevoix resident Hubert William (Bill) Brady.

According to Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema, Goldstick's defense attorney Robert Banner filed a Notice of Insanity Defense in Charlevoix Circuit Court last week.

"Take notice that the defendant in this case proposes to offer in his defense testimony to establish insanity at the time of the alleged offense and gives notice of his intention to claim the defense," Banner stated in the notice.

Jarema said an order for a criminal responsibility examination was signed by Judge Richard Pajtas during a scheduling conference late last week.

He added, Goldstick will be investigated by an examiner from the State of Michigan center for Forensic Psychiatry.

Three birthdays, one family, one day

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

Local second grade Charlevoix Elementary School teacher Nicole Sterrett isn't in the Guinness Book of World Records, but some think she should be.

Since her first pregnancy in 2001, Sterrett has had a child born every two years on May 8 without fail.

According to Toni Moriarty-Smith, manager of the women and children department in pediatrics at Northern Michigan Hospital, in her 20 years of work in the medical field, she has never seen anything like it.

"I think it must be really exciting for the family," Moriarty-Smith said. "It must be a really exciting time of year for them."

Sterrett said she and husband Todd love it.

"I think it's terrific," she said. "I think it's something that's pretty unique."

She added, "I was an only child growing up and I've always wondered what it would be like to have brothers and sisters, so I think it's kind of neat."

Sterrett gave birth to a girl, Libby Lee Sterrett in 2001 and two boys, Phillip Robert in 2003 and Patrick Michael in 2005.

While the due dates of the first two children were unplanned, Sterrett said once she and her husband learned it would be possible the third child could land on the May 8, they gave it a try.

"Our two-year-old doesn't really understand it, but he loves the baby," Sterrett said. "They are both thrilled that they have a new addition."

She added, "Our daughter thinks it's just great that she has two brothers for birthday gifts."

Sterrett isn't quite sure how they will celebrate next year, but she is certain all the kids will get their say as far as their special meal and dessert is concerned.

"They definitely get their own cake and their own birthday song," Sterrett added.

Friske Orchards celebrate blossoms

Friske Orchards will host its annual Blossom Festival, Saturday, May 21 with a full day of activities for families.

The festivities will begin with a pancake breakfast from 8 to 11 a.m. This will be followed by strolls through the blossoms, wagon rides and entertainment by John Marek, who portrays Johnny Appleseed and doubles as a musician, juggler and balloon artist.

Area author, Nancy Ritsema, will have her book Norwood available featuring the account of Norwood native William Harris, who introduced the resolution to the Michigan legislature in 1897 making the apple blossom the state flower.

Friske's Farm Market is located 10 miles south of Charlevoix, at Atwood, right on US-31. For more information, call (231) 599-2604 or visit the Friske web site at www.friske.com.

Former staff writer takes editor's seat

Julie Witthoef
'Just a thought'

Some long-time Charlevoix Courier readers are likely rubbing their eyes and feeling an unusual sense of déjà vu this week as they scan the paper and find my familiar name turning up in unfamiliar territory.

My name has been missing from Courier news copy since last spring when after four years as staff writer, I opted to spread my professional wings with the well-known local lighting component manufacturer, Spectrus-LexaLite.

At LexaLite I filled the marketing coordinator's position — assisting in the redesign of the Spectrus Inc. product catalog, helping formulate advertising copy as well as prepping for exciting domestic and international trade shows.

Charlevoix is fortunate to have such a well-respected manufacturer operating locally and employing a very talented group of professionals.

After a successful year in corporate America, I've accepted the Courier editor's position.

I opted to return after a professional epiphany that brought me to the conclusion that my brain runs like a well-oiled printing press. I am convinced journalists are a different breed. When I hear sirens I wonder where everyone is going and without fault I find a stranger at any event to ask a list of 50 questions.

While I share the excitement of being a writer with my colleagues, I share something else with our readers, a genuine love for this community.

Charlevoix is not only beautiful, it is a dynamic political hotbed, rich in history and chock full of opportunity. I am excited to have a front row seat as our town continues to evolve.

I want to thank those readers that made phone calls, stopped me in the grocery store and sent cards and flowers to welcome me back.

My opportunity to take over the helm means there will be a transition period as I get my feet wet. Bear with me, there are bound to be mistakes here and there.

Please also join me in wishing former Courier editor Jeremy McBain, all the best in his new post at the Petoskey News-Review. McBain was successful in increasing readership and confidence in the quality of this paper, a legacy I plan to continue.

Change needed in approach to education

Roger Knutson
'Ear to the ground'

Concern with the status of education in our country is at an all time high. Bill Gates says that our high schools are obsolete, and even those that are doing what they do well are not preparing students for the 21st century. As a person with a life-long career in education I have begun to wonder what can be done.

When I was a graduate student at Michigan State University (MSU) in the late 1950s, one of my fellow scholars was from New York. He would proudly say that in the state of New York it was possible to go from kindergarten through advanced graduate education in high quality public institutions with somewhere between low and no tuition costs for the individual student. The state of New York considered that a well-educated populace was worth what it cost to educate them. California at about the same time had a comparable and widely-envied public education system. Neither of those systems is envied today.

I taught for five years as a graduate student at MSU and for 30 years in private higher education. I have developed some prejudices about how education should be accomplished, which I would like to share.

Improvement in education comes not from testing or specific curricula, but from respect for the educator. To put it another way, education cannot be enhanced by demeaning teachers. Some teachers are certainly better than others, but the vast majority are way better than no teacher at all. Teachers as a minority in the population are an easy target of demagogues who can make the claim that teachers and teacher's unions are involved in some sort of liberal conspiracy to brainwash students into believing in evolution and gay marriage. Demoralizing teachers is no way to improve education.

The urge of those in positions of political power, from school boards to secretaries of education, and even presidents, to control what is to be taught is a strong one.

Freedom of the classroom and tenure for experienced teachers is almost the only way to prevent that from occurring. Tenure is not primarily about job security, it is about being able to speak truth to power and not to lose your job because you have spoken.

Certainly, teachers make mistakes, but left mostly to their own devices they don't all make the same mistakes, and society as a whole can benefit from that democratic operation. Allowing a wide variety of teachers to choose what will be taught and how it will be taught is certainly superior to having one or more non-teachers make those choices for reasons of politics, economics or ideology.

Charlevoix has a fine and progressive school system, at least in part because we don't spend time denigrating our corps of teachers. Respect for teachers and what they do is at the heart of a superior education system. Standardized testing, appropriate funding, modern facilities and a challenging curriculum are all well and good, but if local or national leadership demeans teachers, education will suffer, and even Bill Gates will not be able to save it.

Respect for the group of people doing their important job has a broader significance. Justice is undermined by disrespect for judges. The function of law is undermined by disrespect for lawyers as a group. It is not possible to treat doctors as money-grubbing, self-interested hacks and simultaneously build confidence in health care. And finally, a society's leaders cannot ridicule intellectuals and claim to respect clear thinking. If we see ourselves as doing important and worthwhile work, surely we can see the work of theirs as equally valuable.

Roger Knutson is a columnist for the Charlevoix Courier. He can be contacted by calling (231) 547-6558 or e-mailing news@charlevoixcourier.com.

Second Amendment rights
Editor:

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed. (Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution)

We often hear that the Second Amendment only guarantees the right of states to have a Militia (National Guard). The people who make this argument call this the "collective rights" interpretation of the Second Amendment. Others talk about changing times and that the right to keep and bear arms applied only while serving in the militia. Because the militia, as it existed in 1789, no longer exists, the right to keep and bear arms has evaporated. This is called the "conditional rights" interpretation.

Both arguments have been extensively discussed and rejected in a Federal Circuit Court case called United States v. Emerson. The following is part of that case: The Second Amendment states that "the people" have the right to keep and bear arms. The collective right advocates state that this means the collective people and not individuals.

These folks ignore the fact that the first amendment also talks about right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances..." and the Fourth Amendment guarantees, "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures." No one states that the right to be safe from unreasonable search or the right to peaceably assemble belongs to the government and not individuals.

So, the right to keep and bear arms is an individual right. The second amendment is embedded within the Bill of Rights. Every one of the other rights and freedoms set forth in the first nine amendments of the Bill - whether or not phrased as a "right of the people" - protects individuals, not governments; none of the Bill of Rights provisions protect persons only in connection with service to the government.

Article I, section 8, clause 16 of the Constitution states that Congress shall have the power, "To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining, the Militia." Why would the Second Amendment be inserted to establish a Militia that had already been established in Article I? I have been asked how I felt about guns and I said "It's hard to have any feelings about inanimate objects." I feel supportive about the right to own guns; I disapprove of crimes committed with guns. But I have no emotional feeling about the gun itself. Too often people who support the right to keep and bear arms are trapped into emotional arguments by people who actually have an emotional dislike of that inanimate object. We are often drawn into arguments that attack the Second Amendment but, the Second Amendment exists and that should be the end of the discussion.

No justification is needed for freedom of speech, or the right to remain silent, or the right to be represented by an attorney or the right to have a jury trial. Neither is justification needed for the second amendment. All of our freedoms have served us well. Our country's continued existence is their justification. They need not be further justified.

Norwood steeple fund

Editor:
First, I would like to thank the staff at the Courier and especially Benjamin Gots for the wonderful article on the Norwood United Methodist Church steeple project. We really appreciate the article.

Secondly, I'd like those in the community who would like to see the steeple back in place to know that there is a fund called the Norwood UMC Steeple Fund in place. Contributions to the fund can be sent to the fund in care of George Light at 19814 Lake Street, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

We have a huge task before us since we are a small congregation but with help and perseverance, we hope to hear the bell ring again over Norwood.

Recognizing service

Editor:
We have all, throughout our lifetime, met outstanding individuals who've made the lives of others more successful and much more enjoyable. There are two ladies in our community who have consistently, year after year, done just that. I thought it was way past time that we all say "thank you" to these wonderful individuals who've made our little town a much nicer place.

I am speaking about Edith Gilbert - local author, etiquette expert and Kathy Johnson - in charge of fundraising at our hospital. If you get a chance to take a look at the very complimentary article about Edith in the new Traverse Magazine, it says it all. Her dedication to this community, her tireless efforts have made us all better people because she's here with us. It is always nice to know how to hold a fork, knife and be sure to get that thank you card in the mail after someone has done something nice for you. As we all know, it's the little things in life that make us all so happy.

Kathy Johnson by force of personality and outstanding effort has raised millions and millions of dollars for our hospital, and supervised our wonderful volunteers that make it possible for the hospital to be what it is today. As I said at a dedication program for her last week, "she is like the statue in front of the hospital with a small boy carrying a hurt lamb on his back to get him help", she has done the very same thing for us and our hospital. She has since retired and will be calling the state of Virginia her new home.

Both of these individuals have and will continue to make Charlevoix beautiful. Thanks again ladies for all of the things you have done for us.

Find a water hobby

Editor:
I think more people should get involved in water activities in the summer. We have lots of lakes around us, and the water can supply good hobbies. People need to respect the water, they would respect it more.

Without a doubt you can agree we have lots of bodies of water near us. We're near Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan. Lake Superior and Lake Huron are relatively close to us too. With the lakes so close to us, it would be easy to get involved in water activities.

Next, is that people need to respect the water because they need to treat the water better and perhaps then they would know more about how it acts. Maybe if people respected the water they could know when the water was going to be hazardous or, where it was dangerous.

Finally, the water can provide good hobbies. Two good water hobbies are scuba diving and boating. Jet skiing and fishing are good hobbies. It shouldn't be too hard to find a water pastime that you enjoy.

I think more people should get more water hobbies. It shouldn't be tough to get a water hobby around here with all the lakes around. I hope that this summer you will remember what you have read about getting involved in water activities.

Which maxim has experience proved to be more truthful? Democracies are peaceful nations. Peace through strength. War increases the national military industrial complex expenditures and power.

Child and Family Services offers new foster care program

Child and Family Services of Northwestern Michigan is pleased to announce its continuing partnership with the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation with a new program award.

The Independent Living Program helps youth in foster care obtain the skills they need to live successfully as adults when they age out of the foster care system. The program provides information and education about how to complete job applications, interview, budget their money, rent a house or apartment and opportunities for higher and vocational education. Field trips include a visit to the bank and to the grocery store to learn first hand about service, the cost of food and healthy, low-cost meals.

"The Independent Living Program is one answer to the needs of teens whose biological parents have been unable to teach them skills that we often take for granted," said Jim Scherrer, Child and Family Services Executive Director. "Young people respond very well to this kind of active approach to skills-building and for many of them it's the difference between applying for a job and actually getting and keeping one. We anticipate a great group thanks to the support of the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation."

Child and Family Services has provided northwestern Michigan with foster care, adoption, counseling and prevention programs since 1937.

Sheriff's office to give boating safety classes

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office will be offering boating safety classes at the following dates and times.

- 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 18 at Charlevoix Middle School
- 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 25 at Walloon Lake Country Club
- 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. July 12 at Boyne City Middle School
- 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. July 19 and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 30 at Charlevoix Middle School
- 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. August 6 at Walloon Lake Country Club.

Minimum age for class attendance is 12. Students should bring date of birth information with them for registration purposes. It is recommended that students eat prior to class or bring a small snack because there will be no meal time.

If you currently have an on-line boating safety certificate, you must take a proctored test and received a state honored boating safety certificate. The state only honors on-line course complete certificates that have been verified by proctored Michigan exam.

The proctored exam will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 17 in Charlevoix's East Park Pavilion.

This is only for those who have an on-line boating safety certificate. Individuals will take the state exam and are free to leave upon successful completion.

Students receiving a satisfactory test grade will receive their Michigan Boating Safety Certificate at the conclusion of the course.

Completion of the class is mandatory for individuals born after December 31, 1978 to operate a personal water craft (jet ski), for juveniles between the ages of 12 and 16 to operate a boat and for parents that allow their children between the ages of 12 and 14 to operate a personal water craft. Parent must be riding with the child during operation.

For more information call the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office Marine Division at (231)547-4461, ext. 320.

S.A.N.E. investigates local drug use

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

You may not be able to buy crack cocaine on the corner of Bridge Street and Park Avenue in Charlevoix, but it is available.

Over the last few years the Straits Area Narcotics Enforcement Team (S.A.N.E.) has made some large busts in the area yielding cocaine, marijuana and even heroin.

"We have been a little busier than times in the past," said Detective Lieutenant Ken Mills, Unit Commander of S.A.N.E. "It comes in streaks, though we have seen an increase in marijuana busts recently."

According to Mills, S.A.N.E. is comprised of nine sworn officers, a prosecutor and two administrative assistants.

"We are always doing big operations, but people who are not in the drug community don't know what we're doing," Mills said. "What we do is identify trends of illegal drug use and sales, we identify traffickers and trafficking organizations and we develop criminal cases on those persons."

He added, "We have had some big cases over the past year here that affected Charlevoix County," Mills said. "We had a case where a guy was bringing up kilo quantities of cocaine."

According to Mills, the investigation which started around the end of 2003 yielded several indictments resulting in four people going to federal prison.

"What they were doing was teaching people how to make crack to get people hooked on that and sell it," he said.

Mills added, that this is an ongoing case and while many details cannot be relinquished, more arrests are planned.

"In November 2003 we seized about 300 grams (approximately three quarters of a pound) of cocaine and an ounce of crack cocaine," he said.

According to Mills, the going price for a gram of powdered cocaine is about $100 which makes for high profitability. Though street drugs are a major concern, there is a growing problem that many people aren't aware of.

"One of the things we've seen that's been an increasing problem in our area is the abuse of prescription drugs," Mills said.

He added, "Part of the problem is the availability of prescription drugs. With cocaine and heroin people generally go down state to get it, but prescriptions are fairly easy to get."

Some people take advantage of the availability of prescription drugs because there is so much money in it. In fact most prescription medication on the street found its way there through a legally obtained prescription.

"Oxycontin is one of the more popular drugs and we pay upwards of $75 for an 80 milligram pill, so you can see the amount of money involved," he said.

People who sell their prescription drugs often do so as a means of supplementing their income when they have financial troubles.

According to Mills, Oxycontin, methadone, Vicodin and other prescription drugs are just as addictive as street drugs, but are more readily available.

"They don't have the stigma like crack cocaine or heroin, but they can be just as deadly as street drugs," he said.

"Everyone is affected in some way by substance abuse," Mills said. "Whether you have a friend or family member who uses drugs or a stranger driving down the road posing a potential threat to your well-being."

"It's out there, we're not immune to it in northern Michigan,"

Courtesy photo

The large amount of heroin, hypodermic needles and marijuana confiscated during a drug raid by the S.A.N.E. task force is just the tip of the proverbial iceberg as both street and prescription drug abuse increase in the area.

he said.

According to the Michigan Department of Community Health, drug related deaths in the seven county area the department covers, including Charlevoix County, have steadily increased from four in the year 2000 to 12 in 2003.

"And we expect 2004 to be even worse," Mills said.

He added, "We're the only strictly narcotics investigators in the seven counties we work including Charlevoix county and we try to have the biggest impact we can."

Uniforms Unlimited now offers medical equipment

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Special to the Courier

Uniforms Unlimited, located in the Glen's plaza on M-66, has expanded its business to include selling and renting medical equipment. Owner Cynthia L. Cebulski said she decided to start offering medical equipment because she saw there was a need in this area.

"You couldn't get it in Charlevoix. You had to drive to Petoskey or Harbor Springs," she said.

With an ill family member or someone that has just gone through an operation, driving long distances like that can be a challenge.

So, Cebulski decided the time was right to expand her already busy uniform sales business.

Uniforms Unlimited offers customers many types of medical supplies, such as walkers, wheelchairs and oxygen equipment. Medicare, Medicaid and Blue Cross/Blue Shield are accepted.

"It has been well received," Cebulski said.

She stressed the business continues to sell uniforms of all types and this is just an expansion of the company.

Uniforms Unlimited is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday.

It can be contacted by calling (231) 237-9605.

Cynthia Cebulski (left) and Renee Cebulski are now offering medical equipment at their business Uniforms Unlimited.

Charlevoix officer memorialized

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

Nearly 40 years after his death in the line of duty, Charlevoix policeman Earl William Crandall was honored.

Crandall died on the evening of July 20, 1966, but several decades passed before his name would appear on the wall lining the walk at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington D.C. His honor finally came to fruition, thanks to his daughter, Debbie Crandall Stutzman and Charlevoix City Police Chief Dennis Halverson.

"I think the initial effort started about two years ago when we asked Debbie to participate in the program," Halverson said.

According to Halverson, he suggested to Stutzman that her father's name be put on the memorial among the over 17,000 men and women who gave their lives in service.

"One thing kind of lead to another and we had discussions about the possibility that his (Crandall's) death would meet the criteria for his name to be put on the memorial in Washington," he said. "We asked that he (Crandall) be considered and we were notified eventually that he did meet the criteria to be put on the wall."

From articles written about Crandall after his death, people had many nice things to say about him and the fact that he had a knack for dealing with young people, Halverson said.

He added, "He drove the school bus as well as being a police officer. I think it showed by the second job he chose to take, that he enjoyed young people."

Born in 1909 and raised in Charlevoix, Crandall was 57 when he died while struggling with a suspect during a traffic stop. He managed to subdue the suspect and then died of a heart attack directly following the scuffle.

"The night he died, I remember him coming into our family's restaurant and taking a break," Stutzman said. "He came in and had coffee and was talking and laughing about some of his experiences in his job."

According to Stutzman, at one time her father and his wife Esme Crandall owned Esme's Grill which was in the building where the Flight Deck currently operates. In all Crandall had four children including three sons: Roger, Ronald and Scott.

"I know he really liked young people. He was always very involved in family activities," Stutzman said.

She said her father worked on boats, drove a bus for the Detroit Street Railways, was a member of the Masons and even chauffeured for R. E. Olds of Oldsmobile.

"He had a pretty interesting life," she added.

Stutzman and her husband went to Washington D.C. last week for a gathering in honor of all officers for National Police week, May 15-21. There was a candlelight vigil May 13, where Crandall, along with the names of 414 other deceased officers were officially recognized on the walls lining the memorial walkway.

"I think we're all very pleased and think it's long overdue," Stutzman said. "But mostly (we're) pleased that he's honored because he was dedicated to his profession as a policeman and to the youth in Charlevoix."

"He was always willing to give them a chance," she added.

Stutzman said it is wonderful that Halverson wants to make sure Crandall is remembered not only by the family, but Charlevoix as a whole for his work in the community.

Stutzman said, "The family would really like to thank Dennis Halverson because he is really the one who pursued this and we really appreciate that he made it happen."

According to Ronald Dean Crandall, Officer Crandall's second oldest, he was away from home in 1966 when he heard the news.

"I had just turned 18 and I was stationed down in Texas," he said. "The chaplain told me in the middle of the night, Two or three in the morning and I flew home the next day."

Crandall's son said he remembered that his father worked much of the time in order to take care of his family.

"He'd go to our games and school functions when he could, but he worked the evening shift with the police station and then worked at the fire hall when he wasn't on duty as a policeman," he said.

"Pretty much a normal upbringing in Charlevoix in the 1950s and 1960s," he added.

According to Crandall's son, his father deserves the honor for working nearly 17 years between the police and fire departments.

"I think it's really about time," he said. "He's a Charlevoix native who put in a lot of years in the police force."

Crandall's name is located on panel 55, at West-24 in the memorial at Judiciary Square in Washington D.C.

Trails council to conduct Trails Day ride/walk event

The Top of Michigan Trails Council will be conducting a hike ride/walk on the paved, non-motorized Little Traverse Wheelway from Charlevoix to Bay Harbor's East Park along Lake Michigan on National Trails Day, June 4.

Outdoor enthusiasts around the country will be participating in trail-related events on that day. The theme of Trails Day is always health-related, and this year it is "Take the Path to a Healthier You."

The event will be a fund-raiser to assist in the development of trails in Northern Lower Michigan.

Participants may turn around at any point on the trail and do not need to ride/walk the entire 26-mile round trip. Suggested turn around points are the Adams Roadside Park—7 miles round trip; West Park—16 miles round trip or East Park—26 miles round trip. Restrooms and picnic tables are available at each of these locations.

Sign-in, start and late registration are at the Charlevoix Township Hall at the corner of Waller and Old Orchard roads. Start between 9 a.m.-11 a.m. Registration before May 27 and pay $10. After May 27, the fee is $15 each. There is no charge for children 12 and under.

All those paying a registration fee will receive a t-shirt, snacks and be eligible for door prizes provided by Charlevoix area merchants.

The Top of Michigan Trails Council, is celebrating its tenth anniversary this year, has as its mission to advocate and facilitate the development of safe, year-round trails in Antrim, Alpena, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Montmorency, Otsego and Presque Isle counties.

The Trails Council, is an all-volunteer non-profit organization with headquarters in Petoskey. Registration fees for this ride will go toward furthering its mission.

The Little Traverse Wheelway concept predates the Trails Council, with efforts to link Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs via a paved trail going back to the late 1970s. Construction started with the portion of the trail through Bayfront Park in Petoskey in the late 1980s. The only sections remaining to be built are a 1.4-mile stretch between Bay Harbor and Petoskey and a three-mile section into Harbor Springs. Work to obtain easements for those sections is continuing; the easements are expected to be in place this year.

For information or registration, please go to www.trailscouncil.org or contact the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce at 800-951-2101.

The race for city council seats is on

By JEREMY MCBAIN
Special to the Courier

Charlevoix voters in the first ward will be heading to the polls Aug. 2 for a city council primary.

According to Charlevoix City Clerk Carol Ochs, the seat of first ward councilman Robert Timms needs to go to primary because three people have submitted petitions for it. They are Timms, Rebecca Swayze-Doan and Steven Bennet.

"It should be real interesting," said Timms about the election this year.

Timms, known for his penny-pinching style on council, said he was looking forward to the general election in November, but was not excited about having to go to a primary election in August.

"It would be nicer if there were just two and it would go to the November election and not have the expense of a primary," he said.

Petitions for city council candidates were due at the city clerk's office Tuesday, May 10.

The second ward's Bill Bellows is up for reelection, as well as Timms. He will be facing Eugene Beer in the November general election.

Finally, the third ward's Shirley Gibson is also up for reelection. However, no candidates have filed to run against her.

Ochs said write-in candidates for both the primary and general election will be accepted up to the Friday before that election.

Donations sought for senior party

Charlevoix High School senior class parents are looking for donations for this year's senior party.

For the past 15 years, the parents of the senior class have hosted an all night graduation party to give graduates a safe way to celebrate.

A change in venue has been made this year to offer more surprises for students and to increase attendance.

But, the parents committee is still in need of cash donations to make the evening affordable to all students. They are requesting cash donations be sent to the high school on Marion Center Road.

Student tickets for the event go on sale Thursday, May 19 for $30 per student.

Hospice auction to take place at Castle

The 2005 Hospice of Northwest Michigan Auction will be June 3 at Castle Farms.

Through the generosity of local businesses and patrons, funds will be raised to help offset volunteer and bereavement services provided to Antioch, Charlevoix, Emmet and Oshtemo counties.

Donations will be grouped in package form this year, combining similar themes to showcase unique items from persons and businesses supporting Hospice of Northwest Michigan. A single item example features an original oil painting by artist Martha Landis titled "New Orleans Flower Shop." A kayak has also been donated. There is a large range of items and there is something for everyone.

Festivities will begin at 5:30 p.m. with the silent auction. Jim White and Jeff MacFarlane are two lively auctioneers who will ensure an entertaining evening beginning about 7:30 p.m. Margaret Thomson, a local pianist, will provide music before the five auction begins. Tickets are $30.00. Prizes include a complimentary beverage, a chance to win a $300 or a $200 door prize and hors d'oeuvres provided by Sayre's Catering, Mancelona, Grey Gables, Charlevoix and Darlene's Restaurant, East Jordan.

Tickets are available at Boyne Country Books in Boyne City, Busby

Bridge Antiques in East Jordan, The Clothing Company in Charlevoix, Orchard Hills LTD in Bellaire and at the door. The Hospice Office should be contacted regarding any questions (231) 582-2842.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan is working in partnership with Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency to provide a comprehensive hospice program for those facing a life limiting illness.

Technology plan for schools underway

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

Today's youth seem to have the reputation of being computer savvy and Charlevoix Public Schools want to keep it that way.

The Charlevoix School Board has a plan to help ensure the technological literacy of all its students while qualifying for much needed state funding.

"In order to tap into those funds you have to have a plan," said Dr. John Sturock, Superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools. "And it's good to have a long-range plan to be on top of technology."

The plan was originally implemented in 1995 with the idea that learning is a lifelong process which includes technology.

"Every few years we revisit it and update it," said District Technology Coordinator Scott Mays. "We actually try to integrate technology into all aspects of the curriculum so it's not a stand alone learning process."

The No Child Left Behind Act levied some technological literacy requirements but that's not why Mays and a group of teachers crafted the plan.

Mays said, "Even before any of this came about we've been working on a K-12 technology curriculum to make sure our students are exposed to all the technology they will encounter during their lives."

Bryan Roloff Memorial set for Sunday

The Eleventh Annual Bryan Roloff Memorial Benefit will take place May 22 at the Flight Deck and Paul Bunyan Lanes from 2 p.m. to midnight.

Eight bands will play all day: 3 p.m. Bumpus Hound, 4 p.m. Namus, 5 p.m. Dogwood Sandwich, 7 p.m. Stunt Coyote, 8 p.m. Mojo and the Boogiemans, 9 p.m. Model Citizen and 10 p.m. The Push.

Bryan Roloff, the man behind the gathering was a talented guitarist and opened up for Foghat/Nazareth on May 2, 1993 in Traverse City just days before he suffered a brain tumor and died May 6, 1994. Bryan was only 30 years old.

"This Memorial Concert is just the type of event Bryan would have enjoyed and a way for the Roloff family, fellow musicians and friends to keep his music and spirit alive while helping someone else," Shirley Roloff, Bryan's mom, said.

This year's proceeds will go to Jim Hart (AKA) Jay Anthony who was in an accident and is paralyzed. Jay (Jim) was a DJ for Lite 96 Radio and also did Karaoke at the Flight Deck for some time (please stop by to wish him well).

Doors open at 2 p.m., admission is $7 (includes dinner).

The plan also calls for enhanced communication with students, staff, parents and the community via the district/school web site which will provide all aspects of information about the schools as well as online parental access to grades and attendance.

Other goals include students becoming technologically skilled by the end of eighth grade.

"The benefit for everybody is through the use of technology and a district wide K-12 curriculum that students are able to learn at a higher level," Mays said. "We realize that technology isn't the end all of learning, but it's a very important tool."

Some of the perks of having a technology plan have already been realized by the school system, according to Mays.

"We've probably averaged, since 1998, between $20,000 and $30,000 a year in refunds and discounts in telecommunications services that we can invest in technology. We've also received about $90,000 to $100,000 in grant money directly related to having a technology plan in place," he said.

Many parts of the plan, such as a computer in every classroom, are already in place.

"Having a computer in every classroom isn't a one time investment because eventually they have to be replaced. So much of that plan is designed to cover the updating and replacement of existing technology," Mays said.

In order to achieve its goals of access to up-to-date multimedia, telecommunications networks and Internet resources, the district must acquire new technologies on a regular basis while old technologies are simultaneously evaluated.

"The goal is to replace computers after no more than five years and to update or replace software after no more than three years," the plan authors state.

Funding will be sought for certain parts of the plan and some of it is paid for by vocational programs such as nursing, CAD and others.

"The two computer labs at the high school were bought out of funds from the programs they run," he said.

This is a draft intended to give the board some direction on how to proceed. The final plan, complete with costs will be presented at the June 13 school board meeting which will take place at 7 p.m. in the media center at Charlevoix High School.

Mays said, "The district is working on a budget forecast to identify future needs, but as with every other aspect of the school finances we're looking for other avenues of funding."

Mays added, "Don't get budget forecast mixed up with budget commitment. We want people to see what the district is doing and have them get involved."

Charlevoix residents roughed it 100 years ago

Karen Lewis works to get the 100 Years of Charlevoix display ready. It will include this scale model windmill built by Clarence Bartlett.

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff Writer

In 1905 the New York Giants won the World Series, Mark Twain turned 70 and Bloody Sunday provoked a revolt by working class Russians.

Charlevoix might not have been permeated by excitement and chaos by world standards, but there was still quite a hit going on in the city's first year.

"Bridge Street had only been paved for a year and the other streets were made of dirt," said Harsha House Curator Dave Miles. "So you had mud conditions in wet weather and blowing grit and dirt in dry weather. This was also the era of no snowplows, so you can imagine what the conditions were like."

According to Miles, before the advent of the automobile, it was so quiet in Charlevoix you could sit on your front porch and hear absolutely nothing.

"The first car arrived in 1904, so cars were a real rarity in 1905," he said. "The main transport was by boat or by train."

This lack of cars also meant an increase in horses inside the city limits.

"Runaway horses were common on Bridge Street and people in the downtown area often kept cows in their backyards," Miles said. "It was not unusual for a cow to break out and wander downtown."

Entertainment options may seem to exist to a lesser extent in Charlevoix than in larger cities, but a century ago the locals found more than a few ways to have a good time.

"We had no movie theaters, so your entertainment was always live and it was either in the Lewis Grand Opera House or Bartholomew Hall," Miles said. "They brought in traveling shows, plays, musicals and lecturers."

In addition to the shows, there were a few winter sports to keep you occupied.

"If conditions were right you could skate on Lake Michigan. If they were good enough you could skate from north to south point," he said. "And, you could iceboat on Lake Charlevoix which was a real thrill because a 50 mph wind could accelerate you up to 90 mph."

As beautiful a town as it was, Miles said, parts of Charlevoix had serious issues with sanitation.

"The waterfront on the Bridge Street side of Round Lake was an utter disgrace," he said. "All the store owners on

See CENTENNIAL, page 19

Miles shares history leading up to centennial

Bridge Street threw their trash behind them. It was rat infested, it stank, it smoldered and it was dangerous to walk through."

In 1905, groceries and dairy products were delivered to your door by horse-drawn carriage in summer and horse-drawn sleigh in winter.

The fourth bridge over the channel was the second swing bridge, which moved from side to side in order to let tall boats pass, which according to Miles, the local kids thoroughly enjoyed.

"When the bridge was ready to open and the bridge tender's attention was focused on the boat, they (kids) would run down underneath and climb onto the undercarriage and hang on," Miles said. "There were instances of these daredevil kids making faces at the passengers and the crew as the portholes passed."

Since saw dust is an excellent insulator, ice houses and lumber yards had a symbiotic relationship in 1905 with one situated right next to the other.

And, Miles said, while barely anyone had indoor plumbing, cold food was common.

"Everybody had an icebox," he said. "Ice was stored in warehouses on Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix."

He added, "You would have ice delivered to your house year-round."

Telecommunications have come a long way since Charlevoix's early days as a city, according to Miles.

"Your phones didn't have any dials or buttons on them so your phone was connected to a switchboard downtown," Miles said. "The operator would say, 'Number please,' and when you were connected she would plug you into that number on the switchboard."

If the operator recognized your voice, there would generally be an exchange of pleasantries along with an update on the hot town gossip before you were connected.

When someone wasn't feeling well, you could use your new phone to call your family doctor.

"We didn't have a hospital at that time, so you either went to the doctor or the doctor came to see you," he said. "House calls were a common occurrence."

There was also quite a difference in fashion, Miles said.

"You showed up to high school in a white shirt, jacket and tie. And the girls wore long dresses," he said.

On the beach, women wore wool swimsuits which allowed only their arms, neck and face to show.

"They were clad to the tips of their toes," Miles said.

He added, physical laborers often wore shirts, ties and vests to work, everybody wore long underwear in colder months and with the exception of winter, all laundry was hung outside to dry.

"So everybody saw everybody else's personal belongings," Miles said. "There were no secrets."

'Operation Petunia' is set for Thursday May 26

Charlevoix residents and visitors will once again be out in force May 26 for the annual Operation Petunia.

Each year the organization Keep Charlevoix Beautiful welcomes summer with a large planting party in town. Residents and visitors team up to plant petunias on five miles of Bridge Street, both sides of the road.

Planting starts at 5 p.m. from Mercer Boulevard to the municipal airport and usually takes about an hour. There will be block captains, identified by their orange vests, who will direct volunteers, answer questions and give out picnic coupons good for hot dogs, chips, cookies and refreshments.

The picnic in East Park for the volunteers begins at 6 p.m.

It is suggested that volunteers dress for the weather in comfortable clothing. You should also bring garden gloves and towels.

The event brings out about 800 volunteers each year.

After the planting, the flowers are weeded four times a season by the Charlevoix Band Boosters and watered by Dale and Marilyn Boss with the Petunia Truck.

The petunias cost about $13,000 and are funded by individual and business donations.

Donations can be made to: Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, P.O. Box One, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

There will also be a Petunia Brunch on Sunday, July 17 at the Grey Gables. Tickets are $35 — with $15 being tax deductible — and will be available at the petunia planting picnic.

If you purchase a ticket at the picnic, you will also get a free six pack of petunias to take home.

For more information, call Marell Staffell, Keep Charlevoix Beautiful vice president, at 547-2561.

Rayder baseball team tallies one win and three losses

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

Rayder pitcher Jake Teuscher had a superior week on the mound but it wasn't enough to keep the Charlevoix baseball squad from having a 1-3 week in the Lake Michigan Conference.

Teuscher threw two complete games, allowing only five hits in 11 innings. He walked only one and struck out eight. But due to a lack of hitting support, Teuscher was 1-1, losing to Traverse City St. Francis, 2-0 and heating Boyne City, 1-0.

In the Rayders' other games, they lost to St. Francis, 7-6 and to Boyne, 3-2.

"It was disappointing," said Coach Bryan Hawkins, "But I felt we took some steps as a team and a program."

In game one against St. Francis, Teuscher held the Gladiators to only two runs on four hits but Charlevoix managed only four hits themselves — by Jake Teuscher, Matt Teuscher, Tyler Bier and Ezra Bakker.

"It was a frustrating game for us as a team in many ways," Hawkins observed. "We had enough opportunities to score but made some crucial base running mistakes that really cost us in the end."

In game two, the Rayders led 5-1 through five innings but the Glads tied the game with a four-run rally in the bottom of the sixth and won it in eight innings on a two-out, two-run single.

Bier took the loss in relief. Eddie Waldron threw 5 1/3 innings, giving up four runs, one earned and striking out three.

Waldron had three hits and an RBI. Bier had two hits and an RBI. Matt Teuscher doubled and scored.

Logan Niswander had a pinch-hit RBI single. Jake Teuscher, Bakker and Michael Wojan all had hits as well.

The opener against Boyne was a classic pitcher's duel with Jake Teuscher and Boyne's Caleb Helsley going head to head. Charlevoix scored the game's only run in the top of the first with Jake Teuscher reaching on an error, followed by infield singles by Wojan and Bier.

Niswander then reached on an error, plating Teuscher.

That sole run was all Jake would need as he carried a no-hitter into the bottom of the sixth. A bloop single was the only blemish on his game but he finished up the 1-0 win.

The Rayders had only three hits themselves with Cliff Jones getting the only safety after the first inning.

In the nightcap, the Ramblers broke a 2-2 deadlock in the bottom of the fifth and scored the decisive run.

Waldron took yet another tough loss, yielding seven hits, three runs, one earned in a five inning complete game. He walked only one and struck out five.

Jake Teuscher had two hits. Matt Teuscher, Waldron, Wojan and Jones each had hits.

The Rayders (8-11 overall, 4-6 conference) hosted Cheboygan on Tuesday, May 17. Results will appear in next week's Courier. Charlevoix hosts Harbor Light Christian on Friday, May 20.

The Rayder tennis team heads into post-season undefeated

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

The Varsity Rayder tennis squad is headed into conference and regional meets this week after closing regular season play undefeated. "I'm excited, we've had a great year leading up to this," Erik Lundteigen, the varsity tennis coach said. "If these guys play well we have a great chance of winning."

The team kicked off the biggest week of competition for the year this Tuesday, May 17 at the conference tennis meet at Petoskey High School. In conference play, eight teams competed for the conference title. Results from this meet were not available by press time.

The team will close the week May 20 in regional play. Regional play for Charlevoix tennis singles players will take place at 9 a.m. at Traverse City Central High School and doubles players will face opponents at 9 a.m. at Traverse City West High School.

Lundteigen said his players are confident heading into this week's competitions. The group celebrated an 8-0 defeat over Boyne City May 10 and a 4-4 tie against Harbor Springs late last week.

In singles play at the Harbor Springs meet Adam Wager tallied a win while fellow singles players Nate Turner, Matt Novotny and Justin Klooster recorded losses.

Strong doubles play at Harbor Springs carried the group to its split finish with doubles teams Sparky Nitchman and Taylor Martin, Mitch Klooster and Andrew Mailloux and Dustin Dibble and Dan Swenor recording wins. Doubles team Cody Wheat and Mike Greyerbeil lost.

Rayder track teams finish strong at invitational

The Charlevoix High School varsity boys' track team took first May 12 at the East Jordan Invitational while the girls' team took fourth.

The Rayder boys had a score of 128. Harbor Springs was in second with a score of 97.33.

The girls had a score of 60. Cheboygan was in first with a score of 150.

Individual results for the boys were:

• 3200 meter relay — The team of Theresa Martin, Lindi Edger, Shannon Dibble and Brittney Lamb with a time of 10 minutes, 9.38 seconds.

• 100 meter hurdles — Emily Heffling in third with a time of 16.82 seconds.

• 800 meter relay — The team of Heffling, Sonya Plude, Robyn Petzak and Elizabeth Madison in third with a time of 1 minute, 53.17 seconds.

• 1600 meter run — Lindi Edger in fourth with a time of 5 minutes, 40.62 seconds.

• 400 meter relay — The team of

Plude, Petzak, Caitlin Ernst and Emily

Heffling in third with a time of 54.31 seconds.

• 400 meter dash — Betsy Dennis in sixth with a time of 1 minute, 5.61 seconds.

• 300 meter low hurdles — Heffling in third with a time of 50.91.

• 800 meter run — Brittney Lamb in third with a time of 2 minutes, 28.94 seconds.

• 200 meter dash — Petzak in fourth with a time of 28.34 seconds.

• 1600 meter run — The team of Theresa Martin, Betsy Dennis, Shannon Dibble and Elizabeth Madison with a time of 4 minutes, 18.91 seconds.

Against Boyne City, the Ramblers scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Brittany Niswander had two hits. Mitchell had the big hit, a three RBI double. Spencely, Faust and Kelly all singled.

In the nightcap, Haselschwardt and Gillespie had the Rayder hits. Faust again took both pitching losses.

Charlevoix hosted Cheboygan on Tuesday, May 17 but results were unavailable at press time.

Lady Rayder soccer shuts out rival Harbor Springs

Charlevoix prevailed in a tight battle of rivals facing Harbor Springs at home Monday.

The Rayders connected for the game's only score 25 minutes into the first half. Freshman Becca Madison sent a nice corner to the far post where senior Jaime Pettis sent the ball home. Charlevoix controlled most of the first half. Harbor was able to mount only one shot opportunity.

The Rayders continued their control into the second half but with about 15 minutes left, a stoppage in play allowed Harbor to gain momentum. The Rams took a drop ball down the right side and had their best opportunity of the night when the shot glanced off above the crossbar.

The Rayders then regrouped and held off the Rams for the win. Charlevoix managed 13 shots on goal while the Rayders keeper Laura Nitchman made 6 saves for the shutout.

Charlevoix received excellent defensive play from senior Madison McKenzie, junior Lisa Kuebler and freshman Meighen Havens, who played well marking Harbor senior Lynn Blomberg. Sarah Cross, Madison and sophomore Zita Anderson played strong games in the midfield.

Freshman Ariel Ramsey kept the Rayders on the attack from her forward spot. Anderson was awarded the Rayders Player of the Game ball.

Charlevoix improved to 8-1-1 (10-4-1 overall), keeping its hopes alive for a Lake Michigan Conference title. The Rayders travel to Grayling Friday.

A tough week for Rayder softball

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders softball team had a tough week, losing two doubleheaders in Lake Michigan Conference play. The Rayders lost to Traverse City St. Francis, 11-6 and 7-0 and to Boyne City, 10-9 and 12-2.

The Rayders are now 5-17 overall and 2-10 in the league.

Genevieve Kochanny had three hits in the first game of the St. Francis doubleheader and two in the second game two to lead Charlevoix's hitting effort. Sally Haselschwardt singled and doubled in game one and had two singles in the nightcap.

Leah Kelly had two hits in the first game and pitched four innings of shutout relief in game two. In the opener, Sasha Spencely and Caitlin Mitchell also had hits. Murphy Gillespie singled in game two. Desi Faust took the pitching losses in both games.

Against Boyne City, the Ramblers scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Brittany Niswander had two hits. Mitchell had the big hit, a three RBI double. Spencely, Faust and Kelly all singled.

In the nightcap, Haselschwardt and Gillespie had the Rayder hits. Faust again took both pitching losses.

Charlevoix hosted Cheboygan on Tuesday, May 17 but results were unavailable at press time.

Mind and body workshop planned

North Country Community Mental Health is offering a discussion on the "Mind/Body Connection" at 7:30 p.m. May 19 in the Petoskey Middle School Auditorium.

This is a free event and part of activities planned during the month of May for Mental Health Month.

Mind Your Health. Professor Jeanne Hess will be addressing the researched effects of stress, anger, exercise and nutrition on the body. Hess will lead a practical demonstration of coping techniques and suggestions for fostering a healthful, holistic approach to the mind/body relationship.

North Country Community Mental Health serves Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Kalkaska and Otsego Counties. For more information, visit www.norcoemh.org or call (231) 347-0740.

Go to lunch. Meet Georgie Anne Geyer. Monday, June 13

Proceeds benefit NCMC students

North Central Michigan College Student Center • 12 noon - 1:30 p.m.

North Central Michigan College and the Petoskey News-Review present Georgie Anne Geyer, veteran foreign correspondent and a syndicated columnist on international affairs. She is renowned for her in-depth interviews with world leaders and her ten published titles including her just-published book, "When Cats Reign Like Kings: On the Trail of Sacred Cats".

Geyer's chance meeting with an adorable "black-as-midnight" kitten on the streets of Chicago in 1975 grew into a lifelong fascination with cats and their unique position in the lives of humans. In the book, Geyer explores the connection between the royal and sacred felines of ancient civilizations and the beloved domestic cats of today.

Georgie Anne Geyer's luncheon lecture is sure to be just as engaging and delightful as her remarkable book, "When Cats Reign Like Kings".

Luncheon Tickets are $25 (donation) available at North Central Michigan College Cashier's Office & the Petoskey News-Review. All proceeds to benefit students through the North Central Michigan College Foundation.

Luncheon sponsors are:

Dave Kring Chevrolet-Cadillac, Great Lakes Energy, McLean & Eakin Booksellers, Bayview Title Agency and DTE Energy.

Goldstick files notice of insanity defense

"The center for forensic psychiatry is going to evaluate his mental state now and his mental state at the time of the incident," Jarema said.

Under Michigan law a person is legally insane if they suffer from certain kinds of mental illness or as a result of retardation to a degree that the person lacks the understanding of what they did.

To better understand Goldstick's mindset at the time of the alleged murder, forensic psychiatrists will go through statements he made after the incident and other pieces of evidence.

Goldstick's one-day evaluation could happen in the Ypsilanti area, but Jarema said, investigators will likely come to Traverse City. In either case, Goldstick will be transported in custody.

While Jarema isn't sure of the exact date this case will go to trial, he expects it will occur sometime this fall.

Statistically and historically Goldstick has only a slight chance of being found insane, but Jarema said, "If he comes back and he's not competent to stand trial I would have the opportunity to request an independent examination."

According to Dennis Lawrence, clinical supervisor of North Country Community Mental Health, several tests may be used to determine Goldstick's mindset at the time of his alleged involvement.

"Basically they're going to try and figure out whether he knew right from wrong at the time and whether or not he understands the system well enough to provide a defense for himself," Lawrence said.

According to Lawrence, insanity is a legal term, not a medical term.

He said examiners generally look for insufficient comprehension to stand trial because a person can be mentally ill and still understand the proceedings.

"Some of the things the forensic examiner may look for is if Goldstick was so psychotic he wasn't aware of his behavior or couldn't control his behavior," Lawrence said. "Or, if he had some type of brain injury which prevented him from comprehending his actions or the results thereof."

Lawrence added that it's a rare occasion that anyone wins a case by using the insanity defense.

"It's used less often than people think," Lawrence said. "Some research years ago showed that in reality it was only used in about one percent of cases, while the perception is that it is used in more cases."

A couple of tests which may be used to help determine Goldstick's sanity status could be the M'Naghten Rule, also known as the right-wrong test, which says, "A defendant may be excused from criminal responsibility if at the time of the commission of the act the party accused was laboring under such a defect of reason, from a disease of the mind, as not to know the nature and the quality of the act he was doing or if he did know it, that he did not know he was doing wrong."

Another test which may be used is called the Irresistible Impulse Test which basically says people with a mental disease prohibiting them from controlling their actions are excluded from criminal responsibility.

According to Goldstick's defense attorney Robert Banner, he isn't aware of any history of mental illness from which Goldstick suffers, "But, he (Goldstick) has indicated, from a mental health perspective, he was not doing well the last couple of months."

According to Banner, Goldstick made three independent statements about his involvement in the murder to police, the validity of which will be questioned at a hearing.

"The purpose of the hearing that we will have is for the judge to determine whether the statements were voluntarily made," he said. "Right now the case is not really one of who did this, as much as why or was there premeditation."

Adventure outreach program offered

Eleventh Hour Outreach of Charlevoix is now recruiting and taking applications for its backpacking expedition July 8 - 16 for boys ages 13 and up.

Each summer for the past 3 years a team of adventurous boys from Northern Michigan trek deep to the Marble Mountain Wilderness area in Northern California.

The summer enrichment camp came into being when two local youth leaders Chad Closson and Tyvin Whittaker desired to create an expedition that was aimed at helping at-risk boys. Since its inception we've led over 40 backpackers deep into the rugged back country out west.

Although the camp originated for boys that were considered at-risk, we now take any young boy that has an adventurous spirit. Fathers are welcome to join as well, but it is an extreme challenge that should not be attempted without being in good physical condition.

Located along the famed Pacific Crest Trail (a continuous mountain trail that stretches south to north from Canada to Mexico) the Marble Mountain Wilderness area has over 80 lakes laden with fat rainbow and brook trout.

"The maturing process that transpires during the trip is marvelous to observe," says Whittaker. "Strapping a 35-pound backpack loaded with survival gear to young shoulders has a way of educating a boy about personal responsibility. They learn in a hurry what is essential for their week in the wilds, and more important, what is not."

Boys that endure the arduous trek up the mountain from the valley floor are rewarded with panoramic views, clear alpine lakes, starry nights, campfire stories and possibly the chance to glimpse a bear or even the elusive mountain lion.

Days in the wilderness are spent on exploring caves, rock climbing, swimming, fishing and hiking to remote lakes, as well as high diving and jumping into deep waters for the adventurous ones. Each night after dinner the boys record in their own journals thoughts and feelings about what they experienced throughout the day.

The expedition team will be flying round trip from Traverse City to San Francisco. Backpackers will have the opportunity to visit the Pacific Coast as well as camp under the gi-

County insurance to pay fine in Whistleblowers Act case

COUNTY

prompted them to leave their posts and take medical leave during the winter of 2003. In April of 2003 they took their claims a step further, filing suit against Kur. At one point Judge Power threw the case out. But the disgruntled duo did not give up, firing back with the Whistleblowers Act violation claim.

The recent seven day, 20 plus witness trial ensued.

After six hours of deliberation, the jury in this case found that Kur's actions as described by the women constitute "constructive discharge." That is, working conditions for the two were so intolerable that they were left with no choice but to quit. This constructive discharge concept is the cornerstone to their Whistleblowers Act violation claim.

Compensation in this case was awarded to Ward and Rozema for economic, non-economic and future economic damages. The jury awarded Ward with $552,068.74 in damages and Rozema with $505,713.65 in damages.

According to Charlevoix County Clerk, Jane Brannon, this over $1 million penalty will be paid by the county's insurance company at the present time but higher premiums and deductibles that will likely be handed down will come from taxpayer's pockets.

When all is said and done, Parsons said that penalty will likely climb to $1.25 million as he and his clients plan to ask for attorney fees and related costs to be reimbursed as well. They plan to file this motion in the next few weeks.

While Parsons feels the fallout of this will bring about positive change for Charlevoix County government operations, Brannon disagrees.

She said the decision, "raises a red flag for management." And "for employees I guess if you're disgruntled, sue the county. That's the message it sends."

Dennis Taylor, a Traverse City attorney representing Kur is preparing to appeal.

"Defendants are going forward with their post verdict remedies," Taylor said and declined to comment further.

Parsons said his case wouldn't change at the appellate level and he is confident Ward and Rozema will prevail.

"I don't think they'll (Kur and Taylor) win one (appeal) that's for sure. The record in this case is totally supported by the verdict," he said.

'Skip day' party bust

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

A senior skip day party thrown by a group of Charlevoix High School seniors turned into a major bust for local and state law enforcement.

Charlevoix High School seniors declared Friday, May 13 senior skip day. According to high school principal Gary Grundman, this is not endorsed by the school as an official day off but has become a tradition for the senior class.

"I've been a principal now since 1980. My reaction to incidents like this is always the same — kids make stupid mistakes and this is one of them. I'm very thankful they weren't injured and I'm very disappointed in them. But kids make mistakes," Grundman said.

The incident occurred Thursday night, May 12 and carried over into the early morning hours of May 13, senior skip day. About 20 seniors between the ages of 17 and 18 were involved.

The group decided to throw a party the night of May 12. The gathering took place in the woods off the seasonal portion of Stephen's Road in Charlevoix's Hayes Township.

Just after midnight the morning of May 13, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office received an anonymous call. The caller, a parent of a partygoer, said underage drinking was going on at the site.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater said when three sheriff's deputies and two Michigan State Troopers arrived they found several cars and a bonfire. There were no tents pitched there.

Lasater said 14 of the students at the party were ticketed for being minor's in possession of alcohol. About five others ran into the woods, one of whom was retrieved. Only one of the students cited was uncooperative.

On May 13, Lasater informed the school as to what had transpired.

Charlevoix High School Athletic Director, Jim Kanine, said six of those ticketed for underage drinking were competing in varsity athletics programs.

Kanine said all of the six student athletes are first time offenders which, according to the school's extracurricular policy, means they are ineligible to play in 30 percent of the team's season.

All six students were immediately suspended from activities. Two of the six are tennis players and will miss the remainder of the season, including regional and state competition.

Those that are baseball players were subject to a 20-game suspension and can return for the last game of the season which will take place today, May 25.

Grundman said further disciplinary action was not taken because the party was not a school sponsored event and did not take place on school grounds.

Car wash 'no threat' to nearby Stover Creek

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Some locals fear the new Charlevoix Sparkle Buggy Auto Wash may harm Stover Creek, but experts say the car wash shouldn't be a problem.

Decades of littering and urban development were responsible for putting the creek on a list of damaged waters. Only recently was it removed from the list through careful study and hard work.

According to Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner and Soil Erosion and Storm Control officer Marc Seelye, Stover Creek, which runs from up by Marion Center Road to Lake Charlevoix, should be safe from harmful runoff.

"Any of the contaminated water from the car wash is supposed to go into the sanitary storm sewer," Seelye said. "So barring any natural disaster, the creek should be fine."

He added, "It's a sound design that they submitted, it's a workable project."

Grandparents are John and Debbie Burnell of Bay City, the late Joyce McCauley of Indian River, Kdrin Bleyel of Rodgau, Germany, and Christophe and Renate Hahn of Einbeck, Germany.

Jet Paul Ramey weighing 7 pounds, 8 ounces was born to Paul and Aimee Ramey of East Jordan May 11, 2005 at Charlevoix Area Hospital. Grandparents are Barbara Seaver of Petoskey, Joe Prout of Rosebush and Mark Ramey of Goose Creek, South Carolina.

Correction

Due to a reporter's error in the story titled "Charlevoix residents roughed it 100 years ago," that appeared on page 18 of the May 18 edition of the Charlevoix Courier, information was incorrectly reported. It should have read, "A 15 mile-per-hour wind could accelerate you up to 90 miles-per-hour." And, Dave Miles should have been cited as co-director of the Harsha House, not the Curator.

Sheriff increases patrols in Charlevoix County

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater advises any Charlevoix County citizen concerned with traffic safety on a specific road to contact the sheriff's office for concentrated patrol consideration.

Possible traffic safety concerns include: speeders, careless or reckless drivers, drunk drivers and more.

One or more deputies in marked and unmarked patrol units will be assigned to the concentrated patrol for designated periods of time. The citizen or group of citizens requesting the service will be supplied with a written report after the concentrated patrol effort is complete. The report will include the number of citations issued, traffic stops made, arrests and the number of patrol hours spent on the problem area.

Citizens requesting this service need to provide the following information:

- The specific roadway requested for concentrated patrol.

- The nearest cross road.

- Types of violations observed.

• Suspects, if any, including the type of vehicle and the time of day and weekday alleged violations take place.

This program will be in addition to regular sheriff patrol activities. Request should be directed to Lasater at (231) 547-4461. Lasater will assign specific patrols.

Local creek no longer endangered

According to Kevin Cronk, the monitoring and research coordinator for the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council, some of the biggest threats to the creek have nothing to do with wastewater.

"I don't know of any direct wastewater discharge. From what I understand there is fairly tight control over the wastewater," he said. "If there were any runoff from the car wash it could obviously impact it (Stover Creek)."

He added, "And we would hate to see that happen since we put in the time to study and actually enhance the creek."

According to Cronk, the damage to the creek probably had more to do with garbage and nearby development.

"It's more of a cumulative impact," he said. "I think it's more attributed to urban development than anything else along the creek."

Cronk said pollutants like road salts, automotive fluids, and fertilizers from lawn and gardens are responsible for putting Stover Creek on the impaired list.

Years ago, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) determined biological conditions weren't as healthy as they should have been. Through the efforts of conservationists and volunteers the creek was recently removed from the list.

"We have been working on that creek for a while," Cronk said. "We just did a cleanup and a study on the macro invertebrate populations."

Cronk said the cleaner a body of water is, the more complex life forms it can hold.

"There are some sensitive groups of insects found on the creek," Cronk said. "Based on that, it is a high-quality stream."

This May's cleanup of the creek was funded by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and implemented by Tip of the Mitt in conjunction with concerned citizens.

"We had volunteers go to certain sections of the creek and collect refuse," Cronk said. "In one section I found a lot of plastic grocery bags and Styrofoam and a lot of refuse associated with the cemetery."

Cronk said he also found sleeping bags, tents and a car battery in the middle of the creek.

"It's a social responsibility that, unfortunately, people don't all feel they should respect," he said. "By our estimates we picked up four or five cubic yards (or about two full-size pickup truckloads) of garbage."

Cronk said he isn't sure if the cleanup will continue into next year, but Stover Creek could certainly use the attention.

"That will depend on funding. I think if we had the money we would want to do another year's worth because we didn't accomplish everything we wanted to," he said. "With another year of cleanup we could get more done."

According to some local experts, the new car wash, Sparkle Buggy Auto Wash, in Charlevoix Township currently under construction should pose no harm to nearby Stover Creek. (Above) Volunteers drag trash out of the creek during a May 14 clean-up.

ISD dinner celebrates student achievement

The achievements of approximately 200 high school students enrolled in Career and Technical Education (CTE) classes were celebrated before a packed house at the annual CTE Recognition Dinner.

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District hosted the May 3 recognition dinner to honor students for being among the top seven percent of those attending CTE classes. More than 2,600 high school students enroll annually in the 39 CTE programs available to local schools within the Char-Em district.

Approximately 600 people attended the dinner, including students, parents, CTE teachers and other school personnel.

In addition to the students, the Char-Em ISD recognized six business partners for their continued support of the Career and Technical Education programs.

Polly Flippo of North Central Michigan College, Christine Meister of Northern Michigan Hospital, and Chris Wilhelm of Charlevoix Area Hospital were recognized for their involvement in an upcoming medical career investigation to encourage students to enter the many health occupations.

Andy Hayes of Northern Lakes Economic Alliance and formerly of Harbor House Publishers, was honored for his role in the ISD-created video highlighting the CTE programs operated at area schools. Carlin Smith of Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce was honored for his continued support of the schools in numerous ways, including as emcee of the CTE Recognition Dinner.

Carl Wager of Little Traverse Association of Home Builders (LTAHB) was also honored for his organization's support of providing scholarships for Construction Technology students.

The LTAHB and Construction Technology classes from Petoskey, Charlevoix, and Boyne City annually team up to build and auction a garage. Numerous sponsors donated toward the 2005 garage build with the proceeds supporting student scholarships within Construction Technology programs. Wager presented a check for $1,875 to each of the schools for scholarships.

Harbor Industries donates cabinet to elementary school

Harbor Industries teamed up with the Charlevoix Elementary School and the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District's Early Education Department to help parents of young children.

Leslie Van De Car, a family school liaison with the ISD, discovered the need to house Stepping Stones to School materials for parents in a cabinet at the elementary school.

"I approached Harbor Industries because I was having difficulty finding a pre-made cabinet that would be the size needed for Charlevoix Elementary School's Lending Library," Van De Car said. "After talking with Eric Thompson (Harbor Industries' Store Fixtures Department Manager), he suggested leaving a couple of rough designs with him of what was needed."

A drawing was drafted, a few changes and additions were made and the project was off and running. To Van De Car's surprise, the company donated all the labor and parts for the cabinet, which was built by Harbor Industries employee Fred Brososke.

The lending library is a joint effort between Charlevoix Elementary School and the Stepping Stones to School network to assist families with children ages birth to five. The cabinet houses resources for parents and includes books, videos/CDs, tapes, and literacy activity bags. Parents can check out items for two weeks. Harbor Industries added a mail slot on the side of the cabinet for returned items.

The new cabinet is located in the foyer at Charlevoix Elementary School, near the kindergarten classrooms.

American Legion to distribute poppies

The American Legion, unit 226, and its auxiliary will distribute the American Legion poppies on Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28.

The poppies may be picked up at Birdies Beauty Shop at 101 Mason Street in Charlevoix. For more information or to volunteer, please call co-chairman Katie Curtis at (231) 547-6943 or Birdie Whitley at (231) 547-2791.

Both the legion and VFW organizations distribute the poppies once a year to gain funds to assist local veterans. The poppies are made by disabled, hospitalized veterans, who earn a small amount by making the poppies.

The veterans groups purchase the poppies from those hospitalized veterans and distribute them nationally. The donations received from the public for the poppies are used locally to assist veterans and their families.

Church offers special service to families who have lost children

The community is invited to the "Burial Service for the Children" at 4 p.m. June 12.

This worship service of Holy Communion and healing is being offered by the Healing Ministry of Christ Episcopal Church.

"Burial Service for the Children" is especially for the benefit of those who have had their lives affected by the loss of a child due to miscarriage, abortion, stillbirth, Sudden Infant Death Syndrome or any form of defect or illness that claimed the life of the child at an early age.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. E. James Gunn, Rector of Christ Church. Father Jim and Jan lost their first child at the age of two months due to multiple congenital birth defects.

The readings, music, sermon and overall content of the "Burial Service for the Children" is meant to provide a healing opportunity to grieve the loss and receive God's grace - even if the loss occurred many years earlier.

Gunn said when this service took place at his previous parish, a woman who, 25 years before, had a miscarriage at three months was finally able to release the pain she had carried all of that time.

After the sermon each person will be invited to place a slip of paper with the name of any child whose death affected their life into a small wooden casket. When the service is over, there will be a procession outside and the casket will be buried using a regular graveside service. Trained prayer ministers will be available from beginning to end to pray with anyone who needs help in their grief.

For more information, call Christ Episcopal Church at (231) 547-6322.

Obituaries

Tyler James Dickerson: Aug. 14, 1992 - May 15, 2005

On Sunday, May 15, 2005 Tyler James Dickerson peacefully passed away. He was born August 14, 1992. He was 12-years-old.

Tyler is a beautiful angel who loved life. The character, wisdom, compassion and appreciation for all of life that he developed in such a short time on this earth was so far beyond his years. His life deeply touched everyone he encountered. Our little Tyler loved to ride his dirt bike, he was a natural born rider. Tyler took excellent care of his belongings, his motorcycle, his bicycle — he was instinctively mechanically inclined, he loved to tinker and find out how things worked. He had a bright smile and contagious laugh, his eyes sparkled with his wonder and curiosity about the world around him. Developing an ability to giftedly express himself both in writing and in art he continued to surprise and amaze us. Tyler excelled at everything and would never give up until he accomplished his goal. He was modest, humble and so very kind.

Tyler was born in Colorado and a piece of his heart was always there with his family. He visited his father often and loved the mountains. His love of his family was as vast as the Colorado landscape.

Tyler was fiercely protective of his mother, they were deeply bonded. They shared a life of respect and love as they learned from each other how to be the best people they could be. Being very affectionate, Tyler lavished his mother with love. His sense of humor always amazed and brought so much laughter into their lives. He was so happy. He brought joy to the world. He was the light of Carols life.

Surviving Tyler in death are his mother Carol Dickerson of Alta Loma Calif., father Tom Dickerson of Carbondale Colo. Grandmother Clifene Meredith of Charlevoix. Grandparents Paul and Meredyth Dickerson of Montrose Colo. Aunt Susan and uncle Walter Smith of Delmar Iowa, Aunt Dianne LeDoux and cousins Brett Viol and Breanna LeDoux of Ellijay, Ga. Uncle Jack Stuart and cousin Jessie Stuart of Yantis, Texas. Aunt Laurel Stuart and cousins Michelle, Rachel and Joel Walker of West Palm Beach, Fla. Aunt Staci Dickerson of Carbondale Colo. Uncle and aunt Jon and Emarae Garcia-Dickerson and cousins IvAnn and Hayden Garcia-Dickerson of Montrose, Colo. Cousin Christopher Dickerson and his dog Nut.

Preceding Tyler in death are his grandfathers, Jack Stuart and Dale Meredith, grandmother Ann Dickerson and uncle Mark Stuart.

Services celebrating Tyler's life were May 18, 2005, at the Flipside Church in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif. A service will also be held later this spring in the high mountains of Colorado at the family mountain property.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations in Tyler's name to Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation International, 120 Wall Street, New York, NY 10005-4001.

George W. Wright II: Oct. 22, 1922 - May 20, 2005

George W. Wright, II, M.D., 82, of Charlevoix, and formerly of Flint, died Friday, May 20, 2005, at Bortz Health Care of Petoskey.

Mass of the Resurrection took place at 11 a.m. Tuesday, May 24, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix, the Rev. Thomas Neis officiated.

George was born October 22, 1922, in Bethpage, Tenn., the son of George W. and Hattie (Storey) Wright. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II as a medic from 1942-1945.

He received his undergraduate degree from Memphis State University, then earned his Medical Doctorate from the University of Tennessee. He was on staff at both McLaren General Hospital and Hurley Medical Center in Flint from 1963 to 1988, serving as Director of Psychiatric Services for Hurley during that time.

George was founder and director of the Genesee Psychiatric Center in Flint from 1971-1988. He was an Associate Professor of Psychiatry at Michigan State College of Medicine. George was recognized in 2004 for completing a half-century of service in medicine from the Michigan State Medical Society.

On Dec. 28, 1978, George married Michalene "Mike" (McGuire-McNamara) in Grand Blanc. They moved to Charlevoix in 1987, and George retired from private practice in 2002.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix, the American Psychiatric Association, Northern Michigan Medical Society, and was a Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association. George was an avid supporter of numerous community organizations.

He is survived by his wife, Michalene; children, Vedah (Charles) Daboub of Dallas, Texas, George W. Wright, III of Dundee, Miss., Patricia (Les) Deisler of Durand, Sharon (Peter) Kinsey of French Camp, Miss., Sarah (Dan) Denson of Woodlands, Texas, Mark Wright of Lampe, Mo., Carol (Don) Cicero of Canton, Ga., Erin (Jim) Bemis, William Wright and Andrew Wright all of Charlevoix; 16 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; brother, Warren (Jeanne) Wright, MD of Waveland, Miss.

George was preceded in death by his son Mark, daughter Kathy, granddaughter Courtney, sister Sarah, and daughter-in-law Pam.

Memorial contributions may be made to Saint Mary's Church or to the University of Tennessee Medical School. George's family wishes to thank the nurses and staff at Bortz Health Care of Petoskey for the tender loving care he received.

ISD seeks Americorps volunteers

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District is seeking 20 AmeriCorps members to work with local school districts during the 2005-2006 school year.

The Char-Em ISD is entering its eighth year of the AmeriCorps program. This program is designed to reduce physical and emotional violence among students through lessons and training in no bullying, conflict resolution, character education and good citizenship.

The 20 AmeriCorps members will be assigned to one school within Charlevoix, Emmet and northern Antrim counties. The commitment is full-time, and requires completion of 1,700 hours of service during the year.

Each member receives a living stipend of $10,600, single subscriber medical/dental insurance and childcare reimbursement. Upon completion of the year, AmeriCorps members receive a Federal Education Award of $4,725 which can be used to pay off previously approved student loans or used for future education expenses such as tuition, books, fees or supplies.

Members must be 17 years old, have a high school diploma or GED certificate and be free of any criminal convictions related to violent behavior.

Those interested should contact Linda Johnson at the Char-Em ISD at (231) 547-9947 to sign up for a two-hour orientation meeting. Orientation will take place from 10 a.m. to noon, Friday, May 27, in Charlevoix. The Char-Em ISD is located at 80568 Mercer Boulevard in Charlevoix.

Memorial Day events planned

Charlevoix's Memorial Day recognition will take place May 30.

The day will include a moment of remembrance as well as a parade.

The event will begin at 9 a.m. Monday, May 30 at the flagpole in Brookside Cemetery. There, the Charlevoix American Legion will lead a celebration of remembrance ceremony for fallen comrades from all wars and conflicts with a wreath laying.

The wreath laying will be followed by a parade at 10 a.m. from East Garfield Street to East Park. Senator Carl Levin and Congressman Bart Stupak will participate in the parade.

The Rayder marching band will play after the parade, in East Park.

A reading of names of fallen Charlevoix veterans and those currently serving in Iraq will also take place in the park.

Contact Valerie Pedersen at (231) 547-6558 with names of active service personnel.

For event information call the American Legion at (231) 547-9203.

Obituary

Charles M. Wagner: April 13, 1918 - May 20, 2005

Charles M. Wagner, 87, of Charlevoix died May 20, at home.

A graveside service took place Tuesday, May 24, at St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery in Charlevoix, the Reverend Thomas Neis officiated. Charles was born April 13, 1918 in Cleveland, Ohio the son of Charles and Jennie (Rauscher) Wagner.

On June 13, 1942 he married Gertrude I. Kasiewicz in Cleveland, Ohio. She preceded him in death on September 14, 1994.

Family of local cancer victim seeks community assistance

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Parker Ebert

The family of a local second-grade student at Charlevoix Elementary School could use some help fighting his serious illness.

According to Ellen McDonald, her eight-year-old son, Parker Ebert, was diagnosed with Rhabdomyosarcoma early this spring.

"It's a long road, but you just do what you got to do," McDonald said.

According to the Pediatric Oncology Resource Center, Rhabdomyosarcoma accounts for over half of the soft tissue sarcomas in children and depending on where the tumor is located, are often earmarked by a noticeable lump on the child's body.

"He's doing okay. We have good days and bad days, but his spirits are good," McDonald said. "He loves to ski, play baseball, collect Pokemon cards, he's a big reader and he loves anything that involves computers."

Originally, McDonald said, doctors didn't realize her son had a form of cancer.

"He had something on the inside of his cheek and they thought he might have bitten his cheek and got an infection," she said. "But after a CT scan they thought it probably wasn't an infection."

Signs and symptoms of Rhabdomyosarcoma can include lumps, swelling, firm and painless to touch, in the extremities, the groin area, drooping eyelids, protruding eyeball, hoarseness, difficulty in swallowing and abdominal pain lasting more than a week.

The resource center said, "Keep a close eye on your child for small lumps which do not disappear in a week or so, but instead keep growing larger. Especially watch the pelvic region and the arms and legs. Also watch for any changes in the eyes."

Ebert's treatment time is estimated at 48 weeks in which time he will be given radiation treatment lasting Monday through Friday for a month.

According to McDonald, the first three months of treatment have gone pretty well.

"We have been seeing improvement," she said. "Everything is hopeful right now. The chemotherapy makes him sick some days and some days it makes him tired."

Elementary school counselor, Kristen Beach, approached the Parent Teacher Organization to organize a fund-raiser to help Ebert.

"We are doing a fund-raiser right now. It's a raffle for five day passes to Great Wolf Lodge donated by Great Wolf Lodge," she said.

The drawing for the raffle will take place this Friday, May 27. Proceeds will help defray travel and other miscellaneous costs.

McDonald said the funds raised from the raffle will help a lot because she cannot work at her job as sales director at the Weathervane right now since her son so often feels too poor to go to school.

"He (Parker) was home on IV (intravenous) antibiotics for a month, so he couldn't go to school," she said.

The medical portion of the bills are paid for by the Children's Special Health Network.

The biggest hardship, she said, is other costs.

"It's the year of me not working and all the driving back and forth," she said. "We're used to having two incomes."

Her husband, Brian McDonald, was able to travel for a couple of treatments, but he usually stays home and works.

Raffle tickets are $1 each or six tickets for $5. Tickets are available from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the elementary school located at 13513 Divisor Street in Charlevoix.

Donations should be sent to BayWinds Federal Credit Union in Charlevoix in care of Parker Ebert.

Trails council celebrated anniversary

The Top of Michigan Trails Council celebrated its Tenth Anniversary May 24.

This milestone honors the nine founding sponsors of the organization including — Horace "Huffy" Huffman (deceased); Dave Irish, Harbor Springs; Wes Hovey, Harbor Springs; Robert Homer, Harbor Springs; G. A. Olofsson, Jr., Harbor Springs and Stuart, Fla.; John G. McCoy, New Albany Ohio; Dale F. Doehman (deceased); and Max Naas (deceased).

These men and their families, led by Huffman, gave generously to provide seed money for organizing the trails council in May of 1995.

The council marked the event with a dinner celebration at the Petoskey-Bay View Country Club as part of the its annual meeting. Tom Bailey, Executive Director of the Little Traverse Conservancy, who was also heavily involved in helping to create the council, was the featured speaker.

Dollar Tree expands to supercenter

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

Charlevoix's Dollar Tree has expanded into a supercenter to offer shoppers more options.

"A lot of our regular customers have commented on the change. They really like it—it's a lot nicer," Dollar Tree store manager, Karen Smith said.

Smith explained that plans for the renovation started about a year ago when the store's neighboring retailer, Rent-A-Center, went out of business. She said at that time, she and assistant manager, Brandy Lapeer, discussed expanding their discount variety store into that space.

Their talks came to fruition at the end of March when construction on the new Dollar Tree Supercenter began. The store did not close during the renovation. The project was complete in late April. A grand opening took place May 14-15 at the site located next to Kmart in the Charlevoix Commons at 6600 M-66.

The renovation brought the retail space, where everything is sold for $1, from 5,000 square feet to 8,000 square feet. Smith said they now offer a greater variety of items, wider aisles and a new check-out space.

"We think more merchandise and variety will result in more sales," Smith said.

She said area customers that used to shop Gaylord and Traverse City Dollar Tree Supercenters can now shop locally. A small Dollar Tree exists in Petoskey.

Following the grand opening she said sales have increased but she is expecting to see a big hike after Memorial Day as tourists and seasonal residents make their way to town.

The expansion resulted in the creation of three more jobs, bringing the total number of employees to seven.

As of January 29, 2005, Dollar Tree Stores, Inc., headquartered in Virginia, operated 2,735 stores in 48 states. The Charlevoix Dollar Tree has been in business for seven years.

Coldwell welcomes manager

Mark Knapp has been named sales manager at the Charlevoix Coldwell Banker Schmidt Realtors office.

Knapp brings with him 26 years of real estate experience in Northern Michigan.

Helen Norman, Knapp's predecessor, will move back into a full-time sales position at the Charlevoix office.

Ken Schmidt, Coldwell's CEO, said, "In Charlevoix, we also appreciate the efforts Helen made. We're pleased both these fine sales professionals will be remaining with us, and we're confident that Mark will be able to step right in and keep the office growing."

Go to lunch. Meet Georgie Anne Geyer. Monday, June 13

Proceeds benefit NCMC students

North Central Michigan College Student Center • 12 noon - 1:30 p.m.

North Central Michigan College and the Petoskey News-Review present Georgie Anne Geyer, veteran foreign correspondent and a syndicated columnist on International affairs. She is renowned for her in-depth interviews with world leaders and her ten published titles including her just-published book, "When Cats Reign Like Kings: On the Trail of Sacred Cats".

Geyer's chance meeting with an adorable "black-as-midnight" kitten on the streets of Chicago in 1975 grew into a lifelong fascination with cats and their unique position in the lives of humans. In the book, Geyer explores the connection between the royal and sacred felines of ancient civilizations and the beloved domestic cats of today.

Georgie Anne Geyer's luncheon lecture is sure to be just as engaging and delightful as her remarkable book, "When Cats Reign Like Kings".

Luncheon Tickets are $25(donation) available at North Central Michigan College Cashier's Office & the Petoskey News-Review. All proceeds to benefit students through the North Central Michigan College Foundation.

City fights corn field blaze off Black Road

At around 1 p.m. Wednesday, May 18 the City of Charlevoix Fire Department responded to a combine/field fire at the Martinechek Farm in Marion Township.

The farm is located at 04223 Black Road. At the site, David Martinechek was harvesting corn in a field when the 1982 New Holland TR85 combine he was operating caught fire near the rear of the unit. Martinechek was able to get out of the combine, but was not able to put out the fire. The combine was a total loss.

The field also caught on fire and about three acres of cornstalks burnt before the fire was extinguished. Firefighters were able to keep the fire from spreading to the portion of the field not yet harvested.

No one was hurt in the fire. Firefighters were on the scene for about one hour.

Further cuts likely on horizon for schools

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Restoring proposal "A" and lowering unemployment may help the school district's financial issues, but many are asking what districts can do in the meantime.

According to State Senator Jason Allen, individual school districts are responsible for working with the finances they have, it's not up to the state to determine how money is spent on sports, health benefits and extracurricular activities.

"Those are the decisions that are made on a local basis and they negotiate those benefits on a local basis," Allen said.

He said communities, like Charlevoix, need to take a long-term look at the cost structures involved with health care overhead, administration, transportation and support staff.

"Those are decisions that are made by the local school board and the superintendent," he said. "The question gets to the cost of delivering an education. How are the local schools going to determine the best way to use those resources?"

Allen said the number one issue facing school finances is the shortage in state funding.

"Basically we need to get more people back to work," he said.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics' preliminary seasonally adjusted monthly state rankings for unemployment, Michigan ranked 49 at 6.9 percent in March of this year, a rate that is higher than every other state except Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

The budget issues of the last few years may not improve if Michigan's economy continues its downward spiral.

"There has been no increase (in state funding) in three years, so in essence there has been no increase in funding," said Superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, Dr. John Sturock.

"80 percent of our business is people," he said. "We deliver our product through people, but we've not gotten any increase in revenue in three years which leads to the problem — we have to make cuts in our budget."

In fiscal year 2004-2005, Charlevoix schools budgeted expenditures of $12,832,477. According to Sturock, a web site run by Standard & Poor, which rates how well school districts spend their money, shows Charlevoix with a favorable ranking.

"In the past couple years it has been good," Sturock said. "They rated us as spending money wisely. So people in Charlevoix get a good bang for their buck."

According to National Education Association research, in the 2003-2004 school year, Michigan ranked eighth in number of students enrolled with 1,713,497, fifth in average teacher salary at $54,806, seventh in student per teacher ratio with 18.6 to 1, eleventh in number of teachers with 92,792 and twentieth in expenditures per student at $8,671.

Financial shortfalls are so bad in some school districts that, earlier this year, Superintendent of Vanderbilt schools Ellen Bonter relinquished her $78,500 a year salary in order to help quench the district's $200,000 school budget deficit.

"I think we might choose to spend money in different places and I think our board is good with making cuts and maintaining programs in spite of them," Sturock said. "I believe the problem we face, and every other school district in Michigan faces, is that the revenues in proposal 'A' aren't there. It's not going to be solved here, it has to be solved in Lansing, that's where the problem lies."

Until some significant improvement is made ailing school districts must take matters into their own hands.

"Right now we're just looking at the immediate issues," Sturock said. "It would be premature to look any further just yet."

Sturock and the rest of the school board will look into future needs later this summer.

Sturock said, further reductions may need to be made because the district can't run in the red.

"We have to run a balanced budget by law, so the board doesn't have much choice when it comes down to making some hard-line cuts," he explained.

He added, "All districts in the area are making significant cuts in their budgets."

According to Sturock, figuring out just what to cut if and when the time comes can get tricky since what is important to one person may seem like fluff or unneeded programs to another.

Friday Night Fireworks

The Venetian Board has confirmed that there is still a window of opportunity to reinstate the 2005 Friday night fireworks display, which was suspended this past Fall due to a four year revenue shortfall and resulting fireworks debt of $25,000.00. In an attempt to bridge the revenue shortfall and satisfy community sentiment for continuation of the Friday fireworks, the Venetian Board is pursuing numerous cost cutting and revenue generating initiatives.

The 2005 Festival expenses will be reduced through elimination of the "Spirit" volunteer appreciation party and the annual media luncheon, reduction in scholarship funds and parade appearances for the Venetian Court, the underwriting by Castle Farms of the Tuesday "Country Kickoff" activities and cancellation of a 2005 appearance by the Michigan State Spartan Marching Band. The Festival is also looking to generate additional revenue through the "Rayder Rumble II" basketball game between Charlevoix High School and Petoskey High School alumni all star teams, potential expansion of the carnival into the Masan/Antrim Street parking lot, a fireworks fundraising cruise aboard the Emerald Isle and the Fireworks Fan Club.

Reinstatement of Friday night fireworks may ultimately rest upon the success of fundraising through the Fireworks Fan Club, which was initiated last Fall as a request to individuals, businesses and property associations who had not yet financially contributed to Venetian to do so, and for current contributors to make an additional, one-time contribution. A nice response was received and the Festival is again requesting financial assistance from those who wish to reinstate the phenomenal Friday fireworks display. Please see that your contribution is made payable to "Charlevoix Venetian Festival" at P.O. Box 120, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720, and also reference the "Fireworks Fan Club" so that you may be added to the roster.

The Festival acknowledges and thanks the following Fireworks Fan Club members for their generous contributions:

Public hearing set to debate conflict

By JULIE WITTHOEF
Editor

When it comes to how the state conflict of interest law should apply locally Charlevoix's City Council is divided and is looking for community input.

Whether or not Charlevoix should take exception to the state statute or follow it to a tee is at the crux of the issue.

Some members of council feel the law should be applied as it is written while others feel Charlevoix's size is reason to allow exceptions.

Second Ward Councilman Gabe Campbell said, "Put the state statute in the code and follow it."

Third Ward Council Member Shirley Gibson echoed Campbell's thoughts and called for more stringent restrictions.

"I want restrictions so the city manager cannot under any circumstance hire an elected official for any city work — period," she said.

Mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson rebuffed their comments and said the state statute's restrictions as applied to Charlevoix would result in micro-management.

Second Ward Councilman Bill Bellows also called for exceptions to the statute.

"We want to try and give work to local contractors and people. If this was enforced, work would go out of town," he said.

Because of council's divided position on this issue a public hearing was set for 7 p.m., Monday, June 6. Community input will help shape ordinance content.

This ordinance revision is being debated because in the past, City Manager Mike Wiesner has given city contracts under $10,000 to city council members without council's approval. Wiesner was acting in compliance with the city code.

However, in mid-April Gibson asked city attorney Jim Young to look into this procedure. Young found it to be a violation of state law.

The attorney general's opinion says local government purchases and contracts may not be shared with city officials without prior approval of city council. This opinion was written after the city code was enacted.

Because the city has less than 25,000 residents council can file an exception to the state statute.

Young came to council May 16 with a discussion draft of a city ordinance that would bring the city code into compliance with the state statute but would still permit the city to purchase routine maintenance items as well as limited emergency repairs from council members.

If council opts to go with the exception, a capped dollar value has to be assigned to these routine purchases and emergency repairs. Any such purchase or work done would have to be reported at the next council meeting.

Those contracts or purchases from council members that cost more than the capped dollar value would require a two-thirds vote of city council to move forward.

PUBLIC NOTICE

If it's not in the newspaper, how will the public notice?

Zoning changes. Tax increases. Legislative proposals. These are just a few topics where government actions can affect your life and community. Imagine if government no longer had the legal obligation to publish this information in your newspaper. How would public notices get noticed? In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. It should not be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, when to look or even to know what you're looking for to be informed. It is government's responsibility to publish and deliver public notice information as it becomes available. So take notice. Your right to know is being served... right here in your newspaper.

Skate park to open this summer

Coordinators of the effort to build a skateboard park in Charlevoix have found it takes a village to build a skatepark.

According to Vickie Daman, a parent representative for the skatepark group, without the unconditional support of the numerous individuals and businesses in town and the surrounding area the dream of a local skatepark would not be possible.

In November of 2003 Zeke Daman, now 14, wrote a letter to former Charlevoix Courier editor Jeremy McBain. Little did Zeke know the impact this letter would have on everyone.

A grass roots committee was formed by interested parents and students to champion the development of a skatepark in Charlevoix. To date this group has raised almost $71,000, which includes numerous in-kind donations of services, grants, fundraisers, and private donations. Partnering with the City of Charlevoix to establish a location and liability insurance has helped make the dream of a young man become a reality.

A temporary park was opened at the former Charlevoix Middle School off Grant Street in the summer of 2004, with all funds raised going towards the building fund for the new park.

This temporary park raised awareness for the long-term project and promoted commitment by all involved. The park layout was developed by the students and custom designed by Suburbanrails of Ohio.

In mid-April work began on the permanent park located off Carpenter Street across from the ball fields. Without numerous in-kind donations and volunteer time, the project would not be possible. Donors include Swanson's K&D, of Charlevoix, St. Mary's Cement Company, Manthei Development, Northwest Design Group, The Frye Foundation, Charlevoix County Community Foundation, Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians,

The Great Lakes Energy People Fund, Charlevoix Lions Club, the Fairman family, the Ramsey Foundation and Dave Beane/Skatewave.

At this time, the group still needs to raise just under $48,000.

The park will be opening this summer using the equipment on hand, which includes a 5 foot half-pipe, skate-table, rail and a ramp.

Anyone wishing to donate, can contact Vickie Daman at (231) 547-8063.

Symphony to benefit physical therapy

The Physical Therapy Department of Charlevoix Area Hospital will be a major recipient of funds this year from the Charlevoix Area Hospital Foundation's "Symphony on the Green" featuring the Midland Symphony Orchestra.

Charlevoix Area Hospital President, Bill Jackson, said, "We are very happy to announce expansion plans for our very busy Physical Therapy Department here at the hospital and are grateful to the foundation for their support."

Rehabilitation after surgery, after an athletic or other injury and general conditioning are some of the demands now being seen in this area, which has outgrown its current space and location in the hospital. The estimated budget for the renovation and expansion of the department is $500,000.

"This year's 'Symphony on the Green' hopes to raise $50,000 toward this project," said foundation assistant director, Patti Barrow. "In addition to this critical and growing department of the hospital, some of the funds will be designated toward the hospital's community outreach and health education programs."

The seventh annual "Symphony on the Green" will present the Midland Symphony Orchestra at the Charlevoix Country Club at 6:30 p.m. Friday, July 8. The concert will begin at 8 p.m.

Attendees have the opportunity to bring lawn chairs or blankets for "greens" seating for $25 per person. Tickets for under the tent seating and patron tickets are $200, including complimentary wine, a cash bar before the event, a full sit down dinner, the concert and preferred seating under the tent. Patron ticket holders also receive a $120 tax deduction. Food and beverage service will be available for all ticket holders.

For tickets or more information about this event, contact Barrow at (231) 547-8685.

DTE Energy "Be on the lookout for imposters"

DTE Energy, and its Detroit Edison and MichCon subsidiaries, reminds customers to be aware of scam artists posing as utility workers in order to gain access to homes and personal property.

Impostors tend to strike most often in the spring as the weather begins to warm up.

"Unfortunately, there are unscrupulous people out there who may use the Detroit Edison and MichCon identities to take advantage of our customers," said Michael Lynch, DTE Energy director, Corporate Security. "We want customers to know that if they have any questions about someone claiming to represent Detroit Edison or MichCon, they can call us for verification before they open their doors."

One common scam involves thieves posing as Detroit Edison employees, and asking a customer for payment of an unpaid bill. The impostors threaten to shut off the customer's electricity if the bill isn't paid.

DTE Energy field employees carry photo identification badges, wear uniforms that identify them as Detroit Edison or MichCon employees, and drive vehicles with company markings. Customers are encouraged to ask for identification.

Do not allow entry into your home to people who claim to offer a Detroit Edison or MichCon refund. DTE Energy employees never deliver cash refunds or rebates to customers' homes.

Do not pay for tree-trimming work by individuals claiming to be from Detroit Edison or a Detroit Edison contractor. The utility does not charge for line clearance work. Additionally, before tree-trimming crews enter a neighborhood for scheduled line clearance work, customers are notified about the work to be done.

Customers who are not sure about an employee's identification, or who want to verify the work to be done in or around their homes, should call DTE Energy at (800) 477-4747.

Call the police if you believe the person is a utility impostor. It is a felony for people to impersonate public utility workers, whether or not they actually gain entrance to a home and commit a crime.

Consumers issues gas leak information

Consumers Energy reminds its customers that now is a good time to review natural gas safety with children to help keep them safe during the upcoming summer school break.

Knowing what a natural gas emergency is and how to react will help families respond safely. Leaks can occur on indoor lines or when outdoor lines are damaged.

Natural gas safety begins with learning about the three R's: Recognize, React and Report.

Recognizing signs of a natural gas leak include: rotten egg odor; dead or discolored vegetation in an otherwise green area; a blowing or hissing sound; flames, if a leak has ignited; dirt or dust blowing from a hole in the ground; bubbling in wet or flooded areas.

React if you suspect a natural gas leak. Leave the area immediately and call Consumers Energy at (800) 477-5050 and follow our instructions. Do not use any electrical device such as light switches, telephones or appliances such as garage door openers as they could spark and ignite the gas. Do not use an open flame such as lighters or matches. Do not try to locate the source of the leak. Do not try to shut off any gas valves or appliances. Do not start any vehicles. Do not re-enter the building or return to the area until a Consumers Energy employee says it's safe to do so. If the natural gas ignites, let it burn. Do not put out the flame. Burning gas will not explode.

Report it is important to call about natural gas emergencies. Do not e-mail us. If you think you have a natural gas emergency, go to a safe location, then call Consumers Energy toll-free at (800) 477-5050, calls can be made 24 hours a day, seven days a week, we will respond promptly and at no charge.

To help prevent a gas leak in your home, take a couple of easy precautions; raise the flags and dig safely, call MISS DIG at (800) 482-7171 at least three working days before beginning an excavation project, even for simply planting a tree or digging for a mailbox post. The call and service are free. Utilities in your area will locate the general vicinity of underground pipes and cables with color coded flags and or paint at no charge. Those excavating in the area should then dig carefully to avoid damage to underground utilities.

Replace flexible connectors. Cracks can form and cause serious leaks in the flexible pipes that attach appliances to fuel lines. Flexible connectors should be replaced at least every 10 years. Check the flexible connectors every time you move an appliance and replace it with an American National Standards Institute approved model at the first sign of wear.

Don't hang items on fuel lines. Heavy coats or other items hanging from a fuel line (often located near the ceiling of basements) can stress the joints in the pipe and cause gas leaks.

How to get news in the Courier

If you have a news item you think would be perfect for the Charlevoix Courier, feel free to call 547-6558, e-mail news@charlevoixcourier.com or visit the Courier office located at 112 Mason Street in downtown Charlevoix.

News items include events sponsored by non-profit organizations. Please inform us of your event at least two weeks in advance.

Our coverage area is the city of Charlevoix and its immediately surrounding areas, including Beaver Island.

Because of space limitations in the newspaper, we generally try to avoid publishing "check-handling" pictures or "ribbon-cutting" pictures. However, we will work with your organization to get a picture that reflects the event and is visually interesting to our readers.

Due to time constraints on the staff, we cannot attend every event of which we are notified. If you have a picture of your event, we will gladly consider it for publication. But, please, contact us before your event.

It should be noted, each story and picture is dealt with on its individual merits. Any policies outlined above may be suspended by the editor or general manager of the Charlevoix Courier if necessary.

Grant to help farmers issued

Charlevoix Courier Wednesday, May 25, 2005 - PAGE 27

Northern Michigan economic growth initiatives continue as the Michigan Land Use Institute receives a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) grant to conduct market feasibility research to assist food and farm businesses.

Congressman Bart Stupak (D-Menominee) announced the $25,000 Rural Development grant which will benefit Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska and Leelanau Counties.

"This project is another example of what occurs when the right resources are available to help local economies grow. I am happy to provide this funding to the Michigan Land Institute to study our agricultural industry in northern Michigan so that farming can continue to be a part of what drives the economy in the region," Stupak said.

The USDA grant will pay for valuable research into local food market obstacles and opportunities. It was awarded this week to a collaboration of economic development, agriculture, university, and nonprofit partners led by the Benzie County-based Michigan Land Use Institute.

The collaborative effort, called the Growing Entrepreneurial Agriculture initiative, will use the research to help farms overcome market gaps and pursue profitable business directions.

"We know we can grow jobs and protect farmland by connecting this region's supply of local foods with growing consumer demand for the great tastes of this place," said Patty Cantrell, director of the Michigan Land Use Institute's Entrepreneurial Agriculture Project.

"This grant will allow us to drill down to specific market opportunities and strategies for helping local farms capitalize on them."

The USDA supported market feasibility research will take place through the fall and winter of 2005 and 2006 with assistance from the University of Michigan Business School and Michigan State University's Product Center for Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Other partners in the initiative include the region's Small Business and Technology Development Center, University Extension offices, Northwestern Michigan College, and the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance.

Partners will help entrepreneurs use the research for business planning and will assist in developing innovative support services for local food and farm entrepreneurs.

"From the standpoint of a small family farm already in the value-added agriculture business, it's very clear that the only real hope for a farmer to stay in business is to direct their supply chain to demand in the local marketplace," said Don Coe, managing partner of Black Star Farms, a winery in Suttons Bay.

Tennis takes first at regional

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

The Varsity Rayder tennis team continued its win streak last week with a first place finish at the regional meet and a second place finish in the conference.

"I am so proud of these guys. They worked hard all year and the results show it," Erik Lundteigen, the varsity tennis coach, said.

"Of the 12 people on our team, seven are seniors. We have a senior dominated team with good leadership. These seniors have come a long way and improved a great amount," he added.

The regional competition took place May 20 and 21 in Traverse City. Out of the 11 teams that competed Charlevoix came out on top with Harbor Springs finishing at a close second.

Charlevoix's first place finish secures them a spot at the state tennis finals to take place June 3 at Michigan State University in East Lansing. This is the second year in a row the Rayder tennis team has qualified for states.

Charlevoix's doubles team lead the way to the regional crowning with four flight champion teams.

The doubles team of Sparky Nitchman and Taylor Martin beat Manistee, Harbor Springs and Elk Rapids. Doubles duo Mitch Klooster and Andrew Mailloux knocked off Glen Lake, Leland and Harbor Springs. Number three doubles players Cody Wheat and Mike Greybichl took down Glen Lake Harbor Springs and Elk Rapids. Number four doubles team Dan Swenor and Dustin Dibble ended the streak strong with wins against Elk Rapids, Manistee and Traverse City St. Francis.

Number one singles player Nate Turner beat Leelanau and lost to Traverse City St. Francis. Number two singles Matt Novotny beat Glen Lake and lost to Harbor Springs. Number three singles Adam Wager beat Grayling and lost to Traverse City St. Francis. Number four singles Justin Klooster lost to Glen Lake.

At the May 17 Lake Michigan Conference meet eight schools competed. Charlevoix finished second in the conference.

Rayder soccer team heads into final game with wins

The lady Rayders varsity soccer squad improved to 12-4-1 and gained a share of first place in the Lake Michigan Conference with a win at Grayling on Friday, May 20.

Charlevoix out shot Grayling 34 to 3 on the night in the 9-0 shut-out.

The Rayders had two hat tricks by freshmen Becca Madison and Ariel Ramsey.

Senior Jaime Pettis added 2 goals and fellow senior Madison McKenzie tallied one.

Assists on the night went to Pettis, Zita Anderson, Madison, Danny Bergmann, Emily Foster, Gena Gaudio and Brecklin Golovich-Keie.

Laura Nitchman notched the shutout in goal.

The Rayders are currently ranked 10th in Division IV. The team will host Traverse City St. Francis Liberty on Thursday, May 26.

With a win on Thursday they can clinch at least a share of the Lake Michigan Conference crown.

They traveled to Cheboygan May 23 for a non-league match and earned their tenth shutout of the season with a good team effort.

Charlevoix managed 20 shots on goal for the night while the Rayders' outstanding keeper, Nitchman stopped all 13 attempts by the Chiefs. Nitchman earned the Rayders Player of the Game ball for her efforts in the net.

Cheboygan, going with a strong breeze in the first half put pressure on the Rayders for the first 20 minutes.

Charlevoix was able to move the ball against the wind on the ground and opened the scoring midway through the first when Pettis carried in a nice corner kick opportunity sent by Stevie Murray.

The Chiefs had a couple good opportunities with the wind but Nitchman and the Charlevoix defense of Murray, Kuebler and McKenzie were up to the task.

The Rayders took control of the match in the second half. The second goal was also scored by Pettis off a free kick opportunity by Madison.

Charlevoix, ranked tenth in the state in Division IV, improves to 12-4-1 overall.

The Rayders host Traverse City St. Francis Liberty in their final regular season game on Thursday, May 26.

Rayder baseball team splits four non-conference games last week

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders split four non-conference games last week, losing two to Cheboygan, 3-1 and 11-3, and bouncing back to sweep Harbor Light Christian, 11-1 and 12-2.

The Rayders are 10-13 on the season, 4-6 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

Against Cheboygan, the game was tied 1-1 headed into the fifth inning where the Chiefs scored the decisive two runs.

"It's always tough to play back-to-back doubleheaders," said coach Bryan Hawkins. "Even more so after playing against Boyne City the night before. Cheboygan was 17-9 overall and 11-1 in their league coming in, so to play as well as we did against a quality team (in game one) is to our players' credit."

Eddie Waldron singled, doubled and tripled. Matt Teuscher had two hits and an RBI. Sophomore Danny Waldron had his first varsity hit.

In game two, the Chiefs broke the game open with a nine-run fifth inning. Jake Teuscher and Michael Wojan each had two hits for Charlevoix. Shannon Gillespie had hits in both games of the doubleheader.

The Rayders won both games against Harbor Light by mercy rule.

"We knew coming in that Harbor Light is a very young team with a lot of inexperience," Hawkins commented. "We brought up Matt Heimbuch and Ty Telgenhof from the JV to pitch, and both did well."

Heimbuch threw a five inning complete game in the opener, allowing only four hits, no walks and striking out six.

Wojan led the Rayders at the plate with three hits, two runs scored and three RBIs.

In game two, Telgenhof threw a five inning complete game of his own, picking up his first varsity win. He gave up only two runs on three hits, walked four and struck out eight.

Kyle DeYoung, Danny Waldron and Matt Teuscher had two hits apiece. Telgenhof and Heimbuch each collected their first varsity hit.

Jake Teuscher singled in both games and scored five runs in the twinbill.

"Coach Tom DeKorte (of Harbor Light) does a great job keeping his kids' spirits up and teaching them the game," Hawkins noted. "I have a lot of respect for their positive attitude and sportsmanship."

The Rayders close out their regular season this week playing conference doubleheaders on Wednesday at Grayling and at home on Friday against league-leader East Jordan. Results from these games were not available by press time.

Softball heads into districts with losses

By ALLEN TELGENHOF
Sports writer

The Charlevoix Rayders softball squad lost doubleheaders to two tough non-conference foes last week.

The team lost to Cheboygan, 12-1 and 14-1, and to Harbor Light, 16-2 and 18-2.

In game one, the Rayders were no-hit but were deadlocked 1-1 headed into the sixth innings when Cheboygan broke loose.

In the nightcap, Sasha Spenceley doubled and Brittany Niswander and Murphy Gillespie each had singles.

Against Harbor Light, freshman

Caitlin Mitchell had two hits in game one.

Spenceley, Gillespie and Sally Haselschwardt all had hits. Freshman Desi Faust took the pitching loss.

In game two, Haselschwardt's double was the only Charlevoix hit.

The Rayders end their regular season this week with a conference doubleheader at Grayling and a home matchup against Central Lake. Results from these games were not available by press time.

Charlevoix opens district play at 5 p.m. May 31 at East Jordan against Harbor Springs.

Rayder musicians enjoy two busy work weeks

Charlevoix school bands have been on stage three times in the past two weeks.

They started out with the high school band on May 10 and the middle school bands May 19.

Both concerts were presented in a collage style, providing a wide variety of music in a short amount of time. In addition to the wonderful full band songs, the students played solos, duets, trios, quartets and larger ensembles.

Special guest artists included the Charlevoix Community Band, the Harbor Springs Community Band, Gary Stutzman and Ron Winchester performing a tuba duet, Charlie McInnis performing a clarinet duet with band director Jayne Bennett, and Jason Byma and Eric Jones presenting an original work on marimba, vibes, steel drum and piano. Don Neidert accompanied all the solo performers.

On Friday, May 20, the Charlevoix Rayder Jazz Band partnered up with the Petoskey Wind Symphony Jazz Band and Northwest Academy to present Spring Fever and a night of jazz.

The host was Jazz in the Mitten sponsored by the Crooked Tree, Northern Michigan Community College, Doc Woodward Productions and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Local jazz artists Dan Jacobs and Doc Woodward worked with the high school groups on rhythm and blues, jazz style and improvisation.

Bennett said it was a great night of jazz music and the auditorium is still ringing from the great sounds.

Retired teachers to discuss benefits at conference
The state legislature is "studying" the health and pension benefits of Michigan school retirees. Legislation has been introduced which may pose a threat to these benefits. Changes have been made to health benefits this year and the Medicare prescription drug plan may cause other changes. There may also be some threats on the national scene.

To learn of these changes, threats and how you can help, attend the Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel. The group's conference and annual meeting will take place from 8 to 9 a.m., June 9 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gaylord.

Events over the century

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

In the city of Charlevoix's 100 years in existence its residents have witnessed the advent of atomic power, Ernest Hemingway's first marriage and the fall of a palace.

According to Charlevoix Historical Society Harsha House Co-director, David Miles, when the first hospital was built in 1920, house calls didn't become a thing of the past, but it was a sign that Charlevoix was growing.

"Our first hospital was on the corner of Grant and Hurhut where the Hillcrest Apartments are now," Miles said. "It was in operation from 1920 to 1954. The new Charlevoix Area Hospital went into operation in 1954 because the one up on Hurhut and Grant just became too small."

In September of 1921, after the hospital opened, a man who would soon be a celebrated author made his way to town. That month, Ernest Hemingway walked into the old courthouse at the corner of Antrim and State streets to obtain his marriage license.

"It was for his marriage to his first wife Hadley Richardson," Miles said. "He spent quite a bit of time in the Charlevoix area before he went off and became a writer."

"Hemingway even played baseball on the diamond at Loeb Farms," he added.

While the glory of a new hospital and glamour brought by Hemingway are recorded in Charlevoix's history, devastation also has its place in the records.

In 1945, the Palace Movie Theater in downtown Charlevoix suffered a devastating fire, and according to Miles, it was a major disappointment to many in the community.

"I remember the movie 'The Best Years of Our Lives,'" was out and my mother lamenting the fact that she and her friends couldn't go see it," he said. Another seemingly worrisome event was the swap from swing bridge to bascule or drawbridge which is still in service today.

Miles said, "The new bridge went in from 1947 to 1949. And, for many people in town it was a traumatic experience because it (the swing bridge) was the only bridge they'd ever known."

In a time wrought with fear that the Cold War between the United States and Russia would turn into an all-out nuclear brawl, Charlevoix was selected as the site where a breakthrough in atomic energy would be explored.

"Consumers Power announced they were coming here in the late 1950s and I think the plant was completed around 1960," Miles said. "We were the third nuclear power plant in the country."

Miles was working in a cigar shop, known as The Community Phone, the day he heard about plans to build an atomic plant in Charlevoix. He said he overheard one of the customers on the phone say the atomic gases were going to descend on Charlevoix and kill all the flowers.

He added, "The Big Rock plant was decommissioned in 1997. It was the world's first high-power density boiling water reactor."

Miles said the site was intended to be experimental and it exceeded all expectations. Even some of the world's leaders in the understanding of nuclear power plants trained at Big Rock.

Other important events in Charlevoix's first century include:

- 1909, the Carnegie Library was built on the corner of Clinton and State streets where the Charlevoix State Bank is now.
- 1911, the sugar beet factory, located where Irish Boat Shop is, now, closed.
- 1923, the first airplane flight to Beaver Island.
- 1928, Earl Young started building Boulder Park.
- 1947, the Colonial Club Gambling establishment was raided by several law enforcement agencies and closed.
- 1954, the Weathervane Restaurant went into business.
- 1959, the first Waterfront Art Fair took place.
- 1967, Medusa cement factory opened.
- 1982, the last freight train pulled out of town.

East Park initiative underway

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

A group of Charlevoix city residents in support of East Park changes could request your signature this week.

Charlevoix resident John Winn and a group of five petitioners, have started an initiative action to get East Park renovations on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

Changes they are working toward include removal of the current band shell, construction of a new performance venue and amphitheater seating and reconfiguration of the park's topography.

For this park transformation to make it on the ballot, Winn and his fellow petitioners will need to gather and submit signatures to city clerk Carol Ochs by June 10. They need 15 percent or 356 city residents who are registered voters to sign the initiative.

Winn said the group is aiming for 450 signatures to ensure they make the mark.

"I think we can do it," he said.

Early last week, Charlevoix attorney Dan

Barron, with the firm Barron and Golski, was working on the initiative action's wording.

This document, containing the aforementioned official list of petitioners, was submitted to Ochs last Friday, May 27. They are the only people allowed to request signatures.

After the final signed documents are submitted to Ochs, she will verify the signatures. Then, the petition language will be reviewed by city council. If council approves the language, city staff will work to establish ballot wording and voters will decide the park's fate this fall.

This group's decision to fight for a park metamorphosis is the result of a March 14 city council vote against initiation of amendments four and five, as presented, to the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) development plan.

These amendments would have allowed the authority to pay for 25 percent of the marina, for the total cost of East Park projects and extend the authority's life.

While marina changes were approved and are expected to start this fall, plans for East Park were nixed.

Council decided to omit plans to build an ice rink in the park from amendment four and decided against passing amendment five in its entirety.

Amendment five included demolition of the current music pavilion in the fall of 2006 and construction of a new facility on the south end of the park. This part of the project would cost the DDA just under $1.5 million.

Charlevoix resident Jill Picha, who threatened to take the park issue to referendum if amendment five passed, was pleased with council's decision.

But city mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson and many residents, including Winn and the group of initiative action petitioners, weren't. And now they are working to get park plans back on the renovation docket.

Picha said if it goes to a vote she will have an army of voters lined up ready to fight. She plans to join forces with other residents against removing the band shell to campaign against it.

"My concern is for the people of Charlevoix. That area has been the site of their band shell for many years and they deserve to have the view of the lake. It needs some cosmetic touches, but that's an awful lot of money to

Officials: 'ACACIA won't be replaced'

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Barring an unforeseen change in missions in this area, state and U.S. Coast Guard officials say the cutter ACACIA will not be replaced with another ship once it is decommissioned in June of 2006.

According to a letter from Captain John Yost of the U.S. Coast Guard (USCG) to concerned citizen Jacqueline Dipert, the buoy tending capabilities of the ACACIA and others of that class on the great lakes are being replaced by the newer and more capable 225 foot cutters: ALDER, HOLLYHOCK and MACKINAW.

"We have no plans to relocate the CGC (Coast Guard cutter) MORRO BAY to the Great Lakes," Yost's letter said. "We must distribute these spend to shove it in Chamber Park (south of its current location)," Picha said.

Winn said the city of Charlevoix's effort to open up the park by purchasing and demolishing the Parkside and the Wharfside, buildings located at the corners of Mason and Bridge streets, was trumped by council's decision.

He said having the band shell in the middle of the park limits its use.

"It renders the south part of the park pretty much useless," he explained.

Council approved extension of the authority from its expected expiration date of 2013, to 2026, in order to finish the marina project. And approved payment of 25 percent of the total cost of the $10.6

million marina project, including construction of a new harbor master's office. The authority's portion is $3.8 million, the Michigan Waterways Commission has committed to fund 75 percent, or $6.8 million, of the marina project.

The project will be done in phases with construction of the 67-slip dock system and sea wall coming first.

Deht from the marina renovation will cost between $242,000 and $310,000 a year for 15 to 20 years. City manager Mike Wiesner anticipates $100,000 a year being paid for from marina revenue and the rest coming from the DDA.

Winn, who is also head of the Waterways Commission, has said when it's done this will probably be the best quality marina on the Great Lakes. But he wants to see the park, which shoulders the marina, get the same high quality face lift.

Five Wishes addresses Schiavo fears

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Terri Schiavo's death this spring served as both an introduction and, to many, a reminder of the importance of resolving end of life issues early.

Hospice of Northwest Michigan volunteer Connie Saltonstall, of Charlevoix, knows the importance of preparing and maintaining a living will document. And, through the Five Wishes program, she means to educate anyone interested in how to do so.

"I think the Terri Schiavo case is an excellent example of how families can be torn apart when they don't know what a loved one wants," she said. "I think it's been very helpful in making the general public aware of the necessity to do this."

Saltonstall took a class on how to teach others to prepare the living will and she is now an advocate and speaker of the Five Wishes program.

"This document is available and does not require a lawyer," she said. "This is something that every family should discuss and make their own plan so that there is no confusion when their loved one is near the end of their life."

This particular living will is legal in 36 states including Michigan and Washington D.C.

"(This) allows people to be very specific about what they choose to have happen at the end of their life. And, if they can't speak for themselves it directs someone else to be able to make those decisions for them," Saltonstall said.

Basically, Saltonstall said, the living will names the person you choose to make the decisions and how you want certain situations handled.

"In many cases it shouldn't be the spouse, because it would be such a difficult decision to make," she said. "It should be someone else who knew how you felt about it and that you trust to carry out your wishes."

Saltonstall added, "And the choice that you make is extremely important because it's a difficult responsibility, and in many cases you have families who don't all agree on what should happen. By making this document the patient is stating what they want to happen."

The nice thing about having an advocate with no vested interest in you for end of life issues is that even if they don't agree with your wishes, you can trust they will follow them.

According to Saltonstall, anyone 18 or over can and should think about preparing a living will.

"Most people at that age don't think that they need it because they don't expect to die, but the reality is we never know," she said. "Terri Schiavo was 26. She talked about it but it wasn't written down. If it was written down, the whole legal case wouldn't have been necessary."

The Five Wishes program allows for complete individualization as to what steps should be taken in cases such as coma, paralysis, vegetative state and more.

She said, "If your wish isn't covered by that there is room where you can write what your specific wish is."

You don't have to decide all your wishes at once either, Saltonstall added.

"Ideally this document is designed to be used over a period of five years with families to use the booklet to talk about end of life issues," she said. "It's not necessarily something you say you're going to sit down and write. You want time to think about it yourself and discuss with family."

Important consideration should be given, she said, but as long as you are able to make rational decisions the document can be altered.

She said, "It can be changed. You can cross things out, put new things in or just void this document and start another."

While Michigan doesn't require that a notary witness the signing of the document, there are few restrictions placed on who can witness it in order to rule out conflicts of interest.

A few people excluded from witnessing are your designated health care agent, health care provider or an employee of your health care provider. It also cannot be someone who is financially responsible for you or related by blood marriage.

"Essentially it has to be someone who is not connected to this person," Saltonstall said.

Anyone interested in having Saltonstall or one of the other speakers in the area present the Five Wishes program to your church, company or community group can contact Pat Johnson, executive director of Hospice of Northwest Michigan, at (231) 536-2842.

Living wills are available in Charlevoix at the Charlevoix Public Library off Clinton Street and at the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency off Garfield Street.

Hospice volunteer and Five Wishes speaker Connie Saltonstall speaks to a group about how to complete the Five Wishes living will.

Charlevoix resident Jeanne McGhee said she attended the Five Wishes program for the most part because of the attention given the Schiavo case.

"I've been thinking about it ever since," she said. "I think that Terri brought it to light for a lot of people. They want to do this now more than they did two years ago."

McGhee added, "Besides I'm 65, so it's time to do something like this. I don't want to get caught without being prepared. And, it might take five years to do, so it might change your mind."

Democrats to discuss health care

The availability of health care services will be the focus of the Charlevoix County Democrats meeting at 7 p.m., Thursday, June 2, at Boyne City's Dilworth Hotel.

Bruce Miller, Executive Director of the Northern Michigan Health Plan, and Gerry Chase, Director of Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, will discuss "part of the quilt work system that is our health care system in Michigan and the nation," explained Charlevoix County Chairman Bill Lovett.

"Many of us have different health care plans or no health care plans at all. When we go to the emergency room, for example, some will have complete coverage, some will have co-pays, retirees may have Medicare and secondary carrier insurance. Others will have Medicaid coverage, and some will have none at all. It is a nightmare for hospital administrators who, by law, must provide care for everyone."

Lovett also referred to recent speculation that both General Motors and Ford might be cutting some retiree benefits.

Lovett recalled that former Republican

Governor of Wisconsin, Tommy Thompson, who served as Director of the Health and Human Services in George W. Bush's first Administration, recently called on the Big Three Auto companies and the United Auto Workers to work together to lobby the United States Congress for health care reform.

"Our health care system is in a perilous situation, not only in northern Michigan but across the country. There are increased burdens on corporations, the health care system, and individuals."

"The forum this Thursday is just the first in a series we will hold to look at our health care system and consider what we, the public think it should be," Lovett explained.

Emphasizing that all the community forums are intended to be non-partisan, Lovett said anyone who is interested in the issue of health care reform is encouraged to attend and participate in the discussion.

The forum will be preceded by a "Dutch treat" dinner at 6 p.m. at the Dilworth Hotel.

More on-line mental health programs are now available

North Country Community Mental Health has announced the addition of Health Education Answers to its web site www.norccmh.org.

Alexis Kaczynski, director for the community health group, said, "It is a confidential, online program that includes interactive features, surveys, screenings, games, and it presents health information in a fun and engaging way. Health Education Answers is being piloted statewide on Community Mental Health web sites in collaboration with the Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards."

Health Education Answers was created as a tool for education and prevention. Its content has been certified by the National Committee for Quality Assurance.

Health modules include: Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, depression, diabetes and men's and women's health.

Site information is available in both English and Spanish.

North Country Community Mental Health provides services in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Kalkaska and Otsego counties.

Rev. Wright joins Horton Bay and Greensky churches

The Reverend Timothy Wright has been appointed to serve the Horton Bay and Greensky Hill United Methodist churches beginning July 1.

Pastor Wright recently graduated from Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary.

He and his wife, Paula, have been living in the Grand Rapids area while he was attending Seminary.

Paula works for Spartan Stores, Inc. as a computer systems analyst.

Before resigning to follow God's call on his life for ordained ministry, Pastor Tim was Director of Information Technology for Emmet County.

They have two adult children, a daughter who is married and living in Hancock while she attends Michigan Tech and a son in the Grand Rapids area.

Pastor Tim and Paula will be known to many people in the area from their previous work and life in Boyne City.

Ellsworth woman named to foster board

Ellsworth resident, Susan (Thorpe) Manturuk, participated in a two-day orientation training conducted by the Foster Care Review Board Program in Lansing.

Foster Care Review Board #29 serves Alpena, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Emmet, Luce, Mackinac, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties. The board meets one day each month to review a sample of cases of children placed in temporary foster care. The purpose of these reviews is to determine what efforts are being made by the juvenile court, the Department of Human Services, or private child placing agency to develop and carry out a plan for permanent placement.

Obituaries

A. Keith Kerr: March 7, 1914 - May 17, 2005

A. Keith Kerr of Grand Blanc, 91, died Tuesday, May 17, 2005 at Briarwood Manor. A funeral service was conducted May 20, 2005 at Kirkridge Presbyterian Church at 8070 South Saginaw Street in Grand Blanc, Michigan with Rev. Glenn Grant officiating. Burial took place in Barnard Cemetery in Charlevoix. Those desiring may make contributions to Kirkridge Presbyterian Church Building Fund.

Keith was born March 7, 1914, in Charlevoix, the son of Alex and Sophronia (VanZant) Kerr. He was a resident of the Flint area most of his life.

Keith was a past president of the Flint Kiwanis Club and a lifetime member of The Boys Scouts of America, Order of the Arrow, member of Michigan Road Builders Association, Kirkridge Presbyterian Church and National Asphalt Paving Association. Keith was a Certified Public Accountant and a partner in the accounting firm of Lewis, Knopf and Kerr and owner of Flint Asphalt and Paving.

Surviving are his children, Bonny and husband Keith Clark of Pendleton, Ind., Douglas and wife Sherrie of Galveston, Ind., and Bethany Reynolds of Grand Blanc; 9 grandchildren, Bradley, Alison, Amy Kirsten, Kyle, Katherine and husband Duane Cooke, Jennifer, Julie, Lindsay and Patti. He was preceded in death by his wife, Hilda; son, Keith Jr. and grandson, Jason Bays.

Jeanette B. Miller: Aug. 5, 1930 - May 26, 2005

Jeanette B. Miller, 74, of East Jordan died Sunday, May 22, 2005 at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey.

Funeral services took place Thursday, May 26, 2005 at the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix. Pastor Michael Dennis officiated. Interment will be in Sunset Hill Cemetery in East Jordan.

She was born Aug. 5, 1930 in Iron Mountain, the daughter of Herman and Stella (Knutson) Westlund. On Oct. 23, 1954 in Waupaca, Wis., she married Donald D. Miller. They moved to Charlevoix in 1978 and then to East Jordan in 1990. Jeanette was the co-founder of the Ben Franklin Stores in Charlevoix, Mancelona, and East Jordan. She retired in 1997. Donald preceded her in death on Dec. 26, 2000.

Jeanette was a member and the organist at the First Baptist Church in Charlevoix. She retired from playing organ at church six months ago. Her faith was very important to her, her family and her friends. She loved her devotions, her church, making a joyful noise unto the Lord and the people the Lord placed in her path.

Jeanette is survived by her two sons,

Daniel (Faye) Miller of East Jordan and Dale (Kay) Miller of Charlevoix; four grandchildren, David Miller, Julie (Nick) Smith, Sara Miller and Donald D. Miller, II; two great grandchildren, Shayleigh Kaye Smith and Colin Smith; two brothers, Eugene (Jeanette) Westlund and Roger (June) Westlund, both of Hemet, Calif.; as well as many nieces and nephews. She was also preceded in death by her parents and one brother, Ken Westlund.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be given to the First Baptist Church Ministry Center in Charlevoix.

Death notice

Ed McKee, 71, of Bay Shore, died May 27, 2005 at Bortz

Health Care in Petoskey. A complete obituary will follow. No services are planned.

In memoriam

At 3 p.m. June 11 a farewell, memorial celebration for Lyla McMillan-Arvilla who died March 6, 2005, will take place at Brookside Cemetery.

This event will pass to memory one of the longest tenured residents of Charlevoix the Beautiful.

To travel to the McMillan-Arvilla plat in Brookside Cemetery turn west from M-66, then turn left on the cemetry boulevard and travel for about 100 feet.

In case of inclement weather, the celebration will take place at the Charlevoix United Methodist Church.

Illegal alien convicted of murder deported

An illegal alien responsible for the death of a nine-month-old girl in Charlevoix County is again behind bars.

Juan Antonio Garcia-Barcenas was sentenced to nearly four years in a federal prison for returning to the United States after being deported. Barcenas was released on parole from prison in July 2004, and was deported to his native Mexico within 24 hours. He was able to illegally enter the United States and made it all the way back to Michigan, where he was arrested on Sept. 22 in Grand Rapids.

Renee Kuzmnik, of Boyne City, whose daughter was killed by Barcenas, is now facing federal charges for helping him avoid detection by law enforcement officers.

Acting on information from a caseworker for the Department of Human Services, the Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney's Office notified the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) that Kuzmnik had admitted that she brought Barcenas from Austin, Texas, to Boyne City where he resided with Kuzmnik and her children for close to three weeks.

Kuzmnik is also accused of helping pay a smuggler who brought Barcenas back into the country.

November 12, 2001, nine-month-old Carissa Kuzmnik of Charlevoix died from severe blunt trauma injuries caused by Barcenas. In April 2002, the child's killer pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in a deal approved by former prosecutor Mary Beth Kur. The Mexican national was sentenced to 18 months to 15 years in prison, but was paroled after a few months and deported to Mexico.

The Charlevoix County Prosecutor's office is committed to assisting immigration and Customs Enforcement agents in bringing to justice any persons that enter our country illegally and commit crimes against our citizens.

Local poet celebrates first publication

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

With eight decades of experience, a local writer recently published the first of several planned poetry compilations.

Since the late 1920s when she lived in Kansas, Rosalyn Goldstick had the urge to write poetry on every subject imaginable, including local residents, eulogies for friends and rhymes of nature.

Her work has appeared in the Temple B'nai Israel and Charlevoix Senior Center newsletters as well as a publication out of Cincinnati, Ohio which selected a few of her poems for the national publication Covenant of the Soul.

"The book is all about remembering things that happened in Charlevoix," Goldstick said. "It helps people remember the good times and the bad times in Charlevoix."

Goldstick has lived in Charlevoix since 1947 when she moved here after marrying her husband Clarence. As lifelong members of the local historical society, Goldstick and her husband were very active at the Harsha House.

Goldstick's first book, "Do you remember," is available in Charlevoix at the Harsha House off State Street and at the Charlevoix Senior Center off Carpenter Avenue. Cost of the tome is $12.95 plus tax, with proceeds going to both the Charlevoix Senior Center and the Harsha House.

"My husband and I were very active in the historical society and when they started renovating the Harsha House, I just felt that I wanted to do something for them," she said. "And the same goes for the senior center, I just wanted to do something more than a monetary donation."

According to Goldstick, many of the poems are based on life from 50 or more years ago, when lifestyles were different in so many ways.

Stafford's to offer hunger awareness day benefit

Owner of Stafford's Hospitality, Stafford Smith, recently announced his company's participation in National Hunger Awareness Day, June 7.

Stafford's will contribute 25 percent of the day's dinner revenues on June 7, from its four dining establishments to benefit the Manna Project, a local charitable hunger fighting organization serving Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

National Hunger Awareness Day is spearheaded by America's Second

Harvest-The Nation's Food Bank Network. It is the nation's largest charitable hunger relief organization with a network of over 200 regional member food banks and rescue programs serving all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Coordinating local efforts, the Manna Food Project services 23 area food pantries and agencies and operates a food bank distribution warehouse. As of April 30, the Manna Project has distributed over 231,000 pounds of food to low income and needy northern Michigan residents.

Stafford's dining establishments participating in National Hunger Awareness Day are the Bay View Inn, Bay View, The Perry Hotel, Petoskey, The Pier Restaurant, Harbor Springs and The Weathervane Restaurant in Charlevoix.

"So many of these poems reflect back when so many of us were poor and we just didn't know," Goldstick said.

"Do you remember" offers poems on topics including horse-drawn milk carts, barbershop quartets, penny candy and cribbage tournaments to people who either want to learn about or relive some memories of Charlevoix.

"If they love Charlevoix and they want to reminisce about it, this is the book for them," she said. "And, especially with the one hundredth anniversary coming up it is very apropos."

It is likely some of the older folks around town might appreciate this book more than most, but, she said, "There is something for the younger people too. All age groups, I think, will appreciate it."

Goldstick added, "I think everyone that reads it will find something that they can relate to in their own lives. We don't want to forget the past, it has such a great influence on the future."

Goldstick said she finally published her work because she received such a positive response from the community and her daughter has been urging her to put her collected works to print for many years.

Sharing those memories, she added, seemed to be a natural progression since writing poetry is effortless for her.

"I've been doing it since I was a little girl," she said. "I write about everything, any subject you can think of. The poetry just seems to flow."

Goldstick's first book signing was May 24 at the Charlevoix Senior Center. Her next signing will be from 1 to 3 p.m., June 11 at the Harsha House.

She added, "I am preparing more 'Do you remember,' poems for a second book because this has been such a success and people have clamored for more."

Local Coast Guard cutter presence questionable

ACACIA

140 foot ice breaking cutters between the Great Lakes and Northeastern Seaboard."

In a letter dated May 12, from Rear Admiral R. J. Papp, Jr. of the Coast Guard to Dipert, Papp said, the Coast Guard is considering reassignment of a 140 foot ice breaking tug to the Great Lakes to meet the increasing demands of commerce during the winter season.

He added, "However, critical mission demands in the other areas of the Coast Guard have made the relocation of this asset uncertain for the immediate future."

Papp said, "If MORRO BAY were to be assigned to the Great Lakes, the Coast Guard would conduct a study to determine the best location for the cutter's home port. Charlevoix will be included in the study."

The letters from Papp and Yost were in response to correspondence Dipert made regarding the decommissioning of the ACACIA.

"We need to keep the pressure on," said June Cross, head of a citizens initiative to keep a Coast Guard ship in Charlevoix. "Cleveland has not made its decision."

Part of the citizen's initiative was to write letters to U.S. Senators Carl Levin, Debbie Stabenow, Congressman Bart Stupak as well as the letters Dipert sent to the Coast Guard.

In a letter dated April 25, from Jacqueline Merta, president of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, she pointed out a few things for the Coast Guard to consider when making their decision on whether or not to replace the ACACIA.

"Charlevoix has a decommissioned nuclear power plant with spent fuel storage on site," Merta's letter said.

According to Merta's letter, in 1996, Charlevoix completed $1.5 million in major renovations making the shore side facilities adjacent to the ACACIA excellent. And, renovations include 3,100 square feet of storage, meeting room facilities and a mooring area which could accommodate a 225 foot vessel.

According to Charlevoix City Manager, Mike Wiesner, as far as getting a replacement ship in for the ACACIA when it is decommissioned, the city has been attempting to make contact with Congressman Bart Stupak as best they can, but have received no response from Stupak's office.

"It's a council goal to maintain a Coast Guard presence," Wiesner said.

But, he added, "The latest we heard, the MORRO BAY isn't available to the Great Lakes."

If a ship is made available to the Great Lakes in the future, Wiesner said he would like to pursue having it ported in Charlevoix.

"Should it come available we'd still like to position ourselves to get that ship," he said.

According to Wiesner, there are no specific plans for the Coast Guard building and dock space which the ACACIA currently occupies should there fail to be a replacement.

"I want to make sure we've exhausted our efforts with the Coast Guard first," Wiesner said.

According to Stupak, no one from the City of Charlevoix has contacted him in the last year about the possibility of getting a replacement ship.

"If he (Wiesner) has some other ideas then I'm happy to work with him, but he's not contacted my office," Stupak said.

Wiesner said that isn't accurate.

"I've called his office numerous times, mainly last fall," Wiesner said.

According to Stupak, the likelihood of maintaining a cutter/huoy tender in Charlevoix with the three high-tech Coast Guard ships ALDER, HOLLYHOCK and MACKINAW on the Great Lakes is unlikely.

"It's not going to happen," Stupak said. "It's just not going to happen. The whole idea behind the new buoy tenders is that (they) are faster and more efficient and save the tax payers money."

And, Stupak said, northern Michigan isn't the only area losing a ship.

Stupak said concerned citizens can do a letter writing campaign, but, "I just don't see after 15 years the Coast Guard is going to change their mind at this point."

However, if there was a new mission in Charlevoix for which a new ship would be needed, Stupak said he would be interested in hearing about it.

"I've seen articles in the paper, I've seen where past people associated with the Coast Guard say they have asked for this ship or that ship, but I think it would be wrong to mislead the people that there will be a replacement for the ACACIA," Stupak said.

He added, Homeland Security demands are stretching the Coast Guard thin as it is.

"So why would you take a ship like the MORRO BAY away from New York (or New England) and put it in as a buoy tender," he questioned.

Stupak said if a unique reason came up which called for a ship to be ported in Charlevoix he would be open to hear about it.

As far as requests for the 140 foot MORRO BAY there is still no confirmation as to whether it will even be released to the Great Lakes.

"It's just a tentative request right now," said LT. Cary Godwin of the ACACIA. "The reason being obviously we're losing ACACIA on the Great Lakes."

Godwin said he doesn't see a negative as far as the Coast Guard's ability to maintain aids to navigation or any of the other regular missions including search and rescue once the ACACIA is gone.

But, he said, "With the increase by the Homeland Security Department, having another cutter up here would make us more versatile."

"We can still meet the needs, but having another asset for meeting future needs is probably a wise decision," Godwin added.

According to Joe Agostinelli, legislative assistant to Michigan Senator Jason Allen, he has seen a few letters come in from concerned citizens in Charlevoix.

He said Allen is working to introduce another resolution to urge the Coast Guard to consider replacing the ACACIA with another ship.

This new resolution is based on the original 2002 initiative brought forth by Allen.

"It was an issue Senator Allen supported in the house so at their (Charlevoix's) request we're more than willing to introduce it again," Agostinelli said. "We'd like to see some sort of a cutter stay in Charlevoix be it the ACACIA or a new one."

Agostinelli said Allen's office is still waiting for a draft of the resolution from the Legislative Service Bureau, a group who draft bills and resolutions, which may come tomorrow or next month.

"It's really an issue that at the state level we don't really have a lot of control over," he said. "Ultimately it is a decision in the hands of the federal government."

Area residents build eagle nesting areas

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Some northern Michigan residents discovered telephone poles are the perfect breeding ground for bald eagles.

Pam Newcomb of Charlevoix said building a manmade platform atop a telephone pole is one of the best ways to help increase the American Bald Eagle population in this area. And, currently, she is trying to locate the materials for the job.

"We need at least a 24 or more foot pole," she said. "I want to buy a new one and I'm in contact with a company to bring an auger in."

Newcomb said she has permission to put the pole up on land near Susan Lake in Charlevoix's Hayes Township that is owned by the Little Traverse Conservancy, but she has yet to find a pole she can purchase.

According to Newcomb, she got the idea of building the platform from another local, Joel Evans.

"He has a successful eagles nest on the Jordan River. I've been thinking of this for years and when I contacted him he gave me the specifications to do this," she said.

Newcomb is excited to get the platform up in hopes that next year she might have eagles nesting.

"In fact I just saw an immature eagle fly over our property the other day," she said.

She added, "It's just a perfect spot. We see eagles skimming the (Susan Lake) lake, but it's not coming to fruition yet, we need the pole first."

Newcomb said creating a secure place for the eagles is a good use of conservancy land and there are several reasons for the need to create manmade nesting areas.

"We're really committed to preserving endangered species, particularly birds of prey and waterfowl," she said. "I think number one we're losing our old pines for habitat and nesting and their eagles up here and osprey up here but we're at a loss for nesting areas."

Newcomb said, "When they reproduce they lay one or two eggs and usually one eaglet survives."

The importance of using something strong and long-lasting such as a telephone pole is the incredible amount of material the eagles will place upon it.

"The platform needs to hold almost two tons. The poles need to be quite sturdy," she said. "You could find a lawn rake intertwined in the nest."

According to Newcomb, Evans platform took approximately 10 years before the eagles decided to lay eggs, but she is willing to wait.

"It would be nice to put that on our property — I've been interested in hawks and owls and eagles and loons ever since I was a little kid. My parents were quite active in giving us an appreciation of nature," she added.

According to fellow conservation minded resident Evans, he got the idea to build the manmade platform from some smaller versions he saw in marshland in the Houghton Lake area.

"Birds were nesting on them and that sparked my interest in the bigger birds. So, we put a couple small platforms up and the Osprey nested on them," he said.

Evans said as the eagle population increased he saw the need for nesting areas. He couldn't get the eagles to nest in them until he studied the nest up close and built one of his own out of larger sticks.

"Eagles nest in the tops of large trees, so I said, 'Why wouldn't they nest on a large platform,'" Evans said. "They love to roost on these platforms and fish from them but they never nested in them. Then, one of the nests came down and I went through it and saw what it was made of, what size sticks they use."

He added, "And last spring, a couple started to nest on it. And I'm not positive, but it appears there are two young in the nest."

Evans said to build a platform you need something sturdy.

"You just about need to get a telephone pole. They're pressure treated and long-lasting," he said.

He made his own design for several reasons.

"Rather than put a flat platform on top of the pole, I put a shelf type on the side," he said. "The reason I did that (is) in the past the wildlife division would band the young eagles and in the event they would want to band the young eagles it would be easier than trying to climb around it."

He added, "It's nothing special but it's very strong because each year they (eagles) add weight."

According to Evans, every year the birds add weight in the form of sticks, grass and down from the female's breast.

The cost of building and installing a nesting platform is about $2,000 including pole and shelf materials and hiring a contractor to dig a hole and stand the pole up in it.

It is very important, Evans said, to use a manmade pole and platform.

"A couple people I've talked to say they've got a large tree or a dead tree, but most trees are just temporary," he said.

Building a platform in a tree can be counterproductive because tree branches don't generally last as long as a manmade structure.

He added, "Be sure to buy this treated telephone pole. Don't attempt to do it another or cheaper way."

Currently the birds are nesting on city property and as a result, Evans had to get permits and permission from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and the City of East Jordan.

"And I've got to give thanks to Consumers Power who brought in their machine to pick the pole up and drill a hole and set the pole," he said.

Aside from helping the eagles, Evans said, it's a nice thing for people too.

"It's on city property so the whole community can enjoy them. You can walk out onto an observation deck and view the nest," he said.

You can see the eagles and Evan's contribution from the observation area at Sportsman's Park right at the mouth of the Jordan River.

Evans said the eagles need housing if their population is to continue to increase.

"I think it's important that people provide that for them," he said. "I just hope what I'm doing will encourage others to get involved."

Bike cancer benefit to take place June 18

The third annual Bike4BreastCancer Pink Ribbon Ride, in memory of Kathleen McDonald will take place June 18.

Cyclists of all ages and abilities will once again participate in the event that has generated more than $26,000 in donations to Northern Michigan Hospital and Charlevoix Area Hospital, for use in education, training, and support programs, as well as mammogram screening and early detection assistance to women throughout Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

This annual event is the legacy of Kathleen McDonald of Boyne City, founder of the Charlevoix/Emmet County Chapter of Bike4BreastCancer, who herself succumbed to the disease shortly before the inaugural event in 2003.

McDonald's goal, and that of the many volunteers who participate each year, was to bring hope and valuable resources to breast cancer patients and their families, and to educate women on the importance of early detection. Nationally, one in eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in her lifetime.

The Pink Ribbon Ride itself has grown annually. This year's event will include two 42-mile routes for intermediate to advanced riders, a 20-mile route and a 7-mile route. All routes begin at Veteran's Park in downtown Boyne City, and travel along the scenic shorelines of Lake Charlevoix, Deer Lake and Lake Michigan, passing through Northern Michigan towns and villages including Charlevoix, Horton Bay and Advance.

Some lucky cyclists may even be treated to a ride on the Ironion Ferry. Returning to the park, participants will be greeted with a picnic lunch and other activities, including a bike clinic, a bike raffle and fun for the whole family.

For those who do not ride but want to participate, donations can be sent to Bike4BreastCancer, P.O. Box 242, East Jordan, MI 49727-0242.

Advanced, discount registrations can be made online by logging onto www.bike4breastcancer.org.

On-site registration fees are $30 per individual and $50 per family. On-site registration will begin at 7 a.m. in the park, and riders are free to begin their courses once they are checked in.

Participants can also offset the price of registration by collecting donations in equivalent amounts. T-shirts and other materials commemorating the event can be purchased online, or the day of the event.

For more information may contact event Chairman, Sue Morris at suemorris@bike4breastcancer.com.

Northwest to expand to K-12 school

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Northwest Academy will begin its tenth school year with the addition of kindergarten through fourth grade classes and a new administrative team.

Implementation of the young five's, kindergarten and first through fourth grades will be overseen by the school's new co-administrators Gary Stutzman, the current band director and Cindy Romero, current acting administrator and Spanish instructor.

"We're dealing with a really exciting time," Stutzman said.

According to Romero, last week she received the okay from the Northwest Academy School Board to open the kindergarten through fourth grade classes next fall.

"It just makes sense to have our own program to feed into our upper level program," Romero said. "And that's not to say that we don't welcome kids who transfer in, but it makes our atmosphere more cohesive to train them for their future if we have them from a young age."

Romero said music, art and foreign language will be taught to even the youngest students.

"I'm not sure if we'll get it started this fall, but that's our goal to have K-12 foreign language," she said.

Stutzman said he is pleased to be named co-administrator and can't wait for the new school year to start so he can continue helping mold the minds of the future.

"We are graduating students who are going to be great leaders in society," he said. "One student, Mark Muniak, is getting ready to graduate from John Hopkins University and John Chase is in a think-tank in Washington D.C. working with the democratic party."

Stutzman, a Charlevoix native, returned to the area upon attaining his bachelors and masters degrees in music education from Northern Michigan University to teach at Charlevoix Public Schools. He has nearly 30 years of experience in education and related fields.

Nine years ago, Stutzman began as hand director at Northwest Academy, in which time he has helped make the band one of the most sought after performance groups in the state.

Despite Northwest Academy's success, many people weren't happy with the charter school concept in the beginning, Stutzman said.

"Originally we were looked at as though we were taking funds away from other schools, but we are one out of 185 charter schools in Michigan and the trend is continuing," he said.

At age 18, Romero moved to Mexico where she studied art design and Spanish for three years. Later, as a single mother of four, Romero drove nearly seven hours a day for three years from Charlevoix to Grand Valley State University to obtain her teaching degree.

She said teaching and leading both require the ability to adapt to many situations.

"I am everything — acting administrator through a time of restructuring, plus teaching three classes of multi-level Spanish," Romero said. "That's what's unique about this school — whoever's in this office is superintendent, principal, business officer, counselor."

Romero will be the first to admit that Northwest Academy isn't the prettiest school in the area. But, she said, knowing what the student educational needs are means looking at the program, not the building.

"That's what we do. We have learned to run on a very lean budget," she added.

Generally known for their superior music program, Northwest Academy also offers fine arts, integrated technology, foreign language, and this year the entire school participated in a mock forensic murder investigation.

"The kids went through the whole crime lab experience. They took the evidence and it went to trial and the suspect was acquitted," Stutzman said.

Romero said another thing which makes the academy unique is the foreign language program.

"To my knowledge, because of the way we are able to structure our days, we have the only hour-

North Central Michigan College Student Center • 12 noon - 1:30 p.m.

North Central Michigan College and the Petoskey News-Review present Georgie Anne Geyer, veteran foreign correspondent and a syndicated columnist on international affairs. She is renowned for her in-depth interviews with world leaders and her ten published titles including her just-published book, "When Cats Reigned Like Kings: On the Trail of Sacred Cats".

Geyer's chance meeting with an adorable "black-as-midnight" kitten on the streets of Chicago in 1975 grew into a lifelong fascination with cats and their unique position in the lives of humans. In the book, Geyer explores the connection between the royal and sacred felines of ancient civilizations and the beloved domestic cats of today.

Georgie Anne Geyer's luncheon lecture is sure to be just as engaging and delightful as her remarkable book, "When Cats Reigned Like Kings".

our days, we have the only hour-long, everyday Spanish program in the middle school which lasts all year," she said.

Stutzman added the strings program is also a daily, year-long class.

Currently the academy has 55 students with a projected fall enrollment of 90, which will allow them to maintain their small size of between 10 and 15 students per class.

According to Romero small class size is just another great thing about Northwest Academy because it allows the staff to spend more one on one time with the children.

"We are here for all students, whether it be for someone who wants to go to John Hopkins or be a nurses aide at the hospital," she said. "I think with Gary (Stutzman) and I, we get down on the kids level. Does that mean we have lower expectations? No. But, we will listen and they know at any time they can come talk to us."

Northwest Academy will host an open house at 7 p.m., Tuesday June 7, at the school located at 115 West Hurlbut Street in order to release their budget to the public and offer enrollment opportunities.

Area Junior Golf program registration set for June 10

Plans for the popular Charlevoix Area Junior Golf Program have been released.

Registration will be Friday afternoon, June 10 at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course.

The summer program, in its tenth year will register 8-10 year olds at 1:30 p.m. and 11-17 year olds at 2:30 p.m. Parents or guardians must also attend to take part in the orientation session and to sign a waiver of liability form, which must be filled out before golfers can take part in the program.

There are two financial plans available for families. A one time fee of $50 covers all sessions for the 8 week schedule which includes the pizza party, the picnic, a colored framed picture of each golfer and the evening league competition for those players that qualify. A second option is a pay-as-you-go plan where youngsters pay $5 for each session they attend. Families where finances are a handicap are encouraged to contact Dean Davenport, Executive Director at (231) 547-6433 as some family scholarships are available.

Program emphasis is on teaching golf's basic fundamentals of proper grip, stance and swing but juniors are constantly exposed and reminded of the importance of golf etiquette, responsibility, honesty, social skills and consideration of others.

Sessions rotate among five local courses: the Belvedere, Charlevoix-Country Club, Dunmaglas, Antrim Dells and the Charlevoix Municipal Course. Play is scheduled for each of these courses and skill testing, rules and etiquette tests and tournaments are part of the program contents.

Program highlights are when several intermediate and advanced players are chosen to go to the Ferris State University week long golf school and the Boyne Golf Academy. In addition, qualified juniors participate in a Sunday evening league as a member of one of four teams at the Belvedere Golf Course.

Adult mentors interested in helping with the program are encouraged to contact Dean Davenport or to register at the Municipal Course. Additional information can be secured by calling the City Recreation Department or Davenport.

County planning meeting rescheduled due to conflict

Due to a scheduling conflict, the next Charlevoix County Planning Commission meeting has been rescheduled from Thursday, June 2 to 7 p.m. Thursday, June 9 in the Pine Lake Room at the Charlevoix County Building. If you have any questions, call the Charlevoix County Planning Department at (231) 547-7234.

Stupak works on dredging amendments for Charlevoix

Last week, during consideration of the successful Energy and Water Appropriations Bill, Congressman Bart Stupak (D-Menominee) offered an amendment that would make the new Army Corps of Engineers guidelines for determining the eligibility of maintenance dredging more flexible by not limiting the criteria to tonnage alone.

Stupak withdrew the amendment after the Chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee on Energy and Water committed to work with Stupak and the Army Corps of Engineers toward a more flexible policy.

"At this point, the Army Corps of Engineers defines a harbor as high-use if it moves at least one million tons of cargo per year," said Stupak. "If that one criteria is not met, the result will be that small town, rural America will suffer more job losses, businesses will struggle, and infrastructure could be damaged."

The new guidelines set by the Army Corps of Engineers are for Fiscal Year 2006 and 2007. The criteria determine whether a harbor is considered high-use and therefore eligible to be considered to be funded for dredging in the President's budget. Several small harbors in northern Michigan would not be eligible for funding in the President's budget because of this new criteria.

"Without this yearly dredge, these communities are subject to harsh floods and are unable to receive the goods they need through these harbors," said Stupak. "For example, Ontonagon Harbor's local economy would be at risk: Sunbelt-Stone Container Corporation would not be able to receive limestone and White Pine Power would not receive coal for power production. Shipments like these may not be considered high-traffic by national standards but it is a major part of the future of these local, rural economies."

Below is the list of projects Stupak secured in the Energy and Water Appropriation Bill for the First District. This is a critical first step in these projects receiving funding in the final appropriation bills. The bill must now go to the Senate and eventually to the President for his signature.

First District Projects: Sault St. Marie Replacement Locks $2,000,000, Mackinac Island Harbor Breakwater $50,000, Ontonagon Harbor Channel Extension $184,000, Marquette Shoreline Protection $139,000, Charlevoix Harbor $89,000, Grand Marais Harbor $14,000, Keweenaw Waterway $370,000, Menominee Harbor $400,000, St. Mary's River $17,134,000.

Harbor Industries wins prestigious MBPA award

Earlier this month, Harbor Industries, Inc., of Grand Haven and Charlevoix was honored as a recipient of the Michigan Business & Professional Association's (MBPA) West Michigan's 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For 2005 Award.

This award program was created to recognize the renaissance and economic prosperity of our communities through innovative human resources practices and tools for human resources improvement.

"It is part of Harbor's mission statement to be the preeminent leader in our industry and communities," Kim Swiderski, Director of Human Resources for Harbor Industries, said.

"This award is assurance that we are doing the right things for our employees in attaining our goal," she added.

Harbor Industries, Inc. is a full service manufacturer of point of purchase displays and store fixturing. Harbor operates a 280,000 square foot manufacturing facility in Charlevoix.

Tim Parker, Vice President of Operations for Harbor Industries, accepts the MBPA award.

State bank to open new drive-through

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

Charlevoix State Bank is gearing up for an intensive "bricks and mortar" finish to 2005.

"This is a big expansion year for us," John Kurtz, president of Charlevoix State Bank, said.

At the end of June, the bank, which opened in 1994 and has its hub in downtown Charlevoix, will open a new drive-through location on the city's south side. This new location will be similar to the site they opened in 1999 on the north side across from Don's IGA.

"We've had a number of requests from residents and businesses who say it's difficult to come downtown in the summer and a drive-through would be really beneficial," Kurtz said.

He further explained that 95 percent of banking transactions will be provided for at this new location. A full-time operational ATM machine will also be at the site.

Reasons customers will still need to use the downtown location include wire transfers and loan activity.

The bank currently employs 40 people and serves about 5,000 customers. A new teller will be hired to help man the south side office. Kurtz said the new location will also house administrative auditing staff.

Kurtz is hoping the new location will increase the bank's customer base.

Leah Dulaney, head of marketing for the expansion, said, "A lot of people like quick and easy banking. Particularly in the summer — it will be easier for residents to get in and get out."

The bank purchased the property, which is located at 102 M-66, from Citizens Bank during the spring of 2004. At that time there was a non-compete clause included in the purchase which would not allow Charlevoix State Bank to open until now.

The south side drive-through will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday.

A development plan requesting permission to exit from the bank to an abandoned part of Stover Road was unanimously approved by Charlevoix City Council at a special meeting May 4.

This decision was made in spite of memos from both city planner Gerry Harsch and city police chief Dennis Halverson recommending against allowing them to connect to Stover Road.

In their memos, both Halverson and Harsch state that this access point encourages shortcut traffic through the bank to M-66 to avoid the stop light at US-31 and M-66. Halverson said when Citizens Bank was open at that location, the city police department received numerous phone calls about people cutting through the lot.

According to Third Ward Councilman Sherm Chamberlain, council felt that the problem was more Charlevoix State Bank's than the city's.

"We felt it was more the bank's problem. Dennis' concerns are valid but you do have to take twists and turns to get through the property — it just won't be a time savings to anybody to cut through," he said.

Charlevoix State Bank will soon open a new drive-through location on Charlevoix's south side.

LEGAL NOTICE 210

NOTICE OF ERADICATION ACTION: GOVERNMENT SPONSORED REMOVAL OF ASH TREES

The Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) has determined that the presence of a regulated insect pest, the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB), has been found infesting ash trees in your area. Please review the following information as your property may be impacted by a government sponsored removal of ash trees that are a part of an effort to eradicate this aggressive, exotic insect pest found to be present in your area.

The Director of MDA, acting in accordance with the authority of the Insect Pest and Plant Disease Act 189 of 1931, has determined that ash trees (Fraxinus spp.) that are the subject of an EAB eradication action meet the criteria of a Declared Host Plant Nuisance under the act. By providing you with this written notice, the Director is informing you that:

1. An Emerald Ash Borer infestation has been found in ash trees on or near the property you own or operate.

2. This property is within the prescribed management area for containment of EAB, and if it contains ash trees, personnel from MDA have identified and marked those ash host trees for removal.

3. MDA will coordinate the removal of marked trees through approved, insured contractors.

4. MDA and the Emerald Ash Borer Response Program will pay the cost of removal and site restoration that results from the removal process.

5. Ash trees or other ash material such as firewood, logs, or branches may NOT be moved from this property unless authorized and directed by MDA.

6. MDA and authorized contractors may need to conduct the following activities on your property:

Remove and destroy infested ash trees

Examine ash host material to gain information on the biology of EAB

Restore the property to a proper condition following contractor activity

Michigan law requires that you be given notice of the finding of such a nuisance pest, under the Insect Pests and Plant Diseases Act (PA 189, of 1931). If you have ash trees marked for removal by MDA, this document serves as the official notice and fulfills the public notice requirement of this Act. If you DO NOT have marked trees, the state's eradication efforts will not directly affect you or your property.

SCRAPBOOK

City incorporated with little fanfare

"The Village of Charlevoix, in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, is hereby incorporated into a city of the fourth class . . ."

So began Act No. 586 Local Acts of State of Michigan 1905. It concluded nine and one-half legal-sized, double-spaced pages of numbingly bureaucratic language. Later: "This act is ordered to take immediate effect" on June 1, 1905.

Charlevoix, chartered as a village in 1879, had made the transition into a city. What exactly might that have meant?

"A search of Charlevoix Sentinel microfilm files for the first months of 1905 reveals nothing regarding why or at whose instigation the change was made. On May 18, 1905 Willard Smith, the Sentinel editor who usually waxed super enthusiastic about any event regarding Charlevoix, gave it only few paragraphs.

"Now a City. Bill for Incorporation of Charlevoix Passes Both Houses. Just as we go to press a telegram from Lansing brings the welcome intelligence that the bill incorporating Charlevoix as a city has passed both houses of the Legislature. The first election will take place the last Monday in June.

"The only enlargement in the new order of things is the taking in of the cemeteries.

"Who said Charlevoix was a sleepy (illegible) town?

"Now let us prove ourselves worthy of the honor which the Legislature has conferred," he wrote.

And that's about it. Just the cemeteries coming under city jurisdiction.

It is unclear whether the state initiated the change, perhaps in conjunction with other small municipalities as part of a state-wide program, or if Charlevoix felt it deserved a raise and petitioned the state to act accordingly.

A search of village meeting minutes from 1903 through the first half of 1905 reveals not one reference to the pending change.

Future inquiries to the state may reveal little since the state archives burned in 1951.

The May 31, 1905 minutes involve three handwritten ledger pages regarding downtown paving and sewer improvements, then Standard Oil petroleum products storage on Ferry Avenue, sprinkling Bridge Street to keep down dust, a saloon bond, and sidewalk questions. Nothing regarding the next day's changeover.

June 7 saw further discussion on the sidewalks, higher tax assessments and more infrastructure questions. Still no mention of what had transpired a week before.

June 14 was voting hooths and election concerns for the June 26 vote for a new mayor and council. Appointments to various positions were made, and more sidewalk discussion took place. Again no mention of our city status.

Finally, on June 29 at a special meeting to report the vote tally, the first appearance of the word "city." Never once did the minutes mention the state action.

On June 20, Smith did refer to the change, but with a wisecrack: "The casual observer if he be a stranger within our gates this week would naturally draw the conclusion that the new city charter provides for a mayor's salary of $2,500 and an alderman's pay of $1,000 and the 'rake off' on paving and sewer jobs. Well it's an honor to be the first Mayor of Charlevoix. May the best man win."

It's not clear if a jaundiced Smith was hinting at a possible opportunity for corruption built into the charter, or was shrugging cynically and ironically with little faith in the honesty of his fellow man, which he sometimes did. The salary amounts certainly appear excessive for the times.

June 27, the day after the election, finds him in a more positive mood. "We remember well that when Charlevoix was incorporated as a village, there were those who opposed it, claiming that the old township organization was good enough; that it would increase taxes 'etc.'"

"And now we have taken another step forward. If the garment seems too large at first, we shall soon grow into a closer fit and we are certain that the time will not come when we shall wish ourselves clothed again in the old short sleeved 'cutaway.'"

Charlevoix will celebrate its one hundredth birthday June 1. Above is downtown Charlevoix in 1905, when the city was incorporated. No cars, no paved streets. A less city-like appearance when compared to Bridge Street today.

And that was that. There were no celebrations, parades, speeches or fireworks. Nobody got excited. Perhaps it was regarded in the same light as an upshift from junior high to high school. But it is an event in our history worth remembering.

The Charlevoix Historical Society's Harsha House Museum is exhibiting many artifacts, with accompanying photos, from Charlevoix's past 100 years beginning with a city band uniform from 1905. The Harsha House is located at 103 State Street. It is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday through June 25. After June 25, the museum will be open during those hours Monday through Saturday through Labor Day.

Call (231) 547-0373 for more information.

Greensky Hill program planned at Depot

The Charlevoix Historical Society is presenting "History of Greensky Hill and Church" at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 7 at the Greensky Hill Church located off Old US-31 North.

It will be hosted by society member Bob Morgridge in conjunction with Pastor Geri Litchfield of the Horton Bay United Methodist Church.

The evening will begin with a slide presentation on the history of the church, named after Native-American Christian convert Peter Greensky and constructed during the 1850s.

A tour of the church and burial grounds will follow.

Afterwards, attendees will walk to the remaining ancient Council Trees whose circle symbolizes mutual trust and peace among the area's tribes.

This program is open to the public. There is no admission charge. Call the Harsha House at (231) 547-0373 for more information.

Culpeper Honors ...
3rd Battalion,
317th Infantry Regiment (BCT)
Military Deployment Baghdad, Iraq Ceremony
Culpeper County Middle School, Culpeper, VA
April 23, 2005, 1:00 A.M.

I was part of the ceremony mentioned above and I must tell you there was not a dry eye in the place. Culpeper, Virginia is a small town some 70 miles south of Washington, DC that was founded in 1759. It was the headquarters for Gen. Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia for some three months in 1862. The above battalion and regiment were part of his Army. It was also the site of nearby Brandy Station where the largest Cavalry battle of the Civil War was fought. Some 17,000 mounted horsemen from the North and South engaged in combat for eight hours to a draw. It was the first time that famous General Jeb Stuart, Southern Cavalry, did not win over his opponent.

It was amazing to me that this war on terrorism has touched this very small community of 4,000 people as it was touched during the civil war.

To celebrate Memorial Day this past Monday, not only in our town, but also all over this wonderful country, I thought it appropriate to tell you how wonderful and brave our young soldiers are serving in our Armed Forces today. They go every day in harms way for us, and saying thank you for their service is not enough. So this memorial is in their honor, and in the honor of those who served before them, and also for those who made the ultimate sacrifice and did not come home - for what they have done and for what they're doing for us now, and in the future, in fighting terrorism, and in protecting us.

Please let's not forget these young Americans who stand up for us in the good times and in the very bad times. Also, let's not forget those who served in wartime for us in World War I and II, Korea, Vietnam, Desert Storm, and so many other dangerous and lonely places.

I think the old spiritual, which was written by William Croft in 1708 - Our God, Our Help in Ages Past - makes it all okay, and let me quote,

"Our God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy past,
And our eternal home:

A thousand ages in thy sight,
Are like an evening gone;
Short as the watch that ends the night,
Before the rising sun:

Our God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be thou our guard while life shall last,
And our eternal home."

Top grads at Charlevoix High School

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Charlevoix High School valedictorian, Michelle Fritsch, closes the year on a perfect scholastic note with classmate, Chris Golski, finishing right behind her.

Fritsch will graduate June 5 at the top of her over 100 person class with a 4.0 grade point average.

This summer she plans to visit France with the school's French club, work and enjoy Charlevoix beaches before heading off to Colorado College in Colorado Springs in the fall.

"We're going for two weeks to France so we're all really excited about that," she said. Fritsch said her love for reading may guide her studies.

"I'm undecided — maybe a focus toward English/communications and possibly English literature," she said.

Her move to Colorado should be a perfect fit for this valedictorian who enjoys skiing, music, reading and studying French.

"I love hanging out with my little sister, I like being outside a lot and I love music...I play the piccolo and the flute," she said.

Fritsch, the daughter of John and Nora Fritsch of Charlevoix, will miss the area's small-town atmosphere, but can't wait for graduation.

"I'm so excited about graduation. It seems like it should be two months away, but it's literally two weeks away," she said.

Chris Golski, son of Anne and Harry, finished a close second behind Fritsch taking salutatorian honors.

Golski ends his Rayder career with a 3.982 grade point average.

He played four years of golf and basketball, as well as putting in time with the performing arts department.

Golski spent his first three years of high school as a class representative and his senior year as president of the student council.

According to Golski, due to his heavy responsibilities at school, he doesn't have much time for outside hobbies.

Golski plans to attend Georgetown University in Washington D.C.

"I'm really excited," he said. "I've had the chance to participate in some programs in D.C. Georgetown is a great school, but I'm also excited about all the other things D.C. has to offer."

He said he will miss high school and the great sense of feeling welcome.

"I'm excited about graduation. It's coming up pretty fast and once it's over it will be like a big sigh of relief," he added.

Golski's favorite classes include Advanced Placement government, English and calculus, but he can't wait for college.

"I'm interested in studying government, but I'm also interested in pre-law and business," he said.

Golski said he will miss his classmates.

"They're such a talented group of kids and they can accomplish great things in their lives."

Commencement exercises for Charlevoix High School grads will take place at 2 p.m., Sunday, June 5 in the gymnasium located at 05200 Marion Center Road in Charlevoix.

Beaver Island top grads head to mainland

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Top graduates from Beaver Island will take to the mainland this fall to continue their education.

Melissa Bailey, daughter of Jayne and Mike, is Beaver Island's valedictorian. She finished her studies there with a 3.9 grade point average and with a love of English and music.

"After graduation I'm going to work until fall when I'll be attending Albion in Albion near Jackson," she said. "I'll probably study English, but I'm also looking at music. I'm not sure but those are my two biggest passions."

Bailey also enjoys swimming, the outdoors and theater.

"My main thing is I like to try new things," she said. "If it interests me that's what I'm into."

Bailey said she will miss her carefree days at school.

"I guess, there are a lot of things I'll miss," she said. "It's just really safe here and everybody you like is around you."

Someday, Bailey would like to use her writing and music skills.

To her fellow classmates she said, "Don't live too fast. Just enjoy everything."

Beaver Island's salutatorian, Emily Gray, has a 3.5 grade point average and enjoys sports and hanging out with friends.

"I'm attending North Central Michigan College (in Petoskey) this fall and pursuing a degree in nursing," she said.

While she won't miss all the homework she gets in her high school classes, she can't wait for college to begin.

"I'm excited because I get to get out of here," she said. "It's fun, but I'm ready to leave."

Gray's favorite class was the emergency medical training she learned.

She said being the salutatorian was unexpected, but it's a good feeling.

Gray has lived on Beaver Island for about four years with her mother Michelle LaFreniere and her father Blake Gray.

Beaver Island commencement will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 11, at Holy Cross Hall on Beaver Island, located at 26325 Main Street.

Beaver Island man drowns

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The drowning death of a Beaver Island man last week is under investigation by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office.

In the evening hours of Sunday June 5, Sheldon Reynolds, a 51-year-old Beaver Island resident drowned in the waters of Lake Michigan near Beaver Island.

"He and his cousin were coming back from Garden Island," said the deceased's cousin, Jackie Martin. "They had been there most of the day."

According to a news release by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office, Reynolds was boating with a friend when he fell into the water. The operator of the boat attempted to rescue the victim but was unable to pull him into the boat.

Shortly after the incident, neighboring boaters began assisting in the search and a helicopter was called from the Coast Guard Air Station in Traverse City.

"The helo (helicopter) was on scene about a half an hour before they found him. The air station was the one that found the body and they coordinated with the sheriff to pick him up," said Executive Petty Officer, Nicholas Gould of Coast Guard Station Charlevoix.

"The victim's body was recovered by a combination of the U.S. Coast Guard, Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office, Beaver Island Fire Department and Beaver Island EMS. Private boat owners in the Kur files claims against Judge May

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

Former Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Mary Beth Kur has filed a complaint with the state and a motion in Emmet County District Court alleging bias on the part of Judge Richard May.

Kur filed a motion in April with the Emmet County 90th District Court to disqualify Judge May, who covers both Charlevoix and Emmet counties, from hearing her cases in both counties.

Then, on May 2, she took the next step, and filed a complaint against him with the Michigan Judicial Tenure Commission.

Kur, entered private practice with the Petoskey firm Schmoll, Martin & Kur Jan. 1, 2005 after losing the August 2004 primary election to her former assistant prosecutor and current Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney John Jarema.

She claims Judge May supported

Jarema, who she went toe to toe with in a lengthy legal battle before the election, and this support has affected his decisions.

On March 7, 2005 Jarema hired Mark Muniak to the Charlevoix County Assistant Prosecutor's seat.

Prior to accepting the position, Muniak was a member of the four-person consortium of attorneys called the Charlevoix County Defense Team. This consortium has contracted with the county since June of 2003 to provide court appointed attorney services to indigent criminal defendants.

Muniak's resignation from the consortium left a vacancy and Kur was nominated by the remaining members of the defense team to fill the slot.

Under the current contract, the consortium's nomination must be approved by both Judge May and Charlevoix County 33rd Circuit Court Judge Richard Pajtas and is

Field fire

At 6:53 p.m. June 2 a call was made to 911 reporting a field had caught fire at 8911 Burgess Road in Charlevoix's Hayes Township. The property is owned by Fred Hinkley. Charlevoix Township firefighters responded and were able to put the fire out after approximately four acres burned. The cause of the fire is still under investigation. No injuries or property damage have been reported.

area also assisted in the search for the victim," stated the news release author. "Mr. Reynolds was a longtime resident of Beaver Island and also has many extended family members also residing on Beaver Island."

According to the release, the incident remains as an open investigation pending the Charlevoix County Medical Examiners report and toxicology results.

According to Martin, Reynolds grew up in Holly and had a daughter named Lindsay. He was married but his wife died of a heart attack just over a month ago.

"He came to the island probably about five years ago," Martin said. "His grandparents were from here and he worked here as pretty much a handy man."

Traverse City judge to review Kur's bias claim ultimately ratified by the Charlevoix County Commission.

Kur claims Judge May's alleged bias surfaced in his printed recommendation which advised against hiring her.

In a written statement to the commissioners, dated March 22, 2005, Judge May said, "I do not believe that the recommended appointment of Mary Beth Kur as a court appointed attorney is in the best interest of the community, the operation of the 90th District Court, or for defendants."

He went on to say that his position in the matter was based on past and current litigation facing the county. Litigation he alluded to includes two Whistleblower's Act claims against Kur that were filed during her time as prosecutor. One was filed by Jarema following his termination and another by two former county employees.

In Judge May's memo to the commissioners he said that based on these cases he would not endorse her as a consortium member.

"I am not comfortable that decisions are going to be made solely upon what is in the best interest of clients. With other qualified attorneys available, I am not willing to create situations that may continue to add fuel to these disputes, to the detriment of defendant's cases," he said in the statement.

While Judge May declined to recommend Kur for the vacancy, Judge Pajtas gave her a glowing recommendation which included references to her ethics, skills and accuracy.

"It is a privilege to recommend Mary Beth Kur for the position of public defender," he wrote in a September 17, 2004 recommendation.

Judge Pajtas wrote a second recommendation on March 23, 2005 consenting to the hiring of former assistant prosecutor Kerry Zahner for the public defender's opening. In that letter, he spelled out that his consent for Zahner's hiring in no way trumped his recommendation in favor of hiring Kur.

On April 13, 2005 the commission approved hiring Zahner.

On April 14 and 15 Judge May oversaw a hearing for Kur's motion to recuse himself from any cases she is involved in. At that hearing Judge May decided to deny the motion, claiming he could be fair.

But Kur disagrees and is taking the issue to the next level.

State law allows Kur to request a review by a separate judge, which she has done.

The Michigan Court Administrator's Office assigned Grand Traverse County Circuit Court Judge Philip Rogers to the case.

Rogers has since issued an order asking for briefs. All paperwork in this case is due to Rogers next week. Rogers will either make a ruling based on those briefs or set a court date.

Judge May declined to comment.

Face to face with massasauga

Julie Witthoef
'Just a thought'

Charlevoix the beautiful is also Charlevoix the untamed and last weekend this country girl with city slicker roots came face to face with Michigan's only venomous snake, right in my backyard.

An eastern massasauga adult rattlesnake stretching about 3 feet from nose to rattle was sunning itself

Saturday, June 4, just outside my garage door in longer grass. It wasn't the first time I had spotted the snake. The week before it crossed in front of me, taking my breath away for an instant.

It's hard to say when my childhood fascination with snakes turned to heart stopping trepidation. Growing up in Brighton, myself and fellow neighborhood hooligans, would pick up what we called blue racers and garter snakes by their tails for a quick study.

But this most recent encounter was certainly not one I took lightly.

I have a young daughter who enjoys petting frogs, chasing chickens and nuzzling with horses hundreds of times her size. I knew the snake would be just another friend in her wild kingdom entourage.

My first thought was kill this nasty bugger.

But my husband had other plans in mind for the "cool" snake. He calmly subdued its head, picked it up by its tail and dropped it into a five gallon bucket where the snake shook its rattle in self defense. The two then took off to a non-residential area and found Mr. or Mrs. massasauga a new home.

I have since reported the sighting to the National Heritage Program which operates in conjunction with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

This program works to track the snake, which is included on lists of endangered and threatened species or watch lists in every state it lives in. They are listed as a "species of special concern" by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, and are protected by state law.

According to the web site where I filed my observation report, www.dnr.state.mi.us, the primary causes of its decline are habitat loss and persecution.

I, like many residents wanted to rid the world of what I believed to be a legless killing machine. But the information I have reviewed from the DNR describes these rattlesnakes as confrontation dodgers who are not prone to strike.

DNR information does caution observers and says, "These snakes will protect themselves from anything they see as a potential predator. Their short fangs can easily puncture skin and they do possess a potent venom. It is best to treat them with respect and leave them alone. Any bite from a massasauga should receive prompt professional medical attention. When compared to other rattlesnakes found in the United States, the massasauga is the smallest and has the least toxic venom."

Since massasauga are more common in Michigan than anywhere else in its range, the heritage program is hard at work here to minimize threats to the species. Its goal is to assure the long-term protection of massasauga populations and eliminate the need for federal listing.

According to information listed on the DNR's site, during spring, these snakes move from their winter hibernation sites, such as crayfish chimneys and other small mammal burrows in swamps and marshlands, to hunt on the drier upland sites - likely in search of mice and voles, their favorite food.

Look for them "sunning" in open fields, grassy meadows or farmed sites, a perfect match for my country living quarters.

If my visitor was Mrs. massasauga my property fortunately did not become summer camp for her young. Information I reviewed on the DNR web site states that females give birth to 8 to 20 young in late summer. The young snakes have a single "button" on their tails; a new rattle segment is added at each shedding of the skin, which occurs several times per year.

For more information about the local massasauga population visit, www.dnr.state.mi.us.

Letters to the editor

Remember Flag Day

The idea of an annual day specifically celebrating the flag is believed to have first originated in 1885 when B.J. Cigrand, a schoolteacher, arranged for the pupils in the Fredonia, Wisconsin Public School to observe June 14 (the 108th anniversary of the official adoption of The Stars and Stripes) as 'Flag Birthday'.

In 1894, the governor of New York directed that on June 14 the flag be displayed on all public buildings and on June 14, 1894 the first general public school children's celebration of Flag Day in Chicago, Ill. was held with more than 300,000 children participating.

Inspired by these three decades of state and local celebrations, Flag Day - the anniversary of the Flag Resolution of 1777 - was officially established by the Proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson on May 30, 1916.

While Flag Day was celebrated for years after Wilson's proclamation, it was not until August 3, 1949, that President Truman signed an Act of Congress designating June 14 of each year as National Flag Day.

By a Joint Resolution on June 9, 1966, Congress requested the president to issue annually a proclamation designating the week in which June 14 occurs as National Flag Week and calling upon citizens of the United States to display the flag during that week.

Francis Bellamy, an ordained minister of Rome, N.Y. is credited with the authorship of the original pledge and in material which he nationally circulated, he wrote, "Let the flag float over every school-house in the land and the exercise be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duty of citizenship."

He also included the original 23 words of the pledge which he had developed.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Thus, it was that on Columbus Day, October 12, 1892, the Pledge of Allegiance was repeated by more than 12 million public school children in every state in the union.

In 1923, the words "the flag of the United States" were substituted for "my flag." In 1924, "of America" were added. On Flag Day 1954, the words "under God" became a part of the pledge.

Thus the 23 words have become 31 words. The idea of the annual pause for the pledge of allegiance originated in 1980 and on June 20, 1985, the 99th Congress passed and President Reagan signed Public Law 99-54 recognizing the pause for the Pledge of Allegiance as part of National Flag Day activities.

It is an invitation urging all patriotic Americans to participate at 7 p.m. June 14, in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance. The effect of this simple ceremony, which transcends age, race, religion, national origin, political and geographic differences, is a stimulating patriotic experience at home and a sign of unity abroad. Show your colors and join your countrymen at 7:00 p.m. (EDT) Tuesday, June 14, in reciting the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag and may God Bless America, Jerry Evans Ellsworth

Community outreach

Editor: "I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me." Matthew 25: v. 40

Jesus said, "No, I am not proclaiming a different kind of a kingdom: It is not a kingdom of man. It is a different kingdom-the Kingdom of God being built on earth. And, because God's values are not man's values I come for the poor, the sick, the hungry, the homeless and the imprisoned."

Jesus Christ is the Savior of the loser. As long as someone is homeless, distressed, or lost in spirit, I am not free. I feel led by the spirit to be a witness to the homeless, aged, detained, minorities, incarcerated, stressed and other areas of distress in our community. I will be a witness to others with the capabilities to refer people to agencies as deemed necessary.

Our community has healing needs of spiritual time needing to be spent. Since the termination of the homeless shelter in Charlevoix a few years ago I have realized that my spirit is not free. Spiritual memories have been placed in my heart forever of time shared, food partaken and shared conversations. God's presence was felt as we shared lodging, and as we departed we each increased our level of spiritual knowledge. Most of the time we seemed changed for good. This experience has verified that my gift of the spirit is interaction with the homeless and humanity per se.

Our community has the homeless (some invisible - living with others). They have suffered much from broken promises at the hands of parents, teachers, spouses, doctors, psychologists, socialists and social workers. See LETTERS, page 5 politicians, police, and others. Their medicines (side-effects) or lack of them have caused them undue distress. It is no wonder that their hearts are so closed to people.

Letters to the editor

These people are waiting for someone who really cares, and someone who sees the light of love and wisdom in them. Who recognizes their love and beauty? They need someone who will accept them as they are with no preconceived ideas that they should change. They need someone that will share food, time, conversation, and share Jesus with them through attitudes and actions. They need time spent with an understanding believer who will witness through attitudes and actions.

They are waiting. Charlevoix's Boulder Park is a place for short-term or long-term care. Through my visit there, I found spiritually hungry people who need time shared with them. My one shared experience is from the short-term wing where a paralyzed man and his wife have spent numerous hours. This man is able to move his mouth, arms, and legs ahead of the doctor's schedule because of her available time. There are so many people wanting visitors you could spend an entire day and loneliness would still prevail.

They are waiting. At the Charlevoix County Jail we have prisoners who need time shared with them. Many of these prisoners are from our community and went to school in Charlevoix. Because I have worked at the school for 27 years these youth are acquainted with me. Every year I sing Christmas carols with the inmates at the jail. I have felt led by the spirit to do ministry at the jail, and possibly creative writing classes. I have an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice from NCMC (North Central Michigan College) to assist my ministry with the jail. The incarcerated need to know that with Jesus Christ they are free even in jail.

They are waiting. In our court system we have those awaiting trial in circuit and district court.

They are waiting for someone who has the time to sit with them through their first court experience. With my Criminal Justice Associate's Degree, and my love of Christ I can be a mentor for people who may need to find spirituality in their lives. Spiritual time is never wasted.

At Charlevoix Area Hospital I could pick up the loose ends of people who need more time spent with them. I have seen people in the emergency room injured, or visitors needing an advocate 24 hours a day or I can envision the minister or person who wishes to spend more time with a patient wrestling with time spent at the hospital, work, or home.

They are waiting. Though I work at the school during noon hour through the winter I would be available at lunch time in the summer, and I could expand our Charlevoix Community Lunch Program to five days a week. In addition, I am a volunteer with the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa Chippewa youth program, and my duties include cooking for large groups of people. If you have heard of Mother Waddles in Detroit she is my guiding light personification of what my ministry of life is to become.

They are waiting.

Those who are aware of my spiritual gifts know and understand that this position as an Advocate to the Community is my life's work. Please make this position a reality.

World peace begins in our community, and through love and interaction of Christ our community will become a neighborhood.

Beginning with love.

They are waiting.

Successful blood drive

Editor: The American Red Cross was at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church on Thursday, May 19. The Red Cross staff conducted a blood drive, collecting 112 pints of blood.

Hospitals in Michigan use 2,000 units of blood products daily. I am incredibly proud of the contribution that the blood donors and volunteers in Charlevoix make on a regular basis to fulfill this need.

According to American Red Cross Blood Services, different medical procedures require varying amounts of blood products. A knee replacement uses 4 - 6 units of red cells, for example, open heart procedures use 6 - 10 units of red blood cells.

My faithful team of volunteers is vital to our success in Charlevoix. I am deeply grateful to each volunteer who made phone calls, worked at the blood drive, baked for the drive and donated blood. Some did all of the above. You are remarkable.

Special thanks to Vacation Properties Network, the Charlevoix Lions Club, the Community Reformed Church, business owners who displayed posters and the City Water and Electric Department for putting up the banners.

Did you notice the beautiful, new, red banner? It was designed, fabricated and donated by Charlevoix Screenmasters and Charlevoix Area Canvas. Thank you so much.

Our next community blood drive will be from noon - 5:45 p.m. during the Venetian Festival on Thursday, July 21, at the Reformed Church. Come, make a difference.

A June 18 open house will mark the official completion of the new Beaver Island Municipal Dock.

The open house will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, June 18.

The $1 million project included completely remodeling the bath-rooms, an addition to the harbor master building and a new roof and siding on the township building rented by the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce.

The stark bathrooms have been transformed. Concrete floors and painted walls are now covered with ceramic tiles. New marble sinks and counter tops add a touch of elegance.

A major upgrading of the facility's water and electrical systems and new ice suppression equipment was also part of project funded by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The boating public is invited to attend the open house, which will feature snacks and refreshments.

For more information about the event or the new facility contact the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce at (231) 448-2505.

Anthony Faculak: May 18, 1922 - May 21, 2005

Anthony "Tony" William Faculak, 83, lifelong resident on his third-generation Norwood family farm in Charlevoix, passed away to his home with the Lord on Saturday, May 21, 2005.

Tony was born May 18, 1922, the youngest child of Charles and Mary Helen Faculak. He grew up working on and developing the family farm into a very successful dairy operation which practiced progressive conservation efforts. He took great pride in maintaining the several barns and historic structures on the property.

Tony enlisted in the U.S. Army at the age of 19 along with his brother, Steve, he was a member of the Tenth Armor Division for nine years, spending four years in active combat. He was injured in two separate incidences which later resulted in his total military disability. He received the prestigious Purple Heart Award and the Bronze Star for his injuries and a heroic act in which he saved several members of his company by shooting down a kamikaze Nazi pilot with his rifle.

Tony was a proud World War II disabled veteran and was a member of the Disabled American Veterans Post 31-Chief Petoskey, where he held numerous office positions.

He served as grand Marshall in the 2003 Memorial Day parade and he assisted numerous World War II veterans over the years to receive benefits and aid for their service to our country. He received a Certificate of Appreciation from the Vietnam Veterans of America, Northern Michigan Chapter 68 in Petoskey for his dedication and service in fund-raising efforts for the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in 1984. Tony marched in many Memorial Day parades and worked on Poppy Days, proud of his country and proud to be a veteran.

He was a lifelong member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and served as usher on Saturday evenings for many years. He always had a friendly smile and welcoming word for all who entered the church.

Upon his discharge from the Army at the end of World War II, Tony returned home to his beloved homeland to resume farming with his brother, Steve, who owned a nearby farm for many memorable, productive years. His parents were at home with him until their death. Tony was a consummate caregiver and son.

Tony married Shirley M. (Lund) Gregory on June 8, 1957, and she survives. He is also survived by his daughter, Mary Helen, who has remained on the farm since her birth; his stepdaughter, Virginia M. (Gregory) Marnac, of Charlevoix; cherished friends, Jack, Abigail and John Uhrick, Amanda and David Reinfield; dear nephew, Roger Faculak and wife, Mini; special cats, Brutus, Maggie and Charley; his adoring dog, Samantha; and Mary's four horses.

Tony loved people and always had a smile and a kind word for everyone. He enjoyed and thrived on talking to and being with people. Some of his most enjoyable times were spent being in town seeing people and having guests at his home. The door was always open and both he and his wife, Shirley, while they worked long hours on the farm, had the coffee pot on and a home baked piece of pie or cinnamon roll ready.

Tony loved to give people tours throughout the many farm buildings showing them a taste of farm life. He was meticulous with his equipment (John Deere), vehicles, barns, pets and lawn. His cattle were always well-fed, groomed and he never raised his voice to them. Whenever a piece of farm equipment broke, it would be fixed, often by him, immediately. Tony never was in favor of tearing down historical structures and maintained them lovingly.

He was a lifelong member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and served as

Kenneth Coen: Jan. 29, 1922 - June 1, 2005

Kenneth E. Coen, 83, of Charlevoix, died Wednesday, June 1, 2005, at his home. He was born January 29, 1922, in Verndale, Minn., the son of Benjamin H. and Alma A. (Mielke) Coen. Ken served in the U.S. Army during World War II, in the European Theatre. He moved to Charlevoix from Manitowoc, Wis., with the

George Fratrack: died May 30, 2005

George T. Fratrack, 83, a resident of Albuquerque, N.M. died on Monday, May 30, 2005.

He is survived by his wife, Pauline Fratrack; daughter, Michelle Fratrack of Albuquerque; two sons, Michael and wife Marge of Albuquerque, N.M. and Mark and wife Vicki of Taos, N.M.; one grandson, Jason Fratrack of Albuquerque, N.M.; two sisters-in-law; and several nieces and nephews.

George was a veteran of the U.S. Army having served in World War II, Korea, and Vietnam. He was also a member of Risen Savior Catholic Community. He loved his garden and loved to cook and enjoyed a good martini.

A prayer vigil was said Friday, June 3 at French Mortuary, 7121 Wyoming Blvd. Mass was celebrated on Saturday, June 4 at Risen Savior Catholic Community.

ingly.

After having to cease farming because of his war disability, his daughter, Mary Helen, kept the operations going and added show Quarter horses to the homestead. Tony enjoyed current world and local events and relished a good political discussion. He campaigned for several candidates over the years, especially his good friends, Circuit Court Judge Richard Pajtas and Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater. Tony held various positions in Norwood Township in his younger years, his last being justice of the peace throughout the 1960's. He loved being in the limelight and center of the family, but he always had a helping hand available to his family, neighbors, friends and even strangers. Almost every photo of Tony shows his arm around them. He truly loved people and life.

His family and friends will miss him dearly, but understood it was time for him to rest and join his late father, mother and brothers, Joseph, Vandelin and Steve, his dear nephew, Gary, who was killed in Vietnam, and niece, Karen, a victim of Lou Gehrig's disease.

Tony left this earth knowing his crops were planted and fences fixed for another season on the Lake View Ranch and very content knowing his beloved homeland will be maintained forever.

Funeral service was Wednesday, May 25, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix with the Rev. Thomas Neis officiating. Burial was at St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery. Winchester Funeral Home of Charlevoix had visitations.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to preserving the historic structure and steeple of the Norwood United Methodist Church steeple project in his name.

Tony's famous quote and perhaps the appropriate way to conclude his life on this earth is simply stated, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away."

(Karen) Coen; nephew, Roger (Betty) Coen of Charlevoix. Ken's brothers Vernon and Harrison preceded him in death.

A private service will take place for Ken's family. Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of Michigan, 128 N. Court, Gaylord, MI 49735, or to the Charlevoix Senior Center.

Graveside services with full military honors were, June 6, 2005 at Santa Fe National Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Disabled American Veterans Department of New Mexico, P.O. Box 3907, Station D, 87190, or The Albuquerque Stroke Club, 1925 Juan Tabo Blvd NE, Suite B, Box 240, 87112.

Richard McKee: Jan. 19, 1934 - May 27, 2005

Richard Edwin "Ed" McKee, 71, of Charlevoix, died Friday, May 27, 2005, at Bortz Health Care of Petoskey.

Ed was born January 19, 1934, in Cincinnati, Ohio, the son of Robert J. and Dorothy (Mossberg) McKee.

Ed graduated from Withrow High School in Cincinnati, Ohio in 1951. Ed served in the U.S. Army during the Korean War as an Intermediate Speed Radio Operator. He earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a major in accounting from Ohio State University in 1960, and earned his Master's Degree in 1983 from Eastern Illinois University. Ed worked as an accountant for the Alltel Corporation for 27 years working in Rantoul, Ill. and Little Rock, Ark. until his retirement in 1996. He married Barbara A. Allen on July 17, 1977, in Springfield, Ohio, and they began spending their summer vacations in Charlevoix. They moved Charlevoix in 1997.

Ed was a bus driver for the Petoskey Head Start for several years. He enjoyed the children so much and missed them when he had to retire from that position. Ed was also a Ham Radio operator for many years and belonged to the Straits Area Radio Club since moving to Charlevoix. He so enjoyed the friends had in the Straits Club as well as the numerous other Ham Radio operators he met while on the radio.

Ed is survived by his wife, Barbara; one brother, Robert McKee of Sante Fe, N.M., nephew Richard (Anna) McKee of Chandler, Ariz.; two sons, James McKee of Gifford, Ill. and Neil McKee of Grove City, Ohio; three step-children, Mark (Vicki) Allen of Westchester, Ohio, Jenny Martin of Urbana, Ohio and Elizabeth Meyers

Bahnhof Sport closes after 26 years

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

A store that has spent just over a quarter of a century in downtown Charlevoix closed its doors last week.

On Tuesday, May 31, Lindy Smith, owner of Bahnhof Sport removed her store's signature red awning at 207 Bridge Street and closed the doors at her Charlevoix store for the last time.

"Seasonality was the deal," she said. "There is no business here in the winter." Smith continues to operate three other Bahnhof Sport stores — one in Petoskey, another in Breckenridge, Colo. and a third in Park City, Utah. These three stores handle the bulk of Smith's sales volume.

The majority of the inventory from the Charlevoix store was moved to Smith's Breckenridge, Colo. store.

While seasonal sales were the primary reason for her decision to close, Smith said space constraints at her location were also a factor.

The three remaining stores are all 6,000 square feet or larger.

Smith said the Charlevoix store, which she leased from former Charlevoix resident Jeannine Wallace, is 2,100 square feet and isn't big enough to house the outdoor sporting equipment her company is known for. This signature gear includes ski attire and hardware, bikes and kayaks.

"People shop our Petoskey store," she said. "And I've found that in general, people go to Petoskey or Traverse City to shop."

She said her lease with Wallace expired this summer and she looked at larger locations in Charlevoix, including the former Trademark building off Bridge Street, but decided Charlevoix's seasonal retail environment just isn't for her. Smith added that she doesn't plan to own another store in town unless she sees visible changes.

Smith, who spends winters at her stores out west, said, the decision to close the Charlevoix store, which has not been open during the winter months over the past few years, will help simplify her life.

Sports Camp opens this summer

By JULIE WITTHOEF
Editor

Sports Camp is coming to Charlevoix.

The camp, which opens June 13 and runs weekdays through Sept. 2, is a business owned by Charlevoix residents Lane, 46, and Pam, 44, Beatty.

"Sports camp is a summer camp that isn't just about sports," Lane, a former physical education teacher of 17 years, said. "The only thing we require is that kids want to come and are good campers."

The Beattys operate Sports Camp in Boyne City, Harbor Springs and Florida.

The Charlevoix program is their latest addition and Lane said it will follow the lead of their other successful camps.

The camp will be open to children ages five to 12 from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays at Charlevoix Elementary School. Drop-off and pick-up times during the day are to be determined by parents and a brown bag lunch is required.

Former Charlevoix High School all-star Scott Friske will be managing the camp along with a team of counselors.

"We pick kids (counselors) that have something to offer. Like Scott, he's a great basketball player and a good kid," Lane said.

The program combines two things Lane has found to be important to kids in his experience as a teacher — choice and movement.

During the day kids will participate in 45-minute sessions with three to four activities to choose from. Sports on the docket will include everything from basketball, dodge ball and soccer, to tennis and golf.

"It's a learning camp. We are not concerned with wins and losses, but teaching campers the rules and fundamentals of the games," he said.

Other activities kids can choose from include karaoke and arts and crafts.

They have 45 camper slots open with a maximum of 15 kids to a counselor. The one-week registration rate is $80. Parents can also sign up for two-day sessions for $40. Multiple week involvement is optional.

The Beattys ask that campers be registered three days in advance.

Registration forms are available at Charlevoix Elementary School located at 13513 Division Street or by calling Lane at (231) 330-2441.

The Beatty family moved to Charlevoix from Naples, Fla. with their two children, Chase, 15, and Tara, 12, in the spring of 2004.

Lane is a 1977 graduate of Harbor Springs High School and Pam is the youngest daughter of Dale and Marilyn Boss of Charlevoix.

The Beattys plan to continue operating their Florida camps and after school programs. Lane said he will travel there for about a week each month to oversee operations.

New local massage service available

By JULIE WITTHOFT
Editor

Joseph Klida, who has lived in Charlevoix for 10 years, recently opened Charlevoix Massage Technology, a business based out of his home.

Klida, 49, attended Blue Heron Academy in Traverse City from where he became a certified massage in March of this year.

In that same month, he was involved in a head-on collision that resulted in multiple fractures to his body. He has since spent time recovering from, what doctors said, would keep him wheelchair bound for about a year.

After just two months, Klida is now back on his feet and opened his studio in late May.

He attributes his quick recovery to a gift of healing he said he has always had. Now, he said he wants to share this gift with his clients.

Klida practices medical, therapeutic and relaxation massage techniques and will soon expand services to include stone and facelift massage as well as facial peels.

He specializes in medical techniques including treatment for carpal tunnel, tennis elbow, shoulder ailments and hip, neck and feet pain.

The massage includes your choice of oils, music and optional on-site shower amenities.

Klida's background includes 15 years as a certified surgical technologist for both Charlevoix Area Hospital and Northern Michigan Hospital. He is a member of the American Medical Massage Association and has also practiced as a weight training consultant for 30 years.

Charges for services are $50 per hour or $25 per half hour. In-home visits are also available upon request. Klida is offering grand opening discounts at this time.

Charlevoix Massage Technology is located at 07453-71 Michigan Heights in Charlevoix. Services are available by appointment only. For more information call Klida at (231) 348-2605.

Edward Jones wins award

Edward Jones ranked highest in J.D. Power and Associates 2005 Full-Service Investor Satisfaction Study.

According to Derek Chown, an Edward Jones investment representative in Charlevoix, the financial-services firm has been ranked first in J.D. Power and Associates' annual survey of customer satisfaction among full-service investors.

The ranking, released as the 2005 Full-Service Investor Satisfaction Study, ranked Edward Jones ahead of 19 other firms.

"I'm thrilled about our placement on the J.D. Power and Associates ranking," Chown said. "We are committed to providing the highest level of service to our clients. Everything we do is focused on building and maintaining strong relationships."

The 2005 Full-Service Investor Satisfaction Study, conducted in January and February, was based on responses from more than 6,600 investors who primarily invest with one of the 20 firms in the study.

Six key factors were considered: Integrity of the brokerage firm; information resources; account management; cost; investment representative/advisor; and customer service. Edward Jones earned industry-leading scores in the information resources, account management and investment representative/advisor factors.

Charlevoix Area Hospital wins Governor's Award

Charlevoix Area Hospital has received MPRO's, Michigan's Medicare Quality Improvement Organization's (QIO), prestigious 2004 Governor's Award of Excellence (GAE) for Improving Care in the Hospital Setting and in the Emergency setting for pneumonia.

"Few things affect the quality of our life and the quality of our work more than our good health," said Governor Jennifer M. Granholm.

"Every person in this great state deserves to receive quality health care from their providers, so I am pleased to recognize hospitals and health care professionals that are making progress toward providing our citizens with accessible and affordable health care."

In concert with the Governor, the GAE honors Michigan hospitals that are performing quality initiatives aimed at improving outcomes in patient care. The clinical topics that the award measures have been designated as national health care priorities by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. Charlevoix Area Hospital established a multi-disciplinary team to spearhead improvement measures using proven, evidence-based practices.

"Governor Granholm's endorsement of this quality improvement award mirrors her agenda in her administrations' commitment to improve the quality of health care for all of Michigan's residents," said Debra L. Moss, MD, MBA, president and chief executive officer, MPRO.

Dr. Moss added, "As Michigan's QIO, MPRO is privileged to partner with the Governor to recognize hospitals such as Charlevoix Area Hospital, that are achieving measured improvements in patient care."

"Our staff at Charlevoix Area Hospital is demonstrating that together we are providing the very best in medical treatment and care. Our efforts have been enhanced through our collaborations with MPRO. We are extremely proud to be a recipient of this distinguished award," said Bill Jackson, President, Charlevoix Area Hospital.

County sheriff's department responds to off-road crash

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office investigated an off-road vehicle crash that occurred last week in Eveline Township.

At approximately 1 p.m. Sunday, May 26, Benjamin Lynn Acha, 22, of Madison Heights was operating a Suzuki 4-wheeler on private property when he lost control while trying to climb a hill. The vehicle flipped over backward and struck a tree.

Acha suffered multiple injuries including a fractured arm and facial lacerations. The helmet he was wearing at the time of the crash came off during the crash which likely increased the severity of his injuries. Acha was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital by private vehicle.

21st Annual June 10, 11 & 12, 2005 The Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament

Tournament Headquarters at the band shell, East Park, downtown Charlevoix

Trout Tournament draws area anglers

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

You may be able to resist the lure of minnows, worms and spoons, but many local fish will soon be overwhelmed with the urge as anglers descend on Lake Charlevoix.

Dave Juilleret

According to Chris Mikulski, Chairman of the 21st Annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament, this year's event should be one of their best.

"The last couple of years we had just a little over five hundred participants," he said. "There's a lot of great prizes and we have a grand prize drawing."

Though the last couple tournaments have seen a decrease in the number of fish caught, Mikulski said he thinks contestants will have better luck this year.

"It looks like it's going to be good fishing this year," he said. "Better than in some other years."

The Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament might be the biggest amateur tournament in the state, Mikulski said.

Some members of the Big Brothers Big Sisters organization will attend to help kids bait and remove fish from their hooks during the Sloppy Joe Maltese memorial fishing from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, June 11 in East Park. Mikulski said up to $500 of the proceeds will go to Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Dave Juilleret, a founding member of the tournament said, the event was originally started as a means to help out Charlevoix's economy during the late spring and early summer when the area wasn't quite so busy. Over the years it evolved from a tourist draw to more of a community event as more locals and less out-of-towners participate in the festivities.

"Basically, what we like to see is mom and dad out on a boat fishing with the kids. We can get kids involved and give them an appreciation of the outdoors," Juilleret said.

He added, "It's family oriented. This is what it is all about."

Aside from helping local businesses and giving families a chance to spend quality time together, some of the proceeds from the tournament are given in the way of scholarships to students studying conservation.

Funds also go to catch and release ponds in Charlevoix and Petoskey stocked with fish.

While there will be thousands of dollars in prizes given away for the biggest fish, Juilleret said there will be many prizes for those who may not be the greatest fisherman in the world too.

The tournament fishing areas are Round Lake, Lake Charlevoix and part of Lake Michigan from Norwood to Seven Mile Point. Prizes will be awarded for first through twentieth place and the largest fish in each division will be mounted by Jeff Lutz of Lasting Memories Taxidermy.

First place is a trophy and $1,000, second place is $500, third place is $300, fourth place is $200 and fifth place is $100. Sixth through tenth places will receive $50 and eleventh through twentieth places receive a $25 award.

Last year's big winners were Sam Washburn with a 10.14 pound Brown Trout, Kurt Roelofs with a 10.84 pound Lake Trout and Tom Musselman with a 7.96 pound Steelhead.

Anglers will vie for top prizes as they try to nab the largest Brown Trout, Steelhead and Lake Trout in the area. Competition begins at 5 a.m. Friday, June 10 and ends at noon Sunday, June 12. An awards ceremony will take place at 1 p.m. in East Park.

The deadline for registration is 8 p.m., Thursday June 9 at the tournament headquarters in the East Park band shell. The entry fee for adults is $25, kids six to 14 is $10, five and younger are admitted at no charge.

For more information on the tournament call (231) 330-0867, (231) 547-9054 or (231) 547-6805.

21st Annual Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament June 10, 11, 12, 2005

Registration

Registration will take place at Tournament Headquarters in East Park - Bandshell. The deadline for registering will be 8 p.m., June 9th, 2005. The entry is $25 per adult, $10 for children ages 6 thru 14, children five and under are free, but must register. Registration fees must be paid in U.S. currency. For more information call (231) 330-0867, (231) 547-9054 or (231) 547-6805.

More fun to be had

In addition to tournament fishing, there will also be a Kids' Fish Pond in East Park on Saturday from 10:00 a.m. 4:00 p.m.; food available in the park; an Awards Ceremony beginning at 1 p.m., June 12th in the park. Grand Prize drawings in the park in which you must be present to win, and sponsor displays in the park.

Child's letter garners attention of presidents

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

A Charlevoix Elementary School student has received international attention for simply doing her homework.

Maggie Hamilton

According to third grader Maggie Hamilton, in January, when she wrote the assigned letter to an unknown victim of the tsunami disaster that devastated

Indonesia, she had no idea the president of Indonesia and America would read it. Or, that Indonesian ambassador, Soemadi Brotodiningrat, would recognize her letter with a visit to Charlevoix.

Hamilton wrote the short, but heartfelt letter Jan. 26 addressed simply to "A dear friend."

An excerpt from the letter reads, "Hi, my name is Maggie. I am sorry for what happened to your country. I have heard something about that. In church, I pray for you and your family."

Hamilton's letter went on to say she and her classmates were helping raise money for the disaster-stricken portions of Indonesia by making and selling bracelets, one of which she sent with the letter.

A short time later, someone from AMFICORP in Indonesia saw it and passed it along to someone else. Eventually, it ended up in the hands of Indonesian president Dr. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono.

"The president of Indonesia was so impressed by it that he faxed it to an elementary school there and a little girl named Nada (Lutfiah) wrote back to her (Maggie)," Hamilton's mom explained.

Lutfiah is a student at Keude Bieng Elementary School in the Lhoknga Aceh Besar district, near the capital Banda Aceh who lost her family in the tsunami this spring.

President Yudhoyono brought both letters to the United States when he met with President Bush and read them to him.

President Yudhoyono directed his ambassador, ambassador Brotodiningrat, to visit Charlevoix with a letter from and picture of Lutfiah, which he will present at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, June 9 at Charlevoix Elementary School.

Hamilton said she feels sad for everyone suffering a loss and is anxious to meet Brotodiningrat.

She added that she would like to become pen pals with Lutfiah and hopes to someday meet her. She also encouraged other children to write

"They (other kids) should because it's nice and it will make other people that got the letter happy," she said. "All this happened to me, so something good can happen to them if they wrote the letter."

Barb, Hamilton's mom, hopes this gesture between the two girls can be the start of something positive for everyone, regardless of culture and location.

"Everybody just thinks that everybody over on the other side of the earth aren't looking for peace, but these people are. They want to have peace all over the world too and it would be great if a little letter like this could spark something in two different countries around the world," she said.

Tilleys head to Haiti to join Raincatcher group

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

A local man and his sons flew to a land of rampant disease, corrupt government and utter chaos, to give clean water to thirsty people.

Mike Tilley, of Charlevoix, and his sons spent their own money to travel with a group of nearly 20 people to build rainwater collection and purification systems in the village of Seguin in Haiti.

Tilley said, "My son Kiel went with his mission group last year to Haiti. We were personally affected by his stories, enthusiasm and desire to go back in May 2005. When Kiel signed up for another team and eight day trip to Haiti I and his brother Chris went along."

According to Tilley, Raincatchers, the group they traveled with, is a nondenominational Christian group that sends volunteers to provide clean water to Haitians.

"But I also saw it providing a youth leadership training experience that required the ability to improvise and adapt in a remote environment," he said. "It was pretty rewarding to do that with my sons. I'll go as long as they go."

Tilley said the work he did with his sons this spring had such an impact on him that he plans to go back for another trip next year.

"They don't have much, they are growing a few cabbages and carrots and tending their goats," he said. "No electricity, no phones, just a small business district where they barter vegetables for chickens and stuff. And as far as the eye can see there are these little shacks."

Tilley said the leaders of the country have pretty much raped the environment leaving citizens with few resources.

"Those people don't even know who is running their country," he said. "They are good, nice Christian people who love us (Americans) for See TILLEY, page 23 helping them. The problem is there is no good drinking water. Those people walk three to five miles a day to get water out of a mud puddle which is diseased."

With the Raincatchers system, not only do the villagers have fresh drinking water, but the source is now much closer to them.

"The systems we installed collect rainwater off the tin roof of their huts piping it through two filters into a plastic drum serving as a cistern," he said.

During their eight day stay, Tilley and the rest of the group installed 33 Raincatchers.

"We split into three teams that branched out daily to install Raincatchers on the homes of villagers. While it rains daily there, there is no groundwater," he explained.

He added, "Walking miles a day over rocky terrain hauling barrels, sheet metal and PVC piping was physically exhausting, but I have never felt so purposeful or had a more rewarding experience."

Tilley said some of those water systems have been up since 1999 and people who had the system installed years ago still come out of their homes to thank the workers as they pass.

"The rural people we encountered were loving, appreciative and often offered the group what little food they had," Tilley said.

According to Tilley, the eight day trip costs approximately $1,500 and some of the work was grueling, but the money and time spent was well worth it.

"The kids raise that ($1,500) on their own. That covers your airfare, food, transportation and everything," he said. "You sleep in the dirt and hike three or four miles up and down the mountain, spend a little time with the family and install a water system."

He added, "We did at least two a day, sometimes three. It was pretty rewarding stuff. I think it's a very good thing for America, your doing things to help them and they're real, grateful people."

In addition to taking several of these trips, his sons have begun inspiring others to do the same.

"My boys went there full-steam ahead on it and they're trying to get other people signed up," he said.

He added, "To spend a week with a bunch of kids who take their spring break and their money to go over there — what a wholesome, decent bunch of kids, it kind of renews your faith in our youth."

There are two or three groups a year which travel to Haiti to install the Raincatchers. For more information on joining or supporting the foundation go to www.raincatchers.org.

-Practice caution when flying kites outdoors

Warming temperatures, blue skies and spring breezes are beckoning kite flyers outdoors. Consumers Energy offers some advice to help make outdoor activities safe as well as enjoyable.

"We urge everyone to follow a few important safety rules when flying kites," said Timothy J. Pietryga, senior public information director for the utility. "When it comes to outdoor fun, look up to identify hazards and obstacles, stay away from overhead electric lines, and stay safe."

Kites should never be flown near electric power lines. If a kite gets tangled on an overhead wire, don't try to get it -- let it go. Adults should caution children to never climb a utility pole, a tree located near a power line or an antenna tower to retrieve a kite. Buying a new kite is the safest course of action.

Consumers Energy offers some basic rules to help kite flyers have fun and avoid trouble.

- Keep away from all overhead wires, especially electric lines.

- When buying or making a kite, make sure it is constructed of wood, plastic or paper. Never use anything metallic such as aluminum foil or Mylar polyester film; they conduct electricity.

- Use dry kite string when flying your kite and never use wire.

- Fly your kite in open areas in dry weather. Avoid streets and highways and keep away from television and radio antennas.

County Commission on Aging schedules annual senior picnic

The Twenty-sixth Annual Senior Picnic is scheduled for July 13.

The picnic will take place from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Due to the increased number of seniors attending the picnic, the site of the event has been moved to Harvest Barn Word of Life Church, located at 201 South Lake Street, in East Jordan.

The cost is $6 for non-seniors and a suggested donation of $3 for seniors.

The picnic menu is barbecued chicken and all the fixings.

To purchase tickets call the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging at (231) 237-0103.

United Way cuts funding to Camp McSauba

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

The United Way has cutback funding to area agencies leaving some Mount McSauba Day Campers without scholarships.

City of Charlevoix Recreation Director, Ike Boss, received a letter May 25 from Dianne Clifford Dupont, executive director of the CharEm United Way, outlining funding available to campers this year.

Boss was surprised to see major cuts were handed down.

"They've had to cut everybody. But we've been hit hard," he said.

In previous years, the United Way has provided funding for about 20 scholarships at the camp. This year that has been pared back to five. The weekly camper cost is $80.

The camp started in 1975. Since its inception, the United Way has been the primary source of scholarship funding. Boss said he has seen small changes in the amount of money allocated to the camp, but never a hit like this.

Dupont said camp cuts are directly related to a 39 percent decrease in donations to the organization. Last year, they received $217,000 while this year, $138,000 came in.

Dupont attributes finding issues to many things including redirection of donations this year from the United Way to the tsunami relief and hurricane disaster efforts. The United Way has decided to reduce administrative costs by letting Dupont's assistant go. This means Dupont will cover the two county area on her own.

"Unfortunately, this was a skimpy year and we can't give out more than we take in," Dupont said.

Because of this, the United Way board of directors and citizen advisors decided to distribute the money so its agencies received close to the same percentage of the pie that they got last year.

But Boss said the pie is too small to meet the camp's needs.

Boss said the eight-session camp which is open to kids ages 5-12 starts June 20 and a stack of scholarship applications have already come in. He is hoping the community will help fund the balance of the scholarships.

"We started this camp under the premise that every child needs a camp experience. We don't want to turn any child away because of need," Boss said.

The Rainhow Shoppe in Charlevoix donated $800 to the camp last week.

For information about the scholarship program or to donate, contact Boss at (231) 547-3253.

Local designer wins national award

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Realizing the function and beauty of a customized kitchen or bathroom is the passion which makes one Charlevoix resident an award winner.

Liz Firebaugh's desire to provide unique, personalized service drove her from sales to planning and design. And, as a certified kitchen and bath designer (CKD) she went on to win the Pinnacle of Design Award for the best overall design project in the 2005 NKBA Design Competition.

"It's the biggest honor in the industry and I'll keep working on it for next year," she said.

Firebaugh won for one of her latest kitchen designs in Bay Harbor.

Though this was one of the first contests she entered, Firebaugh's design was named the best out of over 400 entries by 14 judges. Out of 11 categories Firebaugh received $1,500 and first place in the category of Open Plan Kitchen. In addition to the Pinnacle prize of $5,000, Firebaugh attended the National Kitchen and Bath Association Board of Directors Gala in Las Vegas, Nev. earlier this spring.

While Firebaugh is grateful for the award, she doesn't take all of the credit.

"Amy Dixon, who works with me on a lot of these projects was co-designer on that award," Firebaugh said. "She works behind the scenes a lot."

Firebaugh grew up in Iowa and received her degree in marketing from the University of Northern Colorado. It was during a stint as a seller in a furniture store that she realized she needed to work more directly with her customers and their projects.

"My sister was building a house and at the time I was working in a furniture store," Firebaugh said. "She was meeting with her kitchen designer and I kind of overheard their conversation and I had the thought 'that sounds fun to do.'"

Firebaugh added, "At the time there really wasn't any type of certified kitchen design within an architecture school. At the time you started out with more of a stock line of cabinets and progressed up to custom."

Firebaugh's approximate 26 years in the kitchen and bath design business has allowed her the creativity and personal connection with clients she had always been looking for in her career. And, one of the best ways to personalize someone's space, is often to implement pieces the owners already have.

"I think it's more interesting to incorporate their own antiques, using the things they have and working in their spaces," she said. "That's something that we usually work with the client on."

According to Firebaugh, winning this award won't keep her from working on jobs some consider to be of a lesser priority.

"Even the small projects are fun. There are always wonderful design elements," she said.

Some of the bigger challenges she has found are simply finding time for the designer and client to meet and making the client happy in what is often such a short time-frame.

"Sometimes timetables are really hard and you want to meet your clients expectations," she said.

Firebaugh said she has lived and worked in several different cities, but after receiving her certification, she moved to northern Michigan and shortly thereafter opened Signature Kitchens in Petoskey.

"This area just really brings in a wide variety of small cottages and wonderful homes," she said. "It's a great area to live and do this job."

Firebaugh's company has worked on projects all over the Round Lake and the Lake Michigan area including cottages and houses in the Belvedere Club and they even have one of their project designs featured in this summer's Charlevoix Home Tour.

While Firebaugh hasn't done anything extreme like designing a bathroom made of solid gold, she has incorporated hand painted scenes on tiles by local artist Sue Bolt.

"They can do everything from a cottage scene to a favorite winter scene or summer scene to help personalize a kitchen," Firebaugh said.

Firebaugh said she has found other unique ways to incorporate northern Michigan themes into the scheme of your kitchen or bath.

"We've done Petoskey stones. We work them into the hardware, like the knobs," she said.

Another thing Firebaugh likes about her line of work is the opportunity to utilize area resources whenever working on a local project.

"There is a lot of talent in Charlevoix — interior designers and architects and builders, so I try to use the local trades," she said.

Alano Club reinstates office hours

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

The Alano Club is open for business after a year of reduced hours of operation.

The club's new hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday through June, July and August.

According to Scott Kelly, a founding member of the Alano Club and its management services coordinator, for nearly two decades the club has hosted 35 percent of the substance abuse support groups in the area. He said that despite a year of financial uncertainty, the clubhouse recently reopened on a regular basis.

"Due to financial reasons in (January) 2004 we had to eliminate paid employees and that resulted in closing the main clubhouse at the time which gave us time to financially get back on stable ground," he said.

The club continued to host the 12-step meeting groups, but had to close its doors to walk-ins.

In January 2004, the Alano Club took steps necessary to renew interest of its local membership.

"When we started there was about 10 dues paying members so we increased that to over 70," Kelly said.

Kelly has a masters degree in counseling and is certified in addictions counseling and relapse prevention. He has 19 years experience of professional treatment and 22 years of personal recovery experience.

According to Kelly, who is also the executive director of Bay Area Substance Education Services (BASES), the two groups have an agreement that BASES will oversee the financial and operational aspects of the club.

"The typical community member doesn't realize all the stuff you have to do. There are just a ton of people who come up here on a seasonal basis," he said. "In the off season the club serves approximately 200-300 people per week, but in the summer the number rises to between 700-800 people per week."

With such a large number of people in need of service, the most important thing Kelly wants the community to know is the club is back.

"The resources are still available and we need to continue to make sure that we have substance abuse services and support groups available to community members," he said. "Charlevoix is fortunate to have an Alano Club because we're probably the only one within about a 50 mile radius."

Kelly added, "Professional counseling treatment resources are dwindling due to cutbacks by the state and insurance companies."

Aside from Alcoholics Anonymous and many other programs the club offers, there is a new Chronic Illness/Pain 12 step program and a new drop-in host, Tory Werth. Werth, 28, will be in the club from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday to answer phones, show educational videos Werth has been a full-time prevention specialist at BASES for over 6 years. He also worked for over a year at the Munson Alcohol and Drug Treatment Center and has 10 years of personal recovery experience.

"I like to be of service to others pertaining to addiction recovery," he said.

Werth will show videos about addiction and recovery between 11 a.m. and 12 p.m., daily followed by a short open discussion

LEGAL NOTICE 210

On May 20, 2005, the Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) amended the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) quarantine. This quarantine includes 20 counties in southeast Michigan and 19 quarantined outlying areas of isolated infestation. An excerpt outlining highlights of the quarantine as well as the regulated articles are indicated below. A complete copy of the quarantine and accompanying maps are available on the MDA website at www.michigan.gov/eab. It is also available upon request at all MDA's regional offices and through MDA's Pesticide and Plant Pest Management division Lansing office, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, MI 48909, or by calling (517) 373-1087.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
PESTICIDE AND PLANT PEST MANAGEMENT DIVISION
EMERALD ASH BORER INTERIOR QUARANTINE
(Revised May 20, 2005)

WHEREAS, the Director, Michigan Department of Agriculture, having found that an exotic pest, known as the emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire), has been detected in this state and has a limited distribution at this time; and WHEREAS, the emerald ash borer has been found infesting and killing ash, Fraxinus spp., trees in certain counties, cities, and townships; and

WHEREAS, ash trees are a valuable resource for the nursery, landscaping, and timber industries in Michigan; and WHEREAS, ash trees represent a significant component of the natural environment in Michigan; and

NOW, THEREFORE, the Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture by the authority of Act No. 72 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended, and Quarantine Regulation No. 620, does promulgate this quarantine to prevent the further spread of this pest and sets forth: definitions, regulated articles, quarantined areas, regulated areas, quarantined areas, conditions of movement, violations and penalties, and special exemptions. This revised quarantine shall become effective immediately and will remain in effect until rescinded by the Director.

I. DEFINITIONS.

The following terms shall be construed to mean:

(A) CERTIFICATE and CERTIFICATE OF INSPECTION mean a document issued or authorized to be issued by the Director, including state-issued certificates of quarantine compliance, state phytosanitary certificates, and multiple-use quarantine certificates to allow the movement of regulated articles to any destination.

(B) COMMERCIAL SHIPMENT OF FIREWOOD means quantities of firewood in excess of two-face cords.

(C) COMPLIANCE AGREEMENT means a written agreement between a person moving regulated articles and the Michigan Department of Agriculture wherein the former agrees to comply with the requirements of the agreement.

(D) DIRECTOR means the Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture or his or her authorized representative.

(E) INFESTATION means the presence of the emerald ash borer or the existence of the circumstances that make it reasonable to believe that the emerald ash borer is present.

(F) INSPECTOR means an employee of the Michigan Department of Agriculture authorized to enforce the provisions of this quarantine.

(G) LOG means tree parts cut into lengths 4 feet or longer to be milled or processed. This does not include logs intended for firewood.

(H) MICHIGAN'S LOWER PENINSULA means the area that consists of those 68 contiguous Michigan counties lying between the Michigan-Indiana/Ohio state line to the south and the northernmost point of Emmet County to the north.

(I) MOVED (MOVE, MOVEMENT) means shipped, offered for shipment, received for transportation, transported, carried, or allowed to be moved or shipped.

(J) PERSON means an individual, society, association, partnership, corporation, or other organized entities.

II. REGULATED ARTICLES.

(A) The emerald ash borer, Agrilus

planipennis (Fairemaire), in any living stage of development.
(B) Entire ash (Fraxinus spp.) trees.
(C) Ash limbs and branches.
(D) Ash logs or untreated ash lumber with bark attached.
(E) Uncomposted ash chips and uncomposted ash bark chips larger than 1 inch in diameter in two dimensions.

(F) Any article, product or means of conveyance when it is determined by the Director to present the risk of spread of the emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire).
(G) Cut firewood of any non-coniferous (hardwood) species.

III. REGULATED AREA.

The counties and portions of counties in Michigan's Lower Peninsula that are not designated as quarantined.

IV. QUARANTINED AREAS.

The counties and portions of counties as listed below are designated as quarantined areas, based on the confirmed presence of emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire). In addition, the Director may designate as quarantined any area where the presence of the emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire), is confirmed in the future. Information on additional quarantined areas not listed within this quarantine will be provided on the Michigan Department of Agriculture web-site located at www.michigan.gov/mda. Thereafter, the movement of any regulated article from an area designated as quarantined or regulated will be subject to this quarantine. As soon as practicable, this area will be added to the list of quarantined areas within this quarantine and the Director will post an update to the quarantine on the Michigan Department of Agriculture website provided above. A current printed listing will also be available upon request at all Michigan Department of Agriculture Regional offices and through the Michigan Department of Agriculture Pesticide and Plant Pest Management Division Lansing Office, P.O. Box 30017 Lansing, Michigan 48909, (517) 373-1087.

V. CONDITIONS OF MOVEMENT OF REGULATED ARTICLES.

(A) Movement of regulated articles from any quarantined area to any destination outside the quarantined area is prohibited, except under all of the following conditions:

1. A thorough examination of all regulated articles and treatment methods must take place. A certificate of inspection may be issued based upon the determination by the inspector, grower, or shipper authorized to conduct such inspection under a Compliance Agreement, that no life stages of emerald ash borer Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire) are present; based on conditions or treatments administered in accordance with methods approved by the Director.

2. The certificate of inspection shall be attached to the regulated articles, and shall remain on/with the regulated articles until such articles reach their final destination, except when the certificate of inspection is attached to the shipping document and the regulated article is adequately described on the shipping document and the certificate of inspection. The point of origin and the final destination shall be indicated on the bill of lading or other shipping documents and on the certificate of inspection. The certificate of inspection shall be given by the carrier to an inspector when requested or to the consignee at the destination of the shipment.

3. A regulated article may move outside of the quarantined area only to a facility under Compliance Agreement approved by the Director or USDA from September 1 to April 30, for processing, utilization, and/or disposal.

(B) All regulated articles originating outside the quarantined area may move through the quarantined area without a certificate of inspection for this pest, under the following conditions:

1. Passage through the quarantined area is made during the period of September 1 through April 30, and passage is made without stopping except to refuel or for traffic conditions; or during the period of May 1 through August 31 if the articles are shipped in an enclosed vehicle or is completely enclosed by a covering adequate to prevent access by the emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire).

2. The point of origin and the final destination of the regulated article must be indicated on the bill of lading or shipping documents.

(C) All regulated articles originating outside any quarantined area which are moved into the quarantined area Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire) shall be considered to have originated from a quarantined area. These regulated articles may only be moved from the quarantined area under the conditions noted in V (A) above.

(D) Movement of regulated articles from any quarantined area through any non-quarantined area to a quarantined destination is prohibited without a certificate of inspection for this pest, except under the following conditions:

1. Passage through a non-quarantined area is made during the period of Sept. 1 through April 30 and the passage is made without stopping except for refueling or for traffic conditions; or during the period of May 1 through August 31 if the articles are shipped in an enclosed vehicle or completely enclosed by a covering adequate to prevent the escape of any emerald ash borer, Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire).

2. The point of origin and the final destination of the regulated articles must be indicated on the bill of lading or shipping documents.

(E) Any shipment of ash logs or lumber with bark originating inside any quarantined area to a destination outside a quarantine area may only be moved from the quarantine area under the conditions noted in V (A) above.

(F) The movement of ash logs and lumber with bark originating inside any quarantined area to a destination outside a quarantine area may only be moved from the quarantine area under the conditions noted in V (A) above.

(G) The movement of ash logs and lumber with bark originating inside any quarantined area to a destination outside a quarantine area may only be moved from the quarantine area under the conditions noted in V (A) above.

1. A thorough examination of ash logs and lumber with bark and treatment methods must take place. A certificate of inspection may be issued based upon the determination by the inspector, grower, or shipper authorized to conduct such inspection under a Compliance Agreement, that no life stages of emerald ash borer Agrilus planipennis (Fairemaire) are present; based on conditions or treatments administered in accordance with methods approved by the Director.

2. The certificate of inspection shall be attached to or accompany the ash logs and lumber with bark, and shall remain with the ash log shipment until such logs reach their final destination, except when the certificate of inspection is attached to the required bill of lading or shipping document. The point of origin and the final destination shall be indicated on the bill of lading or other shipping documents and the certificate of inspection.

3. Ash logs and lumber with bark may move outside of the regulated area only to a facility which is under Compliance Agreement approved by the Director from September 1 to April 30 for processing, utilization, and/or disposal.

(H) The sale and/or movement of all ash nursery stock within, out of or into Michigan's Lower Peninsula is prohibited. This area consists of those 68 contiguous Michigan counties lying between the Michigan-Indiana/Ohio state line to the south and the northernmost point of Emmet County to the north.

(I) The movement of all non-coniferous (hardwood) firewood and other regulated articles other than logs and lumber with bark out of Michigan's Lower Peninsula is prohibited unless heat treated, fumigated or otherwise treated according to specifications approved by the Director. A certificate verifying such treatment must be attached or accompany these products to their final destination. This area consists of those 68 contiguous

Michigan counties lying between the Michigan-Indiana/Ohio state line to the south and the northernmost point of Emmet County to the north.

(J) The movement of regulated articles that do not leave a quarantined area does not require a bill of lading or shipping documents.

(K) Any regulated article from the quarantined area, moved into the regulated area in violation of this quarantine shall be removed from the regulated area immediately or destroyed at the expense of the owner or owners, under the direction of the Director. Likewise any regulated article moved from the Lower Peninsula in violation of this quarantine shall be removed from the non-regulated area immediately or destroyed at the expense of the owner or owners, under the direction of the Director.

SPORTS

Track finishes strong at state meet

While the girls and boys track teams did not score points at the state meet June 4, at Comstock Park, north of Grand Rapids, they reached personal and team goals.

"Heat was a big factor, the track was just steaming," Charlevoix High School girls track team coach, Mary Plude, said.

Plude had seven of her girls go for individual competition to the state meet as compared to one she sent last year.

"They came back with dreams of next year and that's all you want to instill in them," Plude said.

Individual results for the girls team were:

- 3200 meter relay — the team of Theresa Martin, Lindi Edger, Shannon Dibble and Britney Lamb finished ninth with a time of 10 minutes, 8 seconds.

- 400 meter relay — the team of Jasmine Witthoef, Sonya Plude, Caitlin Ernst and Emily Heffling finished with their best time of the season with a time of 52.7 seconds.

- 1600 meter relay — the team of Theresa Martin, Betsey Dennis, Shannon Dibble and Liz Madison finished with their best time of the season and a sixteenth place finish with a time of 4 minutes 17.5 seconds.

- 100 meter hurdles — Emily Heffling made semifinals placing sixteenth with a time of 16.5 seconds.

- 1600 meter run — Lindi Edger finished nineteenth with a time of 5 minutes 30 seconds.

- Long jump — Jasmine Witthoef had her best jump of the season at 15 feet 1 inch.

Boys coach Ken Plude sent the men's team as well as seven individual competitors.

The boy's team finished fourth in the state meet May 28.

Individual results for the boys team were:

- 800 meter relay — the team of Ryan Seelye, Darron Munson, Jared Hunt and Ben Bergmann finished with a personal and team best time of 1 minute, 34 seconds.

- 400 meter relay — the team of Ryan Seelye, Travis Johnstone, Jared Hunt and Ben Bergmann finished with a personal and team best time of 45.8 seconds.

- Long jump — Ryan Seelye finished twelfth at 20 feet 2 inches.

- Discus — Jeff Golovich placed fourteenth throwing a distance of 125 feet 7 inches.

- 800 meter — Nate Soutoy finished in fifteenth place with a time of 2 minutes 2 seconds.

"It was a fantastic season across the board for both teams," Plude said.

Three seniors from the boys team graduated and four senior girls graduated.

Red Cross bear hunt is on

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

"The Hunt for Bearable Art" is on.

Area residents and visitors who wish to join the safari will be roaming in search of a rare species of large, painted bear that has been spotted all over Charlevoix and the rest of northern lower Michigan.

"Watching people look at the bears is so much fun. They talk about them and point at them," Linda Weston, a Red Cross volunteer and auction coordinator, said.

The painted bears are part of a fund-raiser by the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

This latest fund-raiser follows the concept of the painted fish fund-raiser the Red Cross tackled in 2003 which reeled in about $280,000 for the non-profit group's cause.

"People are still talking about the fish," Weston said.

She added that they are hoping to repeat that success with "The Hunt for Bearable Art."

The bear theme was chosen because it, like the fish represents northern Michigan.

The difference between the bear drive and the fish drive is the number of pieces. Because the fish were smaller, there were more. The bear are large, they have a strong stone base and stretch about 6 feet from the tip of their nose to the tip of their tail.

There are a total of 45 bears, painted by 40 local artists, who were paid $900 for their effort.

The bear can be found in Charlevoix, Petoskey, Bay Harbor, Harbor Springs, Central Lake, Elk Rapids, Cheboygan, Indian River and Elmira.

Members of Charlevoix's painted bear population currently reside at the Charlevoix Public Library, in Bridge

Charlevoix developer dies unexpectedly

By JULIE WITTHOEFT

Ed Amick, a Charlevoix resident, developer and Realtor, passed away June 9 following a lengthy surgery.

According to Ed's wife, Carol Amick, her husband suffered a heart attack and aneurysm the morning of June 9.

At around 3 p.m. that day, while in recovery at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey following a five hour surgery, Amick gave up his fight.

"They tried to save him," Carol said of the doctors at the hospital.

Carol and Ed, who married Dec. 2, 1961 in Mount Gilead, Ohio, moved to Charlevoix in 1989 from the town where they took their vows.

They both grew up in that small Ohio town and returned there to retire in the mid 1980s after 14 years developing property and operating Amick Realty in Port Charlotte and Punta Gorda, Fla.

For four years, while in Ohio soaking in retirement, the couple took up farming, cultivating alfalfa and other products.

"He always said that was the best time of his life," Carol said.

On Wednesday, the Amick family, including Ed's two children, Lisa Wehr, 39, of Suttons Bay and Rodney Amick, 37, of Northport, Fla., gathered at Trinity Missionary Church in Petoskey for his funeral.

Ed will be buried tomorrow, June 16 in a Mount Gilead, Ohio cemetery located across the street from where Carol was raised.

During his 16-year stay in Charlevoix, Ed came out of retirement with property development on his mind.

Ed Amick

When they moved here in the late 1980s Ed and Carol opened four Subway franchises, one in Charlevoix, another in Boyne City and two in Petoskey. They sold the Charlevoix store to Ed's brother, Terry

"He got itchy feet to develop something again. It didn't last long that he wasn't developing something," Carol said.

When they moved here in the late 1980s Ed and Carol Amick in 1995.

In 1999, he and Carol opened Amick Lakeside Realtors which was headquartered at an office off Clinton Street. The two recently sold that business.

"He thought Charlevoix was a beautiful community and enjoyed the seasonal market," Carol said.

One of his latest endeavors, Thunder Falls Family Water Park in Mackinaw City, was a four-year challenge filled with zoning and environmental battles. Ultimately, he overcame the struggle and built his dream park, which opened late last summer. However, he never made the June 11 grand opening.

Carol attended in his absence as they dedicated the water park to Ed and cut the ribbon.

She said the event was bitter-sweet for her.

Ed was also the landowner who sold the Petoskey Avenue parcel on the north side of the city of Charlevoix, where Sunnybank Assisted Living is currently being constructed.

He was also in the process of developing 16 residential lots behind the Sunnybank site. Carol said she will carry out the remainder of the project.

Past projects he was involved in include development of town houses near the Charlevoix Golf Club off Cherry and Elm streets as well as extensive work on a 500 acre piece of land in Antrim County.

Carol said Ed's death has brought two lessons to light for her. First, those with a history of aneurysms should be checked by ultrasound annually. She said aneurysms are common in the Amick family.

And secondly, she said, "Balance your life. It's not all work. He was hard to get to play."

Births

Isaac Ewald Redmer weighing 9 pounds, 3 ounces was born to Karl and Becky Redmer of East Jordan on June 6, 2005 at Charlevoix Area Hospital. Siblings are Garrett 4, and Brady 1. Grandparents are Gary and Margaret Redmer of East Jordan and Bill and Andrea Chapin of Fenton.

Tanner Joseph Guzewa weighing 8 pounds and 19 1/2 inches long was born to Tim and Laura Guzewa of Spring Lake on May 30, 2005 at North Ottawa Community Hospital at Grand Haven. Sibling is Noah Loder Guzewa. Grandparents are Gary and Hazel Loder of Charlevoix and Frank and Carolyn Guzewa of Monroe.

Mya Christine Pofahl weighing 8 pounds 13 ounces, was born to Jon and Nicole Pofahl of Boyne City on June 12, 2005 at Charlevoix Area Hospital. Grandparents are Earl and Diane Pofahl of Faribault, Minn. and Jerry and Barb Meyer of Faribault, Minn.

Carsen Anthony Dittmar weighing 7 pounds 6 ounces was born to John and Julie Dittmar of Charlevoix on June 11, 2005 at Charlevoix Area Hospital. His sibling is Riley Louis. Grandparents are Violet Dittmar of Livonia and Lou and Marilyn Russo of Macomb Township. Great-grandmother is Pearl Rowe of Charlevoix.

Park and on the front lawn at St. Mary's School.

The school bear, "Flower Power Bear" was designed and painted by second through sixth grade students, from St. Mary's School, under the direction of art instructor Lori Bolt. The design of fourth grader Desirée Drewa was chosen.

"Through the bear, the kids are giving back to the community," Bolt said.

Lori also assisted her parents, Russ and Sue Bolt in painting a Bridge Park bear called "Share Bear." The three own and operate Bolt Grange Hall Studio in Marion Township, and brought in family and community artists to help in this project.

Sue Bolt said the design, which depicts northern Michigan's season and night sky, was chosen as a reminder of our connection and obligation to respect and protect the area's unique environment.

In about three weeks, a guide to the entire painted-bear population will be available at the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, located off Bridge Street.

Display locations are temporary homes for the bears. Each is sponsored by the property owner at which it resides. Sponsorship fees are $2,000 a bear. For $4,500 you can buy the bear before it is sold to the highest bidder at a live auction to take place at 7 p.m. Aug. 13 in Bay Harbor.

From 1 to 4:30 p.m. Aug. 12 there will be a heavy special event at Bay Harbor where the entire painted group will convene so the community can view them prior to the auction. Activities will include bear songs and stories and light refreshments will be provided.

Weston said this effort is important for the local Red Cross chapter as it funds their efforts for three years.

She said all funds are dispersed locally. The Red Cross helped fund local training and emergency response to Florida's hurricane disaster. The group also continues to act as an intermediary between local families and servicemen. Other, more standard activities, include support of blood collection efforts and funding for first aid and CPR classes.

Kudos to Sturock for finance discussion

EDITORIAL

As schools across the state continue to suffer economically, locally, a school finance discussion took place and we think that's just what the doctor ordered.

In coffee shops, gyms and other social venues you hear school board bashing about how "they" are running the local school system by laying off teachers, slashing extracurricular funding and even cutting classroom supplies.

The truth is that "they" are reacting to promises made many years ago in Lansing that have since been broken.

We want Lansing to find a way to restore Proposal A's promise to provide adequate school funding and to maintain equity among Michigan schools.

Since Proposal A was enacted in 1994, the state legislature has tweaked it. Tax cuts that were made in the mid to late 1990s were permanent but the economic boom we were in the midst of at that time was temporary.

Now, as the economy hits the dirt, the state doesn't have money to fund Proposal A as it was promised.

Superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, Dr. John Sturock, organized the local Proposal A discussion that took place June 14 at Charlevoix High School. We commend his efforts to support an informed community. And hope that community members with disgruntled fingers pointed at the school board aim that pointer at Lansing where this issue needs to be solved.

A group of area residents plan to attend a June 20 rally in Lansing to put pressure on the legislature to do something about school finances.

Further details about the community forum will appear in next week's edition of the Courier.

For more information about Proposal A, visit www.michigan.gov/mdc.

Nesting birds, a springtime friend and a messy foe

A few years ago we planted a vine called a Porcelain Berry at the bottom of a trellis just outside our back door. You never can know completely what will be the outcome of such a simple act.

Roger Knutson

The vine grew rapidly and quickly covered the trellis and crept out under an overhang that provides shelter from rain above the back door. Within a year, a pair of robins had decided that the twists of the vine and the shelter from the elements made the perfect place for a nest. We were thrilled. The nest was within a foot of the back door and every time we opened the door, whichever robin was on the nest flew away with a great flutter of wings. The nest provided nursery for four young robins who in the course of time fledged, flew off into the lilac bush and set out to establish their own households.

Almost immediately, time and the elements began to take the nest apart, and our back door and sidewalk became something less than neat. Bits of nest and whatever parents and offspring had left in it, showered down us with almost every opening and closing of the screen door. We removed the remains of the nest and stashed away the mostly pleasant memories of our temporary neighbors. We had not reckoned with the persistence of birds.

Since the first family had been so successful, the same pair of robins decided on a repeat performance. Appreciating anew the messiness of having a family of birds so close to our major entry way, we tried to discourage them by removing nesting material as fast as they placed it. We made the mistake of going away for a weekend and when we returned there it was, a fully formed nest with three eggs in place. Of course we could not remove it at that point. We suffered the temporary pangs of messy young bird adolescence for a second time. I won't describe in detail how parent birds manage the problems of nest cleanliness. Many pounds of worms and bugs found their way to the growing birds and almost as many pounds of, shall we say, intestinal products were produced and disposed: much of it quite close to the bird's home and ours.

The following spring I built what I refer to as a bird discourager: a spiky thing making it impossible to settle in their favored place for a nest. It worked. No robins. But the general location remained desirable. A pair of House Finches began to build a nest a foot to the left and now directly above the back door. I discouraged them by removing incipient nests as I had for the robins. Unfazed they waited until we went out of town for a weekend, built a serviceable if small nest and filled it with four eggs before we were back on Monday afternoon.

It is most often a pleasure to live as close to nature as we do. There is an often-sighted fox in our neighborhood. One winter night we counted eight deer in our yard at the same time, visiting our bird, squirrel and deer feeder. The wild turkeys are right next door, and we once saw a Sharp-tailed Grouse sitting under the large cedar in the front yard. No Mississaugas yet, but it wouldn't be a complete surprise. In one way it is delightful, but I do wish the nesting birds would look for a new address a few feet farther from the entrance to our house. I would appreciate any non-destructive, ecologically gentle suggestions.

porters from the community. The annual PA budget, which covers expenses for road trips, costumes, royalties, equipment, etc., is more than $15,000 over the money allotted by the school board. The board does support PA by paying event fees and transportation costs, but the rest is up to the kids and their devotees.

So here we are again, asking for the help of community supporters and avid fans of the arts. Your contribution to PA is tax deductible and appreciated throughout the year.

Great soccer season

Editor:

This year the girls soccer team had its most successful season ever. The players worked very hard and committed themselves fully. Their effort paid off in bringing home first ever district and conference titles for Charlevoix soccer. We could not have done this without all the help and support we received. The largest crowd of soccer fans ever was there as we closed out our season in the regional finals. As we end this season, we'd like to thank those of you who have encouraged and supported us this year, and offer special thanks to the following people and businesses:

Ace Hardware, Charlevoix Screenmasters, Jim Kanine, Tom Schultz, Charlevoix 4-H Soccer, all the future soccer players who attended our camp, Mary Beth Zimmerman, Zita Winn, Bob Schofield, Charlevoix Floral, Debi Murray, The Belvedere

Hospice success

Editor:

On June 3 Hospice of Northwest Michigan sponsored another successful benefit auction using the theme "Come Fly Your Colors for Hospice".

A sincere thank you to all the artists, crafters and businesses in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties who donated to the auction. With deep appreciation we thank Castle Farms for providing such an elegant facility for the evening and their staff for being so accommodating. The music was provided by Margaret Thomson, who gave a special sound to the evening. Thank you Carol Ross for your artist's hands, and Hank Ross for the wonderful publicity. Thank you Grey Gables Inn for providing tasty desserts for the evening.

I want to thank all of the volunteers, especially those of Hospice of Northwest Michigan and its Board of Directors. Jeanie's Bar and Wait Service also deserve many thanks. Thank you to auctioneers Jeff Macfarlane and Jim White who kept the verbal portion of the evening moving along. The last minute preparations were ably covered by BC Pizza, Indian River and Cheboygan.

Rental Express, Indian River and 7-Eleven, Charlevoix and Petoskey.

This is our major fundraising event for the year and many others should be thanked personally for their generosity. Thank you to all who attended and made generous bids. Your support allows us to continue to provide volunteer and grief bereavement services to those in our communities. Hospice of Northwest Michigan, in partnership with Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, provides a comprehensive hospice program to those with a life limiting illness. We are very grateful to all of the people who supported us, in any way, that evening.

Performing arts fund-raiser

Editor:

The (Charlevoix High School) Performing Arts (PA) Program is back in full swing, getting ready for next year's full schedule of events.

This year there are 60 students involved in the PA program, and they have a full slate of performances and competitions ahead of them. After the Fall Show, they will take play in the pentathlon competitions. In December, the drama season begins, and we are excited to announce that we will be hosting the Drama Regional Competition. After the fun of doing the drama shows, the Individual Events (IE) competition begins in which the students can compete in 14 different performance categories. Lastly, the PA season will end with a Dinner Theater in May.

As you know, there are a lot of expenses involved in running the PA Program. These costs are largely borne by the students, their parents and sup-sidewalk level. Our forefathers envisioned a continuous park setting from the bridge to the end of East Park. While we can not make that happen we now have a once in a life time opportunity to have that continuous park setting from the traffic light to the southside hill.

If you haven't done so already, please sign the petition at either The Village Pub or Ace Hardware so the East Park renovations can be placed on the November 8 election ballot. View the drawings for the new park setting available with the petition. You will see that your view of our beautiful town is enhanced, just as our forefathers dreamed years ago.

Don't let this opportunity pass us by. The renovations can be made without our tax dollars. It is a win, win for Charlevoix.

Celebration of life

Editor:

My Father Ivan J. Witthoef has been diagnosed with colon cancer and it is already pretty advanced. He has been a staple in my life, and I know he has touched countless others. His dedication to his family and friends is unsurpassed. Ivan is home with Hospice care and his spirits are incredible, even with the bleak news he has received from his team of doctors. He is living large and I would like to take this opportunity to invite any of you who would like to see Ivan and give him some support and offer him a word of kindness to an open house. We will be having the open house at 6 p.m. Friday June 17 at Ivan and Lucy's house located at 09298 Old Orchard Road. We will have live entertainment, food and fun. Bring a smile and a dish to pass. Come help us celebrate this wonderful gift we call life.

Friends of the Library to host annual book sale

This week, the Friends of the Charlevoix Public Library will sponsor their sixth annual used book sale.

The sale will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 18, at the library, located at 109 Clinton Street in Charlevoix.

Proceeds from previous sales have purchased over 2,500 new books for the Charlevoix Public Library.

With most paperbacks priced at 50¢ and most hardcover books at $1, the community can support library programs and stock up on summer reading at very little cost. Higher priced books will also be available, and a limited supply of canvas book bags with the library logo will be on sale for $5.

Zonta to host Literary Delights at the Castle

The Charlevoix Zonta Club is sponsoring Literary Delights, an afternoon fund-raiser celebration of Michigan's female authors.

The event will take place from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Knight's Castle at Castle Farms located off M-66 in Charlevoix.

It will feature three authors, Kathy-jo Wargin, Priscilla Cogan and Sheila Quinn-Simpson, who will speak about their experiences and literary work.

Wargin penned "The Legend of Sleeping Bear," Quinn-Simpson authored "Apology," and Cogan wrote "Winona's Web."

Lunch will be catered by Scoville's Gourmet Deli of Charlevoix.

Tickets for the event are $40. They are available locally at the Bridge Street Book Shop off Bridge Street or by calling Zonta member Linda Degrow at (231) 547-4109 or fellow Zontian Helen Einmons at (231) 547-2955.

Proceeds will be distributed to scholarships the club provides and will also help fund Young Women's Day, an event the club is planning for November for area middle school girls to help them realize their goals.

For more information, contact Degrow at (231) 547-4109.

Lifeguards to man area beaches for the summer

City of Charlevoix lifeguards will man their posts this week.

Lifeguards will begin beach duty June 17 at three area beaches — Depot Beach, Ferry Beach and Michigan Beach.

These beaches will be manned with guards from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days a week.

For more information, contact the city recreation department at (231) 547-3253.

Clarence Archer: March 3, 1930 - June 8, 2005

Clarence M. "Shorty" Archer, 75, of Charlevoix, died Wednesday, June 8, 2005, at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. A memorial service will be at 3 p.m., Wednesday, June 15, at the Archer home located at 10926 Boyne City Road in Charlevoix.

Shorty was born March 3, 1930, in Carp Lake, the son of Fred L. and Thelma (McFarland) Archer. He attended Muskegon Schools, and then served as a Corporal in the U.S. Army during the Korean War. He made his home in Petoskey and was employed as a painter by the Mackinaw Bridge Authority during and shortly after its construction.

Shorty married Muriel (Lang) Swartout in August of 1972, and they made their home in Charlevoix. He was a self-employed painter for 30 years, and was also the maintenance supervisor at the Lodge Motel for nine years. Shorty earned his G.E.D. in Charlevoix.

He is survived by his wife Muriel; brothers, Byron R. (Diane) Archer of East Jordan, Michael Archer of Charlevoix, Robert L. (Debbora) Archer of Petoskey; sisters, Evelyn Kilmer of Petoskey, Virginia Smith of Petoskey, Naomi McConnell of Cadillac, Gari Johnson of Hazel Park, Maryetta (Ken) Mousseau of Charlevoix, Christine (Mike) Spiegel of Bay Shore, Nola Conrad of Petoskey, Monna Boldry of Gonzales, Texas; foster sister, Barbara Shiver of Petoskey; brother-in-law, Francis (Marc) Murdock of Charlevoix.

Shorty was preceded in death by his sister Audrey Gerlock. Memorial contributions may be made to the Grace Fellowship Mennonite Church, c/o Lewis Schlabach, 08056 Burgess Rd., Charlevoix, MI 49720. The family is being served by the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix.

Sheriff arrests suspect in break-in at a local business

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater has reported an arrest made following a recent break-in.

In the early hours of Wednesday, June 8, a 27-year-old male was arrested for breaking and entering Esperance Deli and Wine shop on U.S. 31 North in Charlevoix Township.

Charlevoix County deputies and Charlevoix City Police officers responded to an alarm at the store. Charlevoix City Police, who were first on the scene, discovered a broken window in a side door of the business.

Shortly thereafter, a male subject was located trying to leave the business. The suspect was immediately taken into custody.

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office continues to investigate the incident.

Last week, detectives sought warrants from the Charlevoix County Prosecutor's Office. Further charges in addition to the breaking and entering may be forthcoming. The suspect's name was not released.

Lasater commended Charlevoix City Police Officer Peter Shrift for his timely response and professionalism in assisting his office.

Deputies to closely monitor handicap parking violators

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater wishes to advise the public that his office will be increasing the amount of time that deputies spend enforcing Handicap Parking Violations.

Specifically, persons that are utilizing a vehicle displaying a handicap decal, placard or registration plate will have to be transporting the disabled person with them to use the special designated parking or they face a misdemeanor arrest which carries a penalty of a $500 fine plus costs and a 30 day jail sentence. In addition to the above penalty, deputies will also be confiscating the documentation and forwarding it to the Michigan Secretary of State's office where it will be decided whether to cancel, revoke or suspend the handicap parking privilege.

Persons parking in a handicap designated space without the proper documentation will face a civil infraction citation, which currently is $150 in fines and costs.

Bids for new Charlevoix library awarded

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

All but two of the bids for work on the new Charlevoix Public Library building were awarded last week by the library board of trustees.

According to Charlevoix Public Library Director, Valerie Meyerson, the grants yet to be awarded are for plumbing/mechanical work and technology.

"The week of June 20 is the start date. That week we should start seeing some business down there," Meyerson said. "The foundation and masonry guys come in first and then they'll bring in the sand fill and start the structural stuff."

Thursday June 9, Duane Wixson, manager of northern operations for Clark Construction Company led the meeting of the Charlevoix Public Library Board of Trustees. At that meeting the board unanimously voted to award all but two contracts for construction of the new library located at 204 Grant Street.

Many of the contractors were from the northern Michigan area, but some are from as far away as Saginaw and Grand Rapids.

"I think we're getting really fair contracts and I think we have really good contractors," she said.

"Clark has said they are really pleased with all the contractors that we have approved."

Nearly all bids accepted were the lowest bid for each job.

Site work went to CH Smith for $76,166. Site asphalt, concrete, curb and gutter went to H & D for $115,653. Landscaping went to John Hoffman for $61,687. Foundations and structural concrete went to Spence Brothers for $198,300. Masonry and stone went to Boettcher for $412,900. Masonry restoration went to Premier Caulking for $101,000. Structural, ornamental and miscellaneous steel and stairs went to Howard Steel for $270,400. Gypsum assemblies and acoustical ceilings went to L & L for $494,100. Carpentry and case-work went to Jess Construction for $397,000. Roofing and metal wall and roof panels went to Bri-Car Roofing for $176,241. Wood doors went to SA Morman for $137,645. Aluminum glass and glazing went to TC (Traverse City) Glass $497,895. Flooring went to Bartlett's Flooring for $209,700. Interior and exterior painting went to National Coatings for $107,475. Specialties, including bathroom fixtures and window blinds, went to Jess Construction for $76,700. Elevators went to Otis Elevator for $53,500. Fire protection went to John E. Green Co. for $81,670. Electrical work went to Sky Electric for $692,286.

"What I'm learning from this whole thing is that the planning process is really important," Meyerson said. "And I think all the hard work we did upfront was well worth it. The planning is what paid off, that's why we're in such good shape right now."

According to Meyerson, Clark Construction Company was always looking ahead to keep things on schedule.

"Clark actually got people to bid on the plans and give us a price," she said. "There was a phenomenal amount of work involved but it really paid off."

Meyerson said the planning happened in three major phases which gave them time to refine any issues they might have had.

"If we were out of line, we came back and said 'Okay, we need to fix this,' and at each phase the pricing became more refined," Meyerson said. "We hashed out a lot of these issues before bid day."

She added, "From what people have told me, they are pretty impressed with our set of documentation."

The project is scheduled for completion in the fall of 2006.

Intern joins the Courier staff for the summer

By JULIE WITTHOEF Editor

This summer the Charlevoix Courier has extended an internship opportunity to summer resident, Nicole Graziano, who will be tackling general assignment reporting for the paper.

Nicole Graziano

"I'm excited to have an opportunity to write this summer. I don't want to take any breaks — writers have to keep practicing," she said.

Graziano, 23, of West Chester, Pa., is staying in Charlevoix's Hayes Township this summer with Linda and Buzz Jelinek. Linda is the mother of Graziano's boyfriend, Ryan Taché.

She and Taché visited during Venetian Festival 2004, when Graziano said she fell in love with Charlevoix.

They decided to move from Pennsylvania to Charlevoix with dreams of soaking in a northern Michigan summer before making a fresh start.

While writing for the Courier Graziano also plans to waitress at Stafford's Weathervane restaurant.

Graziano graduated in January of 2005 from California State University in Fullerton, Calif. with a Bachelor's Degree in Print Journalism and a minor in geography.

Her experience in the field includes copy editing for the Daily Local News in West Chester, Pa., employment as staff writer for The Daily Titan at California State University and freelance writing.

Graziano's future plans include working toward a full-time reporting position and possibly making a move west.

Her first article for the Courier appears on page 13 of this week's edition.

Emerald Ash Borer in Charlevoix County

By BENJAMIN GOHS Staff writer

Asilent threat responsible for millions of deaths lurks in Charlevoix County trees.

The Emerald Ash Borer is in Charlevoix and Robin Millsap, Communications Manager at Michigan State University, said it most likely came from infested firewood which was inadvertently brought in by campers.

"It's not like they did it intentionally, because even we had no clue," she said. "So far they found a tree that was killed by Emerald Ash Borer from 1993 and that was nine years before we discovered it."

Responsible for the destruction of countless trees so far, the Emerald Ash Borer could wipe out every ash tree in Michigan if the destructive bug is not stopped.

"In southeastern Michigan they have lost between 10 and 15 million ash trees mainly in the six counties surrounding the Detroit area," Millsap said.

"We discovered it in 2002, but research tells us that it could have been here for as many as six to 10 years before that," said Jennifer Quimby, Media Relations Coordinator with the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Emerald Ash Borer Program.

Quimby said this half inch long, metallic green beetle, native to Asia, was first identified in southeastern Michigan around the Canton area.

"That's kind of our best guess," she said. "We believe it came in on wood packing materials."

Millsap said when the Dutch Elm Disease spread through Michigan years ago, the trees were replaced with ash due to the thought that the trees were more resilient to blight and infestation. It was this mass planting of ash which now makes for an easy kill by the Emerald Ash Borer.

"Too much of one thing is not a good thing. So what we're learning from this is to diversify," Millsap said.

Millsap said a few of the ills from this situation is the loss of beautiful landscape, natural cooling and wind blocks.

"People have said, now they pay more for air conditioning — that's the biggest complaint we're hearing about," she said.

In addition to ugly landscape and higher energy bills, the mass destruction of hardwood trees affects soil erosion, air quality and the even the economy because baseball bats, flooring, tool handles and much more can be made from ash.

According to Quimby, adult Emerald Ash Borers lay their eggs in and around the crevices on the bark of ash trees. When the eggs hatch the larvae burrow in between the wood and bark in a layer called the phloem which the bugs eat.

"As it feeds on the layer between the bark it makes "S" shaped marks under the bark," she said. "It's essentially cutting off the flow of nutrients to the top of the tree."

She added, "When the adults emerge between May and August they make a very distinct "D" shaped hole in the tree."

The trees eventually die from the top down. Some signs of an afflicted tree are sprouting at its bottom, splits in the bark and woodpecker holes.

Millsap said the bug is so small you are better off looking for signs of infestation than the insect itself.

"Number one, make sure it's an ash tree. If you see die-back you may want to check for 'D' shaped exit holes. From there you'll want to look at the bark very carefully and also you may want to peel back some bark if you can," Millsap said.

Millsap said die-back is when the canopy or leafy part of the top of the tree begins to die.

Another sign of an Emerald Ash Borer problem is the appearance of woodpecker holes.

"By the time he's (woodpecker) going after the larvae, you've probably got a pretty good infestation," Millsap said. "It may be a good indication that your tree is going to die."

According to Quimby, on May 20, the Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture amended the ash borer quarantine. The quarantine includes 20 counties in southeast Michigan and 19 quarantined

The Emerald Ash Borer is approximately one and a half inches long, metallic green and capable of wiping out a full-grown ash tree.

Magni mania gives businesses a boost

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

Magni madness, a private corporate gathering, will sweep through Charlevoix next week, bringing with it, big bucks for businesses.

Dave Berry

"This is our way of giving back to Charlevoix, we love it here," Charlevoix resident, Dave Berry, who co-hosts the event, said. "It's a tremendous shot in the arm for local businesses."

The event, The Magni Scramble, which is scheduled to take place June 22-23 is hosted by Dave, 64, and his wife Paula who moved to Oyster Point from Birmingham in 1993.

"It's a huge party centered around a little bit of golf," he explained.

Participants enjoy lodging on Berry for two nights at The Lodge, where he booked the entire 32-room facility, and the Weatherlane Terrace Inn and Suites.

The night of June 22, Berry hosts a cocktail hour at The Town House followed by dinner at Grey Gables.

On June 23, they are treated to complimentary golf at either the Charlevoix Country Club or the Belvedere Golf Club, followed by lunch at the Charlevoix Country Club. The event ends with dinner and an awards ceremony at the country club.

Both nights, the Magni group is house charged at Whitney's of Charlevoix.

"It has a great deal of impact on us. It means a lot of income for us during an apron season," Gina Whitney, co-owner of Whitney's of Charlevoix, said.

Kip Thomas, owner of the Charlevoix Country Club golf course and Mahogany's Fine Dining raved about the effects of Magni mania as well.

He said, "It's the largest single event we host. It's an event everyone talks about all year long. People set their calendars around it."

Gary Anderson, owner of Grey Gables, echoed Thomas' sentiments.

"The Magni is huge for us," he said.

This is the tenth year in the scramble's 11-year existence that it will take place in Charlevoix.

"Living here, sometimes we forget how beautiful it is. These people come here and just can't believe it. This area is infectious — people have fallen in love with Charlevoix," Berry said.

The Berry's spend over $100,000 in lodging, food and golf costs to bring over 200 people from all over the world to town for the scramble.

The bulk of the Magni participants are customers, automotive engineers, equipment manufacturers and chemical suppliers for The Magni Group, Inc., of which Berry is chief executive officer and chairman of the board. About 60 others are local friends.

"These people are spenders. They're shopping for souvenirs and gifts. Every place in town seems to know someone affiliated with the Magni," Berry said.

The company, which Berry founded 30 years ago, supplies corrosion resistant paint systems, specializing in small part finishes, worldwide. It is headquartered in Birmingham and includes seven manufacturing plants outside the United States and five domestic facilities.

While the Berry family personally kicks in over $100,000, Berry said many people invited plan week-long summer vacations and end up feeding the local economy even longer.

"A lot of different businesses are effected by it," he said.

Berry explained that he plans the event for early summer as, like Whitney mentioned, it is still a slower time for Charlevoix. He added that he plans to continue the event's local legacy.

'Skip Day' seniors have day in court

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

A pre-graduation party for a group of seniors at Charlevoix High School ended in court fines and penalties.

At a May 25 arraignment in Charlevoix County's 90th District Court, nine seniors from Charlevoix plead guilty to misdemeanor charges their first offense of being a minor in possession of alcohol and one plead guilty to their second offense of being a minor in possession of alcohol.

"The arrests could have been successfully challenged but I talked to parents and discussed where they wanted the lesson to be learned," Dick Joseph, an attorney for one of the students, said. Ultimately, parents of the nine seniors that plead guilty, opted to support an entry of a guilty plea.

Sanctions brought against the nine first time offenders by District Court Magistrate, Larry Burgess, include three months probation with random urine testing as well as 60 hours of community service work, a $160 fine and required attendance at a Zero Tolerance course at BASES in Charlevoix.

The student charged with a second offense is also subject to three months probation with random urine testing as well as 60 hours of community service and required attendance at the BASES course. Fines against this student were $200.

Zero Tolerance education is a three-hour session for students ages 17-20 that focuses on alcohol physiology, the effects of alcohol on driving, legal aspects of alcohol related violations and more.

The 10 students who plead guilty were offered deferred sentences. According to Joseph, this means if they complete all aspects of their sentencing within the time prescribed, the misdemeanor falls off their record.

However, the Michigan State Police keep the arrest on file so if one of the students is arrested again for being in possession of alcohol, it is still considered a second offense.

Joseph said that for these young kids entering college and the work force, this new deferred offense law, which came into being in September of 2004, is beneficial.

"So, when they go to apply for a job they don't have to say they have a misdemeanor," he said.

Four other students arrested in the bust waived the May 25 arraignment and instead opted to plead not guilty.

On June 28, these four will appear at a pre-trial conference with Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jurema and Burgess to discuss the details of the case.

One is facing a charge of allegedly being a first time offender of being a minor in possession of alcohol, the second is facing a charge for allegedly being a second time offender.

The third and fourth students are facing misdemeanor charges of allegedly being minors in possession of alcohol and traffic offenses for minors refusing to take a breathalyzer test.

According to Paula Strange, Charlevoix County District Court deputy clerk, if convicted of the misdemeanor first time minor in possession charge, the student could face community service work, fines of $100 and required attendance at substance abuse classes.

She said that if convicted of the misdemeanor second time minor in possession offense the student could face community service work, fines of $200, driver's license suspension and required attendance at a rehabilitation program.

Strange said refusal to take a breathalyzer generally carries a $160 fine.

All four could be given deferred sentences.

The incident precipitating this occurred the night of May 12 and carried over into the early morning hours of May 13, a day the senior class declared "senior skip day."

A group of seniors, including those arrested decided to throw a party the night of May 12. The gathering took place in the woods off the seasonal portion of Stephen's Road in Charlevoix's Hayes Township.

Just after midnight the morning of May 13, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office received an anonymous call. The caller, a parent of a partygoer, said underage drinking was going on at the site.

In a previous interview, Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater said when three of his deputies and two Michigan State Troopers arrived at the site they found several cars and a bonfire.

He said the 14 students mentioned above were ticketed, about five others ran into the woods.

Charlevoix High School Athletic Director, Jim Kamine, applied the school's extracurricular policy to those students who were on athletic teams at the time the incident occurred.

High School Principal Gary Grundman said that because the party did not take place on school grounds or at a school sponsored event, further disciplinary action could not be taken by the school.

These students graduated June 5.

Charlevoix woman heading for Sundance?

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

An actress born and raised in Charlevoix may soon be headed to the Sundance Film Festival.

Annie Wagner, the daughter of Butch and Joan Wagner of Charlevoix, got a taste for movies at a young age, due in large part, to her father's night job as a projectionist at a local movie theater.

"So, my brother and I grew up going to the movies with our dad," she said. "Keep in mind that this was a time prior to VHS, prior to repeated access to films that children have now. We could see a film over and over and over again."

She isn't sure whether she gained her thirst for acting through watching movies, but as she grew older, she began to participate in school plays.

"I was in performing arts in high school," she said. "Connie Ford was my teacher."

Wagner was involved with many activities while attending Charlevoix High School which, she said, gave her a diverse array of experiences.

"When you go to a small school like Charlevoix, you get the opportunity to participate in many activities," she said. "I was involved in basketball and in fact was recruited to play basketball in Kalamazoo."

It was while on the Kalamazoo College basketball team that Wagner auditioned for and received the lead role in a play. It was then that she was forced to make a decision between the court and the stage.

"Even though Kalamazoo was a small school it was actually quite a major decision for me at the time. But, I chose the theater and I never regretted my decision," Wagner said.

Wagner held major roles in at least one major play a year during college and she didn't stop there.

"After college, I toured the Midwest and Canada with the Mosaic Theater Project in the lead role in the play Brigadista for several months," she said. "It was the experience of a lifetime."

Wagner also starred in David Mamet's play, "Speed-The-Plow."

In her time as an actress, she has been able to work and study with some incredible people including the late Uta Hagen at H B Studio.

Wagner quit acting over a decade ago to raise her children, but decided to break her 12-year hiatus about a year and a half ago.

"I revisited my passion for acting and did some shows at Theater Conspiracy in Fort Myers, Fla.," she said. "And, I was happy to find my performances were well received by audiences and critics."

One of her roles was in the play "Murderer," wherein Wagner played two parts, unbeknownst to the audience.

"It was just flattering that I had fooled the audience and they had no idea it was the same person playing the two different parts," she said.

Currently, Wagner is working on an independent film called, "Canvas."

"We're going to be wrapping up shooting towards the end of summer," she said. "The hope is to be done sometime in November."

When the film is complete, the makers will begin the application process to show it at local, regional and national film festivals, possibly including Sundance, which has Wagner excited.

"It's a completely different experience than a stage performance," she said.

Despite Wagner's rise from college theater to independent film, she said she has no plans to move to Hollywood, Calif.

"At this point in my life and my career, it's not about the fame or the fortune, it's about pursuing my passion, so I am going to continue to do just that," she said.

"Whether I'm recognized for that on a local, regional or national scale, that really has nothing to do with my goals," she added.

For the last seven years Wagner and her children lived half the year in Charlevoix and half the year in Florida, but she recently took a position utilizing her English degree which prevents her from spending as much time in this area.

Wagner said, "It (Charlevoix) has been a major influence on who I am as a person. It doesn't matter how small of a town you're from, as long as you stay true to yourself, one can be as happy as is possible."

Wagner said growing up in a small town taught her that greatness has nothing to do with the size of the city.

"There are a lot of talented people in this country who are not in Hollywood and who are not in New York," she said. "And I have had the fortune to work with some of them and the honor and to get to know them as people."

She added, "There's no place like home."

'Taste of Charlevoix' on tap for Saturday, June 18

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce has announced the second annual "A Taste of Charlevoix". This event will take place from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, June 18, in downtown Charlevoix's East Park. Chamber members from local restaurants and food and beverage service are being invited to showcase their specialties, along with local entertainment and activities for the children.

Each vendor will have the opportunity to serve two of their specialties, in portions, which range between $1 and $5. The chamber will be selling tickets for $1 each to be redeemed directly at the vendor's station. These tickets may also be used for the purchase of soft drinks, beer or wine.

Available this year are collectible "Taste of Charlevoix" wine glasses and pins. The beer and wine will be served by our local specialty wine/beer merchants and will only be served and consumed in an enclosed area.

There will be several local entertainers who will perform downtown at the Odmark Band Pavilion. They will each play a 45-minute set, with a 15-minute set-up time in between the acts.

Entertainment will be provided by the following outstanding musical groups: Ragamuffin Theatre & Company from 11 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., Northwest Academy Ensemble from noon to 12:45 p.m., the Charlevoix City Band from 1 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. and Charlevoix High School Rayder Jazz Band from 2 p.m. to 2:45 p.m.

On-site children's activities will include cookie decorating, face painting and a moonwalk.

Seventh Annual Summer Solstice Art Show in town June 25-26

The Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Seventh Annual Summer Solstice Art Show, featuring high quality art displayed on the shores of scenic Round Lake in downtown Charlevoix.

Participating artisans are carefully selected to ensure a well-rounded show offering a variety of fun and unique creations.

This two-day event, will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 25 and Sunday, June 26.

It showcases paintings in oils, watercolors and acrylics, as well as sculpture, photography, pottery, furniture, jewelry and more. From contemporary to whimsical, it is a spectacular representation of craftsmanship and artwork with beautiful and unusual products on display.

For more information, contact the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce at (231) 547-2101 or visit www.charlevoix.org.

Parasailing fund-raiser for 'skatepark'

Courtesy photo

(Above) Members of the Charlevoix Community Skatepark steering committee, relax after brainstorming and nailing down the design for the new park. They are still looking for funds for the project. Fund-raising efforts will include a June 20 "Sail to Skate Benefit 2005."

Sunshine Charters of Charlevoix, a sailing and parasailing business will sponsor "Sail to Skate Benefit 2005" June 20.

This event will raise money for the Charlevoix Community Skatepark.

Tickets for sailing on this exclusive day will only be $10, while parasailing tickets will be down from their normal $55 to just $20. All profits will be donated to the recently poured Charlevoix Skatepark located on West Carpenter Street, across from the ball fields.

Vickie Daman, one of the mothers dedicated to making this dream a reality, has been working with the students for over a year on this project.

When asked why this park is important to her, she responded, "While we are fortunate enough to live in this beautiful area, the closest skatepark is 20 miles away. This skatepark will provide a location for kids to practice their skating and biking skills, and get them out-side - away from the TV and video games. These kids have worked incredibly hard on this project."

To date, the Charlevoix Community Skatepark Committee has raised over $81,000 from grant writing, fund-raising, and in-kind donations. With a total projected cost of $127,000 they still need to raise about $46,000. Though the Sail to Skate Benefit will not be able to come up with the total cost needed to complete this project, Daman said every donation gets them closer to their goal.

Sunshine Charters' Captain, Nicole Dawson, is equally animated about the opportunity to raise money for the park.

"We have been members of this community for 13 years, and we're looking for constructive ways to give back to Charlevoix. We have a great business that reflects the energy and adventurous spirit of the families involved in this project. It's a perfect fit," Dawson said.

Charlevoix Community Skatepark members will be selling tickets at the Boating Safety Awareness Day, which will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, June 17 in East Park.

There will also be tickets available through Sunshine Charters and the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. However, sailing and parasailing tickets are limited so be advised to call (231) 547-0266 as soon as possible to buy a ticket.

For more information on this event, call Vickie Daman at (231) 547-8063, or visit www.sunshinecharters.com.

Larry Drost opens Twin Birch Nursery

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

A new landscaping material supplier has opened in Charlevoix.

Twin Birch Nursery, located off U.S. 31 South is the fourth extension of Larry Drost's company, Larry Drost Builders.

Drost, 37, of Charlevoix owns and operates, Larry Drost Builders, Drost Excavating, 3-D Landscaping and Ponds and now, Twin Birch Nursery.

"We are lifelong residents of Charlevoix and believe it is important to promote small business in our hometown," Drost said.

Drost said that this latest addition allows his company to be a one stop shop for those looking to build a home or to do landscaping. He can now dig it, build it and beautify it.

His company employs six full time personnel and four part time employees. All four businesses now operate at the U.S. 31 location. Prior to Twin Birch opening, Drost's business ventures were located off Phelps Road.

While Drost can now use his own materials to landscape, he is also a supplier for other area landscapers who are offered discounts at Twin Birch.

Twin Birch specializes in perennials, mulch, natural stone, trees, shrubs, pondscaping vegetation and stone and retaining wall materials.

At the site, Drost has barbecue rings and fire pits on display.

While these are some of the supplies immediately available, Drost said customer requests and special orders are welcome.

The nursery is open from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. A grand opening celebration is being planned for this summer.

"We are happy with business so far. We very quickly sold out of most of our annuals," Karen King, Drost's office assistant, said.

Drost explained that the Twin Birch operation will eventually be year-round. He and his staff are looking at starting their own on-site growing. This will allow them to offer lower costs to customers and to closely monitor the quality of their products.

They also plan to extend services to include sale and installation of water features including waterfalls and ponds.

For more information, contact Drost at (231) 547-9745.

Charlevoix Kmart closes its K-cafe to cut costs

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Charlevoix's K-cafe, inside the local Kmart located off M-66, recently closed.

When the proceedings for bankruptcy started in January, Kmart stores had plans to close nearly 300 of its 1,700 stores. Since then, the lagging retail veteran has merged with Sears, Roebuck & Co. as well as taken some efforts to reduce profit loss.

According to Manager of Media Relations for Kmart Corporation, Stephen Pagnani, Kmart closed 188 of its 1,011 in-store eateries on May 24 because they weren't pulling their weight.

"They weren't profitable," Pagnani said. "So we're looking at using the space for other merchandising opportunities."

Charlevoix's K-cafe, along with 15 similar operations in Michigan, were closed as a part of the company's planned restructuring.

While the newly found extra space

The Charlevoix K-cafe is officially closed. The space is currently undergoing remodeling for, as of yet, undetermined general merchandise.

will be used for, as of yet, unidentified general merchandise, Pagnani said the space will not be used for any other in-store restaurants.

According to Pagnani, most K-cafe's employed between two and six people each, depending upon location and size.

While he couldn't say exactly how many people lost their jobs, Pagnani did say that not all of the restaurant workers were let go.

"Some of the positions were eliminated and some of the positions were absorbed into other departments in the store," he said.

Harbor Industries named Sears Partner in Progress

Harbor Industries, Inc., has been named a Sears Partner in Progress for 2004.

Ted Parker

This award is presented annually to a select group of supplier companies that have provided Sears, Roebuck and Co. with quality products and services, from apparel, appliances and tools to marketing, transportation services and technology. More than 10,000 sources competed for this award in 2004.

Ted Parker and Tabb Wierengo were honored on April 12 at an event hosted by Sears Holdings Corporation Vice Chairman and CEO Alan J. Lacy at the company's headquarters in Hoffman Estates, Ill.

Started more than 20 years ago, the Partners in Progress program recognizes suppliers that make significant contributions to the growth of Sears businesses and the creation of new ways to better serve Sears customers. The winners were selected from nominations submitted by Sears' employees who purchase goods and services for the company.

"It was truly an honor to be the recipient of this prestigious award for the third time. It speaks very highly for our company and the employees who make earning this award possible through their continued hard work and dedication to Sears," Ted Parker, President of Harbor Industries, said. "We are among a very elite group of Sears suppliers, less than 1% of the suppliers earn this distinction."

Harbor first received the Partner's in Progress award in 1999. In 2004, Harbor received the Partner's in Progress award as well as the Innovative Supplier of the Year award.

Wireless Internet service provider opens

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Some Charlevoix Internet surfers will soon have an alternative to their existing service provider.

Co-owners of Charlevoix Wireless, Desmond Milligan and Jacob Jensen were recently granted a special use permit by the Marion Township Planning Commission, which will allow them to expand their wireless Internet coverage.

"Right now we've got a 47 foot temporary tower. Once this (new) tower goes up the speed will increase, the amount of customers we can serve will increase and so will the quality of service," Milligan said.

According to Milligan and Jensen, the 100 foot tower, located at the old Hoskins Manufacturing plant on 05339 M-66 North, will elevate a 24 inch antenna for high speed wireless broadband Internet service.

"It will offer at least a six mile radius of service to customers in and around the area of the plant," Jensen said. "It will offer them a low cost alternative to high speed Internet."

And, Milligan said, all the equipment they use is state-of-the-art. So, just like your cable Internet, the transmissions through Charlevoix Wireless will support Voice Over Internet Protocol or VoIP, which will allow customers to utilize functions like Internet telephones.

In addition to the broadband service, the local 911 service will be installing a repeater antenna on the new tower.

"Right now they only have one repeater antenna and if it were to go down they would lose service to much of the area," Milligan said. "This will enhance and expand the 911 services in the area."

Jensen and Milligan started out installing telephone systems and local area networks but started offering wireless service when they noticed a need for an alternative in high speed data transfers.

"We found out we couldn't get a lot of Ethernet cables to certain locations, so we went with broadband wireless networking," Milligan said.

According to Jensen, wireless Internet is similar in speed to cable Internet, and is about 10 times faster than satellite service and doesn't have the same types of problems with weather that satellites suffer.

"It's very comparable (to cable) and the thing with wireless, you aren't limited to one computer or one area," Jensen said. "You can use your high speed connection anywhere, anytime."

According to Jensen, Charlevoix Wireless helps ensure high quality data transfer by making sure there is sufficient signal before starting service to a customer.

"We don't hook anybody up unless they are getting at least DSL speed," Jensen said. "DSL speeds are generally between 100 and 300 kilobytes per second (Kbps). Our speeds are anywhere from 300 to 2,500 Kbps."

Once the antenna is installed at the Hoskins property, there are plans to increase service to other areas, including a tower at St. Mary's Cement plant.

Jensen said the additional tower at St. Mary's will increase the load of customers Charlevoix Wireless can handle as well as the area of service they can provide.

Jensen and Milligan said, they eventually hope to have uninterrupted coverage all over Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties. One way they are working to expand their service is by making agreements with airports and other areas to setup WiFi technology which would allow users of Charlevoix Wireless to tap into the wireless ports at places outside the service area, such as airport terminals.

Though the wireless service has been free of charge to the downtown area thus far, Jensen and Milligan said they need funding from the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority to maintain the free service.

According to Jensen, states across the nation currently offer free wireless access to the Internet via the downtown areas of their cities, and he hopes the city of Charlevoix will give their support to do the same.

"With help from the DDA, it will stay free," Jensen said.

Lady Rayder soccer team loses regional

After an exciting fight to make the regional finals, the varsity Rayder girls soccer team was unable to score and dropped the regional final to Hart Friday night.

"I'm not crying because we lost. I'm crying because we all played our hearts out. We didn't leave anything on the field, it just wasn't our night. I'm crying because this is the last time I'll get to play with all of you together," Madison McKenzie, a Charlevoix High School senior soccer player, said in post game discussion.

At the June 10 match-up at Harbor's Ottawa Stadium, Hart scored when a punt by the Charlevoix keeper was sent back from 50 yards out, sailed over the defenders' heads and came down in the Charlevoix net.

The Rayders were surprised but not discouraged. Charlevoix began to control play in the early evening heat and managed several opportunities which were either stopped by the Hart keeper or sailed over the crossbar. Hart packed in the defense and prevented the Rayders from any clear shooting opportunities. The half ended 1-0.

Three minutes into the second half, lightning struck and officials suspended play for over an hour. Play began again just before 9 p.m. and the Rayders came out with new energy. They continually penetrated the Hart end but were unable to connect and punch the ball into the goal. Charlevoix outshot Hart 20 to 8 on the night. Unfortunately, the shots were either to the keeper or off target.

This was the final high school game for Charlevoix seniors Sarah Cross, Meghan Lame, Madison McKenzie and Jaime Pettis. Cross and McKenzie hope to continue their careers at Adrian and Olivet, respectively.

According to head coach Carol

Madison, all are four-year letter winners and provided leadership and determination that will be difficult to replace.

"This was a special team which all the coaching staff will remember forever," she said.

The Rayders end the year at 16-5-1. Charlevoix's honorable mention All-State goalkeeper Laura Nitchman propelled the Rayders into the regional finals.

Madison said, "We were a little nervous defensively during regulation but settled down in the overtime. The conditions were extreme and both teams played their hearts out."

On Wednesday, June 8, Saginaw Valley came to the regional semi-final match against Charlevoix, ready to play. The Saginaw team started the match with several shots on goal which were handled easily by Nitchman.

The Rayders woke up midway through the first half and began applying offensive pressure.

Charlevoix took the 1-0 lead when Lori Zimmerman sent a nice cross to senior, Jaime Pettis, who buried a shot in the net.

The Rayders continued to control play until a defensive miscue on a goal kick allowed Saginaw's top scorer, Caroly Dicken to send an uncontested shot over Nitchman. The half ended locked at 1-1.

Charlevoix again took the offensive, scoring early in the second, when Pettis took a ball to the corner, beating two defenders and crossing the ball to the center. Freshman, Becca Madison, gathered in the pass and with a couple nice moves beat the keeper low to put Charlevoix up 2-1.

The Rayders continued to have the better of play but couldn't connect on a game winning third score.

With about 14 minutes remaining,

Saginaw tied the match when Charlevoix's defense inadvertently took the ball out of Nitchman's hands. Regulation ended at 2-2.

With both teams running out of steam in the heat and humidity, both overtime periods went by with each team having opportunities and both keepers coming up strong.

In the shoot-out, Saginaw took the early advantage scoring on their first three opportunities. Then, Nitchman took over.

After scoring on her own penalty attempt, Nitchman stopped six straight penalty tries, while Stieve Murray, Jaime Pettis, Zita Anderson and Lori Zimmerman connected for the Rayders. Charlevoix won 5-3 on kicks.

"Charlevoix set a new standard with this season, going farther than any Charlevoix soccer team, boy or girl, has gone before. Last year, we set the target at the district title and surpassed that with this regional final appearance. Next year's target is to take the next step," Madison said.

In spite of Charlevoix's 20 shots on goal against Hart in the regional finals June 10, Charlevoix was unable to score.

Venetian Festival board plans 'Country Kick-off'

The Charlevoix Venetian Festival and Castle Farms will once again join forces in a unique entertainment offering.

At 5 p.m. Tuesday, July 19, the gates at Castle Farms will open and participants will be greeted by sounds of the West during the Venetian Festival's Country Kickoff. The event will feature country music and 25 of the rank-est bulls and toughest cowboys in the Midwest, in the Super Kicker Rodeo bull riding competition.

The Country Kickoff is an out-growth of the relationship estab-lished last year between the fes-tival board members and Castle Farms owners Richard and Linda Mueller and Executive Director, Alan Lovelace.

"The festival appreciated the support of Castle Farms, during the summer of 2004, in staging both the Young Americans fund-raising concert and the kickoff at the Castle. We look forward to another top caliber event this year, with the Venetian Country Kickoff in the capable hands of Alan Lovelace and the Castle Farms staff," commented festival president, Dan Barron.

Barron also noted that Castle Farms will be underwriting the ex-pense of the event, which will save the festival more than $10,000.

Lovelace said "Castle Farms and Venetian are natural partners, with the common goal of delivering first class, family entertainment. The Castle provides a perfect en-vironment for the community's Venetian homecoming celebra-tion."

Country Kickoff will also uphold the festival's musical tradition. Toe tapping tunes will fill the air, with two outstanding local country music artists, Chris Dominic of Charlevoix and Chelsee Oaks of Traverse City, strutting their stuff on stage.

Adults will be charged a $10 admission fee while children ages 6 through 12 will be admitted for $7.50 and those ages 5 and under will get in free of charge. Wrist bands will be provided, entitling all "Country Kickers" to partici-pate in numerous "Kickoff" activi-ties, including elephant rides by "Baby Laura," petting zoo live-stock displays, a rock climbing wall, "Mongo" the mechanical bull and inflatables.

Food and beverages will also be available.

Venetian planners believe that Rayder Rumble II on Venetian Monday and the Country Kickoff on Venetian Tuesday will be a great buildup to the outstanding enter-tainment scheduled for East Park, from Venetian Wednesday through Saturday, including such groups as the classic rock band WAR and "1964 ... The Tribute."

"The Rumble and the Country Kickoff will not only provide great entertainment but also significant funds for the Festival to meet its budget demands," Barron stated.

Official Notice

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
July 5, 2005 - 7:00 p.m.

The Charlevoix City Council will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, July 5, 2005 at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of City Hall, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, to receive public input on a proposed amendment to Title V - Zoning and Planning, Chapter 51, also known as the City Zoning Ordinance, of the City Code. The proposed amendment is outlined as follows:

A. Addition of a new section entitled - Site Condominiums
The intent of this section is to provide minimum standards and guidelines for review and approval of site condominium projects so they will comply with accepted planning and engineering standards applicable to similar forms of development. It is further intended that this permitted use encourage a more creative approach to development through the planned reduction or group-ing of lots while maintaining the overall density of the Zoning District.

B. Renumbering Sections 5.171 and 5.172 as Sections 5.170 and 5.171, respectively.

A complete copy of the proposed Ordinance is available at the City Clerk's Office.

Interested citizens can make comments at the public hearing or written com-ments may be sent to the City Clerk's Office, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

Father's Day Sundays at Four concert planned

On Fathers Day, June 19, treat dad to a "Sundays at Four" concert.

The event will take place at 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix located at the corner of Park Avenue and State Street.

As a tribute to dads everywhere, the Charlevoix Area Men's Chorus, directed by Terry Isenbarger, and the Da Li'l Com-pah Band from Petoskey will present a program with a lot of variety and some fun thrown in.

Bob Pattingle will accompany the Men's Chorus.

There is no charge but a donation of $5 will be gratefully accepted.

A reception will immediately follow the concert in Ransom Fellowship Hall at the church.

SCRAPBOOK

Neighborhoods from past and present

Marilyn Boss
'Days gone by'

In 1940, we knew most of those living here. They usually stayed here, and didn't have to move around as happens today.

Harold and Hetty Lamb lived at 304 Clinton with their children, Margaret and Marjorie. He was the director of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Welfare. Charles Lamphear was an alderman in the second ward.

He and his wife, Mildred lived at 209 Mason with their son, John. Frank and Nettie Lamphear lived at 205 Park Avenue. Nettie Lamphear owned the Hotel Bartlett at 205 Park Avenue. Rose Lamphear lived at 202 State Street.

Robert Lee and his wife, Crescence, lived at 226 Antrim. They had a son, Edwin. I remember going to their home for Bible story time each week. She was a lovely Christian lady, and held these fun get togethers for neighborhood children.

Carl and Anna Left lived at 404 Antrim Street and their children were Claire, Anna Mae, Francis and Carlene.

He was a seaman. Franklin Left lived at 110 West Hurlbut Avenue.

Philip and Mary Lemieur lived at 104 Wood. He was a caretaker.

Meyer and Freda Levinson lived at 110 Clinton Street. They owned M.A. Levinson and Co. which sold dry goods, women's ready to wear and men's furnishing goods. I remember my mother buying my slacks there. They were all wool, and very nicely made. Charles Levinson, their son, worked as a clerk in their store. Sybil, their daughter also was a clerk there.

Eugene and Sylvia Lewis lived at 102 West Hurlbut. His mother, Alice, also lived with them. She was a widow (James), Eugene was a painter.

Elliott and Eva Lewis lived on Division. He was a painter. Gwendolyn Struthers also lived there. Flora Lewis was a widow (Monte) and was vice president of the Charlevoix Lumber Co. She lived at 223 Clinton Street. Lola Lewis was a widow (Oral D.) and she and her children Russell, Maxine Faye, Loma, Jim and Beth Marie, lived at 306 Mason Street. Loma has always been one of my best friends. I remember when she told me that her mother, and Mrs. Clarence Meggison had daughters born at the same time. Lola's daughter, Maxine Faye and Elanor Beth Meggison were best friends. They asked their mothers to name the new babies after each of them, using each girl's middle names.

So, Beth Lewis and Faye Meggison were the names given to the babies.

Merritt Lewis and wife, Ruth, lived at 404 W. Upright Street. He was a carpenter and Ruth was at a laundress at the Charlevoix Hospital. Dale remembers Merritt as a very fine trim carpenter. In the 1940s he and two other carpenters, who came from Chicago, Ill. rebuilt the Cater summer residence at 404 Mason Street. They sang while they worked, and Dale remembers them singing "When it's springtime in the Rockies". And it was some of the most beautiful harmony he had ever heard in his entire lifetime. It made tears come to Dale's eyes at the time. Back then, fellows would sing or whistle as they worked, and were happy even though they didn't have much money in their pockets.

Merritt didn't have a car, and he walked to work. He was Birdie Whitley's grandfather. It's too bad this is a lost art, except for a few, Glenn Crain still whistles, and I feel it's the sign of a happy man.

Charles Lamphear was the manager of Northern Creamery Co. until 1939, when John Maxbauer bought it. At that time, Dale's dad became manager. The creamery was located where the Charlevoix Public Library parking lot is today. Charlie then went to Campbell Shoe store and repaired shoes in the hack of the store. Charlie was always a favorite of Dale and his brother, Dean. When they went down to the dairy, he would give them ice cream. He always liked kids. He was very kind-hearted gentleman.

Archie Livingston was a cashier at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, and became president in later years. He lived on the next street from Dale. Dale and Dean would ride down the hill in front of his house at 312 Clinton Street, and he would watch them, and knew what kind of boys they were. His wife was Margery, and his son was Archie Jr. While he was president of the bank, he never once turned Dale down for a loan to make a real estate investment. He said he never had to remind Dale that a payment was due, because it was paid ahead of time. Such were the good old days when everyone knew your reputation.

Archie and Don Campbell, who owned Campbell Shoe Store, came to the first meeting when Dale called it to see about making Mt. McSaubia Ski Hill. They were very enthusiastic even though there was 41 years difference in age between them and Dale. They were positive thinkers, and put their whole heart into making Charlevoix better whenever they could.

In my last column, I wrote the names of George and Edna LaBlance's children. In 1940, there were only two boys, John and Tom. I then wrote that Steve and Brendon were also their boys, and neglected to say that they were born later. I remember Steve especially, because he helped Dale and I tear down a old barn to use the lumber to build our first house. He was just a young boy, but worked like a trooper helping me pound the old nails out of the boards as Dale took them off the building. I am sure he remembers that today. I inadvertently left out the LaBlance's daughter, Georgia, who was also born later, and was their only girl.

Angie Supernaw called me a week ago, and mentioned that Edna Himebaugh Wells is 93 years old, and lives at 107 West Upright, and has always lived in the same house, where she was born.

Lawrence Boss also was born in his house in 1918, and when his father, Ed Boss moved to town, he took over the farm. He and his wife, Jeanette, live there today.

Many people have told me that they enjoy reading about old friends and relatives in 1940, proving again, how valuable memories are to all of us.

City to sue its insurance carrier?

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

The City of Charlevoix may file charges against its insurance provider for not covering a check for over $220,000 that was misdirected and cashed.

At city council's June 20 meeting, council members discussed possible attorney fees the city could incur if it pursued a lawsuit against Michigan Municipal League Insurance, its insurance carrier.

A report from city attorney, Jim Young, explored hiring an attorney with the firm Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, P.L.C.

Three options outlined by Bob DeJong, an attorney with the law firm, estimated costs for attorney services billing in the neighborhood of $65,000 to $85,000 with an additional $7,000 to $9,000 in expenses.

Council members said that while this seems steep, the city stands to lose over $220,000 if some relief is not found.

According to third ward council member Shirley Gibson, the city's position in this possible litigation is that its insurance carrier should cover a check for over $220,000 that was misdirected and cashed.

The city has sought coverage from its insurer. But representatives of Michigan Municipal League Insurance did not agree to pay the bill. The city has not yet opted to pursue treasurer's bonds that also cover incidents like the check debacle.

Council directed Young to request a proposal from the law firm that bills the city at $250 an hour with a 20 percent contingency fee. If council agrees to go this route, the law firm would draft its complaint and 20 percent of what the city would be awarded if a judge rules in its favor would go to the firm.

"The fact that they (DeJong) are willing to consider a contingency fee is obviously indicative of the strength of the city's claim," Young told council.

The check at the heart of this pending litigation was written to CCMS, a contractor hired by the city to work on roads and sidewalks. However, the check was supposed to be written to CCMS insurer, United Fire and Casualty. United was then supposed to pay subcontractors hired by CCMS for those projects.

A report given to council in February outlining why the mistake was made pointed to miscommunication.

Charlevoix City Treasurer Rick Brandi, who was on vacation when the check was issued, claims he was not aware United Fire was supposed to be paid instead of CCMS. United Fire claims they sent a letter to Brandi with check writing instructions, prior to his vacation, but Brandi says he never received it.

Brandi's stamped signature as well as that of deputy city clerk Stephanie Brown, appeared on the check.

When Brandi realized the check was issued in error, he called the city's bank and tried to stop payment but it was too late. CCMS had cashed the check.

East Park petition submitted to city clerk

By JULIE WITTHOEFT
Editor

Supporters of the East Park renovation project being decided by city voters are one step closer to landing a spot on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

A group of six Charlevoix city residents in support of East Park changes hit the pavement early this month in pursuit of signatures for an initiative action, to take the park project to a vote of city residents.

Changes they are working toward include removal of the current band shell, construction of a new performance venue and amphitheater seating and reconfiguration of the park's topography.

They submitted 462 signatures to city clerk Carol Ochs on June 14 — 126 more signatures than were required.

Investigators look at local counterfeit cash tie CASH

clude a look at whether DeLuca also passed counterfeit bills in Charlevoix.

According to Halverson, from June 11-14, 10 to 15 separate incidents of counterfeit money spending were reported in Charlevoix. Some sites where the money has been spent include Glens Market and 7-Eleven. Most of the bills passed here are $20 and at least one was a $100 bill.

Halverson said the quality of the bills are high and one would have to really know what they are looking for to spot the fraudulent bills.

"If you were to hold one in your hand by itself you would have a difficult time telling the difference," he said.

According to a Sault Ste. Marie Police Department news release, DeLuca, a white male in his 60s, had possession of 12 fake $20 bills and $5,000 in fake $100 bills.

DeLuca, who was arrested in Sault Ste. Marie with the counterfeit money also had in his possession approximately a pound of marijuana with traces of cocaine on it.

The news release said there are indications that DeLuca might have taken possession of the counterfeit bills in Florida and upon interview the suspect did not mention spending any of the bills in Charlevoix, but that he did travel south of the Mackinaw Bridge.

Halverson said if you have any doubts about your money to hold the bill up to a light source and check for a watermark. If you fail to see the watermark or still have concerns with the authenticity of the currency, you should take the bill to your local bank to have it checked and then contact your local police department for further instructions.

As much of an inconvenience as it would be to lose money, Halverson said do not try to pass fake bills along because that is a crime.

Park petition submitted to city clerk Carol Ochs

Ochs is now in the process of authenticating each signature to make sure it came from a registered city voter. Her review will be complete before July 5, the deadline for when the certificate has to be submitted to city council.

Council then has 60 days to act on that certificate. This means council will be forced to revisit an ordinance amendment, called "Amendment 5" which it already denied.

On March 14 city council voted against initiation of amendments four and five, as presented, to the Downtown Development Authority's (DDA) development plan.

These amendments would have allowed the authority to pay for 25 percent of the marina, for the total cost of East Park projects and extend the authority's life.

While marina changes were approved and are expected to start this fall, plans for East Park were nixed.

Council decided to omit plans to build an ice rink in the park from amendment four and decided against passing amendment five in its entirety.

Amendment five included demolition of the current music pavilion in the fall of 2006 and construction of a new facility on the south end of the park. This part of the project would cost the DDA just under $1.5 million.

Ochs explained that because petitioners were successful in gathering initiative action signatures, council will pull Amendment 5, set another public hearing and consider it again.

If they approve it, the decision is eligible for a referendum to overturn that decision, which could appear the soonest on a February 2006 ballot.

If council sticks to its original decision and declines it, the amendment would be eligible for the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

Charlevoix resident Jill Picha, said if it goes to a vote she will have an army of voters lined up ready to fight. She plans to join forces with other residents against removing the band shell to campaign against it.

Council approved extension of the authority from its expected expiration date of 2013, to 2026, in order to finish the marina project, and approved payment of 25 percent of the total cost of the $10.6 million marina project, including construction of a new harbor master's office. The authority's portion is $3.8 million, the Michigan Waterways Commission has committed to fund 75 percent, or $6.8 million, of the marina project.

The project will be done in phases with construction of the 67-slip dock system and sea wall coming first.

Debt from the marina renovation will cost between $242,000 and $310,000 a year for 15 to 20 years. City manager Mike Wiesner anticipates $100,000 a year being paid for from marina revenue and the rest coming from the DDA.

A celebration of life to remember

Julie Witthoef
'Just a thought'

Pastor Mary Willis gave my father-in-law, Ivan Witthoef, a light at a celebration of his life last weekend.

Ivan was recently diagnosed with an advanced case of colon cancer and community members gathered at the Witthoef compound June 17, to show their support for a man who has in many ways brought light to their lives.

Ivan is a master electrician who pioneered the use of nuclear energy in Charlevoix. Since the 1970s he has lit up this town, from his amazing Christmas display to residential and commercial wiring projects. But the celebration was for a different light he has brought to this community — the light his generosity, love and compassion has generated.

It was a warm afternoon early this spring when I felt his light most strongly.

I was headed to the Witthoef ranch off Old Orchard Road after a typical eight-to-five to pick up my daughter who spent afternoons at 'Granny Daycare,' with Ivan's wife, Lucy.

I raced up to the house, threw open the door and shot in. Things in the house were unusually quiet, so I knew my 2-year-old wasn't inside. I quickly retreated back outside.

I'll never forget the feeling of the welcoming breeze as I looked up to see my sweet baby girl. She was toddling around the hilly terrain hand in hand with Lucy wearing long black braids and cowboy boots and Ivan in his signature jeans and matching boots.

The smiles on their faces, the sun in the sky and the power of their spirits was the warmest, brightest light known to man.

The next week we got the news about Ivan's illness and soon after I realized that spring afternoon was my gift from God.

Now, as the community and our family prepares to say goodbye to a man who brought intense light to our lives, we have to remember that his light isn't gone. Instead of it shining strongly on our faces in our daily lives it now needs to shine from within us.

Thank you to everyone who came to support our family and those who have sent cards, dinners and other symbols of your love. It is now our job to keep his light shining.

Julie Witthoef is editor of the Charlevoix Courier. She can be reached at (231) 547-6558 or by e-mail at news@charlevoixcourier.com.

The truth about local skaters
Editor:

As a parent that has been actively involved in the Charlevoix Community Skatepark Project, I want to express my sincere thanks to everyone who has supported this much needed outlet for our area youth and visitors.

It has not been a disappointment, the support shown for this project has been wonderful. This has been an amazing experience and I would like to clear up some preconceived ideas about skaters/bikers in general.

The kids, who are involved with our project do not fit the norm of the typical skater. We have a broad spectrum of actively involved kids, from honor students to average, everyday kids, from graduates to elementary students who love their sport.

They all bring a different perspective to this project and their opinions and ideas have all been taken into account. The park has been designed by them and for them. It is not a cookie cutter design, it is custom designed for the skaters and bikers of Charlevoix. We are trying to promote the positive side of this sport. A point that I wanted to clarify is that this is a supervised park, this was the kids' choice, especially the 14-19 year olds. It would be easier on everyone if it wasn't but the kids using the park requested it be supervised. I think that shows we have responsible kids involved in this project.

As a parent who had no idea what she was in for, this has been life altering, very satisfying project to be involved in. Kids of today are not like those of 25 years ago, they want challenging activities to be available. Extreme sports is everywhere, it is changing the sports world as we know it. We are fortunate to live in a place where snowboarding, wakeboarding and skateboarding go hand in hand. I have been asked numerous times, would

I do it again? The answer is yes. Why? Because it is making a difference.

One thing I have realized is the people criticizing or skeptical of this project don't understand it. They either have had a bad experience or don't realize the benefit this park will have. The parents involved in this project are more than willing to sit down with anyone and explain the importance of this. That is what the temporary park was for, to educate and make awareness that there is a need in this area for this kind of facility.

There are kids who don't fall into typical football/basketball/soccer/baseball sports categories, they need an outlet for their sport. If we help one child be active, then this project has been worth it. I have been amazed at what these kids can do on their in-line skates, boards and bikes. These are not easy sports, they are very physically demanding.

To business owners, we realize there are skaters, locals/non-locals, who have been destructive, we have tried to educate the kids about skating in the allowed areas only and being respectful. If you have an area that is inviting to a skater and you don't want them to skate there, post a sign. One thing I have learned is that there is street skating and park skating, they are totally different. Our park has elements of both, which again the kids designed. But also realize unless it is bolted down they will move it, grind it, and ride it.

Feel free to contact any CCS, Inc. board member. They are myself, Vickie Daman, Scott Stebe, Patsy Ramsey, Michelle Witthoef, John McLean and John Curtis. Any adult is welcome to join the executive board at any time. We also have park volunteers but are in need of more.

Please stop by our new permanent site on West Carpenter after June 25.

Again, thank you to all who have contributed to making this dream a reality. Laura Stebe

'Thank you' volunteers
Editor:

On behalf of North Central Michigan College's, Phi Theta Kappa, Alpha Omicron Upsilon Chapter, we would like to thank all of those who helped out with the Skate Night for Cystic Fibrosis held on June 10 in East Jordan. Together we created a successful event that helped increase awareness about Cystic Fibrosis throughout the local communities as well as representing our society and college with pride.

Seventy-two participants and nearly 20 volunteers turned out for this year's fund-raiser. We had a fantastic turnout and undoubtedly helped raise awareness. In future years, those participants will not only recognize the cause but they will also remember they were once a part of it.

We would like to thank the numerous volunteer's whose presence was instrumental in our success; Amanda, Beth, Billy, Chris, Chrissy, Dan, Darwin, Irene, Jessica, Jim, Laura, Mike, Nick, Patrick, Scott, Terry, Timmy, and Tonya. You guys made this happen.

We thank you all for your strong support for our cause and our community. Kevin Bayers

Emissions have bad odor
Editor:

Charlevoix the Beautiful (but stinky). Growing up in the down river area of Detroit allows one to gain knowledge of industrial aromas as a dubious distinction. With all the steel mills, car manufacturers, refineries, chemical plants, etc., the air was robust and rich with pollutants. Just a quick drive over the Rouge River bridge even today affords one the opportunity to gain a nasal perception of industry in Detroit — no need to open your eyes (unless you are driving of course).

This Memorial Day, my nasal memories of the industrialized down river area were rekindled by a smog filling the downtown area of Charlevoix. The sulfur smell was actually choking even the best ice cream devouring fudgie. Quotes like "Can you smell that," reminded me of not only a Lynyard Sknyrd tune but the Rouge Bridge.

I closed my eyes and was back there for a moment only to realize the bridge I was on was in Charlevoix. Wow. Tracing it back, one could see the origin south of Michigan Beach — an eyesore that paradoxically is in the peripheral vision of the million-dollar sunsets. SO2 it's referred to — Sulfur Dioxide. Upon checking with Courtney — their environmental professional — Medusa, PEMEX, Cemex their new owners are calling themselves now — Saint Mary's is allowed "over 4,000 tons of SO2 emissions per year." They were in compliance in stinking up Charlevoix. Four thousand tons — that's 50 pounds per minute — every minute. The equivalent of ten five pound bags of flour every minute — yuck. In Charlevoix the Beautiful (but stinky) hold your nose and appreciate the view and realize it's normal and legal.

Taste fest a success
Editor:

I just wanted to take this opportunity to thank everyone who was involved in making our 2nd Annual "Taste of Charlevoix" event a big success again this year. There was a large turnout and ticket sales were strong throughout the day. Several vendors sold out of food early or had to restock during the day. I had nothing but positive feedback from all of those who joined in on the festivities. I would like to thank all of our participating vendors, the Chamber member businesses who donated their time or materials to the Taste event, the Taste of Charlevoix committee members, the City of Charlevoix and its staff, the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce and its staff, and all of the volunteers who helped that day. Without all of you, this would not have been such a success. We look forward to next year's event and making it even more successful and enjoyable for our community.

Ambassador visit inspiring
Editor:

The compassion shown by Charlevoix third grader Maggie Hamilton, who wrote a note of sympathy to children who survived the tsunami, is indeed heartwarming. Her classmates also sent letters and came up with ways to raise money to help the young victims. In so doing, they created a lasting bond with new friends in faraway Indonesia who responded to their messages.

They also made front page news for inspiring the visit to their school of the Indonesian ambassador who told them "We now see the light, the spirit of humankind."

Perhaps we should not be surprised that these young children display such an awareness of the plight of others. We have only to view the art of 11-to-13-year-olds in the Lions International Peace Poster contest to appreciate the deep hope they convey that others may enjoy well-being and peace.

These young people may not realize it, but they are nurturing world peace by their actions. Kudos to them and also to the Petoskey News-Review and Courier for their coverage of this special event.

Pet adoption needed
Editor:

I am a volunteer at the Charlevoix County Humane Society. I just recently fostered four mothers and 17 kittens who were abandoned in an apartment, and they were too young for adoption, so they needed a place to stay until they were old enough. They are all now back at the facility. But the humane society is overwhelmed with too many kittens and cats. So if you have been thinking about adopting a pet, this is the time. They have a special of two for one. Go over and just see all of these beautiful, sweet kittens. They need homes. Also, please neuter your animals. If you need help, call the Humane Society.

'Comedy at the Castle' presents Jay Laffoon

Comedy at the Castle will take place at 7 p.m. July 7 at Castle Farms, in the King's Great Hall, in Charlevoix.

The event, "A Comedy Celebration with Jay Laffoon," is a fund-raiser for the students at St. Mary School.

Laffoon grew up in Petoskey. He began his speaking career at 17 with Youth for Christ.

His parents, Jim and Joyce Laffoon, established Youth for Christ in 1969 in this area and touched many lives with their ministry.

Laffoon served for eight years as the Executive Director of Central Michigan Youth for Christ in Alma.

In 1995, he founded Communications Resources and launched his motivational speaking career.

He and his wife, Laura, currently speak at different venues ranging from marriage encounters to youth rallies.

He is currently a motivational speaker with the Nashville Speakers Bureau.

He is nationally known for his comedic delivery and for his uncanny insight into everyday life as a Christian, as a friend, as a teenager, as a student, as a son, as a husband and father. He draws from life experience. His rare and insightful comedic delivery of everyday life will be the theme for this first-time event at the Castle.

Lions club sets date for its annual golf scramble

On Thursday July 14, at the Belvedere Golf Club, the Charlevoix Lions will hold their Eleventh Annual Four Player Team Scramble Golf Tournament.

Proceeds from the scramble go to support the club's 30 beneficiaries which include youth scholarships, sports teams and activity programs, civic programs and projects and sight and hearing local and state programs.

About 25 teams are expected to go for the winning lowest-score trophies and cash prizes. Along the way each golfer will try for $10,000 by sinking a tee-shot on hole 17, a generous package of Sony electronic equipment, on hole Four, two round-trip airline tickets on hole eight and a choice of Callaway drivers or irons on hole 14.

Players can also go for $5,000 in the putting contest held on the practice green. There are awards for longest in-fairway drives on some designated holes.

Check-in will take place beginning at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, July 14, with a hot picnic lunch. Shotgun start is at 2 p.m. The $5,000 putting contest finals will follow immediately after the last hole.

The awards banquet is at the K of C Hall. Doors open at 5:30 p.m., dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. and features "Lions Chicken."

The $98 per player fee includes 18 holes of golf, cart rental, participation in events and the awards dinner. A fee of $12.90 is for awards dinner-only guests.

Individual golfers and teams who would like to play the Belvedere course with the Lions can sign-up by calling Jeff Rizzo at (231) 547-5117 or Bern Cannan at (231) 547-5512.

New farm directory features Charlevoix growers

One year after releasing a pocket guide listing northwest Michigan farms that sell their products directly to shoppers and retailers, the Michigan Land Use Institute is expanding its "huy local" campaign to include businesses from Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

The Institute will launch this northern expansion of its Taste the Local Difference campaign at a 3 p.m. press conference Thursday, June 23, at the Weathervane Restaurant in Charlevoix.

The event will feature the release of the expanded Taste the Local Difference pocket guide and related materials that more than 55 restaurants and grocers in the region will use to promote their use of local foods in partnership with the campaign. Project staff will also introduce a new web site, www.LocalDifference.org, where shoppers can search for specific products, such as grass-fed beef, or select caterers and restaurants that use local foods.

The Taste the Local Difference food guide and retail materials make up the marketing arm of a broader institute effort to save farmland by building local food market connections. The nonprofit institute is working with a range of local and state organizations to build a local farm-and-food business network that will help farms of all kinds pursue new opportunities, such as marketing local foods to local schools.

The project, initially funded by a major grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, is attracting many local businesses and groups, including its two "Top of the Crop" sponsors — Traverse City State Bank and the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians — and valuable support from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the Petoskey-Harbor Springs Area Community Foundation.

Representatives of the community foundations said that the Taste the Local Difference campaign is an essential component of farmland preservation efforts in the area.

"We look forward to partnering with the Michigan Land Use Institute to heighten awareness of luscious, locally grown foods and the importance of purchasing locally grown products at our markets, grocery stores and restaurants," said Bob Tambellini, president of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. "It is a creative and tasty option for helping to preserve farmland, and we are proud to be part of the solution."

Judy Friske Kehr, marketing manager of Friske Orchards Farm Market near Ellsworth, said Taste the Local Difference can help area farms communicate the special nature of homegrown foods to consumers who are hungry for meaning in their meals.

"There are not many people who still have a grandma around to make jam for them. People are amazed and touched when I tell them, as they're looking at one of our jams, that my mother, standing over there at the counter, made it," Kehr said.

The Institute's 2005 Taste the Local Difference campaign's most visible feature is the updated, pocket-sized guide, which lists farms from Manistee to the Mackinac Bridge that offer direct sale of their products. With nearly 30 additional farms, this year's Taste the Local Difference guide now features 160 farms that together represent some $5 million in sales, 320 full and part-time jobs and nearly 23,000 acres of farmland. Its press run is more than twice as large as last year's.

According to an Institute survey of participants in last year's program, Taste the Local Difference is already boosting area food sales. A majority of the farmers listed in last year's guide, the project's first, reported an increase in customer contacts as a result of their listings.

The institute published 10,000 copies of the guide last year, which local residents and visitors snapped up in just two months. This year, the Institute has printed 25,000 guides, which it will distribute to libraries, visitors centers, farmers markets, and other popular spots.

Copies are also available by mail by contacting maryellen@mlui.org.

Helen Roeters: Sept. 13, 1925 - June 8, 2005

Helen Roeters

September 13, 1925, to William and Florence (Wynsma) Bylsma, where she spent most of her life. In 1945 she married Henry Roeters also of Grand Rapids. In 1963 they moved their family to Frankfort, Mich.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Henry, in 1993, and her son Barney (Mary) Roeters in 1994. Helen is survived by her children Ellen (Mark) Ketz of Frankfort, Judith (Mike) Eichhoff and Ruth E. Roeters of Charlevoix, Carol (Doug) Younkers of Holland, Henry (Shirley) Roeters of Sparta, Richard (Bonnie) Roeters of Myrtle Beach; brother John (Barb) Bylsma of Jupiter, Fla.; 14 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

Helen loved to sing. Her love for the water, nature, camping, boating, swimming and sunsets will be missed in us all. We will miss her smile, warm hugs and laughter.

Memorial contributions may be made to the family in care of Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix.

A memorial service will be announced at a later date.

Dorothea Bolton: Nov. 27, 1911 - May 28, 2005

Dorothea W. Bolton, Age 93, of Pompano Beach, Fla., formerly of Flint and Singer Island, Fla., died Saturday, May 28, 2005 at the Holy Cross Hospital in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. Bolton was born November 27, 1911 in Charlevoix, the daughter of Montgomery and Zelma (Anderson) Withers. She and James R. Bolton were married on June 16, 1937 in Rockville, Md. He preceded her in death in 2000.

Mrs. Bolton graduated from Michigan State University in 1935 and was a member of the Alpha Phi Sorority. She worked as a home economist for Consumers Power Co. and implemented the federal government's school lunch program in Flint. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Flint, a 43-year volunteer with the Hurley Hospital Auxiliary, a member of the Junior Needlework Guild, The Flint Golf Club, The Flint Institute of Music, The Flint Institute of Arts, a charter member of Warwick Hills Golf Club and a contributor to the College and Cultural Fund and The Community Foundation of Flint.

Surviving are two sons; Richard Withers Bolton and wife Dr. Gabrielle Bolton of Greenwich, Conn. and Bruce Jonathan Bolton of Miami Beach, Fla. Also surviving are two grandsons; Alexander Bolton of Washington D.C. and Christopher Bolton of New York City and a brother Jack Withers of Bradenton, Fla.

Mrs. Bolton was preceded in death by her parents, her husband James, a sister Betty King and two brothers, Bruce and Robert Withers. A service of remembrance was held on June 19, 2005 in the Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church of Flint, 746 S. Saginaw Street, Dr. Jerry Pitman officiated. Her cremated remains will be placed in the columbium of the church. Memorial gifts in her name may be offered to the First Presbyterian Church. Arrangements by the Sharp Funeral Home and Cremation Center.

Nancy Murray: Feb. 20, 1931 - June 19, 2005

Nancy E. Murray, 74, of Kalkaska, formerly of Mt. Clemens and Charlevoix, died Sunday, June 19, 2005.

A funeral will be 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, June 22, at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Mary Willis will officiate and burial will be in Norwood Cemetery.

Nancy was born February 20, 1931, in Dayton, Ohio, the daughter of Ronald A. and Mildred (Vance) Lazure.

She graduated from Shortridge High School in Indianapolis, Ind. then attended Indiana University.

She worked as an X-Ray technician. Nancy married Robert J. Murray, February 2, 1951. They made their home in Mt. Clemens, where Nancy raised her family and served as public information chairman for the Michigan Cancer Foundation and president of the Macomb Town Hall.

In 1976, they moved to Charlevoix, where she was a member of the Northwest Shrine Club, garden club and was active in "Save the Trees."

After Robert, Sr. died in 1986, she relocated to Kalkaska, where she served on Kalkaska's planning commission, as a board member for Kiwanis and was active in the annual tree decorating fund-raiser for KAIR.

Nancy was employed by her son, Robert, at Preferred Properties.

She is survived by her sons, Robert, of Kalkaska; David (Pamela), of Naples, Fla.; John (Barbara), of Charlevoix, and six grandchildren.

A memorial service was conducted under the auspices of the O.E.S. Chapter 72, at Tuesday, June 21 at Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix.

Contributions may be made to Hospice of Northwest Michigan, P. O. Box 233, Boyne City, MI 49712.

Vehicle leaves roadway and hits tree in Hayes Township

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office is investigating a one-vehicle crash that took place on US-31 just south of Villa Road in Hayes Township.

At 2:16 p.m. June 18 Robert J. Schoenfeld, 76, of Birmingham was driving north bound on US-31 when his 2004 Lincoln crossed into the lane, left the roadway and crashed head on into a large tree.

The driver and his passenger, Franziska Schoenfeld, 75, also of Birmingham, were transported by ambulance to Charlevoix Area Hospital for treatment of their injuries.

Witnesses to the crash said the Schoenfeld vehicle had been driving erratically several minutes prior to the crash.

Schoenfeld told sheriff's deputies that he thinks he may have fallen asleep.

The 2004 Lincoln was totaled. Traffic was delayed intermittently for approximately one hour while the crash was investigated, victims transported from the scene and the vehicle removed.

Alcohol use was not involved and the deployment of the airbags greatly reduced the severity of injuries.

CCMS check may result in suit against city's insurer

This mistake resulted in United Fire and Casualty suing the City of Charlevoix. In December of 2004 the city agreed to end the suit by paying United Fire the over $220,000 it already paid CCMS.

City police chief Dennis Halverson has been investigating possible charges against CCMS.

Because the check was cashed in St. Ignace he has been working with a detective from Michigan State Police post there. Halverson said that at this time they haven't concluded whether there was a criminal violation associated with the check cashing by CCMS or not.

At Monday's meeting council also approved hiring Michael Neihardt, a detective with Michael Neihardt Investigations in Kalkaska to look into what went wrong at city hall to have put the city in this predicament. Neihardt's fees were approved at $850 or less.

Blough retires from county GIS

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Chris Blough has resigned after three-and-a-half years as coordinator for the Charlevoix County office of geographic information systems.

Chris Blough

Blough worked closely with the Charlevoix County equalization, planning and building safety departments, helping to develop, maintain and promote geographic information technology which was and will be used to enhance life for everyone.

"I was in charge of initiating the program," Blough said. "Basically my purpose has been to support the different operational requirements they had in each office."

The information system he developed helps ensure fair property tax assessments, the ability for emergency personnel to find residences as well as the government's ability to maintain natural resources through accurate zoning and responsible planning.

An example of Blough's work with the system includes a collection of aerial photos of Beaver Island and the coastal mainland of Charlevoix County. These photos, which can be seen on the geographic information systems web site, are designed to be used just like a map.

"This makes a map consistent with a photograph. The two perfectly align," Blough said. "It takes the qualities of a map and applies them to a photo, which allows for actual measurements on the aerial photo."

Blough said the up side to this is that you can take distance and area measurements from photos on the site.

"The goal is to promote data sharing versus data sales between local units of government," he said. "Basically what this has resulted in is we are trying to provide these to the public at no cost."

And, he said, "Sometimes we have to ask, 'Can the land support the uses that we're looking to apply in a given area without additional services?'"

Blough, who is moving to Novi to take a similar position and to be closer to his fiancé, whom he plans to marry Oct. 15, said he has enjoyed his time in Charlevoix.

"The thing I think I'm going to miss the most is the dedication of the people I worked with," Blough said.

He added, "And, it would be great for the public to understand, while the county politics may seem to be contentious at times, there is a great amount of support we offer to our citizens and I am glad to be a part of this community and serve our citizens."

Islanders celebrate dock and fire hall openings

By PHYLLIS MOORE
Special to the Courier

On June 18, Beaver Islanders celebrated the opening of their renovated marina facility and new fire hall and recognized the oldest island building.

According to islanders, renovations to the Beaver Island Municipal Dock were long overdue and the final result is top notch.

The project included removal of the old dock and replacing it with all new planking and pilings along with individual meters for boaters. The showers/restrooms were completely redone and the renovated facility now offers showers, laundry and a lounge.

There was no official dedication at this site during the open house.

Members of both Peaine and St. James townships boards attended the June 18 open house to answer questions. Other visitors included Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office Undersheriff Don Schneider, Shirley Roloff of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, Mark Muniak of the Charlevoix County Prosecutor's Office, Kevin Elsenheimer (R) for the 105th District, Andy Johnson representing State Senator Jason Allen (R) of the 37th District, State Senator Ron Jelinek (R) of the 21st District and James Muschell of United Design Associates Engineering and Architecture, and Rick Skendzel Architecture Technology architect.

After the dock event, most attendees gathered for the dedication of the new Beaver Island East Side Fire Station 2 located at Sand Bay, across from the Bill Wagner Memorial Campground. This project took almost eight years to complete.

According to Fire Chief Tim McDonough, this state-of-the-art fire hall will be home to the new pumper truck "Fritz." The truck was donated by the Steinbach family in memory of Fritz Steinbach.

This event was the culmination of the day and was marked by the AMVET's flag raising using a flag donated by Senator Allen which had been flown over the State Capital Building.

Peaine Township Supervisor, John Works, opened the ceremony with a welcome and thanks to all those who had been involved.

Ending the program was the official turning over of the keys to the new hall to McDonough and EMS Chairperson, Gerald LaFreniere, Jr.

The grand finale for the day was McDonough presenting a painting for the station from the Steinbach family saying, "this is no Mickey Mouse fire station."

The Mormon Print Shop Museum and Marine Museum also held their annual open houses.

The print shop, located a block from the ferry dock, is the oldest building on the island. It was in this building that the first newspaper north of Grand Rapids, was printed. The Mormon Print Shop Museum gives an over-all view of who has lived on the island.

The Marine Museum is housed in one of the last net sheds on the island. It was built by Shing Martin, whose descendants still reside on the island. This museum offers visitors a look back at the various occupations of the island and is centered on the fishing industry that sustained many island families.

Local man to attend space center

By NICOLE GRAZIANO
Special to the Courier

While many of his students are suiting up to soak in the sun this summer, Craig Williams is preparing to absorb 40 hours of classroom, laboratory and field training in a suit provided by the U.S. Space and Rocket Center.

On June 10, Williams, a Charlevoix resident and science and ecology teacher at Petoskey Middle School, was awarded a scholarship by Honeywell to attend their Educators at Space Academy program. The program, which will take place June 25 to July 1, is a rigorous, five-day immersion into the realm of space science and space exploration.

Led by educators at the Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, Ala., the program will be attended by 144 science and math teachers from 32 states and 17 countries. Williams is one of two Honeywell Bank scholarship recipients from Michigan.

"I'm very nervous and very excited," Williams said. "I've never done anything like this. It's going to be unreal. I'm supposed to come back with loads of information."

Jim O'Leary, spokesman for the Morris Township, N.J. based Honeywell Hometown Solutions, said the Space Academy program is intended to inspire future generations of engineers, scientists and mathematicians by supplying their instructors with a one-of-a-kind learning experience.

"The program provides middle school teachers with tools and resources to bring the wonders of science to life in classrooms," said O'Leary.

Guaranteed to challenge both his mental and physical endurance, Williams' daily exercises at the Center will begin at 7 a.m. and conclude at about 8 p.m. Astronaut training is at the core of the program's curriculum — scheduled exercises include a high-performance jet simulation, scenario-based space missions, land and water survival training and a state-of-the-art flight dynamics program.

Of the outlined activities, Williams is most keyed up to buckle down in the Apollo-like simulators. Space suits worn during these exercises take up five-sixths of a person's body weight, he said.

"I've been a 'science geek' my whole life, and I'm proud of it," said Williams, an Ann Arbor native who earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Eastern Michigan University and a master's degree in science from the University of Michigan. "I think every child has dreams of being an astronaut at some point — watching Top Gun and the Apollo missions. I would volunteer to go up on a space mission any day."

Williams' decision to apply for Honeywell's second annual scholarship was born several months ago, after Petoskey Middle School Principal David Gracy announced the opportunity at a staff meeting.

"When I heard about it, it seemed like an experience I could get a lot out of — both personally and professionally," said Williams, adding that he feels a tinge of anxiety at the thought of leaving his wife, Mary, and children Kinsley, 7, and Kallan, 2, for an entire week.

In a 500-word essay completed by Williams, and required by all scholarship applicants, he encourages the inclusion of "real-life applications" in classroom activities.

"In many cases, classroom education is isolated from the daily reality of the fields we are trying to prepare our students for," he wrote. "The classroom teacher is producing the next generation of scientists and, with the budget cuts to schools, they need all the help they can get."

In a later interview, Williams praised Honeywell's commitment to education, noting a severe deficiency in the number of young professionals entering the fields of science, math and engineering.

"We are not producing the mathematicians, engineers and scientists that we used to," he said. "The leaders in those fields are now coming from India and China."

After 11 years on staff at Petoskey Middle School, Williams understands the school's curriculum doesn't grant a lengthy concentration on space science. He'd prefer to devote an entire year to the subject. At the very least, Williams said, the brief units on space during fifth and seventh grade science courses will be enhanced with the knowledge he acquires in the coming week.

"My hope is to be a resource for the entire district," he said. "I would like to congratulate Honeywell, not just because I won (the scholarship) but that they are doing this for any teacher. I would love to go to their office in Boyne City and buy them donuts."

The cost of tuition, round-trip airfare from Traverse City to Huntsville, Ala., meals, accommodations and program materials are included in the honorable recognition.

Complementing the all-expenses-paid excursion, Williams will earn three academic credits, transferable to Petoskey Middle School from the University of Alabama, which will go toward the six required every five years for a teacher to be re-certified.

More than 500 teachers from around the globe applied for the opportunity to attend the space academy program.

"We are sending approximately 50 more teachers to the program this year than in the inaugural year," said O'Leary, adding that instructors from Romania, the Czech Republic, France and India have been recognized as Honeywell scholarship recipients this year.

Charlevoix student wins Pace University civic award

Ethan Phillips, a Pace University student from Charlevoix, was presented with the Student Civic Engagement Award from the Department of Political Science.

Phillips received the award at the June 14 New York City commencement ceremony celebrated at Radio City Music Hall.

An English and political science major, Phillips' dedication to service learning and devotion to social change led him to Stellenbosch University, South Africa, where he studied the transformation of South African society, specifically in the areas of desegregation, colonialism and capitalism.

His experience in South Africa and love of politics helped him to develop his senior thesis, "From Racial Contract to Social Contract: A Comparative Study of Post-Apartheid South Africa," for which he was awarded a Eugene Lang Faculty-Student Research Grant.

While abroad, Phillips spent part of his free-time tutoring English and creating arts and crafts projects for orphans suffering from HIV/AIDS.

During his student address at commencement, Phillips advised his fellow classmates to "be free my friends, be free," advice given to him from a local Zulu man in South Africa.

At Pace, Phillips participated in a mock presidential convention, which involved working with area high school students.

Phillips visited his class weekly, educating them about the political process in order to prepare them for the convention.

His adviser and organizer of the convention, Christopher Malone, Ph.D., Pace Professor of Political Science, said that Phillips was "one of the most dedicated, motivated, and passionate students I've ever met."

Currently, Phillips is working as a freelance journalist in New York City and is looking for a full-time job in publishing. Eventually, he plans to earn his graduate degree in either law or journalism. Phillips said, "I like doing something new and exciting every day."

Pace is a private university in the New York Metropolitan with seven campuses, including downtown and midtown New York City, Pleasantville, Briarcliff, White Plains and Hudson Valley, N.Y.

School district educates residents on Proposal A

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Proposal A, a 10-year-old bill ravaged by nearly 80 alterations, was the subject of a community forum June 14.

According to Superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, Dr. John Sturock, the community forum on public education financing was a good first step toward educating the public on the intricacies and implications of a failed Proposal A.

"One of the things we got out of last night is we signed up people to help make a plan to get other people involved," Sturock said. "It's a grassroots movement and we're going to grow. When people start understanding what the implications are, it will grow."

Proposal A was passed in 1994 as a means of lowering property taxes and equalizing the basic foundation grant per child in each school district. Before Proposal A, there was a deviation of thousands of dollars between the highest and least funded schools, with some school systems receiving $2,500 per child and others getting $10,000 per child.

According to Sturock, the intent of the forum was to inform the community that they play an important part in alerting legislators as to the dire situation surrounding public school finance.

"The biggest thing is, how can we get involved as a community to find a solution," he said.

And though turn out at the forum wasn't what he had hoped, Sturock said getting the word out is always positive.

"It's like everything else," he said. "I guess I'm disappointed in one respect, but I'm happy that 50 people showed up."

Sturock added, "We're not done. We're going to continue to get the word out."

There was a brief film about Proposal A shown during the forum which indicated that everything is not okay and Detroit and Flint school districts are not the only school systems in trouble.

When it was passed four to one by Michigan voters, Proposal A was thought to be the savior of the public schools, Sturock said. Since then, Proposal A has been changed 77 times rendering it nearly useless.

"If we just restore proposal A to the way it was in 1994 when it was voted in we would be much better off," he said. "If it were in place today we probably wouldn't be in the trouble we are in."

Sturock said Proposal A has proven to be unstable and it changed the way funding was allocated so there are only two ways to get more money, increase enrollment or receive an increase in the basic foundation grant from the state.

"It also made our schools completely dependent on the state," he added.

According to Sturock, the cuts and changes have affected the school aid fund to the point that next year Michigan schools will see cuts of about $550 million adding up to a statewide loss of approximately $1.6 billion over the last 10 years.

"We're paying more locally and we're getting less," Sturock said.

According to the film, even if the proposed $175 per child increase is granted by the state, none of it will reach the classroom.

"If the $175 increase comes, great, I'm not saying we're not grateful for it, but it's going to help us in the long run, no," Sturock said. "We've lost over $1.2 million over the last three years."

Sturock said if there are any positives in this school finance issue, it's that Charlevoix schools aren't facing the immediate danger which some schools are and that gives Charlevoix time to try to figure out a solution.

But, he added, if a solution is not found, the storm is coming in the 2007-2008 school year.

"What can we do to make sure it doesn't happen to us?" Sturock said. "The main point is, we need to rally around our community and we need to contact our legislators."

Yesterday, concerned citizens rallied at the capitol building in Lansing, demanding a solution to school funding woes.

The legislators said they wouldn't be there, but Sturock said, if 10,000 people showed up, the legislators will hear about it.

"The main thing is, this is out of our hands. The policy makers in Lansing are the people that can make the change," he said. "They've got to put party politics aside and they've got to get this done for the kids of Michigan."

Sturock said a few parents and educators have formed a planning committee whose purpose is to educate the community on school finance and what citizens can do to help.

"The reason we wanted to raise the flag is we have some time that some other districts don't have," he said. "We want to make sure that the parents are informed and the community is informed."

Five change positions, two retire in school district

By BENJAMIN GOHS
Staff writer

Five teachers and two bus drivers will be making some major changes as they head into the 2005-2006 Charlevoix school year.

Charlevoix elementary and middle schools will see some new faces in the upcoming school year as teachers from the high and middle schools change positions.

Aside from coaching varsity volleyball, junior varsity basketball and varsity softball, Liz Grunch taught physical education, life skills and health at the high school for almost five years.

Charlevoix Home Tour set for July

The Kappa Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi presents the 2005 Charlevoix Home Tour.

The event will take place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 16.

This year's Charlevoix Home Tour features five homes: three homes on Lake Michigan, one on Lake Charlevoix, and a quaint cedar shake cottage in town.

The architecture, landscaping, interior design, and lake views of each home are incredible.

Proceeds from home tour ticket sales will benefit the Charlevoix Area Hospital Circle of Strength Cancer support group, B.A.S.E.S Teen Center and the Charlevoix Middle School. Any additional monetary donations will be accepted as well.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at these Charlevoix Locations: The Apple Tree, Shop of the Gulls and The Clothing Company. Or, at any of the homes on the day of the tour.

For more information visit www.charlevoixhometour.com. Or contact Jennifer Vollmer at (231) 675-3925.

Liz Grunch

Glynn who retired at the end of this year.

"I'm excited for the new challenge," she said. "And I'm sure the younger ages will be excited to switch things up a little bit."

She added, "It's going to be really fun getting to know the teachers in the middle school and the different kids."

"I'm going to the middle school to teach all physical education in fifth through eighth grade," Grunch said.

Grunch will replace middle school physical education teacher Jim Grunch said she will miss the kids and staff with whom she worked at the high school.

But, she said, she will continue coaching so her teams will still see her.

Math students will also see a change at the middle school as long-time high school math teacher Curt Harwood makes a move.

"I taught 11 years at the high school in various classes from applied math, algebra one, geometry, trigonometry and advanced math," Harwood said. "And

Curt Harwood

I'm going to be going to the Charlevoix Middle School where I will be teaching seventh grade math."

Harwood said he just decided to try something different.

"I just wanted to try a new age group and see what it's like to teach at a different age level," he said. "I'm really excited about it. I have several friends at the middle school already and so I'm not coming in as a stranger to them."

Dawn Hovie taught high school special education to students with learning disabilities and has seven years of experience working with elementary level special education students.
